Given under our hands, this 12th day of September, 1902.

Louis Henson,
O. J. Johnson,
Wm. C. L. Demann.
Committee.

On motion duly carried the foregoing report was approved.

> Whereas the Board of County Commissioners at their regular July meeting A. D. 1902, after having voted to consider the question of changing the system of caring for the poor in Red Lake county, Minnesota from the county system to the town system by a unanimous yea and nay vote;
> And whereas the County Auditor of said county by the direction of said commissioners placed said question before the State Board of Corrections and Charities pursuant to the terms of section 1984 General Statutes of Minnesota for the year 1894;
> And whereas the State Board of Corrections and Charities did present to said board of county commissioners, in writing, such advise as they deemed necessary and proper in the premises;
> Be it Resolved that the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county concur in favor of the proposed change from the county system to the town system of caring for the poor by a yea and nay vote;
> And be it further resolved that said question of changing the system of caring for the poor from the county system to the town system in said Red Lake county, be submitted to the legal voters of said county at the next following general election in this state.
> Said resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner J. B. Hebert and on motion carried unanimously the same was adopted.

Commissioner Hanson offered the following resolution and moved its adoption.

> Resolved that the chairman appoint a committee of three including himself to appraise benefits and damages on county road petition now pending.
> Be it further resolved that final hearing on said county road petitions be adjourned to next meeting of the board Sept. 29th, which resolution was seconded by Commissioner Johnson and on motion carried unanimously the same was adopted.

Tea in Kashmir.

There are two ways of preparing tea in Kashmir. The first is to put the tea in a pot with cold water and boil it for half an hour, when more cold water is added, after which it is boiled for another half hour. Milk is then added and it is ready for drinking. The second is to place the tea in a pot with a little soda and water and boil for half an hour as before. Milk, salt and butter are then added, after which it is boiled for another half hour, when it is ready.

The Emerald's Power.

Emeralds from India, Persia and Peru are the most valuable. According to their tints and their luster, they are classed as prasines, neronianes and domitianes. According to Suetonius, Nero used to look at the fighting gladiators in his emerald. The stone is the emblem of charity, hope, joy and abundance. It had the reputation of curing epilepsy by application and of being an all round pain killer.

Iron and Copper.

The world could not get along today without iron and copper. The entire loss of all the gold and silver in the world would not be nearly so serious as would be a sudden exhaustion of all the iron and copper, since iron is used for all purposes of construction, and copper is an absolute requisite in the use of electricity to the enormous extent which now obtains.

Kept It Dark.

Miss Rocksey—Oh, papa, when the count asked your consent did you grow sentimental and tell him that I was all you had left?

Old Rocksey—No, my dear. If that was the case, I guess he wouldn't have wanted you.—Judge.

A Slap at Tradition.

Dorothy—What did you and your mother-in-law fall out about, Kitty?

Kitty—Oh, she never liked me after she heard me say that no husband of mine should ever wear homemade shirts.—Detroit Free Press.

Could Take His Choice.

Coachman (driving stout old man on a lonely road in a very high wind)—Please, sir, will you 'old the 'orses while I run after my 'at, or will you run after my 'at while I 'old the 'orses?—Chums.

As It Struck the Poet.

"The first writing was done on stone," remarked the wise man at dinner.

"Great graciousl Think of the postage!" involuntarily exclaimed the rising poet, with a shudder that rattled the dishes.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

The three Winona sawmills have advanced the wages of all employes.

One Minneapolis retail coal company has anthracite for sale at $20 per ton.

Three Minneapolis boys, aged five, six and ten, are under arrest charged with burglary.

It cost Beltrami county $78 to secure the primary returns from Leclaire precinct. Only six votes were cast.

John Garscnu, sixty-eight years old living at Little Canada, dropped dead of apoplexy Friday. He came to this state in 1845.

Charles Blanche, a pioneer resident of New Ulm, was fatally injured on his son's farm near that city. He was riding a sulky plow, when a tug loosened, throwing him beneath the machine.

The body of Charles Petzold of St. Paul, who disappeared Sept. 8, leaving a note that he intended to jump from the high bridge, has been found floating in the Mississippi at South Park.

There are 103,790 dogs in Minnesota, according to the assessment rolls of the county auditors being reviewed by the state board of equalization. Last year the returns showed 114,718 dogs in the state.

The Great Northern and Northern Pacific freight officials have sent word to the west end of the systems that lumber rates from the Minnesota transfer to Chicago have been advanced by all lines.

Simon J. McCarthy, a well known pioneer resident of Minneapolis, is dead. Mr. McCarthy was sixty years old and a native of Ireland. He came to Minneapolis (or rather St. Anthony) thirty-three years ago.

The assessments of saloons in various parts of the state were given a great tilt upward by the state board of equalization Friday. The increase ranges from 66 2-3 in Hennepin county, the least effected, to 600 per cent in other parts of the state.

Dr. W. H. Caine, a prominent Minneapolis surgeon and a resident of this state since 1860, died last week. Dr. Caine's death was the result of complications resulting from internal injuries received from a fall from his horse at Lake City nine years ago.

Menno Eby accidentally fell into a threshing machine near Jackson. His foot was cut off at the knee and he died three hours later. He was standing on top of the cylinder cap, lifting a sack of flax. The cap gave way under him, his foot slipping into the cylinder.

Dr. A. A. Ames, absent mayor of Minneapolis, denies everything in the deposition made by him to Assistant County Attorney Jolley at West Baden, Ind., that would tend to incriminate him of malfeasance in office. The deposition has been filed with the clerk of courts.

The consolidation of all wholesale bakeries in St. Paul is believed to be the object of the St. Paul Bread company, which filed articles of incorporation last week. The capital stock of the new concern is $450,000, of which $75,000 is preferred at 88 per cent and $375,000 common.

E. E. Empey, the Excelsior attorney, who was found guilty in the United States court at Minneapolis of using the United States mails with intent to defraud certain railroad companies by presenting damage claims to them for fictitious persons, has been given fifteen months in Stillwater at hard labor.

Mayor Ames of Minneapolis has received a body blow from the Indiana state board of medical examination and registration, which refused to grant him a temporary permit to practice medicine in that state. A board member says he must show he is not a fugitive from justice and show good moral character.

Committees of the Mankato Merchants' Protective association and board of trade, which have been investigating the cost of electric lighting, have made public their report. They declare that Mankato has been paying too much for street and commercial lightning, and recommend that a co-operative plant be put in.

C. B. Stanley, superintendent of the Duluth Directory company, announces that the forthcoming volume will contain 27,456 names, as compared with 24,164 names in the directory issued last fall. He uses the multiple two and one-half to ascertain the total population, which is 68,640, as compared with 60,414 a year ago, a gain of 8,226.

The state W. C. T. U. convention at Redwood Falls elected officers as follows: President, Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scovel, Minneapolis; vice president, Mrs. Kate Kerchy, Minneapolis; corresponding secretary, Miss Ella F Hendrix, Minneapolis; recording secretary, Miss Belle Welch, Minneapolis; treasurer, Mrs. Bella R. Mandigo, St. Paul.

Willie Hubert, son of a dairyman living five miles south of St. Paul, was strung up by some companions while playing "police and robber." Some of the boys then informed Willie's mother that her boy was hung for a desperate robber. She investigated and found him suspended in the barn, unconscious. Medical aid was summoned and the boy will recover.

Authority will soon be granted for the sale of from 6,000,000 to 15,000,000 feet of pine recently blown down on the Red Lake diminished reservation in Minnesota. It is the intention of the department to have the timber logged by the Indians, and afterwards sold on the bank. The necessary outfits will be supplied the agent, who will be put in charge of the operations.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Russia will evacuate Manchuria Oct. 8.

Uneasiness is felt at Durbin, Natal, in consequence of reports of unrest in Zululand, where trouble appears to be imminent.

President Castro of Venezuela has retreated from Ocumare before the advance of the revolutionists. The Venezuelan government's situation is critical.

A dispatch to a London news agency from Peking says: Catholics here understand that from 300 to 1,000 converts have been killed by boxers in the province of Szechuen.

Edmund Jellinek, an official in the cashier's department of the Lander bank of Berlin, has disappeared and it has been discovered that he defrauded the bank of $315,000 by falsifying checks.

Cabling from Shanghai, under date of Sept. 17, the correspondent of the London Daily Mail says Cheng Tu Fu, capital of the province of Sze Chuen, is surrounded by 50,000 boxers, but that their attempts to take the city have so far failed.

The boxer attack on Chengtufu, capital of Szechuen province, in which 50,000 boxers made ineffectual attempts to take the city, began Sept. 15. The attackers were driven back and the gates of the city were closed and guarded by troops.

The Russian government has decided on drastic measures to put a stop to poaching among seal and other sea animals by American and Japanese. Three gunboats will be used in the work and if necessary to enforce the order that has been issued encroaching vessels will be fired on and sunk.

A further examination of the losses of the Vienna Landerer bank shows that the embezzlements of Edmund Jellinek, an official of the cashier's department who disappeared Thursday, are about $1,500,000. The frauds were effected by the manipulation of checks and by making false entries in the books.

Stanley Spencer, a well known English aeronaut, successfully accomplished a remarkable flight over London in an airship of his own invention. It is estimated that his ship traveled nearly thirty miles. From observations of those on the ground Spencer seemed to have complete control of the vessel.

The forces of the provisional government of Hayti commanded by the war minister, General Nord, have sustained a severe defeat at Limbe. General Nord, at the head of 3,000 men, attacked Limbe at 9 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 17 and, after desperate fighting lasting three hours, the general abandoned his position, guns and war munitions and left a great number of dead and wounded, including several generals, on the field.

LABOR NEWS.

Coal shipments from the anthracite regions are increasing.

The anthracite strike has entered upon its twentieth week.

Minneapolis mill employes will strike Monday next unless their demand for an eight-hour day is granted.

A mob attacked the colliery owned by W. H. Holmes, which is located in the heart of Pittston, Pa. After driving the nonunion workmen from the mine the mob set fire to the breaker, which was saved from destruction through the efforts of a number of men employed in the vicinity.

A conference of the leading anthracite coal interests was held in New York city and after the meeting the announcement was made that the position of the operators in regard to the strike was unchanged and the only way to end the trouble was the unconditional surrender of the men.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement just issued, takes a hopeful view of the coal strike situation. He says: "At this time it is impossible to say exactly when the strike will terminate, but after careful inquiry into the situation at the mines, I am convinced that the struggle will end by agreement. The wage earners and the general public are generously contributing to the aid of the miners. It is essential that this aid be extended and continued."

NEWS OF NOTED PERSONS.

New Hampshire Republicans have adopted a resolution favoring resubmission of the prohibitory law.

Alabama Republicans adopted a resolution endorsing Roosevelt for 1904. Considerable opposition developed but not enough to defeat the motion.

Alabama Republicans unseated all colored delegates to the state convention. This is the first attempt at white domination among Republicans of that state.

William A. Gaston of Boston has been nominated for governor by Massachusetts Democrats. The resolutions adopted repudiate the Kansas City platform.

Congressman Charles T. Littlefield of Maine has announced that he will be a candidate for the speakership of the national house of representatives to succeed David B. Henderson.

Through the columns of the Waterloo (Ia.) Courier Charles E. Pickett of Waterloo, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, has formally announced his candidacy to succeed Speaker Henderson. It is urged that he will unite all factions of the party.

Hon. David B. Henderson, speaker of the house of representatives, has declined the congressional nomination from the Third Iowa district. The reason given for his action is that he has discovered he does not represent the views of his constituents on the tariff and trust questions.

As a result of the political conference at Oyster Bay last week between President Roosevelt and Republican leaders it is said that no attempt will be made to revise the tariff at the coming session of congress, but that President Roosevelt will maintain his position as to trusts and insist upon reciprocity with Cuba.

Five trainmen were killed and two seriously injured as the result of a headon collision between Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, and Pittsburg and Western passengers at Witmer station, Pa., on the Pittsburg and Western railroad. A number of passengers were cut and bruised by flying splinters and broken glass, but none was seriously hurt.

In an awful crush of humanity caused by a stampede in the Shiloh Negro Baptist church at Birmingham, Ala., about 115 persons were killed and as many more seriously injured. The catastrophe occurred just as Booker T. Washington had concluded his address to the national convention of Baptists. An altercation in the gallery caused a cry of "fight." Mistaking the word for "fire" the congregation rose en masse and started for the door. Many of the victims were women and physicians say in many cases they fainted from suffocation and were then trampled to death.

Thomas D. Coulter, judge of probate, and First Selectman Henry C. Pratt, both prominent citizens of Essex, Conn., were shot and seriously wounded on the street by David Haydun, an insane man. Haydun then killed himself.

Peter Hernia was hanged in the county jail at Hackensack, N. J., for the murder of Barney Kanter, a butcher. Before his execution was accomplished Hernia made a desperate fight, but he was finally overpowered and carried to the gallows.

Prompted by jealousy A. E. Whitcomb of Chicago shot W. Sampson of Battle Creek, Mich., and Mrs. Elizabeth Nutter of Chicago, at Sampson's home in Battle Creek. He then turned the revolver on himself and inflicted fatal injuries. Both men are dead but the woman will recover.

An unknown man walked into the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Skagway, Alaska, a revolver in one hand and a dynamite bomb in the other, and demanded $20,000 from the cashier. The employes rushed for the back door and the robber dropped the bomb, killing himself and wrecking the building.

While hunting chickens on the premises of a farmer named Rowe, near Winnipeg, Miss Therien and a companion were shot by the farmer. The woman died and her male companion is so seriously hurt that he may die. Rowe, after realizing what he had done, and the consequences that would follow, turned the gun on himself and blew his head off.

Nicholas Fish, millionaire, diplomat and descendant of one of the best known of American families, died in New York city as the result of an injury received in a saloon row. Whether he was murdered or fell the police have not yet determined, but there seems to be no doubt that Mr. Fish had a quarrel with a private detective named Thomas J. Sharkey, who joined the banker at a table, where he had been for several hours drinking with a couple of women.

Red Lake Falls Gazette.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

—BY—

PHIL A. KAUFER.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF IT.

The crushing defeat sustained by W. F. Street, of Bemidji, at the primary election, is at this time of much importance and significance, as showing the attitude of the Republicans of this section towards the railroad merger, and the influence of that issue in the campaign. W. F. Street is a brilliant and able man, a peerless writer and personally a veritable Chesterfield, has long been prominent in Northern Minnesota, during the past six years has held the reins of government in Beltrami county, and without opposition directing the machinery. He was defeated for the senatorial nomination by E. J. Swedback, the anti-merger candidate, who a month ago was unknown in the district outside of Bemidji; and A. K. Strand, a farmer of Norman county, who filed for the nomination at the last minute, and of whom the voters knew practically nothing, pressed him close for second place.

The result is significant. Previous to Gov. Van Sant's nomination Street had ridiculed his policies to such an extent that his attitude flavored of personal affrontery; and he boldly continued his adherance to the merger cause up to the last. This is Street's first defeat. He had probably come to regard himself as invulnerable. The temper of the Republicans on this merger question shows it to be a vital one. Democrats and Populists feel much the same. Indications all point to a tremendous outburst of feeling at the election in November, when Gov. Van Sant will be crowned by the masses with the laural wreath of popular favor for his heroic stand for the peoples welfare. Gov. Van Sant is a rare specimen. He possesses those qualities which gave to George Washington the moral strength to wave aside a crown. Gov. Van Sant's endorsement at the polls will make him more than ever a national figure.

The man from Nobles county is indeed solicitous for the welfare of Red Lake county. That's right, brother. Still, you had better get warm in your nest before you attempt to dictate who shall serve as the people's officers in this county. It's not in good taste to assume the dictatorship of the three parties of the county, and pose as a political Moses to lead the benighted and long suffering people of Red Lake county out of the desert. As a rule such presumption is resented by the masses. You were a very small boy, brother, some time after the people up this way managed to get started and paddle along—and while we are glad to see you manifest an interest in public affairs, still, we would have more regard for the motives back of your acts had you not made a statement at the Conference which evidenced that your political demands were based on a desire for patronage, and that therefore you wanted certain offices for your men. Knowing this, we can't have quite as much confidence in the public spiritedness of your motive in boosting your candidates. And the public generally will share this view when they look at it in this light.

Hurry up with the bar'l, Democratic candidates. The Courier's light is burning low, and no one is able to tell from its editorial utterances and support just what party is the party of its choice.

The Straddler says a thousand extra copies of The Gazette were sent out in the interests of Hon. E. J. Swedback. And we are glad to add that he was nominated.

There's trouble in the camp of the conferees. No wonder. The Populists of Red Lake county do not take kindly to the idea that their organization must be subordindioated and killed off before the Democatic organization in Red Lake county can flourish.

D. Linnihao, of this city, failed to secure the Democratic oomination for sheriff of Red Lake county by a narrow margin. Had Mr. Linnihan made any effort he could easily have been the nominee. He was certainly the logical candidate, having made the sacrifice two years ago, when he made a great run against heavy odds. Mr. Linnihan gave the "machine" a jolt which will not soon be forgotten, and we venture the assertion that he will not be ignored in the future. His friends are complaining that he was not given a square snake, and there appears to be more truth than fiction in the statement. Without the support of Dan's friends in the coming struggle, the Democratic party in this county would be like a ship without a ballast.

Not maoy moons ago the Courier was telling how "leading Republicans" said The Gazette's opposition was preferable to its support. But in its last issue the political straddler speaks of the "ear marks of financial remuneration" in connection with The Gazette's support of different Republicans. How do these statements jibe? Is it likely that "financial remuneration" would be proferred for something that is considered a detriment? Brother, you are talking loosely. Either you did not speak the truth when, you said the Republicans preferred The Gazette's opposition to its favor or you are off your foundation now. You evidently don't mean what you say, or don't say what you mean—in plain words you indulge in editorial misrepresentation. Why do you do this? Do you think the trickery as evidenced in these contradictory statements is overlooked by intelligent readers? Do you think this transparent effort on your part to create an impression, regardless of truth and honesty, this reckless disregard for consistency in your statements, and the ulterior motives, is overlooked by your readers? Quite to the contrary, the editorial utterances of such a writer are taken by the public for what they are worth.

FACTS AND FANCIES

It is estimated that within four years the American navy will rank fourth among the navies of the world.

Roosevelt as a candidate doesn't suit J. Pierpont Morgan. This does not effect Roosevelt's chances as a candidate to any appreciable extent.

John McLean was defeated for the Republican nomination for judge of probate over in Polk by A. O. Thoreson. McLean had the support of both the Crookston dailies.

Crookston firemen have perfected a Relief Association, and the Crookston share of the one per cent. tax collected from the foreign insurance companies doing business in the state will now go to the Association.

John Eastman made a noble fight for Valentine and in the final onslaught saved sixty-eight votes in Thief River Falls for his man. Under the circumstances, he may be proud of this showing, and every vote is a personal compliment to him, inasmuch as Valentine's defeat was a foregone conclusion.

Former Governor Alexander Ramsev, of St. Paul, who recently celebrated the eighty-seventh anniversary of his birth, is the only living war governor, and, although not so vigorous as he was twenty years ago, he still retains to a remarkable degree the vitality which has so long distinguished him among the pioneers of the territory and state of Minnesota. Governor Ramsey was born near Harrisburg, Pa., in 1815. He was admitted to the bar in 1839, and was elected to Congress in 1843. President Taylor appointed him Governor of Minnesota in 1849, and since then has been identified with the Northwest. He was twelve years United States senator.

Emerson Hough of Forest and Stream and Mayor Handy, managing editor of the Pioneer Press, St. Paul, who were hunting in this section last week came off second best in their raid on the chickens. They brought with them into the neighborhood of Fergus Falls some very good dogs, but they were untrained. Realizing that they were up against it, they bought a hunting dog from a farmer for $25. The farmer's dog proved to be a fighter, and the first thing he did was to whip the thoroughbreds and put them out of business. Then he chased every bird he saw and his new owners had to shoot him and come home. But what hurt them most was to see a hunter with a water spaniel that anyone would bet 20 to 1 would not know a chicken from a moose set birds like an old stager. This dog, owned by an old sportsman, is one of the finest bird dogs in the West.

Some of the criticisms which are made of the working of the Minnesota primary law are about as ridiculous as they could well be made. It is assumed by the critics that the friends of the law expect it to work miracles and to rid the human race of all that is evil. It is assumed that if the law fails to do this it is a failure and should be repealed. All that has ever been claimed for the law is that it affords the people a better means of performing a necessary act than anything they have now. Under it as under any other law there will be evils to combat. The crook will still be crooked, and will as now endeavor to control the political situation. The law will not remove him from the face of the earth, nor will it make his success impossible. It will simply make it more difficult for him to succeed, and easier for the private citizen to act politically. This is what is claimed for the law. This is what it will do. It is not intended as a substitute for the Almighty, but as a substitute for an antiquated and discredited convention system.—Grand Forks Herald.

The Rev. E. Fayolle is having three heating plants installed, one for St. Joseph's church and two for the school building. The Sisters' living rooms are in the school building, and one plant is to heat these rooms. The other for the school rooms will be used only five days in the week.

We are in receipt of a letter from the Hess Business College of St. Paul, stating that the demand for stenographers and book keepers has never been so large as at the present time and asking us to furnish them with names of a few young men and women who would be benefitted by taking a business course. Write for further particulars.

Public Examiner Johnson has sent letters to the state bankers urging that when a note signed by two or more parties is not paid when it is due it should not be allowed to run, but, should be renewed. Mr. Johnson states that it would be better for the indorsers and the holders. It will remove all doubt as to the liability of the endorsers and will prevent the embarrassment of the holder by being suddenly called upon for payment.

A well-merited distinction has been accorded Red Lake Falls' literary genius, Dr. Jules Gendron. The Doctor is just in receipt of an urgent request to write the golden jubilee poem for the 50th anniversary of the founding of Levis College, Quebec. This is one of the recognized institutions of learning of the Dominion, and among its alumni are numbered some of Canada's most eminent jurists, doctors, litterateurs and clergymen, and the celebration will be participated in by thousands of distinguished citizens. Dr. Gendron is already at work on the poem and his friends know it will do full justice to the occasion.

Conrad Short, of Lillo, who recently returned from Alaska, was in the city Tuesday after building material for the construction of a barn 48 x 72 feet, with 14 foot posts, wherein to shelter a large drove of cattle now numbering 100 head, and being added to rapidly. During Mr. Short's absence his enterprising wife carried out a comprehensive scheme of building and equipping a cheese factory on the farm, but the farmers in the vicinity did not take sufficient interest in the institution to provide enough milk for successful operation. It is now proposed to provide sufficient cows of their own to run the cheese factory independently of the attitude of the surrounding farmers, although the patronage of the farmers of that vicinity generally will be courted. The work is certainly a creditable one, and will, while no doubt paying the promoters handsomely, redound to the greater prosperity of eastern Red Lake county.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

High School Notes

By the Athenian Society.

The Spartans realized 33 14 100 points on their program given last Friday.

We regret that there were so few visitors at the High School building last Friday afternoon. It is to be hoped that the weather will be fair when the Athenians give their program.

Old students are continually coming back, but still there are many who have not yet made their appearance.

Don't forget the play given in the Metropolitan Opera house for the benefit of the H. S. foot-ball team.

The foot-ball boys are working hard and though the daily practice may sometimes seem irksome, yet they all realize that constant effort is required to make them first class players.

Caution! Don't be tardy in the morning.

Numb fingers were the results of last week's cold spell.

It is pleasant to note that a very studious spirit is displayed by all H. S. pupils this year. The natural result will be that the work will be done better than ever.

Will Erickson was a visitor at the High School Friday.

All the H. S. text books were neatly covered with paper last Wednesday. It is very evident that they will aid considerably in preserving the good condition the books are in at present.

Some of the members of the Geometry class imagine themselves getting thin and angular on account of their constant study of this interesting branch of mathematics.

Some of the High School girls were very much pleased when handed free Opera tickets Monday, but they were too "gritty" to find partners for the evening, and so could not realize their expected pleasure.

The High School foot ball team is practicing evenings and will soon show 'em a thing or two.

On account of the indisposition of the pastor, Rev. E. Fayolle, no services were held at St. Joseph's church Sunday evening.

Geo. Walker, of Lillo, who has been in the city the past three weeks under Dr. Watson's care, on Monday returned to his home much improved.

Herman Gerlach, formerly of this vicinity, arrived Thursday from his home at Brillion, Wis., for a few weeks' visit among relatives and friends.

L. P. Berthon drove to Crookston Sunday to catch the train for the twin cities, where he went on business connected with the Surprise Store.

Miss Hanna Johnson, assistant principal of the High School, on Monday tendered her resignation, and her successor, who had been engaged, immediately took up the work. Miss Johnson has returned to her home at Willmar.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Swenson, which has been failing since birth, breathed its last Saturday at 8:30 p. m. The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Swanson have the sympathy of the entire community in their hour of sorrow.

R. H. Green is always putting in a good word for Equality. Equality is deserving of all the good things told and more no doubt. Ralph's latest item showing the soil's fertility there, is that from three-quarters of a bushel of speltz seed sown, he realized fifty-bushels—and it was a poor speltz year at that.

The Barbour Stock Co. last night closed a six days' engagement in this city, playing six nights and a matinee to good houses. Among the plays presented are "A Wife's Peril," "When Reuben Comes to Town," "Casey's Troubles," "What Happened to Brown," "Because She Loved Him So," and "The Waif." The properties of the new opera house have received a thorough trial, and both the public and the company are thoroughly satisfied. J. O. Judge, the manager, gives Anderson & Schwalen high praise for the manner in which the opera house has been finished and says the completeness of detail and superiority of the accessories was a great surprise to him. These are such that the finest plays can be presented on this stage to advantage. The Barbour company made a good impression here and will be given a cordial welcome back should they decide to visit us next season.

If your friends expect to attend business college, have them write to the Mankato Commercial College for catalogue.

Julius Schaefer went to Thief River Falls Tuesday to retain H. W. Lee as his counsel in the divorce proceedings instituted by his wife.

The Thief River Falls Press says local parties will invite President Roosevelt to participate in a moose hunting expedition in the country north of here on some dates in November. Mayor F. H. Kratka is preparing a unique invitation which will be printed on a birch bark sheet bearing a handsome moose head decoration. Word has been received from various railroad officials promising special trains in case the trip is undertaken, and a special permit has been promised allowing the party to remove all game killed. Senator Clapp and other well known men of the state will also be included in the invitation, and if the President can arrange to come at any time during November, everything will at once be put in readiness for the trip.

VOTE TO WALK OUT.

MINNEAPOLIS MILL EMPLOYES TO STRIKE IF DEMANDS ARE NOT GRANTED.

Indiana Board Refuses Medical License to Dr. Ames—Illinois Central to Open Through Line From St. Paul to New Orleans—Attorney Empey Gets Fifteen Months in Prison. News of the State in General.

Minneapolis, Sept. 22.—By a vote of three to one the Minneapolis Flour Employes' union voted to go on a strike next Monday morning if their demands for an eight-hour day is not granted.

Over 600 men were present at the meeting in Alexander hall. The discussion was heated and at times stormy. For a time it looked as if the radical element controlled the meeting and would declare the strike on at once.

After a debate of several hours the conservatives convinced the others that it would be to their interest to be more deliberate and a committe of five was appointed to present the union's case to the flour mill operators.

The committee will expect an answer by Thursday and if the answer is not satisfactory a strike will be declared to take effect next Monday.

A large number of men were admitted to the union Sunday. Nearly every man in the mills now belongs to the union.

The flour loaders' union, by an almost unanimous vote, decided to stand by the millers.

If the strike should be ordered almost 3,000 men will quit work. A number of others will be affected indirectly if the strike is prolonged any length of time.

REFUSED MEDICAL LICENSE.

Dr. Ames Must Show He Is Not a Fugitive.

Indianapolis, Sept. 18.—Mayor Ames of Minneapolis has received a body blow from the state board of medical examination and registration, which refused to grant him a temporary permit to practice medicine in Indiana. A board member says he must show he is not a fugitive from justice and show good moral character.

Dr. Ames will resist extradition on the ground that a journey from West Baden to Minneapolis will put his life in peril.

In a special dispatch to an Indianapolis paper, dated at French Lick, Ind., he is quoted as saying:

"I am more than anxious to return to Minneapolis, and, when able to do so, I shall go back there and give them the fight of their lives. The whole thing has been trumped up for political effect, and if I were able, I would return and expose the whole affair."

The dispatch also states that Ames is in very poor health.

NEW ORLEANS TO ST. PAUL.

Illinois Central Will Open a Through Line Nov. 2.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—The Illinois Central Railroad company announced during the day that it will open its St. Paul line Nov. 2. This move will give that company the only through route from New Orleans to St. Paul under one management. Trains will run over the Illinois Central tracks to Albert Lea by way of Dubuque and from Albert Lea to St. Paul over the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern. The latter stretch of track is now being used by the Rock Island, but that road's own line to St. Paul will be opened to traffic Nov. 1.

The service on the Illinois Central will at first be confined to one train a way a day in the passenger department.

NORBECK'S ESTIMATE.

Says Corruption Profits in Minneapolis Are Over $250,000.

Minneapolis, Sept. 22.—"Between $250,000 and $300,000 was cleaned up in "graft" under the Ames administration," declared Christopher C. Norbeck, the former detective, at the county jail. His declaration was evoked by perusal of an account of Mayor Ames' deposition denying complicity in the bribery and corruption pool.

"How do you know that?" Norbeck was asked.

"Well I guess I know what I am talking about. You wait and see what will come out yet and I bet I won't be far out of the way. The whole story will be told when the time comes."

EMPEY GETS FIFTEEN MONTHS.

Former St. Paul Attorney Goes to Stillwater.

Minneapolis, Sept. 18.—It was doomsday in the United States circuit court and Judge Munger passed sentence on some of those who had been convicted.

E. E. Empey, the Excelsior attorney, who was found guilty of using the United States mails with intent to defraud certain railroad companies by presenting damage claims to them for fictitious persons, he was given fifteen months in Stillwater at hard labor with an allowance of ninety days for good behavior.

PIONEER OF MINNESOTA.

Judge Rogers Dies of Brights Disease at St. Peter.

St. Peter, Minn., Sept. 17.—Benjamin Rogers, judge of probate of Nicollet county, died at his home from Brights disease. Deceased was a veteran of the Civil war and at various times had been elected auditor, clerk of court, sheriff and judge of probate. He was sixty-seven years of age and had lived in St. Peter forty-five years.

Saved by Lifesaving Crew.

Duluth, Sept. 21.—Charlotte Larson and Gna Berg were rowing in the canal today when, attempting to change seats, the boat was capsized and the two were thrown into the water, but were promptly rescued by the lifesaving crew.

STOCK YARDS DOUBLE CAPITAL.

South St. Paul Corporation Will Operate on $2,000,000.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—The St. Paul Union Stock Yards company has filed with the secretary of state an amendment to its articles of incorporation increasing the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

The company decided on this increase in 1897, and secured the necessary permission at that time, but has not availed itself of that permission until this time.

In the meantime, however, large improvements to the plant have been and are being made. A large part of the yards has been paved, an electric lighting system has been installed, buildings have been renovated and improved and new ones added, and an extensive water and sewerage system has been put in.

It is the intention to carry these improvements on to a point where the yards will be the equal of any in the country. A large amount is necessary to pay for the past work and that contemplated, and the authorized increase in the capital stock has been made at this time for that purpose.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED

Sixteen-Year-Old Boy Perhaps Fatally Wounded.

Winona, Sept. 20.—Alvin Marsh, sixteen years of age, residing near Oakwood, six miles north of Plainview, yesterday was accidentally shot and probably fatally injured at the Plainview street fair. Marsh was in the shooting gallery operated by William Hess, when the latter took a small rifle which he supposed was not loaded. With the muzzle pointing toward the crowd Hess broke the rifle, and a cartridge exploded, the bullet taking effect in Marsh's left side. The ball perforated the pericardium and penetrated the lung. It could not be moved. Marsh was still alive at last reports. No blame is attached to any one.

THREE CHECKS ARE BOGUS.

Good Looking Young Man Swindles Winona Merchants.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 20.—Two checks for $20 each were passed by a young swindler here today on John Wunder and J. Reiter, the former a florist and the latter a boot and shoe dealer. In each case a purchase was made and the checks presented in payment, change in money being given in return. The checks were drawn on the Winona Deposit bank, in favor of Eugene Hart or bearer, and bearing the signature of George H. Hart. There is no depositor of that name with the Deposit bank. The young fellow who passed the checks is good looking, well dressed and a stranger.

TWENTY DOLLARS A TON.

Minneapolis Retail Firm Disposes of Some Anthracite.

Minneapolis, Sept. 17.—Hard coal for sale was discovered in Minneapolis and was sold to all comers at $20 a ton. The same firm, a retail concern, sold considerable anthracite since the shortage began at $10.

Other coal men say that purchasers at $20 are foolish, that new coal will be on hand soon at the regular September rate of $8.25 a ton. They believe, also, that the concern which holds its stock at $20 will lose in the future when it is discovered that hard coal will prove comparatively plentiful this fall.

DR. AMES DENIES ALL.

Deposition of Absent Mayor Filed in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—Dr. A. A. Ames, absent mayor of Minneapolis, denies everything in the deposition made by him to Assistant County Attorney Jelley, at West Baden, that would tend to incriminate him of malfeasance in office. The deposition has been filed with the clerk of courts.

Lumber Rates to Be Advanced.

St. Paul, Sept. 17.—The Great Northern and Northern Pacific freight officials have sent word to the west end of the systems that lumber rates from the Minnesota transfer to Chicago will be advanced by all lines on Sept. 22. While the rate from the coast to Minneapolis has not been altered, the effect of the raise of the intermediate rate will be felt largely by Washington mills as they are heavy shippers through here into eastern territory.

Combine of St. Paul Bakeries.

St. Paul, Sept. 17.—The consolidation of all wholesale bakeries in St. Paul is believed to be the object of the St. Paul Bread company, which filed articles of incorporation Monday. The capital stock of the new concern is $450,000, of which $75,000 is preferred at 88 per cent and $375,000 common.

Explosion Fatal to One.

Warroad, Minn., Sept. 17.—William Walker and William Smith were badly injured in a sawmill seven miles east of Warroad by a boiler explosion. Both men were brought here on a hand car. Walker will die.

BIG IRRIGATION CANAL.

Three Million to Be Spent Diverting the Water of the Loup River.

Columbus, Neb., Sept. 22.—The Nebraska Central Irrigation company has completed arrangements for the construction of a $3,000,000 power and irrigation canal and the work of building it will begin in a short time. The canal will divert the water of the Loup river from a point near Westpoint through the canal to an immense reservoir near this city. From this reservoir the water will have a fall of ninety feet, with an outlet into the Platte river, and besides furnishing 20,000 horsepower, will also irrigate several thousand acres of land.

Senator Bard Recovering.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 22.—Senator Bard is stronger and in better shape than at any previous time during his illness. It is hoped the crisis of the disease is passed and that his convalescence will now begin.

EMARDVILLE.

Six women votes were cast here.

Hans Pederson threshed some feed on his old machine for the farmers last Saturday.

Primary election day passed off very quietly here. No voting was done in the forenoon.

Rev. H. E. Hoen, of Wright Co., Iowa, was here Sunday and conducted services. He is Mission superintendent for the united Norwegian Lutheran church.

Complaint is being made that the postmaster at Terrebonne quite often returns mail from this post-office which should go further in the country.

Attorney Thomas Germo was here Saturday and Sunday visiting friends and doing a little political talk on the side. He stands a good show of being elected, as every body admires him.

RIVER FALLS.

Aug. Svenson was at Red Lake Falls Wednesday on official business.

Dress does not make the person. Nor does a clean exterior indicate a clean interior. To be well all organs of the body must work in harmony. Rocky Mountain Tea does this work. W. A. Schreiter.

We are informed that only 12 votes were polled at the primary election in this township—or less than one-fifth the number of voters residing within the precinct. Does this mean that the spirit of American patriotism is on a decline? Our forefathers who fought on many a bloody field to secure for us these liberties, that every American citizen ought to feel his proud duty to exercise, pledged their "lives, fortunes and sacred honor."

A Communication.

Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuble medicines, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bangnell, Mo. This remedy for sale by W. A. Schreiter Druggists.

BADGER

Dolsthe Robillard drove to town Wednesday.

Rev. Fr. Roy, of Lambert visited friends here Monday.

Mrs. Ducharme and son Tellesfore did some shopping at Red Lake Falls this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Evangelist Quesnel and daughter Laura drove to the county seat Saturday.

The heavy frosts of the last few nights have destroyed most of the gardens in this vicinity.

John Quesnell has been very sick but is now improving rapidly under the care of Dr. Tessier.

Mrs. Fred Hetler and eldest daughter are visiting at the home of Mrs. Hetler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Morinville.

Robillard's threshing rig moved to Joseph Ducharme's farm Wednesday afternoon but the heavy rain of Wednesday night prevented threshing for a few days.

Eugene Morinville was helping Frank LaPlante haul his wheat to Red Lake Falls, this week. Mr. LaPlante is shipping a car of wheat to Minneapolis.

Misses Rosa Harren, Jennie LaBissoniere, Alma, Anna and May Quesnel came up from Red Lake Falls Wednesday for a visit at the home of Mitchell Quesuell.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. O'Brien of Red Lake Falls, accompanied by Michael O'Brien, of Peoria, Ill., and Miss Maggie McKinnon, of Crookston, called at the homes of Dolphus Champoux and Joe Ducharme last Sunday.

A crowd of young people gathered at the home of Joseph Sauharine Sunday evening. Those present from here were: Messrs. Adelard Champeau, Rudolph Ducharme and Arthur Robillard. A very pleasant evening was spent.

GRIT.

Your correspondent was to McIntosh on a business trip last Friday.

Mrs. B. Iverson, from Lillo returned last Saturday from a visit to Northwood.

Ed Havik, left for his farm near McIntosh to harvest his flax and do the fall plowing.

Mrs. W. A. Bishop returned last Wednesday from a two months' stay with her mother near Erskine.

Ladies don't fail to read our ad in this paper about the free prizes. Look it up; you may be the lucky one.

L. B. Larson, salesman, for Nickols & Dean, of Minneapolis, was transacting business in this vicinity during this week.

Chris Storholm, salesman, for Finch & Smith, of Crookston, was transacting business in our country stores this week.

Some two weeks ago there arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Reirson, a son, and the little fellow has been kicking ever since like a hay steer because we have failed to mention it before. Dan smiles to himself, but has not said anything about the cigars yet.

Again the autumn leaves are falling, the days are getting shorter fast, and the cold frosty nights are remindings of winter. Soon our birds have all departed, and the woods will all be bare, the leafless branches will shiver and shake as the northwest winds whistle around the house-corners. O mister! won't it be cold!

Last week we received a copy of the Willmar Tribune, and on the first page was the dark outlined portrait of one of the pioneer settlers of Kandiyohi county. Mr. John Swenson. But sad to know his life's work was done. After a long and useful life be passed away after a short illness. Mr. John Swenson, was a brother of G. Swenson in town of Garnes here, and uncle to your correspondent. Mr. Swenson came to Kandiyohi county in the early days when all was wild and woody and he experienced many hardships as a pioneer, and at one time was nearly captured by the Indians during one of their early outbreaks, when two of his comrades were killed. Mr. Swenson was a respected citizen and was beloved by all who knew him, and his memory will live as a guide to those who sadly mourn his death.

Miss Mary Lade proved up on her homestead last Wednesday. Mrs. Ed Havik and Mrs. Ole Lee were witnesses and Mrs. James Gaston the coachman that brought the ladies to McIntosh and back.

Home Visitors' Low Rate Excursion.

Sentiment inspired by patriotism has ond it is to be hoped always will afford, a one-cent-a-mile rate to enable the "Boys in Blue" to assemble in reunion at least once a year, from all points of the compass. Such a rate is authorized from all points east of Chicago to Washington for this purpose in October 1902. Such a rate has been afforded once a year since the first reunion of the veterans of the War of '61. This especially low rate has become popular, not only for the purpose for which I was established, but for other purposes, chief among which we recognize the opportunity thus afforded to visit friends, at or convenient to, the place of reunion, because of the low rate, and because of the favorable opportunity by reason of the liberal extension of time limit for return.

On dates authorizing sale of Grand Army Excursion on tickets to Washington, for the Reunion of 1902, are also authorized similar reduction in rates, from all points west to Chicago, with time limits the same as on such tickets to Washington, excursion tickets to any point in the territory of the Central Passenger Association, on or reached by the Nickel Plate Road. For full information call on your most convenient interline ticket agent by mail, wire, 'phone or in person, or on John Y. Calahan, General Agent Nickel Plate Road, No. 113 Adams St., Chicago Ill.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effects. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by W. A. Schreiter Druggist.

A Great Railway.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway owns and operates all equipment on its 6,600 miles of road, including Sleeping cars, Parlor cars and Dining cars, maintaining an excellence of service unequaled on any railway in the world.

Its Daylight Express (making direct connections at St. Paul and Minneapolis with morning trains from the North and West) leaves Minneapolis 7:50 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m. daily, reaching Milwaukee 7:00 p. m. and Chicago 9:25 p. m. same day. This train is electric lighted, carries new coaches of latest type. Observation Buffet Parlor Car, and dining car serving supper.

Its No. 2 (connecting at St. Paul and Minneapolis with the fast transcontinental trains from the coast) leaves Minneapolis 5:25 p. m. and St. Paul 6:00 p. m., daily, reaching Chicago 7:00 o'clock next morning, at which point direct connections are made with all trains for the East and South. This train is electric lighted, carries modern coaches, first class Standard Sleeping Cars and Dining car serving supper.

OLIVE OIL AND ITS USES.

Children Should Be Taught to Like It—Its Food Value.

The olive as an article of food is becoming so thoroughly "naturalized" in the United States that successful efforts have been made to make it "native to the soil" by growing it in such places as are adapted to its culture. California and Arizona are thus far the only states where the possibility of raising olive trees in appreciable numbers has been demonstrated, but experiments are being made elsewhere.

A writer in the American Kitchen Magazine says:

Only a small part of the olive oil in the markets of the world is used for cooking. It is largely employed for soap making (castile soap is made from olive oil), medicinally and in silk and woolen factories.

The increased use of oil for food should always be encouraged. If children are trained to eat it, there is little likelihood of their ever losing the appetite. Instead, the tendency is generally to an increasing use of oil not only with salads, but with almost all vegetables. Mayonnaise dressing and tartare sauce please many who do not care for plain oil.

Aside from custom, there is no reason why olive oil, more than good butter, should be regarded as a luxury by an ordinary family.

It is hard to draw a sharp line between the use of oil as a food and its use in therapeutics. The former makes the latter less likely to be required. If a small part of the money spent for patent medicines in the United States were employed to put a pure olive oil on our tables, there would be less call for the various powders, pills and liniments that are advertised on every side. Perhaps, too, we angular Americans should gain some of the grace native to Spaniards and Italians.

The body can be fed artificially with oil by baths, massage, etc., and physicians and nurses know of the wonderful gain made by patients for whom this is done. In typhoid fever, appendicitis and kindred diseases the use of oil results very successfully. It is also employed in the treatment of burns and as an antidote for poisons.

Her Textbook.

One morning, says the New York Evening Post, an Italian, leading his little daughter by the hand, entered a public schoolhouse in New York and stood in the hall, his hat tucked under his arm and his eyes seeking the passersby in amiable appeal.

A teacher came out of her room and, happening to notice him, asked his errand. He pushed the girl eagerly forward.

"She wan' go school," he answered, with many bows. "She has book," he tapped the book under the girl's arm, "and slate," pointing to her hand.

"Oh, I see!" said the teacher, smiling. "You have brought her all prepared. Can she read?"

The father shook his head, smiled and looked into the lady's eyes in a deprecating way, repeating softly, "She wan' go school."

The teacher took the book and looked at it. She found it old and worn and neither a reader nor an arithmetic. It was a "Social Directory of the Year 1900."

Artificial Flower Industry.

Few people are perhaps aware of the extent to which the artificial flower industry is carried on in Saxony. Several large factories in Dresden produce a considerable quantity, but the principal place of manufacture is at Sebnitz, a town of 8,500 inhabitants, close to the Bohemian boundary. At the present time there are some 430 manufactories of artificial flowers, leaves, plants and fruits in the district of Dresden, of which 330 are located in Sebnitz and the neighboring villages and 100 in Dresden and its suburbs. The total number of persons engaged in the trade is estimated at 10,000, the larger proportion being females.

The Latest Insurance.

It is now possible to insure at Lloyd's against the risk of smallpox breaking out in the house on either side of you—the idea being, of course, to protect the assured against expense incurred by temporary removal. The rate is a minimum of 10 shillings per cent for the year, the risk, of course, extending over an indefinite number of people. One broker who was in this business from the start has been doing hardly anything else for the last ten days, and many who at first laughed at the whole thing are now coming into the market. —London Times.

Michael Davitt.

A few days ago Michael Davitt celebrated his fifty-sixth birthday. His career has been remarkable when it is remembered that he began work as a child of ten in a Lancashire cotton mill and lost his right arm when he was eleven. While he was in Australia in 1895 he was returned to parliament without opposition for East Kerry and South Mayo. He resigned from the house three years ago.

The Shad Fisheries.

According to recent data secured by the United States fish commission, there are about 25,000 men employed in the shad fisheries of the Atlantic seaboard of the United States. The value of the boats, apparatus of capture, etc., exceeds $2,000,000, and the annual catch approximates 15,000,000 in number, valued at $3,000,000.

Eye Cataract.

M. Cabel, an oculist of Bordeaux, is reported to have been successful in the treatment of cataract without operations by the application of baths of salicylate of soda. He has arrested the progress of the cataract in numerous cases and is sanguine of success if the treatment is begun at an early stage.

HUMOR

GLEAMS OF HUMOR.

Some Scintillations That Will Brighten True Lovers of Wit

Patience—Do you care for these house parties?

Patrice—Not if you refer to the janitor's, I don't.

Bill—Have you seen the automobile hat yet?

Jill—No; I suppose it stands up straight.

Church—Does he lie about the fish he catches?

Gotham—No; only about the ones he doesn't catch.

Mr. Crimsonbeak—Here's an article in the paper about your new tight shoes, dear.

Mrs. Crimsonbeak—You're joking.

"Well, I thought it was. It's headed 'Much in Little.'"

"Now, my boy," said the teacher, "when there is to be a storm what does the sailor do?"

"He takes in sail, ma'am."

"That's correct. Now, why does he take in the sail?"

"So it won't get wet, ma'am."

Patience—While Miss Fussanfeather was at an exhibition of paintings the other day she says she came to a mirror, and while looking in she really thought it was a painting.

Patrice—Well, she was looking at something painted, very likely.—Yonkers Statesman.

His Malady.

Former Honk—I understand that the young city feller that has been boardin' at Eli Summertime's died last night in sort of a peculiar manner.

Farmer Hornbeak—D'know as there was anything specially peculiar about it? He died dead, same as folks generally do.

Farmer Honk—Aw, you know what I mean—the cause of his death was peculiar.

Former Hornbeak—D'know as it was either. He died of a combination of mushroom appetite and toadstool judgment—a pretty common failin' amongst city folks, I've noticed.—Judge.

Smith and His Money.

"No?"

"No, I can't. Yesterday he was short, and he's short again today."

"Did he want to borrow from you?"

"No; I wanted to borrow from him." —Chicago Journal.

The Snare.

Daughter—I have an invitation to the theater and have no chaperon.

Mother—You must have one, of course, or you shan't go. It's from Mr. Slimpurse, I suppose?

"No. It's from Mr. Fatpurse."

"Um—never mind about the chaperon."—Tit-Bits.

Funny.

Towne—Did you ever notice anything funny about his conversation?

Browne—Funny? I should say not. There's absolutely no point to it.

Towne—That's the funny part of it. Having no point, how is it that it bores so quickly?—Philadelphia Press.

The Invalid's Resort.

"Going away for the summer?"

"No," answered the man who complains. "I'm not feeling strong enough to face the brass bands and merry go rounds at a summer resort. The doctor says I'll have to stay at home and rest."—Washington Star.

Glad of the Chance.

"Did the old man seem to hesitate when you asked him for Laura?"

"Not a bit of it. He said the caterer and the florist owed him a lot of money, and it would be a good way to get even with them."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fruits.

"I suppose your political career has taught you to value the fruits of wisdom."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "especially when they take the form of political plums."—Washington Star.

Splitting Hairs.

"You may trim my whiskers a little," the customer remarked, taking his seat in the chair.

"Yes, sir," replied the Boston barber. "Shall I do anything to your beard, sir?"—Chicago Tribune.

Second Appearance.

"This meat," protested the boarder, "is overdone."

"Not exactly it ain't," replied the new waitress; "it's done over. This is the same meat you had yesterday."—Philadelphia Press.

Too Bad!

"I think it was a shame for the Indians to bury their hatchets!"

"Why?"

"Just think how lovely they would be for decorative purposes."—Detroit Free Press.

Conjugal Repartee.

"If I'd known how badly we'd get along together, I'd never have married you."

"If I'd known it, you'd never have had the chance."—Baltimore Herald.

Sport.

"Automobiling is not likely to endure as a sport."

"No, people are already so shy that it's more a matter of luck than skill when anybody is run down."—Life.

FIRST GUN

OF THE CAMPAIGN FIRED BY REPUBLICANS LAST NIGHT.

GOV. VAN SANT, THE CENTRAL FIGURE, CAPTURES THE AUDIENCE.

Yesterday's Great Northern passenger train brought in a distinguished body of state officials—Gov. S. R. Van Sant, Secretary of State Hanson and Deputy State Auditor Sam Iverson—comprising the state drainage commission, and accompanied by Geo. A. Ralph, the state surveyor. They are on a tour of inspection of the state ditches in the northern counties. The New Salem ditch in Marshall county, and the Grand Marais ditch in Polk county were inspected Monday and Tuesday, and the Norman and Roseau county ditches will next be visited. After dinner the party divided and was joined by a committee here, Gov. Van Sant, Auditor Iverson, Geo. A. Ralph and P. A. Kaufer occupying seats in one rig, and Secretary of State Hanson, Dr. N. M. Watson, Theo. Garceau and Frank E. Hunt in another. Together they made the trip east to inspect the state ditch in Emardville and Gervais townships. The work is being done by D. Linnihan and will be completed in two weeks. The ditch is four miles long east of the Clearwater river and half a mile on the west side of the river, 14 feet wide at the top, and 8 feet at the bottom. The earth excavated is used to grade up the highway.

A drenching rain fell all afternoon, but this did not deter the governor from getting out of the rig and walking up and down and across the ditch at a score of places for a thorough examination. The condition of the road in some spots, the filling up in places of the small ditch on the opposite side, came in for criticism, and the commission will see that these matters are remedied before the work is accepted.

The governor's drive was a continuous ovation, farmers coming out in the rain all along the route to shake his hand, and he invariably got out of the rig in the mud and rain to say an encouraging word. On the return, a bevy of school children trooping home through the rain was overtaken, and the Governor took occasion, after shaking hands with all, to give them a few words of good advice. Gov. Van Sant has a warm, sympathetic heart above all else, and a cheery disposition that scatters sunshine wherever he goes. The party returned at six somewhat wet and mud bespattered, but none the worse for the trip.

The rally at the opera house in the evening was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience, many ladies having braved the rain. The large attendance in face of the inclement weather was an agreeable surprise. Dr. N. M. Watson presided as chairman, and introduced as the first speaker, Ray W. Jones. Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, Mr. Jones having come up from Minneapolis purposely to attend this rally. He paid a glowing tribute to Hon. Halvor Steenerson, Republican nominee for congress, and declared that he would not be in congress twenty-four hours until his influence would be felt. He is one of the common people, and their sympathies and desires were his. These declarations met with great applause, and it is evident, Halvor Steenerson has warm friends here.

Sam Iverson, candidate for state auditor, spoke briefly of the resources of our great state, of the permanent school fund of $14,000,000 which made Minnesota's system rank first in the Union. His tribute to Gov. Van Sant was roundly applauded.

O. W. Tessier, of Terrebonne, spoke briefly in French. It was evident his remarks were well received. Mr. Tessier is one of nature's noblemen who always command attention.

The governor's speech was well received. Free from partisan bitterness, he met the issues with a common sense view which showed that he was in full sympathy with the people, and stood as their champion.

He said the drainage commission on this tour of inspection had traveled by team through the country for 126 miles since Monday. He was a drainage enthusiast. As a member of the state legislature he had always voted for drainage.

His speech was interpolated with witticisms. His friend O. W. Tessier of Terrebonne, who had spoken before him, came in for a compliment. "I believe every word he said, regardless of the fact that I could not understand a word. You see what implicit confidence I have in my friend from Terrebonne." Halvor Steenerson received warm eomiums at his hand—a poor boy, an example of the opportunities afforded American citizenship, he had worked his way up to his present commanding position by hard work. President Roosevelt truly says "pity the man who don't work, not the man who works. Halvor Steenerson will stand with President Roosevelt in his fight for the people.

"I'm for every man on the ticket this year, the governor said, "including myself." All good men are not in the Republican party, and he had no quarrel with sincere partisans. This commonwealth belongs to the people. "It is yours. All who have votes are stock holders in this enterprise. Public officers, including the governor, are your servants. There are no titled favorites here. Every man's a prince if he does his duty as a man.

"What is the great question before the people to-day? Not free silver, that is dead; not imperialism—imperialism where the people rule? Never! That cannot be. When I was in the army, they said Grant would make himself a dictator, using his great military power. We can look back now and see the folly of that phantom.

The great question of the hour is "Obedience to law." In obedience to law is the safety of the Republic.

This railroad merger fight is not my fight. It's yours. These great corporations must be your servants, not your masters Capital and labor are both necessary, and have equal rights. That man who would array one against the other is society's enemy." He cited the law prohibiting the merging of competing and parallel lines in this state. Competition is as necessary to-day as it was then. Any other course breathes disaster.

He spoke of the vast land grants given to the railroad companies—more land than is under cultivation in the entire state to-day. Is it unreasonable to ask these railroads to obey the law?

The searchlight of the nation is upon this state. How will the people answer at the polls? Shall a corporation organized in the trust ridden state of New Jersey come here and run the whole state? If you think I am honest, vote for me; if you think I am not, that I am making a play for political effect, vote against me.

He compared the hard times previous to McKinley's administration, and cited Coxey's Army. Coxey, under these good Republican times, now employs 500 men in an iron foundry. The Republican party always has its face to the sunshine.

Thief River Falls' Fair.

Arrangements for the fair which is to be held in Thief River Falls Thursday and Friday, Oct. 9 and 10, are fast being completed.

The association has decided to give $300, for prizes for live stock and agricultural exhibits, and $50 for fine acts. One of the most important features of the fair will be the racing, and about $500 will be put up by the association as prizes. It is expected that a large number of trotting horses from all over the Northwest will be there, for already a large number of horsemen have signified their intention of going. All information about the fair will be cheerfully given by J. D. Ward, secretary.

M. SKALA PRESENTS PROPOSITION TO THE COUNTY BOARD.

OFFERS NORTH SIDE OPERA HOUSE FREE TO COUNTY THREE YEARS.

An interesting proposition has been made to the board of county commissioners. At the meeting this week M. Skala, representing a majority of the shareholders of the Opera House association, offered to furnish the building located on the corner of Hamilton ave. and 5th street north, known as the North Side Opera house, to the county for three years, for a consideration of $1.00.

Louis Hanson, of Thief River Falls, a member of the board, introduced a resolution accepting the proposition. The matter was discussed pro and con upon its merits. Commissioner Hebert was not present when the discussion took place, which was just before adjournment. Chairman Sutor appears to appreciate the generosity of the offer, and at first leaned toward immediate action, but upon second thought it appeared the part of wisdom to defer final action until the next meeting, so that the matter of title, and the county's responsibility, etc., should be looked into. Mr. Sutor thereupon instructed the county attorney to investigate the matter in the interests of the county, and a decision will in all probability be reached at the next meeting of the board. There appears to be no opposition to the proposed measure from the board, but the result of the county attorney's investigations will undoubtedly determine the action of the board.

State C. E. Convention.

Word reaches us from St. Paul that plans for the state convention of the Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor, to be held in that city October 16-19, have been definitely formed. The state executive committee have arranged for a program of unusual interest and the St. Paul City Union, who will act as hosts to the visiting Endeavorers from throughout the state, have their entertainment plans well in hand; so that those Endeavorers who are planning to attend the 1902 convention may thus early assure themselves that a very pleasant and profitable time is in store for them.

Clarence E. Eberman, field secretary of the United Society, will be present throughout the three days' session of the convention, and will make several addresses. Said Secretary John Willis Baer, on a recent visit to Minnesota, "Eberman is the best man you could possibly have at a state convention."

The St. Paul Union will tender their guests an evening reception, and will also give them a twenty-five mile trolley ride, visiting Lake Como, the Indian Mounds and Fort Snelling, and other points of interest and beauty.

A railroad rate of at least one fare and a third will be made from all points throughout the state, and return, for this convention.

The Voting Contest.

The Most Popular Lady voting contest at Krueger & Hayton's confectionery store will close Nov. 1st. The vote to date is as follows:

HATTEN A CANDIDATE

M. A. HATTEN WILL RUN FOR COUNTY TREASURER.

IS CIRCULATING A PETITION AS INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE.

For a time it looked as if County Treasurer Tanoberg would have no opposition for re-election. However, this is not to be. M. A. Hatten, of this city, formerly of Terrebonne, will be an independent candidate. Mr. Hatten has long been urged to become a candidate. He was county treasurer for two years, being one of the county's first officers.

The petition requires signatures of 10 per cent. of the voters at the last election—220 names suffice.

Red Lake Reservation Lands.

Efforts will be renewed at the coming session of congress to have the Red Lake lands opened up for entry. This will add a quarter of a million acres to the agricultural tracts in Northern Minnesota. The bill for securing these lands from the Indians under provisions of a treaty negotiated last winter by Maj. McLaughlin passed the senate last session.

Congressman Cannon objected to it in the house, because it carried an appropriation of about a million dollars to pay the Indians for the lands. But this money is all reimbursed to the government. Mayor Frank Kratka, of Thief River Falls will go to Washington this fall to continue the work. It is understood that Secretary Hitchcock in his annual report to congress, will recommend the passage of the Red Lake bill.

Many hunters are getting ready to go after the ducks this week. The flight of mallards from the north has begun, and the birds are quite plentiful in the lakes which have wild-rice on their edges. Ordinarily, mallards do not appear in this latitude until about the middle of October. The cold of the past week, however, has driven them southward and this will no doubt make the hunting season here two weeks longer than it would be had the weather remained mild.

The mallards breed in the wilderness of northern Canada, particularly on the northwestern shore of Hudson Bay, and in the great stretches of marsh and forest along the Mackenzie river around the Great Bear and Great Slave lakes. A few of them nest farther south, but these localities are recognized as their summer home.

They stay in the north until the temperature becomes wintry. Then the migration to the south sets in. They come by easy stages, generally flying about one hundred miles, when they alight and remain until the weather becomes unpleasant, when they again make a flight to keep ahead of the frost line, and in this way succeed in reaching Louisiana, Southern Texas and California by winter.

Hunting mallards is necessarily a more strenuous sport than the chase of other birds. The hunter must be prepared to withstand the cold, for they never appear in warm weather. Properly prepared, however, it offers great inducements to the true sportsman, and while the flight lasts or the birds remain here there will be no scarcity of hunters.

They are generally shot from blinds, and on a good lake it is a case of load and fire all day. Often one man will kill as many as a hundred birds between daylight and sunset.

RED RIVER VALLEY

SOMETHING ABOUT THE PRODUCTIVENESS OF THIS FAMOUS REGION.

JAS. J. HILL'S OPTIMISTIC VIEW OF ITS FUTURE AND HIS REASONS.

There are few richer land areas in the world than the Red River Valley. It is not easy to say just where "the valley" ends and where it begins, but as a general rule it is considered to be about sixty miles wide, thirty on each side of the river, and to include the counties of Pembina, Walsh, Grand Forks, Traill, Cass and Richland in North Dakota, and Kittson, Marshall, Polk, Norman, Clay, Red Lake, and sometimes Wilkin in Minnesota. At any rate a glance at the soil will tell whether you are in the valley or not, and that cannot be told by the topography, so gradual is the rise in most places from the river to the bench lands. The heavy black soil of the valley can be told at a glance. It is a beautiful country to look upon this Red River valley.

The valley is about 250 miles long. If we call it 60 miles wide it has an area of 12,500 square miles. That is about one-seventh of the total area of Minnesota and about one-thirteenth that of Minnesota and North Dakota together. These two states together produce in an average year about 150,000,000 bushels of wheat. The Red River valley in good years produces 45,000,000 bushels or more. According to the United States census it produced in 1899 40,000,000 bushels. Thus 9 per cent of the total area of these two states produced 27 per cent. of their wheat.

In 1899 the North Dakota valley counties, which had about 2,200,000 acres in wheat, produced as follows: Pembina, 3,434,080; Walsh, 3,753,322; Grand Forks, 3,966,146; Traill, 3,931,212; Cass, 6,957,214; Richland, 2,994,258; a total of 25,036,160.

In the same year the Minnesota counties produced wheat as follows: Kittson, 1,772,120; Marshall, 2,225,440; Polk, 4,128,620; Norman, 1,459,030; Clay, 2,593,390; Red Lake, 747,450. The Minnesota acreage was 872,000.

And this, remember, is only wheat. It takes no account of the other cereals and flax, and there is besides the great vegetable and stock and dairy wealth of this favored region.

The valley first began to be a factor in the wheat raising world about 1880 and experienced a boom in 1882. The first wheat raised here was practically all No. 1 hard, Scotch fife being the seed. But the farmers, finding that blue stem wheat grows better turned to it, so that No. 1 Northern is a more common grade in the Red River valley now than No. 1 hard.

Yet for all its wealth the Red River valley is not yet thickly settled. The price of its lands is low, compared with their productive capacity and value and there is room in them for thousands. It is true that recently there have been some sharp advances in prices, but there are certain to be still further advances, until the value of a farm corresponds to the capitalization of the income that can be derived from it at prevailing interest rates. J. J. Hill, the great railway man, was asked a while ago what he thought about the tendency of these lands to advance in price. He declared that the tendency was permanent and bound to continue.

"The population of the United State," he said, "is increasing at the rate of 4,000 daily. We are growing at the rate of nearly 1,500,000 a year. We have doubled in every thirty or forty years of our history. Inside of fifty years we will have 150,000,000. Where are they going? Are we sending them away? Are they emigrating to other lands? No; we are taking care of them at home. Where is this extra million-and-a-half a year going? Where else but into the new lands of the west, and into the northwest above all? Where else are cheap lands, fertile soil, healthful climate, transportation facilities to good markets, and conditions favorable to human energy and enterprise so abundant and ready to hand as right here in the northwest?

"Is there anything of a boom character about such a condition as this? Not a bit. It is not only normal and natural, it is necessary, it is compelled. What else can this population do, where else can they go? The cities cannot absorb the 50,000,000 increase of the next thirty years. The bulk of the population must be engaged in productive occupations. They must be at work providing that great and fundamental necessity of mankind everywhere—food for subsistence. The great absorbing industry, the most important from a practical material standpoint, is the production of food, and food comes from the soil. The cities flourish and prosper and our own civilization is enduring only when the vast majority of the people is on the soil, toiling by sweat of the brow to produce food, on the one hand, and the raw material for manufacture, trade and transportation, on the other. The bulk of this 50,000,000 human increase must go to the soil, and they pour into the northwest as naturally as water flows down hill. This population movement into the northwest is as normal and natural as the fact that water seeks a level."

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A sallow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. Thedford's Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and ague. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by Thedford's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than Thedford's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Mullins, S. C., March 10, 1901.

I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. REV. A. G. LEWIS.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

Not a foot of wooden sidewalk was laid in St. Paul this season.

John H. Thurston, a resident of Minnesota since 1855, is dead at St. Paul.

General William Booth, organizer of the Salvation Army, will be in St. Paul Nov. 22 and 23.

An unidentified man committed suicide in the Tracy jail by hanging. He was about twenty years old.

Mrs. C. A. Pillsbury is dead at Minneapolis. She was the widow of Charles A. Pillsbury, who died about a year ago.

The state health board's weekly smallpox report shows twelve new cases, of which seven are in Proctor Knott, St. Louis county.

The Minneapolis city council has decided, by practically a unanimous vote, to take the name of "A. A. Ames" from the city payroll. The mayor has been drawing a salary right along.

Two of the buffet cars of the Great Northern railway, while temporarily in the yards at St. Paul for repairs, were broken into by burglars and more than $1,000 worth of silverware was carried away.

The state board of corrections and charities has condemned the Watonwan county jail. Arrangements have been made to keep prisoners at the Mankato jail until a suitable building can be erected.

W. J. Hahn, a leader of the Minneapolis bar, dropped dead in the courtroom while examining a witness. He had served as attorney general of Minnesota and was a member of the recent state tax commission.

A jury in the case of Rev. Louis Richter against the North and West Publishing company at Minneapolis decided that it is not libelous to call a man a "Judas," although the man be a minister of the gospel.

Sheriff Vine of Olmstead county, this state, with a large posse, has overtaken a band of alleged horse thieves at Northwood, Ia., arrested one of the men and recovered the four horses stolen near Spring Valley a week ago.

There will be no contest between the rifle teams of the Illinois and Minnesota national guard for the Washburn trophy this year, as Minnesota, who challenged Illinois, did not get her challenge in by March 1, the specified time.

A desperate battle was fought at Park River, N. D., Sunday afternoon between a band of Indian horse traders and a number of harvest hands. Nels Johnson, one of the latter, was shot and instantly killed in the fight. His home is at Willmar, this state.

James F. Tibbets, a well known Duluth undertaker, committed suicide by shooting. Tibbets had recently become financially embarrassed and this coupled with the fact that his love for a Duluth woman had been spurned, are believed to have been the cause of the deed.

Three bears, two only cubs, made a peaceful excursion into Duluth Friday. They went through the finest residence section of town, the big animal in front and the two cubs trotting bowleggedly along behind. After their tour of inspection the trio returned to the woods.

The town of Girard, Otter Tail county, made a record at the recent primary election, only two votes being cast there, while the number registered was sixty-six. The compensation of the judges and clerks was $20, and the cost of transporting ballots was $13.50.

The northbound freight train on the Minneapolis and St. Louis road collided with an empty freight car near New Ulm and the engine was thrown from the track. The fireman and engineer jumped and saved their lives. They rolled down an embankment forty feet high.

Nearly 10,000 cattle changed hands at the St. Paul union stock yards during the first five days of last week. The business is the largest that has ever been done in a week in the history of the stock yards, and is much larger than has been done during some ordinary months.

A. F. Foster of Litchfield was beaten for the Sixth district Republican congressional nomination by forty-seven votes. Michael J. Dowling was beaten for the Seventh district nomination by an even 200. Both charge fraud. Foster says he will bring a contest. Dowling is uncertain, but will probably not go to the courts.

Requisition papers issued by Governor Van Sant for Mayor Ames, who is in West Baden, Ind., and at present in the hands of County Attorney Boardman will be served on the governor of Indiana in the course of another week unless Dr. Ames signifies his intention of returning within a reasonable length of time.

The funeral of Joseph Marcotte, the centenarian who died Wednesday, took place Friday morning from St. Mary's church at White Bear. The deceased was born in Canada Dec. 17, 1791, and was, therefore, almost 105 years old—the oldest man in the Northwest. He has sixteen children and many grandchildren and great grandchildren.

The state board of health, under the direction of Secretary H. M. Bracken, is making a studied investigation into the tuberculosis statistics of the state. This is prior to the sanitary convention that will be held in St. Paul Dec. 17 and 18 under the auspices of the state board. Speakers from all over the United States and Canada will be present to discuss the subject of the prevention of a spreading of tubercular diseases.

The receipts of the postoffices in the state of Minnesota during the fiscal year ending June 30 were $2,482,961, which, after deducting the expenses of the offices, returned a net revenue of $1,455,414. The three largest offices in the state show the following summaries: St. Paul, receipts, $626,554; expenses, $259,627; net revenue, $366,917, or 59 per cent of the receipts. Minneapolis, receipts, $893,169; net revenue, $576,420, or 65 per cent. Duluth, receipts, $138,807; net revenue, $84,012, or 68 per cent.

Riding the Wooden Horse.

Torture on a grand scale went out with Felton, the assassin of Buckingham, but torture on a small scale continued to be practiced on military offenders down to the eighteenth century. The form most frequently resorted to was that known as the wooden horse, to ride which was the punishment accorded for petty thefts, insubordination and so on. The wooden horse was made of planks nailed together so as to form a sharp ridge or angle about eight or nine feet long. This ridge represented the back of the horse and was supported by four posts or legs about five feet high placed on a stand made movable by truckles. To complete the resemblance to the noblest animal in creation a head and tail were added.

When a soldier was sentenced, either by court martial or by his commanding officer, to ride the horse, he was placed on the brute's back, with his hands tied behind him, and frequently enough, in order to increase the pain, muskets were fastened to his legs to weigh them down or, as was jocularly said, to prevent the fiery, untamed, barebacked steed from kicking him off.—London Graphic.

The Camphor Eater.

It is surprising what a number of camphor eaters there are among the well to do classes. The idea seems to prevail that this gum, taken in small and regular doses, gives a peculiarly clear creaminess of complexion, and scores of young women buy it for this purpose. The habit is, moreover, very difficult to cast off, for camphor produces a mild form of exhilaration and stupefaction, and in many instances where very large doses have been swallowed the habit has become a sort of slavery.

These camphor eaters all have a dreamy, dazed and very listless air, and in most of them there is an ever present longing to sleep or at least to rest. Extreme weakness generally follows the taking of regular doses, and I have seen cases where it has been almost difficult to tell the effects from those of alcohol. As to the complexion, if a ghastly pallor be an improvement camphor certainly produces it.—Clinic.

When "Pluck" Was Slang.

The word "pluck" affords another instance of the way in which slang words in the course of time become adopted into current English. We now meet with "pluck" and "plucky" as the recognized equivalents of "courage" and "courageous." An entry in Sir Walter Scott's "Journal" shows that in 1827 the word had not yet lost its low character. He says (volume 2, page 30), "Want of that article blackguardly called pluck." Its origin is obvious. From early times the heart has been popularly regarded as the seat of courage. Now, when a butcher lays open a carcass he divides the great vessels of the heart, cuts through the windpipe and then plucks out together the united heart and lungs—lights, he calls them—and he terms the united mass "the pluck."—Notes and Queries.

A Victim of Scotch Logic.

A highland hotel keeper was one day having a squabble with an Englishman in the lobby of the hotel about his bill. The stranger said it was a gross imposition—he could live cheaper in the best hotel in London.

The highland landlord replied, "Oh, nae doot, sir, nae doot; but dae ye no' ken the reason?"

"Not a bit of it," replied the stranger hastily.

"Weel, then," replied the host, "as ye seem to be a sensible bit callant, I'll tell ye. There's 365 days in the Lunnon hotel keeper's calendar, but we have only three months here. Due ye understand me noo, freen'? We maun mak' hay in the hielan's when the sun shines, for it's unco seldom she dis't."—Scottish American.

The Appian Way.

The famous Appian way, mentioned by almost every Roman writer, connected the Eternal City with all parts of south Italy. For many miles from Rome the space on each side was filled with sepulchers, many of them of persons distinguished in history. To have a sepulcher on the Appian way was equivalent to being buried in Greenwood, in New York, or Pere la Chaise, in Paris.

A Peculiar Word.

The word "habit" is one of the most peculiar in our language. If you take off the first letter, you still have "a bit." If you remove the second, the word "bit" is still on hand. Decapitate that by removing the "b" and it is still a word. Take off the "i," and you find the old "habit" not "t" totally destroyed.

Office of County Auditor,
Red Lake County, Minnesota.

To Hiram O. Wheeler:

You are hereby notified that on the first day of May, A. D. 1899, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate judgment, which was entered in the district court in and for the county of Red Lake, in the 14th judicial district, in the state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1899, the above described piece or parcel of land situated in Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, was bid in to the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs, for the above named sum; that the above described real estate has become and now is the absolute property of the state;

That on the above stated date the above described real estate was sold by the County Auditor of Red Lake county, as directed by the state auditor, in accordance with Section 101 of Chapter 11 of General Statutes of 1878, and the several acts amendatory thereto, for the sum above stated; that the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue on this notice) is the amount above stated, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum from said above date, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of said piece or parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice, and proof thereof has been filed in the office of the County Auditor of this county.

Witness my hand and official seal this 10th day of September A. D. 1902.
(County Auditor's Seal.)

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ADAM ZEH, COUNTY AUDITOR.

Indications point very strongly to the re-election of Adam Zeh, the present efficient and popular county auditor. Mr. Zeh has a record as county auditor which gives the people of Red Lake county assurances not only of the fact that he is obliging and courteous, at all times ready to do his utmost to accommodate the public, that he has mastered the intricicacies of the office, and has the work at his fingers' ends; but that the interests of the taxpayers of Red Lake county are always his first consideration. There are other capable, honorable, upright men in the world besides Mr. Zeh, who no doubt would make good county officers, but he seems to have a holt on the good graces and good will, not to say affections, of the people of Red Lake county, which is the source of his great strength as a vote getter. Elected four years ago over W.T. Mullarky, the Democratic nominee, one of the strongest men in the county, two years later he met in the political arena W. A. Case, who had made a record in Marshall county as a whirlwind when it came to running for office. Mr. Case was the Republican nominee, and Mr. Zeh was informed that he had the fight of his life on his hands, Mr. Zeh received a total of 1465 to 658 for Case. In fact, his vote was 74 more than again as much as his competitor's. This is a showing of strength of which any man might feel proud.

The candidates against him this year are O. H. Peters, Republican, and Jas. E. Ford, Democrat. Up to a short time ago the general opinion was that the contest lay between Zeh and Ford. This opinion is now changed, and the best judges concede that the fight is between Zeh and Peters, and that Ford will not be seriously in the race.

County Ditch Matters Economically Managed.
Correspondent Praises County Board and Auditor Zeh.

Red Lake Falls, Minn, Sept. 30, 1902.

Editor Gazette:

Will you please allow me space in your paper for a statement of the expense of county ditches in Red Lake county and a comparison with similar work in other counties in the Red River Valley. I desire to make this statement in order that the county officers of Red Lake county who have this work in charge may be given the credit that is due them for the very able and creditable manner in which the county ditch work has been managed. I have taken the trouble to look up the expense of such work in other counties and was very agreebly surprised to find that Red Lake county not only compares favorably, but sets a pace in able and judicious county ditch management that no other county in the Red River Valley has been able to approach. The credit for this is due to the very able Board of County Commissioners and to County Auditor Zeh. I want to state to the people of Red Lake county, and I challenge any man to truthfully contradict the statement, that in no other county in the Red River Valley has county ditch work been carried on so judicously and so economically as in the county of Red Lake. Notwithstanding the fact that Red Lake county has established a hundred miles of ditches, as many ditches as any county in the Red River Valley there is not a single instance on record where the proceedings have been found to be irregular by the courts, while in other counties in the Red River Valley, and especially Polk county the preliminary proceedings have had to be gone over with two and sometimes three times owing to mistakes in the Auditor's office and elsewhere, making the expense two or three times what it should be. The County Auditor of Red Lake county has not caused the tax-payers one dollar additional expense by reason of any mistakes or neglect of duty in his office.

In order that the people of Red Lake county may have a just appreciation of how the county ditch expense in Red Lake county compares with other counties I submit the following statement of cost of similar work in Red Lake and Marshall counties:

Ditch No. 1, Marshall Co., Length 24 miles.

Engineering and viewing expenses...........	$ 1759 00
Engineering and viewing expenses per mile..	73 00

Engineering and viewing expenses...........	259 00
Engineering and viewing expenses per mile...	29 00

Length of ditch, nine miles.

In every instance the ditch work in Red Lake county has been let at lower prices than was paid elsewhere, the price per cublic yard in Red Lake county has ranged from 7 8-10 cents to 11 cents, with the exception of the Wyandotte ditch.

The cost of engineering and viewing expenses has averaged less than $30.00 per mile and in some instances as low as $20.00 per mile, with the exception of the Rocksbury-North ditch which cost about double this amount. The single aim of the County Commissioners and the Auditor evidently has been to get this work done in the best manner possible and at the lowest price commensurate with good service and in this they have succeeded in a manner which deserves the commendation of every tax-payer in Red Lake county.

I will furnish you further evidence of the accurancy of my statement further on.

A Citizen.

Mr. Rosing in his opening address says of Mr. Lind's administration:

They also brought a suit to prevent the consolidation of the St. Paul & Duluth railway with Northern Pacific system, under the statute prohibiting the consolidation of parallel and competing lines. That suit was settled by the state without trial, upon the offer of the Northern Pacific railway to give a contract binding herself to forever maintain and operate the present line of the St. Paul & Duluth with its terminals at Duluth, and that in all cases involving the question of rates the St. Paul & Duluth railroad should be treated and considered by the commission as a separate distinct entity.

If the merging of parallel and competing railroads is contrary to law what right had Gov. Lind to compromise that suit and what sort of man is Mr. Rosing to commend him for it? Is there any question but that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific would have been delighted to have compromised their merger suit on exactly the same basis? In fact, do they not maintain their own separate terminals and ask to be considered as separate roads? If Gov. Van Sant had made any compromise of the rights of the state and the people, such as Mr. Rosing commends in Mr. Lind, what would the Democrats have said of him?—Ex.

Fergus Falls Journal: N. T. Moen, the populist candidate for congressman from this district, was down from Ada Saturday to size up the local situation. Judge Moen expresses himself as satisfied with the general outlook and says he will begin a speech making campaign in a short time, but has not yet decided upon the exact date. He states that he will deliver one address in this city, but does not propose to spend as much time in Otter Tail county as in some other sections of the district. He does not think that Alex McKinnon, the democratic candidate, has any idea of withdrawing in his favor, as he figures that McKinnon, coming as he does from Crookston, will draw more votes from Steenerson than he will from him. He says, furthermore, alliance between the populist and democrats is not as strong this year as it has been during the first few campaigns, and evidently feels that the populists have gained nothing by fusion.

We are glad to note that Thomas Germo, formerly of Medo, this county, secured the nomination for county attorney on the Republican ticket in Red Lake county. Mr. Germo received the highest vote of any candidate in the county with one exception, that of superintendent of schools, and it is possible that some women voted for that official.—Blue Earth County Enterprise.

The Courier got out a thousand extra copies last week, so that the write-ups of the various candidates who had toed the mark would not be smothered under a bushel. Political help from the Courier comes high. No wonder, when the ticket being run at the mast head is a leopard-spot affair and shows bald patches besides, in places where the names of James Sutor and Alexandre Daoust ought to be.

A Cough

"I have made a most thorough trial of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and am prepared to say that for all diseases of the lungs it never disappoints."—J. E. Finley, Ironton, O.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral won't cure rheumatism; we never said it would. It won't cure dyspepsia; we never claimed it. But it will cure coughs and colds of all kinds. We first said this sixty years ago; we've been saying it ever since. 25c., 50c., $1.00. All druggists.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows.

The first law of health—"Keep the bowels regular." Ayer's Pills are gently laxative. One is a dose. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

American Cookery and American Character

By LINDA HULL LARNED, President National Household Economic Association.

IF the character of a people depends upon its health, then FOOD IS SURELY AT THE BOTTOM OF IT ALL, for there can be no wholesomeness of body without a wise selection of wholesome food. We are apt to wonder why the sturdy characteristics of our pilgrim ancestors have not descended to this generation, but IF WE DO NOT EAT THE SAME KIND OF FOOD OR DO THE SAME KIND OF WORK HOW CAN WE EXPECT TO BE THE SAME KIND OF PEOPLE?

Hard work seems to be distasteful to the majority of us, for the only thing that is worth being strenuous about is amusement or ambition, while those who are obliged to be wage earners BECOME LAZY AS THEY BECOME AMERICANIZED.

A San Francisco householder whose "housemaids" were Chinese boys assured me that so long as they ate rice and mice and slept in boxes they were skillful and industrious, BUT AS SOON AS THEY ADOPTED AMERICAN FOOD AND AMERICAN WAYS THEY BECAME ADDICTED TO WHAT IS CALLED ON THE PACIFIC SLOPE "THE REST CURE HABIT."

If food really does affect the character, it will be interesting to watch the result of the beef trust.

ABSTINENCE FROM RED MEAT MAY TAKE AWAY SO MUCH OF OUR ENERGY THAT WE MAY BE FORCED TO FIND A CHEAP SUBSTITUTE. PERHAPS IT IS A BLESSING IN DISGUISE AND WILL SET OUR HOMEMAKERS AND FOOD PROVIDERS TO THINKING SERIOUSLY.

Woman Should Be Educated As Much as Man

By Mrs. THEO ALICE RUGGLES-KITSON, Sculptor

WOMAN certainly does not need any less education than man. THE OLD IDEA THAT A WOMAN SHOULD BE SUBSERVIENT IN MIND AS IN OTHER THINGS TO THE "LORD OF CREATION" HAS LONG SINCE PASSED AWAY. We find that a woman today is either a sharer in all a man's intellectual interests, as well as material, or she ceases to be his real partner and mate.

To ask, then, Does a woman need as much education as a man? or, Is it wise to educate woman as much as man? suggests the answering reply, "Isn't it unwise not to educate woman as much as man?"

IN THESE DAYS THE WOMAN WHO IS TO PERFORM THE PART OF A TRUE WIFE MUST DEVELOP WITH HER HUSBAND, MUST PARTAKE OF HIS INTELLECTUAL AS WELL AS HIS MATERIAL INTERESTS AND MUST BE A PARTNER WITH HIM IN OTHER THINGS BESIDES THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES.

A traveling man back east broke his automobile midway between towns. He spied a farmer near by repairing a mower. On reaching the fence the farmer asked the other what kind of a machine that was out in the road. "That," said the traveling man, "is an automobile, what do you call that over there?"—"That," said the farmer, "is an automobay, but it won't."

Mrs. Nicholas Pouliot and son Napoleon returned Monday from West Superior, where they went last Wednesday, anticipating attendance at the funeral of Mr. Frederick LaBree. Upon their arrival, they learned they had been misinformed and that, instead, it was Mrs. LaBree who had crossed the Dark River. Mrs. LaBree was well known and much beloved by a large circle of friends here in the early days, and her death is greatly deplored. She was 70 years of age.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Henderson Grimett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. R. McDonald, Man., Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by W. A. Schreiter.

The play will be rendered by home talent and promises to be very interesting and laughable. Fine specialties have been prepared. Some excellent new selections will be rendered by the Junior band.

A number of Red Lake Falls people drove out to the home of John Dwyer Thursday night for a farewell visit before the departure of the family for Missoula, where they are to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer have lived in this vicinity for over 20 years and their hospitable country home has been a mecca for city visitors. They will be greatly missed.

Crookston Journal: John Moorhead's friends are more than ever convinced of his gallantry since learning of the thrilling rescue by him of a young lady at Red Lake Falls who otherwise would have possibly found a watery grave. The affair has been kept so quiet that Mr. Moorhead hasn't had the credit coming to the brave. It was during a trip to Red Lake Falls last week that a party of which Mr. Moorhead was one of the Crookston members, went with some of the handsome teachers in the school at the place to look at the beauties along the river. A kodak fiend was taking views of the place, and the party went onto the logs to give him an opportunity of getting something choice to show his friends in Southern Minnesota. One of the pretty schoolma'ams made a misstep and fell into the stream. She was in danger of drowning when, John to the rescue! and a life was saved though the hero was soused to the neck in the effort.

While practicing foot ball Monday, Anton Schusser met with a severe accident, spraining the ligaments of his left knee. He will be laid up for a couple of weeks.

Berthon & Armstrong this week placed several large board signs in the surrounding country covered with neatly gotten up ads for the Surprise Store. Nick Heim was the artist.

W. A. McIntyre went to Crookston yesterday for the purpose of arguing a motion in the district court chambers, returning home in the afternoon in time to listen to the governor's address.

The Great Northern changed time Monday as anticipated. The arrival is now at 12:10, the train remaining here until 4 p. m., when it leaves for Thief River Falls on the return trip.

Hon. Halvor Steenerson, who was expected to be present at the rally last night, was detained at Breckenridge and was unable to come. His absence was considerable of a disappointment to his many warm friends here.

L. C. Simons, Republican nominee for representative, took a spin around the circle this week, visiting Bemidji, Blackduck, Shevlin, Bagley, Farley, Turtle River, Tenstrike, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls. Mr. Simons says there are more Republican votes in Beltrami county than he thought for, and feels that his election is only a question of majority.

Norbert Baril and Ildaige Baril, who reside together on the old homestead, sustained a serious loss by fire Tuesday afternoon. Their fine barn valued at $1,000, was totally destroyed. Three horses, two of which belonged to them, the other to a thresher with a crew in the vicinity, besides one stack of timothy, one of clover, and four stacks of other grain were burned. The loss is estimated at $2,000, and it is understood they had $900 insurance.

The Barbour Stock Company drove to Crookston from this city Wednesday night, after closing their engagement here. The manager of the company had all the funds and the mileage books for the actors in a large pocketbook which was lost on the road between this city and Crookston. The book contained $185, all of the manager's available funds, and what was worse, the transportation with which they expected to be carried to Grafton, went with the money. It looked pretty blue for the company; it wouldn't have taken much more hard luck to strand them right there. But the leading lady came to the rescue, pulling a wad of greenbacks from her stocking, ample for all pressing needs, and the company finally got started for Grafton.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dempsey visited Red Lake Falls the latter part of this week.

Are we going to have school here this winter? If so, when and where? There is about as little interest shown in school affairs here, as is possible in a civilized community, and with five months' school the children forget all they learned, before they get a chance to learn more. Our county superintendent does not visit our school, and the parents show equal lack of interest. Ignorance, superstition and crime go hand in hand, so if we would not maintain and fill jails, let us look after the cause of education. It will be cheaper in the end; and not reflect on the community. Let the people insist that the teachers speak English, not English with a foreign pronounciation but English correctly; for a child can not learn to pronounce correctly, from a teacher with faulty pronounciation, and and also insist that the teacher does not translate English into some other language, in the school room. Too little attention is being paid to this matter in our school.

Royal Mascots.

Most of the sovereign houses of Europe possess one or more relics which they regard as mascots. The house of Bonaparte possesses the boots and little hat of Napoleon I. The Hohenzollerns preserve piously the gray leather breeches worn by the Burggrave Frederic when he entered his margraviate of Brandenburg. There is also at Sans Souci the cane which Frederick the Great carried at the battle of Rossbach. The Romanoffs cherish the carpenter's tools of Peter the Great, and the fetich of the Hapsburgs is the shoe which the horse of Count Rudolph cast at the moment when the envoys from the reichstag announced to him his election as German emperor.

Soapsuds Are Valuable.

Few persons know how very useful soapsuds prove when employed as manure. Applied to the roots of vines, fruit trees, roses, etc., they impart a vigor and a rapidity of growth which are perfectly surprising. No one who is so lucky as to have a garden should waste this valuable form of manure. It is an excellent plan to have a large tub and put the soapsuds and dirty water into it till required upon the garden.

NEW SCALE OF WAGES

MINNEAPOLIS MILLERS AND EMPLOYES AGREE ON EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Interior Department Disapproves of Minnesota Indian Agreement—Minneapolis Girl Kidnapped by Negroes. Willmar Man Killed in Fight With Indians in North Dakota—News of the State in General.

Minneapolis, Sept. 29.—There will be no strike of the flour mill employes of Minneapolis and, beginning Oct. 13, the mills will be operated on an eight-hour schedule instead of the present twelve-hour system.

The employes, at a meeting, decided to accept the terms offered by the mill managers, and to allow them two weeks in which to organize the third crew, which will be necessary under the new order of things.

The negotiations between the millers and their employes have been conducted along most friendly lines.

The men presented their requests to the managers and discussed the situation with them.

The managers declared they could not allow the same schedule for eight hours as had obtained for about 10½ hours' actual work, and presented another which the employes considered and finally adopted. It is as follows:

For machine men paid $2.25 a day, 26 cents an hour.

For sweepers paid $1.75 a day, 22 cents an hour.

The men were enthusiastic when they left the hall, and cheers were given for the mill managers; hats were thrown up in the air, and a number of men danced jigs, to express their glee.

MAY THROW IT DOWN.

Said Interior Department Disapproves of Minnesota Indian Agreement.

Washington, Sept. 29.—The agreement recently made by Inspector McLaughlin with the Mille Lacs Indians of Minnesota is regarded by interior department officials as a very remarkable instrument.

Congress appropriated $40,000 to reimburse the Mille Lacs for improvements made on their reservation, it having been decided that the band was to be removed to White Earth. In the agreement made with the Indians a large part of this appropriation is set aside for fees. Gus Beaulieu is to be paid $4,000 for legal services, Danisy R. Henderson $4,000, Samuel Powell $500 and D. H. Robins and Charles H. Ruffey each $150. The sum of $18,500 is to be distributed pro rata among the Indians.

The agreement provides that $11,000 shall be deposited in the First National bank of St. Paul, to be paid out as the Indians may direct.

The officials object to this provision and also to the payments proposed for legal advice and other services. Reports received show that the improvements of members of the tribe range from $30 to $1,900. The officials believe individual members of the tribe should be paid the value of their improvements. From present indications the agreement will be rejected.

KIDNAPPED BY NEGROES.

Minneapolis Girl Held Prisoner for Several Hours.

Minneapolis, Sept. 26.—Ethel Armstrong, fourteen years of age, of 2522 Chicago avenue, was kidnapped by two negroes and held a prisoner several hours Wednesday evening.

The negroes seized the girl near her home, gagged her and placed her in a buggy. They drove with the girl to Lake Calhoun and closely questioned her about how much money her father had.

A farmer approaching frightened the negroes and they drove away, leaving the girl bound and almost unconscious.

The girl was returned to her home, and the entire Minneapolis police force began searching for the negroes.

It is believed the negroes kidnapped the girl with the idea of holding her for ransom.

KILLED BY INDIANS.

Thresher From Willmar, Minn, Murdered Near Park River, N. D.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 29.—In a fight between a party of Indians and campers near Park River a thresher named Nels Johnson, whose home is in Willmar, Minn., was shot and killed. The threshers visited the Indian camp and are said to have been using considerable liquor.

A fight broke out and Johnson was killed. Threats of lynching the Indians were made, but a posse of citizens arrested them and placed them in jail without further fatalities. The Indians refuse to make any statement.

DIES IN THE COURTROOM.

Prominent Minneapolis Attorney Expires Suddenly.

Minneapolis, Sept. 2[illegible].—W. J. Hahn, a leader of the bar, dropped dead in the courtroom during the afternoon while examining a witness. He had served as attorney general of Minnesota and was a member of the recent state tax commission.

Oldest Man in the Northwest.

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—The funeral of Joseph Marcotte, the centenarian who died Wednesday, took place during the morning from St. Mary's church at White Bear. The deceased was born in Canada Dec. 17, 1791, and was, therefore, almost 105 years old—the oldest man in the Northwest.

Caused a Loss of $125,000.

Marshall, Minn., Sept. 27.—Fire at midnight totally destroyed Baldwin & Levsridge's department store, Blakeslee's meat market, Musch Bros.' blacksmith shop and several small buildings were also totally destroyed. The total loss will exceed $125,000.

STATE TO BE ITS OWN CREDITOR.

Will Bid on the New Issue of Capitol Certificates.

St. Paul, Sept. 29.—State Treasurer Julius H. Block has issued a call to the various banks throughout Minnesota in which state money is deposited to send in by Oct. 10 funds aggregating $1,000,000.

The school apportionment to be made in October will take between $600,000 and $700,000, and the state will bid on the $300,000 of certificates of indebtedness which the board of capitol commissioners will sell Oct. 7 for the erection of the new state capitol.

The certificates bear 3 per cent interest, and $100,000 will mature in 1912, $100,000 in 1913 and $100,000 in 1914. The certificates will be bought, if the state's bid is accepted, for the permanent school fund, which now owns a large amount of similar certificates. All the certificates offered for the sale recently have been purchased by the state for this fund at par.

INTERESTING DISCUSSIONS.

American League for Civic Improvement Holds Busy Sessions.

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—The public schools, their government and their influence was the general subject considered at the morning's session of the American League for Civic Improvement. The second morning's attendance was much larger that that of the previous morning.

Interesting discussions of the art and crafts movement occupied the attention of the league in the afternoon. The subject was discussed in its three aspects—in the home, in the school and in the workshop. Mrs. Sherman of Milwaukee spoke in behalf of the arts and crafts movement in the house. Its influence in the school was expounded by Miss May Coiter, teacher in the Mechanic Arts school in this city, and Professor George Keithrecbt dwelt upon its importance in the workshop.

DULUTH UNDERTAKER SUICIDES.

Financial Embarrassment and Unrequited Love the Alleged Reasons.

Duluth, Sept. 26.—The body of James F. Tibbets, a well known undertaker and member of the local order of Elks, was found in his apartments here during the day by one of his employes. A 32-calibre revolver was lying by his side and a bullet hole over the heart and a note saying: "I have just found out what an ass I am," indicated that self destruction was premeditated.

Tibbets had recently become financially embarrassed and this, coupled with the fact that his love for a Duluth woman had been spurned, are believed to have been the cause of the deed. He came here from Maine.

WILL REACH PACIFIC.

Milwaukee to Have Through Run From St. Paul to the Coast.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—It has been announced on good authority that a $25,000,000 increase is to be made in the capital stock of the Milwaukee. This additional stock will be issued to stockholders at par. It is supposed that the increased capitalization is for the purpose of acquiring Senator Clark's rights in a road which is planned for construction between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. The Milwaukee lines, with the Gould roads, gives this combination a route to Salt Lake, and the connection with Senator Clark's project will give the Milwaukee an outlet to the Pacific coast.

TO PREVENT CONSUMPTION.

Studied Investigation Into Statistics of Minnesota.

St. Paul, Sept. 24.—The state board of health under the direction of Secretary H. M. Bracken is making a studied investigation into the tuberculosis statistics of the state. This is prior to the sanitary convention that will be held in St. Paul Dec. 17 and 18 under the auspices of the state board. Speakers from all over the United States and Canada will be present to discuss the subject of the prevention of a spreading of tubercular diseases.

"SMOKY" BURNS TO DEATH.

Buffalo Bill's Favorite Horse Perishes in a Fire at Proctorknott, Minn.

Duluth, Sept. 29.—Among eight horses destroyed in a barn which burned at Proctorknott during the day was "Smoky," formerly Buffalo Bill's favorite horse. He was a superb animal in his day and when he got old Colonel Cody gave him to his sister, Helen Cody Wetmore, of this city. Frederic Remington's masterpiece is said to be a picture of Buffalo Bill mounted on Smoky.

CATTLE RECORD BROKEN.

South St. Paul Stock Yards Receive 7,500 Head in One Day.

St. Paul, Sept. 23.—There were received at the Union Stock yards at South St. Paul during the day 362 cars and about 7,500 head of cattle. This breaks the record made Sept. 1. The cattle received were mostly from North Dakota and Montana, and were not desirable for killing, but will have to be fed. The big run did not affect the market.

Mrs. C. A. Pillsbury Dead.

Minneapolis, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Mary A. Pillsbury, widow of the late C. A. Pillsbury, died of pneumonia at her home here early Friday morning. Mrs. Pillsbury was sixty-one years old and had been ill only four days, and until the last moments death was not expected. The deceased was born in New Hampshire and married C. A. Pillsbury in 1866. In 1869 they came to Minneapolis.

Prisoner Attempts Suicide.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 24.—George Schwartz, aged twenty-six, serving a sentence in the state prison for assault in the first degree, jumped from a balcony of the prison. He fell on the tiled floor of the court below and was picked up and taken to the hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a broken thigh. He has been unconscious ever since.

THE FARM HAND'S IDEA.

City folks are goin' to the mountains and the seas,
For they think that they've been workin' and had ought to have some ease;
They're shuttin' their fine houses, and they're huntin' other scenes;
Some folks don't know when they're lucky or what bein' tired means.

They've merely been a-settin' down at desks day after day,
While some other folks was busy hoein' corn or pitchin' hay;
They've been leanin' over counters in the shade up there in town
Instead of hoein' taters where the sun's a-boilin' down.

Laws! If I lived in the city 'mongst the things to see up there,
Makin' money by the bushel and with costly clo'es to wear,
You can bet nobody'd catch me packin' up to go away;
Some folks don't know when they're lucky, and that's all I got to say.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

He Was.

Bobby—You're what they call a lady killer, aren't you, Mr. Sissy?

Mr. Sissy (complacently)—Ah, d'ye think so, Bawhy?

"You must be. Sister Ethel said that after you left last night she nearly died laughing."

Retribution.

"How did you git along while you was to town?" asked Mrs. Corntossel.

"Fine," answered her husband.

"Buy any gold bricks?"

"No; but I sold them tough chickens and them last year's packed eggs and a few other choice bargains. When them city people comes to count up, I reckon, they'll be ready to admit that the worm has turned."—Washington Star.

She Hoped He Was.

"I never saw anything so eccentric as that clock of ours," said she, by way of a hint.

"Eccentric? Like me, eh? Ha, ha!" Mr. Staylate chortled.

SELECTIONS

BIG LIGHTNING BUGS.

Washington Will Try the South American Cocoyos as Pets.

Cocoyos, the large lightning bugs of Brazil, Cuba and tropical South America that emit a continuous double light of efficient strength and intensity for one to read the time on a watch eighteen inches distant and which the Botocudo Indians of Brazil use for illuminating purposes by confining a number of them in small wicker cages, are soon to be a novelty in the pet line in Washington. Some fifty-eight of these bugs are now on their way from Cuba to this city and on their arrival will be the first ever seen in the capital.

This is one of the results of a demand for something new that is constant on the part of the public and competition among bird and pet animal dealers. The cocoyos are very large, though perfectly harmless, and in many of the South American cities and in Havana the young girls and married ladies wear them in their hair at night, the effect of which is singularly striking and beautiful, especially when the lady wearing them happens to be blessed with more than the usual share of feminine pulchritude.

The cocoyos thus worn illuminate the wearer's countenance and hair in a perfect halo of light. Whether they will be used in this way by local belles remains to be seen. The cocoyos are very hardy and will live for months with little or no attention. Local pet dealers are of the opinion that if kept indoors and in warm places during the winter in the same manner that parrots and canaries are kept the cocoyos can be domesticated and made to increase and multiply in this country. This has proved successful in the case of the little green chameleon lizards of Florida that lay eggs and hatch out breeds as long as they are properly attended to.—Washington Post.

The birds cease their song in July. By the end of the first week one misses some voices in the woodland choir, and by the middle of the month most of the leading soloists are silent, the veery, the oriole, the bobolink, the red winged blackbird, the brown thrasher and others. Instead of the sweet melodies of June the orchard rings with the fretful cry of young orioles and the pine grove is noisy with the ceaseless squawk of young crows. The grackles and blackbirds and swallows are gathering in flocks. The first flock of grackles streaming down toward the marshes of a July afternoon for the night roost seems always to trail behind it the semblance of a shadow. It is your first intimation that the tide of the year has turned. One-brooded birds are molting, while a few, like the song sparrow, are still busy with second or third families, and many of the old birds are leading their young forth into the world to complete their education in travel.—Country Life in America.

Marriage by Proxy.

The curious custom of marriage by proxy still exists in Holland. A Dutch gentleman residing in Batavia was recently united by proxy to a young lady residing with her parents at Amsterdam, and, incongruous as it seems to our ideas, the bridegroom's sister represented him and took the young lady in his name "for better or worse." It seems that the young man was tired of waiting for his love any longer, but found that she would not be married unless her mother was present. Her parents would not go to Batavia, and he could not go home. A compromise was happily possible, as they were both Dutch subjects, by the lady being married with her relations around her, and she has now sailed for Java.—Sheffield Globe.

Rome's Birthday.

On April 21, 2,655 years ago, Romulus completed the inclosure on the Palatine hill which was named "Roma." The birthday of the Eternal City has been solemnly commemorated from ancient times. Augustus instituted the secular games—three days of rejoicing concluding with the rendering by a chorus of Roman lads and maids on the capitol of the "Carmen Seculare" of Horace. At that time the city counted 1,336,000 inhabitants. This year Rome's birthday was celebrated Sunday, April 27, with an outdoor festival on the ruined Palatine and a general illumination in the evening.

General Sherman's Sharp Retort.

General Sherman could say the most pleasing and tactful things and yet no one could be more sarcastic. He was attending a large reception at Fort Leavenworth once when a youth approached him and said familiarly, "What a great bore these things must be to you, general." "What's that?" asked General Sherman quickly. "I say," repeated the other, "it must be such a bore to you, meeting a lot of people you don't know and making them feel you do remember them." "Yes, yes," replied the general. "Now, for instance, I don't know who you are."—Leslie's Weekly.

An Odd Wager.

An Austrian is now traversing Switzerland on return from a tour which he undertook for a wager of $4,000. The terms are that he was to wheel before him from one end of Europe to the other a perambulator containing his wife and child. He has been absent twenty months, wearing out thirty-seven pairs of boots.

The Chicago and Grand Trunk has very comprehensive plans for making that line a transcontinental system. The plan is to extend the system through Wisconsin and Minnesota to the Twin Cities, thence northwest into Manitoba and from there practically paralleling the Canadian Pacific.

It has been announced on good authority that a $25,000,000 increase is to be made in the capital stock of the Milwaukee road. It is supposed that the increased capitalization is for the purpose of acquiring Senator Clark's rights in a road which is planned for construction between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles.

DEEP SEA CURRENTS.

MYSTERIES OF THE OCEAN THAT HAVE PUZZLED THE SCIENTISTS.

A Theory as to the Origin and Cause of the Gulf and Other Streams—Are They the Product of Immense Submarine Geysers?

For more than a century scientists and philosophers have been vainly trying to discover the origin and cause of the mysterious current in the Atlantic ocean called the gulf stream. Why so called is not apparent, as nothing in the gulf of Mexico is in its composition. There have been many theories, which have been abandoned, some perfectly absurd, such as its being caused by the earth in its revolution on its axis, for if it had the power to draw this stream at the rate of five miles an hour from the coast of Florida it would draw all the water from the east coasts of North and South America at the same velocity. The prevailing theory is that the northeast trade winds drive a current into the Caribbean sea and, aided by the feeble equatorial stream, heap up the water in the gulf of Mexico, thence rushing around the south of Florida from the source of the gulf stream. But there is no such a heaping of the waters in that gulf. The waters there are sluggish, and there is no perceptible current leading toward the gulf stream or anywhere else.

This theory has been accepted for want of a better, but those who favor it are not entirely satisfied with it. The gulf stream is an independent body of water, having no connection with the water around or behind the point where it emerges. It is warmer and of a deeper blue than the surrounding seas and gushes forth from the starting point off Cape Sable at the rate of from five to six knots an hour, with a temperature of about 90 degrees, lessening gradually as it proceeds on its journey of thousands of miles across the Atlantic ocean, warming the western shores of Europe.

Having seen the fallacy of the theories concerning the gulf stream, we will turn our attention to the great Pacific current, identical in all respects with its sister current of the Atlantic and concerning which there are no theories to contend with.

It starts spontaneously from a spot a few miles from the south end of the island of Formosa, in the Banshee channel, following the coast of Formosa northeasterly, past and through the Loochoo islands, skirting the coast of Japan; thence turns eastward on its long journey across the wide Pacific, warming the coast of America from Puget sound to Mexico. Its dark blue waters are in striking contrast to the surrounding seas, giving it the name of Murra Suar, or black water. It is an independent stream where no combination of winds or currents can possibly cause the mighty rush of warm blue water with a velocity of from five to six knots an hour from the start.

In its characteristics of heat, color and direction it resembles the gulf stream in every particular, and the origin of the two streams must be the same, whatever they may be, which I shall endeavor to show later on. There is another ocean current similar in all respects to the other two, with the exception that it runs in an exactly opposite direction. Starting from the vicinity of the south end of the island of Madagascar, it runs southwesterly around the Cape of Good Hope, where it disappears off Cape Lagulas. As a current, probably part of it is diverted into a steady set of the eastern current, caused by the prevailing westerly winds in that region. No scientists, so far as I am aware, have attempted to account for this current. Having now proved beyond refutation that all theories advanced as to the cause of ocean currents are groundless, it remains to be proved what the true cause is.

It must be admitted that the currents have a similar origin, as they are identical in every respect as regards color, heat and velocity, springing forth in the same manner spontaneously from the earth in some mysterious way. There is no place on the surface of the earth where the water can be heated to furnish the heat contained in these streams that gush forth from the depths of the sea; consequently the forces must be subterranean and can only be accounted for by large bodies of clear, blue water from the ocean forcing its way into the depths of the earth under its crust, where it burrows a channel of its own to the surface again, having received its warmth on the way by contact with the internal heat of the lower regions of the earth, forced on by continual pressure from behind.

That there are orifices in the earth's crust cannot be denied, also what becomes of the vast volume of water that cannot be computed which is constantly running at the rate of from four to six knots an hour from the Atlantic ocean, through the strait of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean sea. The numerous rivers, too, are continually flowing in, and yet the sea remains at the same level. Evaporation cannot account for it, for what is evaporated is formed into clouds and is precipitated again into the sea by the medium of storms and frequent rains.

The water must enter the earth from the ocean through these apertures on an incline as it gushes forth in these three mighty currents and cannot be discovered by soundings; consequently these three mighty currents are nothing more or less than immense geysers. —Captain B. F. Sherborne in Cleveland Marine Record.

SCHOOL DAYS.

How many mothers, with children attending school, have made the good resolution to see that the children attend regularly. If parents could only realize the injury—the irreparable injury—done every time they permit a child to miss a day's school there would be less irregularity in attendance and consequently more satisfactory results apparent at the end of each school term. NOTHING short of illness should keep a child out of school.

Then as to discipline. Parents should co-operate with the teachers. If your child was punished the chances are that he received only what was due him. In case you have reason to doubt the justice of the matter go and have a calm talk with the teacher. But DO NOT LET YOUR CHILD KNOW THAT YOU WENT. Make him feel that you have implicit faith in his teacher. Keep informed as to what school work is done. Keep your own intellect wide awake that you may be as a guiding star to your child when he strikes the heavy sea. Inspect his books often. Influence him to take pride in the neatness of his books. So many little ones have no money with which to buy school books. If a child is taught that some poor waif will be glad to use the book which he needs no more he will take pride in passing his book on in good condition. These are seemingly but little things, yet if every mother who has children going to school would do HER VERY BEST ALL THE YEAR AROUND it would make teachers, pupils and parents happier, and happiness is what everybody is seeking.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

MARY'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Mary and her friends went to the river bank for wild grapes one day, many years ago. They carried a good lunch with them. They also carried large market baskets and several hatchets. These children were not intending to do harm to any man's property, but when they saw grapes away up in a small tree which was just fine to support the clinging grape vine but not strong enough to bear one of the crowd, out came the hatchet and bang, bang, went the noise through the woods. Soon the little tree fell and the grapes could easily be gathered. The owner of the land soon put a stop to such wanton destruction. He told the children that they were perfectly welcome to the grapes but they MUST NOT CUT DOWN another tree. He was a good sensible man and those children remember that lecture to this day. One of the girls, Mary, more daring than the rest, climbed a tree which overhung the river. It was so tempting, she said, with its network of vines and the beautiful bunches were surely too good to leave behind. Just as Mary was about to descend she lost her hold and fell—every one was sure she would drown, for she could not swim and the water was very deep. But the vine had formed such a strong network all over the branches of that tree that she was caught and supported by them. So of course she managed to get down safely after all.

In discussing the escape the children decided that the little morning offering which they were in the habit of saying had been heard. For they never forgot to ask God to take care of them and bless them through the day. They said too that it was too bad to have cut down even the smallest of trees when they were other people's property. The little party was quite serious on the homeward journey and each one felt that there was more than one lesson learned that afternoon.

Home Visitors' Low Rate Excursion.

Sentiment inspired by patriotism has and it is to be hoped always will afford, a one-cent-a-mile rate to enable the "Boys in Blue" to assemble in reunion at least once a year, from all points of the compass. Such a rate is authorized from all points east of Chicago to Washington for this purpose in October 1902. Such a rate has been afforded once a year since the first reunion of the veterans of the War of '61. This especially low rate has become popular, not only for the purpose for which it was established, but for other purposes, chief among which we recognize the opportunity thus afforded to visit friends, at or convenient to, the place of reunion, because of the low rate, and because of the favorable opportunity by reason of the liberal extension of time limit for return.

On dates authorizing sale of Grand Army Excursion on tickets to Washington, for the Reunion of 1902, are also authorized similar reduction in rates, from all points west to Chicago, with time limits the same as on such tickets to Washington, excursion tickets to any point in the territory of the Central Passenger Association, on or reached by the Nickel Plate Road. For full information call on your most convenient interline ticket agent by mail, wire, 'phone or in person, or on John Y. Calahan, General Agent Nickel Plate Road, No. 113 Adams St., Chicago Ill.

Oxygen.

Oxygen forms one-fifth of the atmosphere, eight-ninths of the waters and, taking all together, one-half of all the materials of the globe, so far as they are known. As carbon is the basis of all the organic substances of the world, so oxygen, the supporter of life and combustion, represents its living energies.

RED LAKE FALLS WON

ADA DEFEATED IN FOOTBALL GAME---SCORE 5 TO 12.

NEXT GAME WILL BE PLAYED HERE WITH CROOKSTON OCTOBER 18.

The first game of foot-ball ever played in this city took place Saturday last at the baseball grounds. The contestants were the local High School team and a team from Ada. The latter played two men outside the school, one of them an ex college player but in other respects it was a high school team. Our boys won by a score of 12 to 5, which is very creditable, considering the fact that it was their first game, and that only one member of the team had ever seen a foot-ball game before. It was a clean game throughout. The Ada boys were gentlemanly fellows and played square. The two teams were about equal weight. The Ada team clearly knew more of the finer points of the game, but our boys excelled in individual plays, had better wind and showed a more aggressive and determined spirit, and these are the factors which combined to bring victory. Special credit should be given to Johnson for his splendid defensive play, and Ittner and C. Brady for their line work in advancing the ball.

The game started in badly for Red Lake Falls. Ada opened with a series of mass plays on tackle. Our boys did not know how to stop these plays at first and the ball was pushed steadily down the field from the time Ada secured it on the kick-off. Red Lake Falls held for downs twice, but failing to advance the ball lost it to Ada, which finally carried around the end for a touch-down. Ada failed at the goal and the score stood 5 to 0 in their favor.

Most of the large crowd of spectators had never seen a football game before and naturally did not grow enthusiastic over the way the game was going on. But the High School girls in the grand stand came to the rescue at this point and gave the school yells with all the ardor of undiminished faith in ultimate victory. "Reggie go-x; go-x! go-x! We'll break their necks! We'll break their necks!" they shouted, which Ada thought was very naughty of them. But it seemed to inspire the Red Lake Falls team to renewed efforts and the ball began to move towards the Ada goal. After a number of good gains by Ittner and C. Brady, F. Brady took the ball and carried it around the right end to Ada's twenty-five line, and the ball kept on going. It was of no use for the Ada players to get hurt (?) and take the two minutes allowance for rest. Ittner continued to plunge around left tackle, often making good gains with two or three of the Ada tacklers hanging to him; then C. Brady would circle one of the ends, and finally on an end run he carried the ball over for a touch-down. Johnson kicked the goal and the first half ended shortly after, the score 6 to 5 in favor of Red Lake Falls. The crowd had grown hilarious, but it was near the middle of the second half when C. Brady broke away from all the opposing team and made a spectacular run of seventy yards for a touch-down. that the real foot-ball spirit which lies dormant in the hearts of nearly everybody broke loose. A tremendous yell went up and the crowd surged out on the field after fleet-footed Brady. It is even said that some of the solid business men of the city distinguished themselves as foot racers in their efforts to keep up with the runner and be on the ground at the finish. From this time Ada had no chance. The ball was nearing Ada's goal when time was called, and had there been a few minutes more of play another touch-down would undoubtedly have been scored.

It was evident to the spectators that the local team was handicapped by not having complete foot-ball suits, and in the evening two business men circulated a subscription list. The general sentiment seemed to be that the game deserves encouragement and support from the public, and enough money was quickly raised to purchase complete outfits.

R. E. Wyer has coached the team and whatever ability the team has acquired is due to his efforts. He is not permitting them to be unduly elated over their victory over Ada, but is working them hard and will no doubt develop in them a scientific knowledge of the game that will show good results in future games. The next game here will be with Crookston on the 18th of this month.

DEATH OF THOMAS PERUSSE.

One of Red Lake County's Sturdy Pioneers Passes Away.

Thomas Perusse died at his family home in Terrebonne township, Saturday, Oct. 6, at 4 a. m., after an illness of six months with dropsy. For a month previous to his death he was closely confined to his bed. The end came peacefully, and surrounding him were his wife, his daughters, Mrs. J. M. Bray, Mrs. X. Sauve, Mrs. Adelard Laurent, Mrs. Ovilla Rock, and his sons Alcide and Alfire Perusse; the absent ones being his son Edonor Perusse, of North Yakima, Wash., and his daughters, Sister Mary Christophie, a nun in Duluth, and Mrs. Narcisse Parenteau, of Canada.

Thomas Perusse was born at Lahinere, Quebec, Canada, Sept. 10, 1835, and was therefore 67 years old. With his family he migrated to Minneapolis 26 years ago, living there three years. In the spring of 1879 the family moved to Terrebonne. That section, which is now the garden spot of Red Lake county, was then lonely and sparsely settled, and Mr. Perusse built his home as the outpost—the house farthest on the frontier, and there were no neighbors "on the other side." With the other hardy pioneers, to whom we all owe such a heavy debt of gratitude, Mr. Perusse toiled early and late, until nature was subdued and made to blossom like the rose. He was a devout Catholic a good friend and neighbor, and his taking away leaves an aching void in many hearts.

The funeral was held Monday from St. Anthony's church at Terrebonne, the Rev. E. Fayolle of this city officiating and many friends of the family attended from this city.

County Auditor Zeh has received information that the state board of equalization has raised the value of farm lands in this part of the state. Polk county has an advance of 20 per cent., Kittson county is advanced 40 40 per cent., Marshall county 30 per cent., Red Lake county 5 per cent and Roseau county 20 per cent. over the assessment as returned by the canvassing board. The increase leaves the lands in this part of the state assessed on the average as follows:

Kittson county, $5.12 per acre; Marshall county, $4.73; Norman county, $5.81; Red Lake county $3.48; Roseau county, $3.19.

$19.00 Boston and Return $19.00.

Via Nickel Plate Road, October 7th to 11th, inclusive, good returning until November 12th by depositing tickets at Boston and paying the fee of 50c. Three trains daily, carrying through vestibuled sleeping cars. Individual Club Meals, ranging in price from 35c. to $1.00, served in dining-cars on Nickel Plate Road; also meals a la carte. Basil Thunder Guilty.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 6.—In the case of Basil Thunder, the Indian from Red Lake, who was accused of murdering an Indian woman at Nebish, in June last, the defendant appeared in court and pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. He was sentenced to sixteen years in the penitentiary.

It appeared upon the examination by the judge that Thunder was in a state of intoxication at the time he committed the murder, and that he did not know he had committed the crime until after he reached the Red Lake agency in the evening. He stated upon his examination that he procured the whiskey from one Doyle, who was acting as foreman in logging operations under the Red Lake transportation company.

In the case of the state vs. Joseph Seguin, indicted jointly with George Ladue for the murder of Eugene McLaughlin, eleven jurors were secured when a new venire was ordered. Upon the opening of the court Saturday the new venire was exhausted and another was ordered. In this case the evidence for the state will be almost identical with that in the case of Ladue. Attorney General Douglas is assisting the county attorney.

BOSTON BARITONE.

J. B. Armstrong is Presented With Such an Instrument by the Junior Band.

Last Monday evening in the closet of the city hall before band meeting was deposited a four-valve euphonium made by the Boston Musical Instrument Co., and when J. B. Armstrong, the instructor, came up stairs with his baritone in its case he was called out while another party secretly took the old horn from the case and deposited the new one in its stead. Upon returning to the room Mr. Armstrong took his baton in his hand and called the meeting to order. As he opened his case to extract the horn he was spell bound when he saw, beautifully printed on a card and attached to the horn, "compliments of the Junior Band." Then he said, "Boys, all I can say is, thanks." He turned the horn over and over and said: "The Boston. The best money can buy." The horn is very plain but beautifully finished with a coat of satin silver.

WINTER WHEAT.

TESTS MADE AT THE GRAND RAPIDS EXPERIMENTAL STATION.

Winter wheat is not regarded as a safe crop in Minnesota, except where local conditions insure plenty of snow protection during the winter. The presence of timber and usually abundant snow fall furnishes the necessary conditions for providing this protection over a large part of northeastern Minnesota. The experiment station at Grand Rapids, during the present season, has successfully ripened four varieties of winter wheat, one of which has been raised in the state for several years. The best yield obtained was 24.2 bu. per acre.

In raising winter wheat here it is of first importance to sow the seed early in the fall, in order to give the plants time to become vigorous before winter. In the test this season, grain sowed September 15 yielded 8 bushels less per acre than that sown September first and wheat sown as late as October 1st gave hardly any returns. Only the hardiest varieties should be sown.

The yield of winter wheat this season, of the plots sown September 1st, averaged about the same as spring wheat—or 20 bu. per acre. It is believed that in ordinary seasons the yields would excel those of spring wheat, and this would be a reason for sowing winter wheat. Should the snow cover fail, the wheat would be completely killed out, but this does not often happen in this section.

Winter rye yielded this season an average of 30.5 bu. per acre. It was sown at intervals from Aug. 15 to Sept. 26, but no marked difference was observed between the yield of early or late sown grain. Rye may be sown as early as August 15 without growing sufficiently in the fall to shoot and it is better to sow early than late.

Home Visitors' Low Rate Excursion

Sentiment inspired by patriotism has and it is to be hoped always will afford, a one-cent-a-mile rate to enable the "Boys in Blue" to assemble in reunion at least once a year, from all points of the compass. Such a rate is authorized from all points east of Chicago to Washington for this purpose in October 1902. Such a rate has been afforded once a year since the first reunion of the veterans of the War of '61. This especially low rate has become popular, not only for the purpose for which it was established, but for other purposes, chief among which we recognize the opportunity thus afforded to visit friends, at or convenient to, the place of reunion, because of the low rate, and because of the favorable opportunity by reason of the liberal extension of time limit for return.

On dates authorizing sale of Grand Army Excursion on tickets to Washington, for the Reunion of 1902, are also authorized similar reduction in rates, from all points west to Chicago, with time limits the same as on such tickets to Washington, excursion tickets to any point in the territory of the Central Passenger Association, on or reached by the Nickel Plate Road. For full information call on your most convenient interline ticket agent by mail, wire, 'phone or in person, or on John Y. Calahan, General Agent Nickel Plate Road, No. 113 Adams St., Chicago Ill.

High School Notes.

BY THE ATHENIAN SOCIETY.

The old world hasn't time to stop
  That it may learn your name;
It doesn't care a rap about
  Your blue blood or your fame;
The only thing this world cares
  About, concerning you,
Is simply this thing, to-wit:
  "Well, sir! What can you do?"

The foot-ball boys of Ada came over Saturday and met their "Waterloo" on our grounds. After the game was over, it was pleasant for us to reflect that so far we have not lost a single game. The score was 12 to 5 in our favor. Our line up was as follows:

Centre—Theo. DeForge.
Right guard—Hugo Zaiser.
Right tackle—Wm. Ittner.
Right end—Norman Schreiter.
Quarter back—Dan Johnson.
Left half—Frank Brady.
Right half—Wm. Hunt.
Full back—Charles Brady.
Substitutes—Walter Johnson, Hugo Ittner and Carl Krueger.

The apparatus for carrying on Chemistry will arrive this week. This will enable the class to begin their experimenting.

The class in book-keeping held its first sessions last week. The materials for the work have arrived and it is now expected that this study will be carried on without further delay.

N. Green, of Michigan, visited at the H. S. between trains Monday.

Anton Schuseer returned to school Monday. We regret very much that he could not help our boys beat the Ada boys but, he will be able to join in the following games.

The Mock Trial "Budge vs. Budge" was given at the Metropolitan Opera House, Friday evening. So many citizens turned out to see it that it proved a success from even a financial point of view.

The debate which was postponed until next Friday will come off on Oct. 10. The subject under discussion will be, "Resolved that in the High School the study of Latin is more beneficial than the study of sciences."

On Oct. 17 a choice program will be given by the Athenians, at the H. S. building. Everybody invited.

Pink cheeks and taffy colored hair found favor Friday evening but, alas! traces of them still remain.

The tardiness record is simply appalling of late, but we say nothing for "People who live in glass houses, should not throw stones."

Don't blame the girls for having blooming complexions of late; it all goes to show that we are not as two-faced as some of our boy acquaintances.

Tom McNerthney resumed his studies Monday morning.

The report cards for the first month of school will soon be given out.

One of the Senior girls on Tuesday discovered that she possessed a new wisdom tooth. Her joy knows no bounds. Needless to say that we are all glad too, and extend congratulations to this most fortunate young lady.

LONG TERM IN PRISON

EX-CHIEF OF POLICE AMES OF MINNEAPOLIS GIVEN SIX AND A HALF YEARS.

Board of Equalization Raises Farm Valuations—Good Showing Made by Minnesota National Banks—Seven Workmen Injured, One Fatally, at Mankato—Move at St. Paul to Abolish Saloon Free Lunches—General State News.

Minneapolis, Oct. 3.—Former Superintendent of Police Fred W. Ames, found guilty of accepting a bribe, has been sentenced to six years and six months in the state penitentiary by Judge Brooks in the Hennepin county district court.

Victor Welch, attorney for Ames, moved for a stay of fifty days that he might prepare for a motion for a new trial. This was granted. Ames was not put under additional bonds. He betrayed no emotion when the words consigning him to a felon's cell fell upon him.

The jury in the case was out nearly twenty-four hours and evidently gave all the evidence the closest scrutiny and most careful consideration. None of the members would answer any questions but it is understood that from the first a majority of the members favored conviction, but that two or three held out, not being satisfied that the relations between Cohen, the alleged go-betweens, and Ames had been absolutely proved.

There are many more indictments against Ames, which will be continued pending the outcome of the present trial. If Ames' sentence stands the other indictments will be nolled.

MINNESOTA FARM VALUATIONS.

State Board of Equalization Makes an Increase of Twenty Per Cent.

St. Paul, Oct. 3.—The total value of realty, including structures, in the state has been fixed by the state board at $696,000,000.

As returned by the county boards and assessors this year the valuation was $580,197,977, which was an increase of $77,658,000 over the figures as fixed by the board two years ago.

To this the board added an increase of about 20 per cent over the entire state, making the total valuation $116,000,000 more than returned by the state boards and county assessors.

The board took the ground that the farm property of the state has been valued too low, and the action taken was in line with this view.

Realty in Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis counties was left as returned on the theory that in each of these counties this class of property was assessed much higher than any other. The realty valuation in the three counties is: Ramsey, $77,013,845; Hennepin, $107,800,000; St. Louis, $64,088,245.

MINNESOTA BANKS PROSPER.

National Financial Institutions Have a Successful Year.

Washington, Oct. 6.—In September a year ago the eighty-nine national banks then in existence in Minnesota held individual deposits aggregating $28,710,102. Under the law fixing the minimum capital of national banks at $25,000, which was introduced by Senator Nelson, the number of banks in the state has increased to 119 and individual deposits have grown to a total of $36,436,098. These figures are contained in the report on the condition of the national banks of Minnesota, exclusive of the Twin Cities, at the close of business Sept. 15. This statement, compared with the one of the corresponding month a year ago, shows that the banks have had a prosperous year.

LIBRARY ROOF COLLAPSES.

Half a Dozen Mankato Workmen Sustain Injuries.

Mankato, Minn., Oct. 4.—The steel beams supporting the roof of the public library building, now in course of construction, gave way this afternoon, causing the roof to fall and damaging some of the walls.

Seven workmen were caught underneath the beams and debris and six were badly injured, one fatally. Contractor J. B. Nelson states that the accident was due to the weakness of a brick pier, caused by a chimney in one side of it. This pier supported one end of a main girder that held many steel cross beams.

FREE LUNCH IS DOOMED.

Saloonkeepers of St. Paul Officially Decide on Its Death.

St. Paul, Oct. 6.—The saloonkeepers of this city are decidedly against the free lunch. They went on record to that effect by a vote of 180 to 6. Following this expected action a committee will be appointed to go before the council and ask for an ordinance prohibiting saloonkeepers from putting up a free lunch. It is claimed that this will save the saloonkeepers of St. Paul half a million dollars annually.

ONE KILLED IN WRECK.

Milwaukee Freight Smash-Up Due to Broken Wheel.

Austin, Minn., Oct. 4.—A freight train on the Milwaukee road was wrecked at noon today two miles east of Fountain. The cause was probably a broken wheel. The train broke in two and eight cars were ditched. Floyd Case of Fountain, a brakeman, who was riding homeward from work, was killed.

ENTIRE BLOCK BURNS.

Fire Destroys Many Business Houses at Aitkin, Minn.

The fire originated in the rear room of Ady Bros., and quickly spread through the entire building.

PETER POWER CASE DISMISSED.

Judge Amidon Allows Weidenfeld to Intervene Then Closes Case.

Minneapolis, Oct. 1.—After permitting the intervention of Cammille Weidenfeld in the case of Peter Power against the Northern Pacific Railway company Judge Amidon of the United States district court in his decision handed down during the afternoon, took away whatever of aid and comfort that action might have given Weidenfeld by dismissing both the original bill and the bill in intervention on the ground that the Northern Securities company should have been made a party to the action and that neither Power nor Weidenfeld were in a position to demand a decree upon the merits of the case.

Immediately Mr. Boutelle requested that the court be appraised that the attorneys for the plaintiff desired an appeal. His request was granted.

NORTHERN PACIFIC EARNINGS.

New York, Oct. 4.—In its annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1902, the Northern Pacific railroad company shows an increase in gross earnings of $8,826,396 and an increase in total income of $4,048,666.

The Burlington system, operated under lease, earned a surplus over amount required to meet interest on "joint 4's" of $1,263,389.

Total gross earnings of the Northern Pacific were $41,387,380; net $20,908,966; surplus, $1,547,286 (increase $644,667). The total surplus now is $5,054,709. The sum of $3,000,000 which was reserved June 30, 1898, for dividends on the preferred stock, has been restored to the surplus fund, the preferred stock having been retired. This increases the actual surplus to more than $8,000,000.

DRANK WOOD ALCOHOL.

New York Young Woman Kills Herself in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Oct. 6.—Rather than face her parents, whom she felt that she had disgraced, Pauline Brown, the daughter of wealthy parents in New York, took her own life with wood alcohol, dying in an ambulance on the way to St. Barnabas hospital. She was found in her room on North Eleventh street in an unconscious condition by friends, who summoned the ambulance. A half emptied bottle of wood alcohol on the dresser told the story of her deed. She had swallowed more than enough of the poison to insure her death.

MANNED BY UNION MEN.

Last Vestige of the Tug Strike at Duluth Disappears.

Duluth, Oct. 6.—The tug strike is not only now settled, but all details of the settlement have been adjusted. Every tug in the Union Towing and Wrecking company's fleet is now manned by union men. The last boats to be thus equipped were the Zenith and the Excelsior, and this was done during the day. The real situation proved to be that there was danger of another tie-up unless all the boats were promptly unionized.

INDIAN MURDERER GUILTY.

Basil Thunder Admits Pounding Life Out of a Squaw.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 4.—Basil Thunder pleaded guilty of the murder of a woman named O-Bon-Bahmushke this morning and was sentenced to Stillwater for a term of sixteen years. It was manslaughter in the first degree, committed in a box car with a club, in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls, last May. The woman is said to have been in a squaw house of ill fame conducted by a Bemidji white man.

EXONERATE OLMSTED.

Foresters Clear Supreme Counselor of Charge of Unwise Financiering.

St. Paul, Oct. 3.—Exoneration has come for S. C. Olmsted, supreme counselor of the United Order of Foresters. Before adjourning the convention gave out an official statement over the signature of the executive committee, in which it set forth that the charge of unwise financiering against Mr. Olmsted had been thoroughly investigated, with satisfactory results to the delegates.

Minnesota Tax Levy Lower.

St. Paul, Oct. 1.—State Auditor Dunn has made up the state tax levy and will send out notices to the county auditors. The levy will be 2.53 mills, as against 2.83 last year. The reduction comes in the tax for state revenues, which is 1 mill against 1.3 mills last year.

St. Paul Banker Dies in the West.

Everett, Wash., Oct. 3.—Francis W. Anderson, president of the St. Paul National bank, is dead here of pneumonia. He arrived in this city Sept. 20, with his wife, to visit relatives.

CANNOT REVIEW THE PARADE.

President Roosevelt Unable to See the Civil War Veterans March.

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Roosevelt will not review the parade of the G. A. R., at which it was expected he would occupy the reviewing stand in front of the White House. The official statement issued Saturday night that he would have to exercise extreme care indicated that it would be impossible for him to review the veterans and the direct statement that he will not do so was made on an official authority during the day. The president has not yet been able to rest his foot on the floor and his physicians have forbidden him again to overtax his strength as he did the past week.

ON THE LAND GRANT SYSTEM.

South Australian Government to Construct a New Railway.

Melbourne, Victoria, Oct. 6.—The South Australian government has introduced a bill for the construction of a railroad from Adelaide to Port Darwin on the land grant system. Three months after the bill is passed tenders are to be invited from Europe and America. Those persons sending in tenders are to designate the area they require. The bill limits such area to 75,000 acres for a mile.

THE FASHIONS.

Dressing children in pure white is more fashionable this year than it has been for some seasons past.

Not a few of the newest evening waists have soft transparent folds going around the figure with horizontal lines of lace insertion showing between.

Crepe de chine and liberty satins and silks are much used this season in place of the more perishable chiffons and tulles for many of the tucked blouse vests and undersleeves.

Old rose is a color that is very often forgotten in selecting gowns for either day or evening wear, but it often proves more becoming to women, either fair or dark, than either pure pink, cherry red, blue, gray or green.

Long half fitting cloaks of black, unlined taffeta, silk or peau de soie, faultless in outline and effect, are worn over gowns of white liberty satin foulard, white pique, veiling, mohair, etamine, etc. The greater portion of these garments are open down the front.

Tan colored or ecru batistes and linen lawns are now very frequently decorated with lace appliques and insertions of the same shade. The yoke and undersleeves are unlined or they are of tucked batiste or mull alternating with a band of the new green ribbon.—New York Post.

SHORT STORIES.

Customs officials are now required to wear white gloves in the handling of personal property of travelers.

By a recent action of the supervisors it is now a misdemeanor to permit artesian well water to run to waste in Riverside county, Cal.

The fact that the world's supply of corks is much less than the demand has given rise to a new industry of collecting, cleaning and revamping corks.

The Canadian government has appropriated $10,000 to build a barbed wire fence along the boundary between Montana and the Dominion, extending from St. Mary's lake to the Sweet Grass hills.

There are now but twelve survivors of the Maryland Society of the California Pioneers. In 1887, when the society was organized, it had thirty-three members. The society recently held a reunion in Baltimore.

A negro, trimming a tree beneath a limb of which stood a farmer's team in Michigan the other day, lost his balance and fell head foremost, striking one of the horses. The animal dropped dead, but the man whose head dealt the fatal stroke was unhurt.

OVER THE OCEAN.

Eighty thousand people live within the danger radius of Mount Vesuvius.

"Very first class" is how a hotel at Munich is advertised in a paper printed in English on the continent.

Gambling will be permitted at Ostend for one more season, as the Belgian antigambling law will not be put into force until next year.

Fairly good English was spoken by sixty per cent of the German soldiers who visited Dublin recently while their squadron was at Kingstown.

New coalfields which have been opened up in Poland may, it is stated, lead to Warsaw developing into one of the foremost manufacturing cities in Europe.

Because sweetbrier became too abundant in Tasmania goats were introduced to head them off, as it were, by eating them, but the brier came out ahead by killing the goats.

Leaving her baby asleep in its cradle in a field, a peasant mother went to work on her mountain farm near Triest. On her return she found that the infant had been carried off by an eagle. The little one was afterward found dead in the eagle's eyrie.

THE HORSES.

Tiger, with a mark of 2:09¾ in a matinee race, looks like a good thing.

Margaret, 2:13½, by Eagle Bird, 2:21, has foaled a filly by Hardwicke, son of Directum, 2:05¼.

Sibyl, the dam of Scott Hudson's sensational pacer Tertimin (2), 2:24¼, has foaled a bay colt by Margrave, 2:15½.

The Galesburg (Ill.) purse list is out, all $500, offered for 2:10, 2:28 and 2:13 trotters and 2:35, 2:25, 2:17 and 2:12 pacers.

Edgewood, by Election, 2:12¾ in a second heat, recently beat the Belmont (Philadelphia) track race record. Bellini's 2:13¼ was the previous record.

The pacer Colonel Thornton, by Imprint, owned by Levi Long of Celina, O., can beat 2:20 with ease and has shown finishes at a two minute clip. He is a green horse, wearing no straps.

CYNICISMS.

When a woman has a fine house, how the other women impose on her!

Ever notice when a man is hurt who carries an accident policy how long he is hurt?

Let a girl have her own way about her marriage. Poor thing, she will never have it again.

If you are very poor, when you cry it is "bawling." "Wept" and "sobbing," like all other words, are governed by the size of income.—Atchison Globe.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

Individual deposits in Minnesota national banks amount to $36,436,098; an increase of $8,000,000 in the past year.

Burglars entered the residence of Mrs. C. A. Pillsbury, Minneapolis, the other night and stole jewelry to the value of $2,000.

Henry Kastelmeyer and Joe Pattarson broke out of the county jail at Redwood Falls by overpowering the jailer and made good their escape.

Francis W. Anderson, president of the St. Paul National bank, died at Everett, Wash., of pneumonia. He arrived in Everett Sept. 20, with his wife, to visit relatives.

The state health board's weekly report shows fifty-one cases of smallpox in Minnesota, compared with twelve last week. The increase is attributed to tardiness in making reports.

James Weed, who is three months over ninety-nine years of age, is dead at his home in Winona. The cause of his death is given as a general breaking down as the result of old age.

The tug strike at Duluth is not only settled but all details of the settlement have been adjusted. Every tug in the Union Towing and Wrecking company's fleet is now manned by union men.

Dr. Orianne McDaniel, assistant bacteriologist of the state board of health bacteriological laboratory, is seriously ill at her home in Minneapolis, supposedly as a result of an infection of glanders contracted in the laboratory June 30.

In the district court at Luverne Martin C. Dietrich was awarded $1,000 damages against Jacob D. Fender. The suit was brought for $10,000 damages for biting off a portion of the plaintiff's thumb in a fight, some months ago.

Switchmen employed in the Twin Cities have been given an advance in wages of 1½ cents an hour. The action of the different railway companies in the matter was entirely voluntary, as the switchmen had made no demand for an increase.

Dr. Franklin Staples, one of the best known physicians in the Northwest and president of the Minnesota state board of health, is confined to his home in Winona by serious illness. Dr. Staples is author of a number of prominent medical works.

State Auditor Dunn has made up the state tax levy and will send out notices to the county auditors. The levy will be 2.53 mills, as against 2.83 last year. The reduction comes in the tax for state revenues, which is 1 mill against 1.3 mills last year.

The United States land office in St. Cloud Friday disposed of 3,300 acres of land in Pine county for $1.25 per acre. The land was mostly in isolated tracts and was sold to many different parties. This is the second largest sale in the history of the office.

Twenty-five men on the Chicago and Northwestern road, working in the Rochester coal houses and sections, have struck for an increase of 26 cents a day. The demands were sent to the local superintendent. The men are now receiving $1.25 per day.

H. P. Hall of St. Paul, one of the oldest newspaper men in Minnesota and an old-time Democrat, has renounced his allegiance to that party and will join the Republican camp. Mr. Hall was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor at the last convention.

Basil Thunder pleaded guilty at Bemidji of the murder of a woman named O-Boh-Bahmushke, and was sentenced to Stillwater for a term of sixteen years. It was manslaughter in the first degree, committed in a box car with a club in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls last May.

After suffering for six hours the little daughter of William Otto of Albert Lea died as the result of burns. She was pouring kerosene on the fire in a stove when an explosion occurred. The child's mother was also badly burned in taking the little girl from the fire, but she will recover.

State Auditor Dunn has issued a circular to county auditors, stating that at the state land sale, to be held this month, bidders will be held strictly to the rule provided by law. Each must pay 15 per cent of the purchase price and nine months' interest on the balance. The 86 per cent can then run forty years if desired.

Raymond Fitch, a sophomore in the Rochester high school, lies at his home at the point of death from injuries received in a football game on the school campus Friday night. He was tackling a fellow player when he was injured. His left leg is broken between the hip and knee, and he has internal injuries from which he cannot recover.

A Great Northern eastbound freight train ran into a Northern Pacific freight at a crossing one-half mile west of Sauk Center. Engineer Thomas Zins of Melrose and Fireman Ernest De Roche, of the same place, Great Northern men, were badly injured, the latter being taken out unconscious. The engine was buried under eight or ten cars loaded with grain and lumber.

The saloonkeepers of St. Paul are decidedly against the free lunch. They went on record to that effect by a vote of 180 to 6. Following this expected action a committee will be appointed to go before the council and ask for an ordinance prohibiting saloonkeepers from putting up a free lunch. It is claimed that this will save the saloonkeepers of St. Paul half a million dollars annually.

The total value of realty, including structures, in the state has been fixed by the state board of equalization at $696,000,000. As returned by the county boards and assessors this year the valuation was $680,197,977, which was an increase of $77,658,000 over the figures as fixed by the board two years ago. To this the board added an increase of about 20 per cent over the entire state, making the total valuation $116,000,000 more than returned by the state boards and county assessors. The board took the ground that the farm property of the state has been valued too low, and the action taken was in line with this view. Realty in Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis counties was left as returned.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

FOREIGN NEWS.

The prospect of a reduction in taxes next year greatly pleases the British people.

Americans have refused to allow transportation of soldiers or munitions of war on the Panama railroad.

Advices from Bolivia say that a revolutionary movement in favor of the first vice president of the republic, Lucio Parez Velasco, has been frustrated.

The failure of the great metallurgical works at Kertsh for $9,000,000 has caused a flutter on the Russian stock markets, and has resulted in making idle 5,000 men.

The British war office has decided that in the future all army contracts for meat shall contain a clause that the frozen mutton supplied must come exclusively from British colonies.

It is reported from San Sabastian that King Alfonso has refused to sign certain decrees presented to him by the Spanish minister of war, General Weyler, and the matter is receiving much comment.

The Greek legation has informed the sultan of Turkey that 150 notables were murdered by Bulgarians in the district of Monastir and Salonica during the last two months and has asked what steps Turkey proposes to take for the protection of Greeks.

Official reports declare that famine is menacing many districts in Northern Sweden, in consequence of the failure of the crops. Money to buy foodstuffs for the people and fodder for the cattle is urgently required. The population will find it difficult to tide over the winter.

COAL STRIKE TO CONTINUE.

The coal conference between the president and representatives of the operators and miners came to an end at the temporary White House Friday with a failure to reach an agreement. Apparently the rock upon which the conference split was recognition of the miners' union. The president had urged the contending parties to cease strife in the interests of the public welfare. The miners, through the president of their union, had expressed a willingness to submit differences to arbitration of a tribunal to be named by the president and enter into an agreement to abide by terms fixed by the arbitration for a period of from one to five years. The employers, through the presidents of the railroad and coal companies and a leading independent mine operator, had squarely refused arbitration; had denounced the miners' labor organization as a lawless and anarchistic body with which they could and would have no dealings; had demanded federal troops to ensure complete protection to workers and their families in the mining region.

In an earnest effort to expedite the adjustment of the coal strike problem another conference over the situation was held at the White House Sunday and adjourned after three hours of deliberation. No statement was given out as to the conclusions reached and every participant absolutely refused to discuss what had taken place during the meeting.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

The battleship Oregon, now at San Francisco, has been ordered to Manila to join the Asiatic squadron.

The secretary of the navy has awarded the contract for the construction of the battleship Louisiana to the Newport News Shipbuilding company at its bid of $3,990,000.

Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely has authorized a denial of reports that he had overruled the action of Secretary Shaw relative to the reserve funds and relief of the strained money situation.

The first carload of anthracite coal received in Washington since the beginning of the coal strike arrived there Wednesday. It is held for the use of the White House and on its arrival several policemen were detailed to guard it.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has issued a statement in which he says that the banks hereafter will not be required to carry a reserve against government deposits secured by government bonds. This will make available at once over $30,000,000.

RAILROAD NEWS.

Stockholders of the Milwaukee road have voted to issue $25,000,000 of new common stock.

The Great Northern has secured entrance to Victoria and Vancouver, B. C., by the purchase of the Victoria Terminal railway.

The annual report of President Mellen of the Northern Pacific shows an increase of almost $9,000,000 in the road's earnings for the past year.

The Peter Power case to prevent the Northern Pacific-Great Northern merger has been dismissed in the United States court at Minneapolis.

The Great Western has announced a cut on cattle rates from 25 cents to 15 cents. The reduction applies only on shipments from points west and north of St. Paul, and will benefit the South St. Paul stock yards and the shippers of Western North Dakota and Eastern Montana.

PHILIPPINE NEWS.

General Chaffee has relinquished the command of the division to Brigadier General Davis and has sailed for the United States.

Three years is the period of time now fixed in the minds of the officials of the war department as requisite for a complete settlement of the Philippine friars lands question if it is to be adjusted on the present basis.

AT IT AGAIN.

It seems to be the desire of the Courier to put its editor in a continuous lime-light pose as the embodiment of the only genuine, simon pure article, and the truth cuts no ice in carrying out the program. In the last issue of the Courier we find this paragraph:

> The Gazette editor appears to have exhausted his supply of argument, and is at present busily engaged in demonstrating the weakness of his cause by devoting his editorial page to the personal shortcomings of the Courier editor. This paper must ask to be excused from taking part in such a warfare. The personality of an editor is no more a legitimate subject for newspaper exploitation than is the personality of any other business or professional man, and decent newspapers respect and abide by this time honored proposition.

Taken at its own word, then, the Courier is not a decent newspaper, for from the time its editor first set foot on Red Lake county's fertile soil he has indulged in personal abuse of the editor of The Gazette. Not that it matters to us, but we merely bring this out to show the vitrified gall of this editor. After having instigated and prosecuted a personal fight, being thus guilty, according to his own professed standard, guilty of offense against newspaper decency, he has the temerity to insult the intelligence of his readers with such an effront to their perception. His sublime gall is to be admired, though as much can not be said for his editorial honesty.

> "Can the esteemed Gazette editor expect to convince an intelligent public that he is not in politics from purely mercenary motives, or that he ever held a conviction that was not subject to revision for a price."—Red Lake County Courier, Aug. 14, 1902.

Of course there's nothing personal about this. The suggestion that our convictions are on the market is only a brotherly jolly.

> It seems that the band wagon trooper in charge of the editorial columns of The Gazette picked Grindeland for a winner on the morning of the primary, and worked like a trojan for the ill-fated Warren man. This will probably make the newfledged Republican boomer so cautious in future that he will not attempt to pick the winner until after election—unless the financial consideration is of sufficient object." —Courier, Sept. 25, 1902.

The Courier as a decent newspaper (God save the mark!) must be excused from taking part in such a warfare? Don't trouble yourself dear Courier, don't!

> The ear marks of financial remuneration are always apparent in the political support so lavishly bestowed by the esteemed Gazette on divers occasions."—Courier, Sept. 18.

We will not burden our readers with further samples. They lie strewn along the Courier's pathway since the present hypocrite assumed control. But we ask our readers to compare his declarations and assumptions with his editorial policies. The question is, does he in all things fall as far short of his fine ideals as he does in this instance? In every accusation and insinuation he makes, regarding ourselves and others, does he always as faithfully portray his own faults and shortcomings, as he has portrayed them in this instance? Is he as insincere in all the professions voiced in his editorial columns as he has so palpably been in this case? It is a safe bet that he is.

It will be well for readers of the Courier to think of this when perusing its columns.

THE TARIFF ON LUMBER.

Mr. Jones thinks protection is a great thing. He has a right to hold such an opinion. Mr. Jones manufactures millions of feet of lumber every year, and the generous government gives him $2 on every thousand in order to shut out the wicked Canadian who might send his lumber down here and cut prices which would be very bad for the farmer and laboring man. Mr. Jones is consistent in being a protectionist. He is part of the lumber trust, and the trusts agree that protection is a good thing. Mr. Jones is consistent in being a Republican. The Republican party created the lumber tariff and the lumber tariff made possible the lumber trust.

Thus spake the Courier last week. The Courier editor knew when he was writing this that Thos. Shevlin, the king bee Republican and lumberman, has himself declared in favor of taking off the lumber tariff; so have other Minnesota lumbermen and so has Mr. Jones.

If the prices on lumber are higher, the laboring man knows why; he knows that one of the prime factors in the increased price of the finished propuct is the increased price of labor, from the time the tree is felled in the forest to the time the finished stock is sold by the yard man. He has heard of the lumber jack, whose wages have gone up, and who in fact, dictates his own price, and then makes himself so scarce that the contractors find great difficulty in securing men to carry on their work. He knows, too that prices on Canadian lumber range higher than American prices, so that if the duty were removed, there would still be no probability of Canadian lumbermen sending their product over to us at a loss, as the demand over there is greater than the supply.

The following extract from the market report of several Canadian markets in the July monthly edition of the Canada Lumberman indicate that the lumbermen of that country are not in need of our market: "There is much building in progress, and lumber is going into consumption actively. Seveial advances in prices have been made. Under the new white pine list, first common pine boards are quoted at $25 for 12 inch and $24 for 8 and 10-inch. The price of fir and cedar has correspondingly advanced." The list price of first common pine boards, 12 inches wide, in the Crookston market averages less that $24. The highest price for any length of 8 and 10-inch is $20. Are the manufacturers apt to come here and sell lumber at from half a dollar to four dollars a thousand less than they are getting at home? Far from it. On the other hand, if the editor of the Courier had to stand the loss of the Canadian lumbermen who tried to compete with our prices, for the privilege of having the $2 duty removed, he would be bankrupt in a week and would be howling quits.

Isn't it possible for our brother to write one honest editorial? He knows when he says the government gives the lumbermen $2 a thousand, he is making a statement at variance with the truth.

The Ninth congressional democratic committee as named by Alex McKinnon, the democratic candidate for congress to the Ninth district: Sam Rosenthal, chairman, Crookston; Becker Co., E. W. Davis, Detroit P. O.; Clay Co., P. H. Lamb, Moorhead; Norman Co., Wm. Patterson, Ada; Wilkin Co., Charles Westphal, Breckenridge; Red Lake Co., John Morgan, Thief River Falls; Theo. LaBissoniere, Red Lake Falls, Wm. O'Brien, Red Lake Falls; Kittson Co., Fred McKenzie, Hallock; E. J. Russel, Stephen; Marshall Co., John Ostrum, Warren; Beltrami Co., P. J. Russell, Bemidji; Otter Tail Co., Jess Billings, H. H. Wheeler, Fergus Falls; Polk Co., Nat Campbell, A. R. Holston, Wm. Anglim, Crookston; M. Kaveney, Fisher; Martin Lynch, East Grand Forks; Knute Flakne. Beltrami: Clifford McLennan, Angus.

WHAT THE STRIKERS DEMAND.

"A reduction in hours of labor for men employed by the day.

"Payment for legal ton of coal.

The following condensed summary of facts explanatory of these demands and of the assertions of either side has been carefully made and is believed to be entirely fair:

The average earning of anthracite mine workers are less than $300 a year each. In 1900 for 1901 wages were raised 10 per cent. Meanwhile cost of living has increased 30 to 40 per cent.

A day's work in the bituminous mines is eight hours. In the anthracite mines it is ten hours or more.

A legal ton of coal at the pit mouth is 2,240 pounds. The men claim they are compelled to deliver from 2,700 to 3,400 pounds, and even then are often "docked." The trust claims that this excess of 460 to 1,160 pounds and the subsequent "dockage" are necessary to compensate for waste which the men should leave under ground. The men claim that they send up no such amount of waste.

"The men claim they are often cheated in weighing the coal and in recording the weights. The trust denies the charge. But when the men ask for check weighmen of their own choosing, to be paid by themselves, the trust refuses to grant the request."

THOMAS CROMPE.

Thomas Crompe, candidate for register of deeds, deserves the confidence of every citizen of Red Lake county.

He is well qualified.

He is popular.

He is a good friend.

He is a manly man.

He is a pioneer.

He worked hard for county division, and deserves to share the benefits.

Halvor Steenerson has announced his campaign committee. It consists of the following gentlemen: John Peterson, chairman, and Fred Dennis, secretary, of Polk county; Owen Wangenstein of Becker; L. H. Bailey of Beltrami, D. H. Meeker of Clay, J. D. Henry of Kittson, George Erickson of Argyle, A. D. Gray of Norman, J. T. Johnson of OtterTail, C. G. Rapp or RedLake, Harry E. Sanders of Roseau and E. Mattson of Wilkin county.

The total republican vote of the 61st legislative district was 3,447, of which Beltrami county cast 1,590, Norman 1,141, and Red Lake 757. Swedback, the Repuplican senatorial nominee, hails from Beltrami county, and the primary vote was notice to Swanson, the populist democratic candidate from Red Lake county, that it will be Senator Swedback, and not Senator Swanson, atter Nov. 4, so says the Crookston Journal.

The Republicans are wise in opening the campaign way off in the northwestern corner of the state. If it smells bad they can pitch it over into Manitoba or North Dakota.

The lumber trust is entitled to a place on the Republican state ticket and the party acted wisely in choosing the affable and genial Jones.

The above are gems from last week's issue of the Courier. It is likely after having had it plastered on and rubbed in in this fashion by the Courier since King has assumed control, they will tumble over one another to follow his advice, as contained in the following, which is from the Courier, too:

Republican voters, if honest in their plea for clean administration in the county auditor's office, should not forget that a vote for Peters is a vote for Zeh.

Republicans of Red Lake county will hardly indorse the Courier's tactics by indorsing the one candidate on whom that paper centres all its affections—its candidate for auditor. If the fight is between Zeh and the Courier's man, the Republicans will naturally vote for Zeh. But good judges who have taken cognizance of the slump to Republicanism especially in the northern part of the county declare the fight is between Zeh and Peters.

MOEN'S CAMPAIGN.

Spencer Folkedal, secretary of the people's party congressional committee for the North district, is spending the day in the city in the interests of Mr. Moen's campaign for election to congress. Mr. Folkedal is a pleasant, able and optimistic gentleman and is quite willing to tell the public of Mr. Moen's campaign and his prospects for election. Mr. Moen will begin his campaign in earnest to morrow and will stump the entire district. He will be here on Thursday to confer with the party leaders. In speaking of the campaign Mr. Folkedal stated that the populists of the district are by no means discouraged with the outlook. A great many have taken it for granted, because there are two candidites opposed to Mr. Steenerson, the latter's victory will be an easy one. Mr. Folkedal declares, however, that the people's party is stronger than ever. Mr. Moen will pull the full party strength and he will also get the full vote of the prohibitionists and of all who have supported the referendum in the past. In addition, he expects to get a large Republican vote. He concedes the full democratic strength to Mr. McKinnon, but also believes that Mr. McKinnon will pull largely from Mr. Steenerson, and that the race between the three will therefore be much closer than generally thought, with the advantage leaning to Moen.—Crookston Times.

All such talk of electing Moen is rubbish. Halvor Steenerson will be the first congressman from the new Ninth.

BENEFITS OF FOOTBALL.

Dr. J. D. Park says "Football as a school for the training of the mind, body and character excels any other sport in existence. It has its danger as well as all sports, but the care taken in selecting men who are sound physically and in guarding against accidents reduces these to a minimum. Almost anyone who does not know how to play football is sure to be injured, but after a month of careful training it comes natural to the player to use his body to the best advantage and with the least danger to himself.

Be that as it may, the advantages of the game overtop the disadvantages greatly. Football teaches a young man self-control. It teaches him self-reliance, and to think quickly and decisively—to draw up a plan of action in one fraction of a second, and carry it out the next. Football instills in the boy a love of outdoor sports, a respect for his body and his mind, and enables him to give and take hard knocks in a friendly spirit, and finally to face the world squarely—with a sound body, a sound mind, and proper respect for himself and his fellows.

Criticisms of the game are frequent, and often severe. This, too, serves a good purpose, and no doubt eliminates much of the rougher side of the sport. It has been said that it takes up too much of the time of the student. A study of school work will not bear this out. It is the universal experience of education that the greater the boy's love of outdoor sport, the more attentive and successful he is in his school studies.

Similarity of Woman and The Violin

By FRANZ KALTENBORN, Composer and Orchestral Director

LOOK at the violin. It has a neck and head, shoulders and waist, carved in graceful, curving models. HAD IT ARMS OR ANYTHING TO TAKE THE PLACE OF THEM THE RESEMBLANCE TO THE OLD COURTLY SPANISH CONCEPTION OF A LADY'S PERSONALITY WOULD BE PERFECT.

Musicians know that the violin has a soul. Every man but a Turk will attest that every woman has one at the least. Soul is understood to be mind.

To bring out the sweetest potentialities in the soul of female or fiddle the power of a master is required, we are told. Women have been known to exhibit no love, no tenderness nor any of the graces of their nature to first wooers, yet they were fountains of affection and sympathy to their next gallants.

SIMILARLY, VIOLINS HAVE BEEN PLAYED WITH POOR OR MEDIOCRE EFFECT WHICH IN THE HANDS OF OTHERS WOULD YIELD DELICIOUS MELODY. It is not that the second player is necessarily a better performer than the first; it is not that the second and successful wooer is necessarily handsomer or more attractive than the first. It is in each case a curious sympathy between the positive and passive sources of the harmony.

Spontaneously, mysteriously, the soul of the woman obeys that of some one man. It appears from the experience of music schools that the spirit of the violin is similarly responsive to the spirit of some one player.

WOMEN LIKE A VIOLIN? VIOLINS ARE WOMEN. THEIR SPIRITS ARE THE SOULS OF DAMSELS WHOSE EARLY EXPERIENCES RAN THE GAMUT OF ALL THE JOYS AND SORROWS AND WHO DIED WAILING THEIR ANGUISH FOR FALSE LOVERS' TREASON.

China's Three Great Needs

By WU TING FANG

MY experience in America has shown me that THREE INDEPENDENT THINGS ARE NEEDED IN CHINA—EDUCATION, RAILWAYS AND NEWSPAPERS.

I like American institutions, I like American people. They are progressive; they are full of new thought and new impulses and that one great quality, not only in personal, but in the national life—THEY HAVE IMAGINATION.

What I hope for above all else is to see China on a firm financial basis. We have need of good and progressive men, such as America has. Education and training will produce them. We ought to have more schools and more of our young men studying in American and European colleges.

WE WANT OUR PEOPLE EDUCATED. RAILROADS AND NEWSPAPERS MEAN EDUCATION.

A good healthy school boy is hard on his clothes. It seems to his parents as if they were always buying him a suit. To the parents we want to say that we can save them money, for we have the right kind at the right price.

Surprise Store.

Photographer W. A. Riechel, who has a reputation as one of the best artists in the state, has just installed a Rix flash light machine. This is one of the best flash light machines made, and Mr. Riechel will be in shape to turn out fine work in the line of parlor and home scenes, which can not well be attained in any other way.

H. L. Veigel and August Sempel took a bath yesterday afternoon in the Red Lake river. It was a forced bath, however, and the gentlemen "went in" to rescue a lady whose row-boat was stranded on a rock in the middle of the river, and whose appeals for help reached their sympathetic ears. The gentlemen succeeded in rescuing everything, including themselves, and they have the consolation of knowing their bath bill for the next year may be figured out.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which affected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

A. J. Sauve, of Gentilly, has been appointed by Gov. Van Sant a member of the state board of grain appeals, vice John Gleason, of Crookston, resigned. Mr. Gleason tendered his resignation on the first of the month, owing to pressure of other business. Mr. Sauve is well known here and in Polk county, and his appointment will prove a popular one. He is well qualified to discharge the duties of the position and will prove a worthy successor to Mr. Gleason.

They are telling the following story on a well known traveling man. He is passionately fond of honey and always stops at a certain hotel where he is sure of getting it. On one trip he took his wife along, and as they approached the town he mentioned to her that he was getting to a place where he could have his honey. When the pair were sitting at the supper table that night no honey appeared and the drummer said sharply to the waiter: "Where is my honey?" The waiter smiled and said: You mean the little black haired one? Oh, she doesn't work here now!"

The two Toms—Thomas Crompe and Thomas Germo, went to Rocksbury township Saturday to attend the Republican rally at the town hall in the evening. They report an attendance of about 150 and great enthusiasm. Rocksbury has in the past been counted the backbone of Populism in this county, but there is a general stampede to Republicanism there, and it is expected the town will be found in the Republican column this year. Several of the ex-Populist leaders there are working for the Republican ticket.

Thirteen Towns: Inside information gives reasonable assurance that a flax fibre mill will likely be started in Fosston this fall with local and outside capital. The machinery may be shipped any day and upon its arrival it will be placed in suitable quarters as quickly as possible. For this reason all within reach of Fosston growing this grain will do well not to burn this flax straw, for when the mill is started there will be a large demand for it at fair prices. Such a factory will be a fine thing for the town and country. Thousands of dollars' worth of straw that otherwise would be useless and in the way can then be made a source of revenue.

How Singers Are Paid.

The highest figure ever paid to a singer at Covent Garden was the sum of $48,000 paid to Mme. Adelina Patti in 1870 for sixteen appearances, or $3,000 for each appearance. Mme. Patti has, however, beaten this record in her American tours when she has obtained, as he did at New Orleans in the eighties, as much as $6,000 a night.

M. Jean de Reszke holds the record for male singers, his contract for sixteen appearances being $30,000, while the famous Polish tenor never fails to stipulate for free hotel expenses and a certain sum for carriage and horses.

The famous Lasalle has also drawn his $2,000 a performance, and during the golden jubilee of 1887 he appeared with the two De Reszkes at one time on the stage, the aggregate of their nightly salaries amounting to over $5,000.

Track Laying Machine.

A new machine for laying railroad tracks is being used in Pennsylvania. It has proved itself capable, with a crew of forty men, of putting down two miles of track in a day. The track layer has a huge crane sixty feet long which projects forward over the road, and it hauls behind it a train of sixteen flat cars loaded with ties and rails. A continuous double line of the latter moves forward over rollers and carries the ties with it. Both rails and ties are seized at the proper point by the machinery and placed on the road in front of the train, where they shortly form part of the track over which it passes.

A Policeman Artist.

One of the curiosities of this year's London Royal academy exhibition is a small landscape, a herd of sheep on a Yorkshire upland, which hangs "on the line." To be "on the line" is a much coveted distinction, as the hanging committee always gives the best pictures a position there. This landscape which, of course, was selected without any knowledge of the identity of its painter, is the work of Police Constable Jones, an ordinary member of the Leeds constabulary. He is entirely self taught. Police Constable Jones has no idea of quitting the police force.

Wireless System For Alaska.

Government stations on the mainland of Alaska are to be connected by wireless telegraphy, according to a contract let by the board appointed by the chief signal officer of the army to the Marconi company. The station will be in operation by the middle of October, and ultimate communication with the state of Washington is expected, thus putting Alaska for the first time in direct communication with the rest of the world.

EARLY CIGAR TONGS.

Relics of the Days When Matches Were Unknown.

Some customs seem to have as many lives as the proverbial cat. In the good old days of Queen Bess every smoker had in his outfit a pair of tobacco tongs. If he were a gallant of the court, they were made of silver; if a substantial merchant, of brass, but if a workingman, of cheap ironware. They were a necessary implement to the smoker. Matches were unknown, and the only available fire in the daytime was the blazing log upon the hearth. With the poker a small piece of glowing ember was broken off, which with the tongs was applied to the freshly charged pipe.

Hundreds of these tongs are to be found in the collections of antiquarians. Most of them are clumsy objects, but a few are so graceful in outline and artistic in workmanship that they seem to be of French and Flemish rather than English origin.

These tongs were revived on a small scale some twenty years ago, when they were employed for holding cigarettes. The cigarette tongs were from two to four inches in length, connected at the upper end by a smart spring, which kept the ends together when in a position of rest. When used, the smoker opened them and caught the cigarette between the tips close up to the mouth end. The contrivance enabled the user to turn the cigarette down to the last whiff and protected the fingers from the discoloring vapor that produces the brown stain upon the fore and middle fingers.

The new tongs shown nowadays are somewhat larger and are intended to hold cigars as well as to reach a coal from the fireplace to a pipe. They are made of iron, steel and gun metal, and many of the latter are said to be manufactured from warships, cannon and other trophies of the late war with Spain.—New York Post.

Bell Rock Lighthouse.

The old lantern and dome of the Bell Rock lighthouse, in the German ocean, twelve miles southeast of Arbroath, are being removed. The lighthouse, which is 110 feet high, was designed by Robert Stevenson and Rennie and erected in 1807-10 at a cost of £61,000. The light has never until now been changed, says the Westminster Gazette. R. L. Stevenson used to imagine himself with his engineer grandfather on the Bell Rock in fog, when the Smeaton had drifted from her moorings, and the Aberdeen men, pick in hand, had seized the only boats, and Stevenson had to stoop and lap sea water ere his tongue could utter audible words. There also, when the beacon took a "thrawe" and his workmen fled into the tower, then almost finished, he sat unmoved reading his Bible, and one after another slunk back in confusion to their tasks. Southey has embodied a tradition regarding the Bell Rock in his ballad, "The Inchcape Rock."

Swans Reach Old Age.

John Lover, the keeper of the wolves, stood on the bank of the lake at the zoo, a bit of pie in his band. "Whew-w-w!" he whistled, and a white swan at the far end of the island turned and swam like lightning to him. It took the pie from his hand, waddled back into the water and in a moment had disappeared behind the island. "An old bird," said Lover; "a very old bird. It is, in fact, 114 years old at least. I guess it is, except for our bald eagle, the oldest creature in the gardens. The eagle, you know, is supposed to be 125. Swans are the longest lived creatures there are, the natural history books say. They live 300 years sometimes. Eagles live from 100 to 150 years, and parrots sometimes about 125."—Philadelphia Record.

Monument to Virginia Dare.

United States Senator Simmons of North Carolina wants a monument erected to mark the place where the first English speaking people landed and where the first Anglo-American woman was born—Virginia Dare. The historic spot is in Senator Simmons' state. It is Roanoke island, and the date was 1584. The people who settled there had been sent over by Sir Walter Raleigh, and they wrote such glowing letters home and made such attractive maps that in 1585 and 1587 the colony largely increased. It was at Roanoke island in 1587 that Virginia Dare was born. She ought to have a monument, says Mr. Simmons, and he wants congress to appropriate $25,000 for this purpose.—Patriotic Review.

Deaths by Lightning.

From 1890 to 1900 the United States weather bureau printed statistics of losses of life by lightning. The work is now discontinued. During the year 1900 713 persons were killed by lightning; of this number 201 persons were killed in the open, 158 in houses, 57 under trees and 56 in barns. The circumstances of 151 deaths are not known. During the same year 973 persons were more or less injured by lightning strokes. On the average it is probable that from 700 to 800 lives are annually lost through injuries from lightning in the United States. The greatest number of injuries occur in the middle Atlantic states, the fewest in the Pacific states.—Baltimore American.

Filipino English.

A correspondent of the Blacksmith and Wheelwright saw this sign in the Philippines:

AMERICANO HOOF MACHINIST.

It belonged to a native blacksmith, who, it may be supposed, wished to suggest either that he would shoe horses in the American style or that he would shoe the horses of Americans.

BREVITIES

NOTES OF NOTABLES.

Herr Stor, a wealthy resident of Barringen, Bohemia, has just had his thirty-seventh child baptized.

M. C. E. Clay of Washington owns a silver cup which Thomas Jefferson gave his grandfather 123 years ago.

C. F. Klein of St. Louis has had the horns of the many animals he has shot converted into furniture for his house.

Mulford Dolbrow, the blind peddler of Shiloh, N. J., sold over 1,000 shad during the season, giving change in every case and without making a mistake.

The late J. Sterling Morton, the father of Arbor day, will have a monument erected to his memory by the Arbor Day Memorial association of Nebraska City, Neb.

Alfred Wilkinshaw of Haynut, England, has been bald from birth. Now, at the age of ninety-two, a plentiful crop of dark red hair covers his head, all grown in less than three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Calligan of Piscataquis county, Me., have seven children, four boys and three girls. The boys are called Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, and the girls are named Faith, Hope and Charity.

Rear Admiral Melville is determined to have a burial place of which he can approve. He has accordingly erected at Arlington cemetery a tomb and epitaph to himself, leaving only a blank for the date of his death.

At one time Ellen Terry had three sisters and a brother on the stage—Kate, Marian, Florence and Fred. All attained distinction behind the footlights. Kate and Marian have retired, and Florence died in 1896.

Christopher Forbes of New York, who for many years hoisted the flag on Evacuation day, is dead. He was a lineal descendant of Van Arsdale, the soldier who pulled down the British flag when the English left the city in the Revolution.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

The cleaner the culture the better the crop.

Careful transplanting insures superior growth.

An occasional supply of weak manure water is often beneficial to house plants.

Rosin and tallow in equal parts make an excellent covering for wounds on fruit and other trees.

When fruit is to be sent to market, it will be best to make all arrangements possible in advance.

Keep all dead and faulty limbs cut off the fruit and ornamental trees if for nothing else but the looks.

The man who sends poor fruit to market is always the one who complains of the price. The market is rarely if ever overstocked with choice fruits.

By gathering up and burning all the rubbish in the orchard, the garden and the small fruit patch a large number of injurious insects may be destroyed.

In pruning never cut out small twigs or spurs growing on larger limbs. These are the spurs for fruit, and often the first crop of fruit is destroyed by cutting away these fruit spurs.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Walter Walker will play Nat C. Goodwin's part in "When We Were Twenty-one."

Edwin Arden and Katherine Grey will have the two leading roles in Ramsey Morris' "Ninety and Nine."

When "The Eternal City" is presented on the stage, it will be seen that it is quite different from the book story.

Miriam Lawrence is to sing the role of Mrs. Hopping in support of Francis Wilson in "The Toreador" the coming season.

"Sally In Our Alley" is the title announced for an extravaganza by George V. Hobart to be produced in New York about the middle of August.

Mr. Stanislaus Stange, author of "Dolly Varden," is now putting on the finishing touches to a new American opera entitled "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

SOME MEASURES.

A farthing was 3 cents.

A shekel of gold was $8.

A talent of gold was $13,800.

A talent of silver was $538.30.

An epah or bath contained seven gallons.

A piece of silver or a penny was 13 cents.

A cubit was nearly twenty-two inches.

A shekel of silver was equal to about 50 cents.

A finger's breadth is equal to about one inch.

A Sabbath day's journey was about an English mile.

A hand's breadth is equal to three and five-eighths inches.

A day's journey was about twenty-three and one-fifth miles.—Christian World.

HUMOR

THE ICEMAN.

He Is Given an Unexpected Surprise by One of His Customers.

"It's seldom that I get a surprise," said the iceman, "but a little matter occurred the other morning to give me a regular chill. I had driven up to serve a customer when I found a bald-headed, beetle browed man waiting for me. I knew that he was going to kick, and I held my breath. The kick came. Said he:

" 'Look here, now, didn't you agree to give me twenty-five pounds of ice daily?'

" 'Yes, sir.'

" 'And why haven't you made it twenty-five?'

" 'I thought I had.'

" 'I don't care what you thought. I want a man to stick to his word. I have been weighing your ice right along without saying anything, and during the last three months I find'—

" 'I'll make it up to you,' I said.

" 'During the last ninety days,' he went on, 'I find that you have delivered a hundred pounds extra. Here's 50 cents for the overplus, and if you come any such trick on me in future I'll change to some man who'll stick to his agreement.' "—Brooklyn Citizen.

Had Him There.

Pa—Excuse me for saying it, my child, but I question the pretensions of this foreigner who is seeking your hand in marriage. I believe he is a false count.

Daughter—I don't see, pa, why you should object to him on that account. In the attainment of your political aspirations you have always been particularly partial to that sort of thing.—Richmond Dispatch.

Always Together.

"Beg pardon," said the man who had been writing in the hotel reading room, "but how do you spell innocuous?"

His neighbor gave the desired information.

"Thanks," said the writer, "and—er—er—by the way"—

Couldn't Help It.

"Did you ever take an oath?" asked the judge.

"Wance only, y'ur honor," replied the witness. "Big Moike shwore at me from the top av a siven story buildin', an' I couldn't l'ave me team to git at him, so I had to take it."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Monopoly of Ideas.

"I wonder if she regrets her marriage?"

"Why should she?"

"Well, you know they're both literary, and now her husband thinks himself entitled to every bright idea she has."—Detroit Free Press.

In Self Defense.

"Jerry," said Flaherty, "why is it ye're gittin' so proud since ye're gittin' a bit of money ahead?"

"Me b'y, 'tis loike that wid all the rich," said Jerry. " 'Tis a measure of protiction ag'in me poor relations."—Indianapolis News.

Natural Question.

He—Yes, he was a great aeronaut. They say he made nearly a hundred ascensions, and the only accident he ever had was the one that proved fatal.

She—Really? And on which of the ascensions did that occur?—Philadelphia Record.

The Reason of It.

Slopay—The idea! I promised to pay that tailor on the 15th of this month. Here he's sent me a bill, and it's only the 1st.

Newitt—Probably he wants to get in early to avoid the rush.—Philadelphia Press.

And Hope Returned.

As the patient returned to consciousness he saw that during a paroxysm he had kicked the covers off. Proceeding to replace them, he remarked:

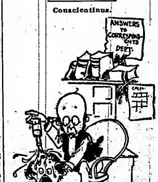
Not a Falsehood.

First Hobo—What did you mean by telling the lady you couldn't get work at your trade? You haven't any trade.

Second Hobo—Then I can't get work at it, can I?—New York Press.

Conscientious.



ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS DEPT.

Editor (to office boy)—I'm sorry, Jimmie, but a correspondent wants to know if oxalic acid is injurious to the hair, and I want to tell her right.—New York Journal.

No Hair?

"My hair was falling out very fast and I was greatly alarmed. I then tried Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair stopped falling at once."—Mrs. G. A. McVay, Alexandria, O.

The trouble is your hair does not have life enough. Act promptly. Save your hair. Feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. If the gray hairs are beginning to show, Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore color every time. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.
J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

OUR COUNTRY NEIGHBORS

BRAY.

John Gundarson is on the sick list with rheumatism.

C. A. Nelson marketed a load of wheat at Wylie Thursday.

John Blom, of Strip P. O., who has been working around here for some time returned home Sunday.

John O. Carlson drove to St. Hilaire Thursday accompanied by Pit Olson of that city, who has been working at threshing around here.

Plenty of geese and cranes have been seen during the past week, and the heavy roar of artillery indicate that some of them were being killed or at least scared.

She's a radiant, witching, wondrous gem that beautiful, blushing wife of mine. She is an angel on earth, so you can see, only take Rocky Mountain Tea. W. A. Schreiter.

RIVER FALLS.

Lawrence Madden was in from Grand Forks a few days last week. He returned Friday.

Isaac LeGesse came down from his claim in Beltrami Co. Wednesday for a couple of weeks' stay.

Miss Mary Anderson, of St Hilaire commenced a six months' term of school in district No. 227 Oct. 1.

Peter Sundin and son Norman layed aside their pitch forks and quit threshing and returned to their home at Shevlin Saturday.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES do not spot, streak or give your goods an unevenly dyed appearance. Sold by W. A. Schreiter, 10c. per package.

Messrs. Pete Hanson and S. Benson accompanied by Misses Ida Evenson and Bessie Sagmoen drove down from Thief River Falls Sunday for a visit with relatives and friends.

GRIT.

A. O. Watsend is now repairing the kitchen part of his house.

Ole O. Lee's flax averaged twenty bushels to the acre. Who said this was not a flax country?

Swen Arveson had the misfortune to break down his engine last Saturday, and consequently threshing will be delayed a few days.

The Equality store has changed the date for their prizes from Dec. 1st to Nov. 1st instead. Ladies bring all the butter and eggs you can. Prices are advancing every day.

Edward O. Erickson threshed last Monday and was more than surprised when he found out his wheat averaged twenty bushels to the acre. How is that for an off year, way back here in the wilderness?

There is no trick in dyeing. You can do it just as well as any one if you use PUTNAM FADELESS DYES. Boiling the goods for half an hour is all there is to it. Sold by W. A. Schreiter, 10c. per package.

Tom Torgerson returned from a four weeks' stay in the Dakota wheat fields the other day. Tom was so bewildered when he got back here in the brush, that he could not tell north from south, and consequently experienced a few extra miles on his homeward journey.

It has been rumored that Olaf Tande, town clerk of Garnes, is to be the independent candidate for county commissioner for the 5th district. A better man could not be placed in the field, and it is our hope that he will receive the support of every right thinking citizen in the district.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ST. HILAIRE

St. Hilaire, Oct. 3, 1902.

Editor Gazette:

I notice in your paper of Sept. 21 something about chicken hunters, which was good and strong, but it should be sharper. I will give some points to the law makers which I trust you will publish. I am plowing now-a-days and run across chickens with one leg, with no legs and one wing, many crippled, many dead. The hunters, six to eight abreast, mow down the chickens like hay, and have the effrontery to tear down notices of trespass in your very door yard, regardless of the fact that you may have a clear title to your land! The question is, has the owner of the land any rights which hunters are bound to respect? The open season should not begin before Nov. 1 to 15. Owners of land should be allowed to shoot a limited number of chickens after Sept. 1. Dogs should be prohibited.

The Primary election day should be made a legal holiday the same as the regular election day. Primary election day should be in June, when the farmers have time to attend.

There is work ahead for our representatives in congress and the legislature. Will Mr. Steenerson use his influence to open the Reservation, for the benefit of the homeless?

There is crying need of state hail insurance. I propose to tax farm land 1 cent per acre to create a hail insurance fund, which would be a great safeguard to farmers. Who of the legislative candidates is in favor of this?

MOTHER'S CORNER

BY MOTHER KATHERINE

A Staff contributor, who will write of every day affairs—the little units that go to make up the sum total of existence. Mother Katherine writes exclusively for THE GAZETTE. She is a mother who presides over an ideal home. A letter addressed to her in care of The Gazette will reach her. She is worthy of confidence.

THE MORNING OFFERING.

The little story told to the children in which the morning offering is mentioned is a true one, and I've often felt that a talk with the "grown ups" on the same line would not come amiss.

We read much these days about "New Thoughts," "New Philosophy" but to me it is not new at all, for ever since I can remember I was taught to give my first thought to my Maker. It is a beautiful idea to instill this habit in the baby mind; thus instilled the morning offering, or assertion, as some choose to call it, the "morning prayer" I love to hear it called, will brighten the waking moments as long as life shall last.

More depends upon the first thoughts than we imagine, for if upon awakening we raise our thoughts to our Father in gratitude and love, depend upon it, our hearts will go out in love to every human being. The hardest task is made easier, the greatest sorrow is softened if the troubled one asks for help from the One HELPER and COMFORTER. Small worries sometimes harrow the lives of housekeepers, and many a mother is perplexed as to just how to proceed in the training of her children. Let the housekeepers, the mothers, and all who are troubled try the "morning offering" and I feel sure that they will find things going more smoothly. The Great Helper can regulate matters for us so well if we will only trust Him with ALL our affairs.

We should not feel that only in great things shall we ask for aid, for often it is the small matters of every day that have so great a tendency to make or mar our happiness. With a firm resolve in our minds to do right, to strive to make every one with whom we come in contact happy, to try again and again to overcome our small faults, we MUST improve. Certainly we cannot overcome our faults if we do not know them. Therefore, we should ask the Good Father to lead us aright in this matter. It is a wholesome thing, my friends, to look down deep into our own hearts to see that all is well there; perhaps in the finding of many errors to be corrected it will be easier to overlook the little faults of those about us.

Given a good resolution, carried out to the best of our ability, peace and consolation are sure to follow.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

LITTLE MEN. BY LOUISE M. ALCOTT.

Among Alcott's stories "Little Men" has been given the preference by my acquaintances. It is a story for boys, but I know of many little girls who have read the book many times.

The plot is in Plumfield, a home for boys. The "mother" in the home is a lovable character and the pranks played by THE YOUNGSTERS are many.

"Thanks to Dan, Charlie took kindly to the saddle and bridle when he had once reconciled himself to the indignity of the bit, and after Mr. Laurie had trained him a little, Dan was permitted to ride him, to the envy and admiration of the other boys.

"Isn't he handsome, and don't he mind me like a lamb?" said Dan one day as he dismounted and stood with his arm round Charlie's neck. "Yes, and isn't he a much more useful and agreeable animal than the wild colt who spends his days racing about the field, jumping fences, and running away now and then?" asked Mrs. Bhaer from the steps where she always appeared when Dan performed with Charlie. "I am taming a colt too, and I think I shall succeed as well as you if I am as patient and persevering," said Mrs. Jo, smiling so significantly at him, that Dan understood and answered, laughing, yet in earnest—"We wont jump over the fence and run away, but stay and let them make a handsome span of us, hey, Charlie?'"

"An Old-fashioned Girl," "Eight Cousins" and "Rose in Bloom," are other interesting stories, though for older children than "Little Men." All by Louise M. Alcott.

MARVELOUS RESULTS OF DR. REA

THE CURES HE HAS MADE SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES.

A reporter who called at the office of Dr. Rea found his room crowded with patients waiting to see him. The news of the astounding success of his special form of treating diseases brings daily to his office gatherings truly remarkable in size and character. The number of visitors do not lessen, showing thereby that the cures made by him are creating impressions far and near. He seems to be busy all the time treating, prescribing and advising to those who are in need of treatment that cannot be dispensed by physicians of ordinary ability.

In conversation with one of his patients she told the reporter the following: "Yes, I am doctoring with Dr. Rea. He has been treating me for three months. I had doctored with all other doctors in my neighborhood, had sent to New York for treatment and had spent lots of money on other medicine. Had tried osteopathy and was even thinking of trying Christian Science before I went to him. His medicine seemed to work wonders on me. What it is I do not know but I have never taken anything like it before. He is not giving me any great quanity of medicine but it seems to strike the spot. This is not only my experience but it is the experience of most all others I have talked with and I can say for certain that I know of many remarkable cures he has made. I know of one case in particular, in fact they are neighbors of mine. They had a daughter who had epilepsy for years. They were anxious to try Dr. Rea's treatment but for some reason or other the family was discouraged by some people who seemed to have an opinion that Dr. Rea's treatment could not do her any good and that there was nothing in it. Despite the fact, however, her parents decided to doctor her and take the chances. This was about four months ago. Her spells stopped after Dr. Rea had been treating her for two weeks. She has not had a spell since."

The reporter went away believing, as do all others who come in contract with him, in the remarkable ability of Dr. Rea.

We take the liberty to publish a list of some of the most recent cures that we know him to have made.

Mrs. C. F. Nordsiom, Two Harbors, Minn. Cured of consumption and chronic bronchial catarrh. Cured after other doctors had failed.

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundeys River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by W. A. Schraiter.

A WORTHY CITIZEN

THOMAS GERMO
Who Will be Our Next County Attorney.

Thomas Germo, practicing attorney of Red Lake Falls, who is making such a vigorous campaign for the office of county attorney, was born of Norwegian parents on a farm in Medo, Blue Earth county, Minnesota, in 1870. His boyhood days were spent on the farm, until he was sixteen years of age, when he set out for himself. He was educated in the country schools, Rochester Business College, State Normal School at Mankato, and at the University of Minnesota, graduating from the law department of the latter institution.

Indomitable pluck and tenacity have marked every step of his career. School vacations were no times of rest or idleness for him. During these periods he employed himself with the task of earning and saving money in order to further prosecute his studies. Like so many young men who set out to make their own way through school, he took up such occupations as canvassing for books, working in the harvest fields in summer and teaching school. He was employed for a time as stenographer and book-keeper in the Janesville Bank, and at different times as reporter on newspapers. While at the University law school he took night lectures, and during the day was employed about the city in different capacities, earning money to carry him through.

Before entering the University he gained valuable practical experience by serving one year's apprenticeship in the law office of W. Logan Breckenridge of Rochester. He is a speaker of recognized force and ability and is in great demand in political campaigns.

Mr. Germo's life has been as an open book, with the pages well carmarked by struggles against difficulties that would have deterred many a less plucky young man. His career in Red Lake county has been marked by success, earnestness of purpose and unimpeachable integrity, —qualities which have won for him the esteem of our citizens and a constantly growing practice. Loyal to friends, a congenial companion, no man stands higher in the estimation of our citizens; a man who may be trusted, an able attorney, he is well equipped in every way to discharge the duties of the office to which he aspires, (that of County Attorney) to the satisfaction of all the citizens, and with credit to himself.

Here is a letter from Congressman J. T. McCleary, of the Second Minnesota district, written over two years ago, which speaks for itself, and the only excuse for inserting it here is that it voices the sentiments of a man of high attainments, who has known Mr. Germo and the Germo family for over 20 years:

"House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C., Sept. 24, 1900.
To Whom it May Concern,—

When I was a member of the faculty of the State Normal School at Mankato, Minnesota, Mr. Thomas Germo, now of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, was a student in the institution. As he was a member of some of my classes I came to know him very well. Since Mr. Germo concluded his course at the Normal School he has studied law and been admitted to the bar. As best I could I kept track of Mr. Germo and have been gratified to note that he has continued to justify the good opinion of him which I formed when he was one of my pupils. Knowing Mr. Germo as I do, I take genuine pleasure in recommending him as a young man of high character, excellent habits and good ability. He belongs to one of the best and most respected families of this county, and is worthy of all confidence.

Respectfully.
(Signed) J. T. McCleary."

Thomas Germo, the Republican candidate for county attorney, is generally picked as a winner. He has plenty of ability, and what is more, is thoroughly honest. He will protect the rights of the public and the individual, and is a safe man for this important office.—Thief River Falls News.

Thomas Germo is meeting with much encouragement in his campaign for county attorney. The farmers like Tom. He is a farmer's son. He has followed the plow, husked corn, split rails, and generally followed the career of a husky farmer boy. After dark when the family had retired, Tom was seen under the evening lamp, studying. He studied and worked all the time and finally secured by his own unaided efforts, a fine education. He is, however, still plain Tom Germo, and the humblest farmer who meets him is given the hand-clasp of fellowship. Everybody acknowledges his ability and his unimpeachable honesty. The voters of Red Lake county will honor themselves if they elect Tom Germo county attorney on the 4th day of November next.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Thomas Germo, the popular Red Lake Falls attorney, was in the city Wednesday looking after his political interests. Mr. Germo is seeking the nomination for county attorney on the Republican ticket, with every prospect of success. He is an exceptionally bright young man who has done good work for the ticket in previous campaigns and is well entitled to the support of his party this fall both at the primary and at the general election.—Thief River Falls Press.

The last issue of the Red Lake Falls Gazette contains an excellent picture of Thomas Germo, Republican candidate for county attorney of Red Lake county, Mr. Germo is a former Blue Earth county boy, a graduate of the law department of the State University, and withal a man who can be relied upon. The voters of Red Lake county will make no mistake in electing a man of Mr. Germo's make-up and well-known ability.—Blue Earth County Enterprise.

OVER $15,000

AUDITOR AND COMMISSIONERS SAVE IT BY GOOD DITCH MANAGEMENT

MORE ECONOMICAL THAN OTHER COUNTIES BY 15 PER CENT.

Geo. A. Ralph, in response to an inquiry as to whether he had seen the jolly in last week's Courier, said he had, and continuing, gives the county auditor and the county board credit for having saved the taxpayers over 15 per cent. in drainage expenditures.

The total cost of Red Lake county ditches exceeds one hundred thousand dollars, and basing an estimate of the total saved to the taxpayers at 15 per cent., we have the munificent sum of $15,000, thanks to the ability and good management of the county auditor and the county board.

This is a showing which speaks loudly for the ability, honesty, and good business sense of Auditor Zeh, on whom the management and responsibility has principally devolved, and of his associates in the work, the county commissioners. Many miles of ditching yet remain to be done, the drainage work in Red Lake county being yet in its incipiency. The fine record made by these county officers is the best guarantee of what they will do in future, and that this great drainage work is safe in their hands. Their experience in the work makes their services of peculiar value, and it will be well for the people of Red Lake county at this time to remember the Abraham Lincoln truism never to swap horses while crossing a stream.

Geo. A. Ralph was the civil engineer in charge of the engineering on much of the ditch work in the Red River Valley counties, and is therefore qualified to speak. He says:

"I have seen the editorial which objects to certain statements which I have made. As to the statement that I have interfered in Red Lake county politics, this is probably true insofar as I have complied with the request to give a comparative cost of the ditches of Red Lake county with those of other ditches of the Valley. My communication, to which the Courier objects, was a simple demonstration of the fact that the auditor and commissioners of Red Lake county in the management of their drainage contracts have been more economical than has any other county by at least fifteen per cent.

This is a fact which anyone can ascertain by an inspection of the figures. How it affects Red Lake county politics is no concern of mine."

ADAM ZEH, COUNTY AUDITOR.

One of Red Lake County's Ablest and Most Popular Officials, Who is a Candidate For and Deserving of Re-election.

ADAM ZEH.

The Gazette takes pleasure in presenting this week the cut of Adam Zeh, county Auditor, and candidate for re-election. Mr. Zeh was well known to the people of Red Lake County before his election as Auditor, and is one of the most popular men in the county to-day. Four years ago he was elected to the important position he now holds, and so well did he discharge the duties of the office, that he was re-elected two years ago by the largest majority ever recorded for a county candidate in Red Lake county, his total vote being 1465 to 687 for his competitor. Thus Adam Zeh ran far ahead of Bryan, who received 1092 votes and but 70 votes behind Lind, who received 1535. This, after he had been tried in office for two years, was an unmistakable indorsement by the people. And why should they not indorse Adam Zeh? He is one of the very best officers who ever served the people in any capacity. He has friends who will fight for him to the last ditch.

Coming to Red Lake county in the early days, nearly a quarter of a century ago, the eldest son of a widowed mother, the family experienced those hardships which are so often the lot of the pioneers. As one writer says, how much do we not owe to the pioneers, whose sacrifices on the frontier, never adequately portrayed, paved the way for the advancement, prosperity and comforts we are now enjoying. Only those who leave the centres of civilization, where advantages for culture and education abound, to take up the strenuous and often thankless life of a frontiersman, know what the sacrifice means. The educational advantages here in those early days were few, but Adam Zeh is a genius in his way, and secured such a practical education by home study, that he could from the first handle the complicated affairs of the office without the slightest difficulty. In fact he has constantly improved the system and the service. The writer never knew a clearer-headed man. His exceptional natural brightness, combined with his practical experience, make him peculiarly fitted for the duties of the office, and he has made one of the best county auditors in the state. When candidate for state auditor, Sam Iverson, was here a couple of weeks ago, he authorized the statement that Mr. Zeh was recognized by the state auditor's office as a strong officer, that he stood high in the estimation of the state auditor, and in his opinion ought to be elected, regardless of politics. Mr. Iverson has ben State Auditor Bob Dunn's deputy for years, and knows whereof he speaks.

Perhaps the most important work that has been handled for the taxpayers by Auditor Zeh, is the ditch matter. To have practically the handling of $100,000 of ditching contracts, is a responsibility of collossal proportions. And to Mr. Zeh's credit be it said, he not only proved equal to the task, but made the best record of any auditor in the Red River Valley in economy in ditch matters.

The following statement gives an idea of the amount in dollars and cents saved to the taxpayers of Red Lake county by the able management of the county officers in charge of the work:

Wyandotte-River Falls Ditch No. 2, Red Lake county, average viewing and engineering expense per mile, $29. Here is a difference in favor of Red Lake county of $44 a mile, on the items of viewing and engineering alone, this average for the 100 miles of Red Lake county ditches, would mean a saving of $4400 to the taxpayers on this item alone. Nor is this the main saving. In every instance the ditch work in Red Lake county has been let at lower prices than was paid elsewhere, the price per cubic yard in Red Lake county ranging from 7 8-10 cents to 11c, with the exception of the Wyandotte ditch. The average saving as compared with other counties is over 15 per cent., or about $15,000.

This is what good business methods mean, and this is only one example of the way affairs have been administered in the auditor's office by Auditor Zeh.

Mr. Zeh has lived in Red Lake county for so many years, and stands so high in the estimation of the people, that it would be useless to recur to his personality. The people of Red Lake county, many of whom have known him for a quarter of a century, are his friends, and the ballots on Nov. 4th will again demonstrate this as they have demonstrated it in the past.

CITY OR COUNTRY.

Soon the work in the fields will be done, the busy farmer will have time to take a well earned rest, and the younger members of the household will begin to show the restlessness of the nestlings about to fly.

Where, then, will this feverish state impel you, my young friends? Perhaps you will go to school for a few months. Well and good. Make the most of your time when there, and avoid adventures. Perhaps you will take up one of the many business or professional pursuits. But before you leave home, let me warn you, beware of the cities. Leading a quiet, pastoral life, you will look to the city as the one place in which you can make your fortune. Stop right there and believe me, where one man succeeds, dozens find ruin mentally, morally and physically. Not only that, but you will see men grown old in their work earning barely enough to supply their wants, and their hopes for anything better are few, I can tell you.

If you can get a dollar a day in a country town you are better off than you would be getting two dollars a day in a large city. You are better nourished, better sheltered, and your moral chances are not to be compared for in a city you never know what manner of man your fellow workman may be. Certainly there are advantages in cities such as amusements that are very alluring to the young. Do not mind them. A young person with a healthy mind and body is a very poor specimen indeed if he cannot find amusement, good, clean amusement, in the smallest of country towns. The very air you breathe should be an inspiration to you.

When I go through great cities, visit the large factories, wholesale houses and even the department stores, the thought always comes home to me that the workers in these places are at a vast disadvantage compared with their country cousins. Very long hours spent in poorly lighted and badly ventilated quarters soon tell on the strongest constitution, yet the workers in cities must contend with this and much more.

Every time I think of the young people who are about to set out for the cities, I feel like sending heralds to meet them, bearing banners to proclaim the temptations, the privations and the exposures that must be endured in city life.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

WITH WOLF IN CANADA

BY G. A. HENTY.

The name of this work speaks for itself. The hero goes through so many battles, yet has such wonderful escapes, that boys fourteen years old or younger think Henty the only story writer.

"Did you hear nothing?" Nat whispered.

"No, I didn't hear anything, Nat, did you?"

"Well, I think I did hear something, captain. It seems to me as I heard a sort of sufle."

"But they never could surprise some thirty or forty men without the alarm being given?"

"It depended what sort of men they were," Nat said scornfully. "They wouldn't surprise men that knew their business; but those chaps would just jump out of their boots as if they were landed on a quay at New York, and would scatter out among the bushes. Why, Lord bless you, the Indians might ambush and tomahawk the lot before they had time to think of opening their lips to give a shout."

The second three boats had now disappeared among the trees, and Col. Parker gave the word for the rest to advance in a body.

"Look to your fire locks, lads," James said. "Whatever happens, keep perfectly cool. You at the oars especially, sit still and be ready to obey orders."

The boats were within fifty yards of the trees when, from beneath the drooping boughs, a volley of musketry was poured out and a moment later a swarm of canoes darted out from beneath the branches, and the terrible Indian war whoop rang in the air.

"With Lee in Virginia." "With Clive in India," "In the Reign of Terror," and many others, by the same author.

High School Notes.

BY THE ATHENIAN SOCIETY.

The Juniors are warned to put more time on their Cicero lessons.

The H. S. girls have organized their basket ball teams for the season. They played their first game Monday afternoon. Tuesday morning they complained of being sore all over, but no one has yet been able to find out what they are sore about.

The Chemistry and book-keeping classes should order warmer weather. We feel that the Laboratory is too much like an ice-box, and we refuse to freeze.

The debate last Friday resulted in a score of 10 to 8 in favor of the Athenians. "We're the people, we told you so."

Next Friday afternoon the Atheninns will give their first program. Every body invited, so don't miss it on any account.

A week from Friday, the second debate will be held. The Spartan debators are: Fred Richard, Verue Healy and Ella Krueger. The Athenian debators are: Drew Marshall, Charles Brady and Rose Sutter.

We will all be with the foot-ball team Saturday in their game against Crookston. Don't miss it! If you do, you will regret it.

The first Chemistry test was written Friday morning.

Last Monday the Virgil review lesson was ordered to be written.

On account of the increasing cold, it was found necessary to put up a large stove in the upper hall of the H. S. building last week.

Note-writing is tabooed, but even so, occasionally a small white messenger may be seen winging its way across the room.

Yes—We know that there was a fire Friday morning, but does that warrant some of our H. S. boys appearing Monday morning in their first pair of long trousers?

The Seniors think they have to do too much memory work in English literature. But it doesn't hurt them.

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced a serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent. of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J. Fulton Company, 420 Montgomery St. San Francisco, Cal.

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundeys River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

CHEAP STATUETTES.

HOW THEY ARE MADE, HARDENED, FINISHED AND COLORED.

Italians From Tuscany Excel the World in Their Production—The Demand For These Casts That Comes From Our Schools.

Whilst it is not difficult to secure good American workmen for carrying out schemes of interior decorations, it is impossible yet to get native born men capable of modeling statuettes and busts such as are sold on the street corners and in many of the art shops. All the workmen employed in factories that produce these are Italians, chiefly from Tuscany. This is equally true of those who follow this trade in Germany and France. The Tuscans appear to have a natural ability for that sort of work that has given them the monopoly of it.

The great majority of these busts and statuettes are copied directly from the originals wherever they happen to be, and then the molds are made from that copy and sent to all parts of the world, the statues being cast in the place where they are to be sold. In the larger shops in New York city, however, a certain amount of original work is done in order to keep pace with the popular demand for representations of the hero of the hour. A great many of our most distinguished poets, authors and statesmen whose busts are exposed for sale on the street corners never sat for these portraits. Some workman modeled the head after a photograph and occasionally has produced such good work that it is almost a pity the sculptor's name should remain unknown.

The chief purchasers of these casts from the larger makers are the high schools all over the country. They demand, of course, not only classical subjects and copies of ancient bas-reliefs and architectural details, but also busts of famous men and women from every period of the world's history. Such a wide range of subjects is covered by this demand that seven and eight thousand titles are included in some of the catalogues issued. The factories where these figures are turned out exhibit in their showrooms an assortment and confusion of time, place and nature bewildering to look at.

The process of casting these statuettes is a comparatively simple one when the mold is once completed. The material used, plaster of paris, is cheap, and a very excellent quality is produced in this country. When the statuette comes out, it is pure white and covered with ridges made by the different sections of the mold. These ridges are carefully removed, and then the cast is placed in an oven heated at about 180 degrees. After it has been baked for a certain length of time it is plunged into a solution of stearic acid and kept there until thoroughly saturated. Then, when it has dried, the yellow color is gained by applying to the surface a solution of beeswax, turpentine and coloring matter. This color will not wash off, and, of course, any shade can be produced at will.

"The demand for nude statues in the art schools is growing less every year," said one of the largest makers of these casts. "That is because people are realizing more and more that artists must draw from the human figure itself if they wish to understand the human form. We get more orders now for draped figures in the art schools and for busts in the high schools. Until very recently the busts of most of the celebrated Americans which we sell had been made in Italy from photographs sent over from this country, and many mistakes occurred in matters of detail, like the cut of the coats and collars. We are trying to do these now in a more modern and characteristic way and occasionally have been furnished with photographs by their families."

The statuettes which are carried about the streets wrapped in harmonious yellow tissue paper or are displayed on the sidewalks or on the steps of unoccupied houses are made by quite a different set of manufacturers. The larger dealers do not sell to these street peddlers at all. The peddlers have their own little workrooms, which furnish them with their stock at a much lower rate than the regular dealers charge. No originals are made in these ateliers, and most of the molds are gained by taking them from a cast bought from some other firm. The stearic acid bath is left out of the process, and consequently the color of these cheaper works washes off.

The peddlers of these statuettes stand in about the same relation to sculptors and sculpture that the hand organ players do to music and musicians. They reflect fairly accurately the popular taste, and, according to their testimony, it is the Tanagra figurines that in the long run sell the best of all their stock. From time to time there is a market for the bust of some particular man, and those sales are always temporary. Grotesque figures are always in demand and copies of the various models of Venus with which the public are familiar. Rows of Cupids and of monks' heads, winged Victories and busts of Wagner come and go as popular favorites, but the Tanagra figurines have a steady sale that insures their presence in the stock of nearly every street peddler.—New York Post.

Red Lake Falls Gazette.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

—BY—

PHIL. A. KAUFER.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

A CORRESPONDENT ANSWERED.

The Gazette has been requested by a correspondent to state whether the Populists have a full ticket in the field this year; also whether those "former populists" whose names appear in the Courier under the heading ot the Democratic ticket have left the Populist party, and joined the Democrats. The Gazette can't answer all these questions, because we dont know. We can state however, that the Populists have a ticket in the field, state, congressional, legislative and county, and some claim the Populist nominee for governor, T. J. Meighen, will receive more votes than Rosing, Democratic nominee. The county ticket is given below:

Auditor—Adam Zeh.
Treasurer—O. T. Tandberg.
Register of Deeds—Samuel Gibeau.
Clerk of Court—Joseph Perrault.
Supt. of Schools—Frank Jeffers.
Sheriff—Arthur Lizee.
Judge of Probate—E. A. Moran.
County Attorney—F. A. Grady.
Commissioner 5th District—J. B. Hebert.
Commissioner 1st district, P. A. Eckstrom.

It will be seen the Populists have a full ticket in the field, and the candidates are mostly old war horses who are hard men to beat.

THE COURIER IS SORE.

The Red Lake County Courier editor is sore. The members of the board of county commissioners and auditor Zeh did not fall upon their faces and worship at his shrine when he moved into our county a few months ago, and so he has a knife out for their undoing. Had the Courier been designated as the paper to publish ditch notices and given the job work of the county it would be publishing their pictures, and asking the people to re-elect them. At the historical conference, he gave the assembled brethen to understand that he wanted the office of county auditor for his man (Ford) on account of the patronage; to elect Ford, and get hold of the public teat, is his ambition at the present writing, and his whine is like unto the whine of the pigling trying to make connections. Had this teat been presented to him, Auditor Zeh and the board of County Commissioners who now are condemned by him would be classed in the same high category as Jeffers, Grady, and others whose administration of county affairs, and whose personality the Courier is lauding so highly.

It is another case of sour grapes, and in the last issue of the Courier he makes the matter very plain.

STEENERSON'S PLATFORM.

First—I favor tariff revision so as to adjust new conditions and prevent the fostering of monopolistic combinations or trusts, yet protecting American labor from the competition of cheap labor of other lands.

Second—I favor reciprocity with other nations, in order to extend our trade, as advanced by the late James G. Blaine and President McKinley.

Third—I favor the position taken by President Roosevelt on the question of our duty to Cuba, and shall support measures devised to carry that policy into effect.

Fourth—As to "trusts," I favor as a remedy the restoration of the rule of equal rights and privileges to all using the transportation service of our country.

Inasmuch as these monopolistic combinations which flourish by driving out competition, and gaining absolute control of the market in their particular line, and thus extort undue gain and unearned profit from the people, owe their origin and continued sway almost entirely to unjust discrimination, undue preference and advantage in the transportation service of the country, I believe that the way to remedy this evil is to remove the chief cause of its existence. I hold that the transportation service, both as to persons and things, is a public service, and that it is the right and the duty of the government to so regulate it as to give the people equal rights to that service. No privileged class ought to exist under our form of government, and yet the transportation service of this country has been so managed as to give to the favored few privileges and advantages in the transportation of persons and property over the general public, and to the latter's cost and detriment. The trusts, constituting monopolies, are constantly striving to increase these advantages to themselves and the transportation companies cannot resist them without the aid of the government. One of the objects and effects of recent railroad consolidation undoubtedly is to restore equality and to do away with discriminations in railway charges and service; but while these objects are desirable, the necessity for more effective government regulation by reason of the consequent removal of all competition among railroads is only thereby emphasized. Congress has control of interstate commerce, and by virtue of that power the remedies here suggested, with others, for the suppression of monopolies and regulation of "trusts" will have my support.

I am now advocating these measures from the stump, and if you will kindly give my views, as here expressed, publicity in your valued paper and also editorial mention, it will greatly help me in getting them before the public, who are the judges to pass upon their merit at the coming election.

Respectfully,
H. Steenerson.

DEMOCRATS ARE RICH.

There is evidently no lack of funds in the democratic camp this year, for the state committee has never employed so large a force of clerks or sent out so much literature as this year. There is no lack of resources with which to meet any emergency on the democratic side. The republicans, on the other hand, have been obliged to economize. They have had no favors from the railroads or other corporations. If the committee wants transportation for a speaker, it must pay full fare, both to and from the point to which he is sent. It is said that the committee cannot even buy round-trip tickets on either of the merger roads except under the time limits that render them useless to speakers and workers sent into the field.

The above is from Monday's St. Paul Dispatch, and offers a solution of the Courier's sudden conversion to Rosingism. Painful has been the silence of the alleged Democratic sheet until last week, when the lining is supposed to have arrived, and accordingly Rosing was given a boost. It is evident why the Courier's lustful affections have at last been transferred from Meighen to Rosing.

The Republicans of Bemidji got together the other evening. W. F. Street pledged his support to E. J. Swedback, and all the defeated county candidates for nomination lined up for the ticket. Cyrus L. Smith was there and says he will support Halvor Steenerson. No amount of defeat could drive him away from the Republican party, because good times and full dinner pails and Republican government mean one and the same thing. It is evident the Beltrami county Republicans will have things their own way as usual. With home harmony like that back of him, E. J. Swedback will easily land the senatorship.

Here our county bears the same name as our big river—Red Lake. Over in Beltrami county there are excellent prospects that a new county will be set off named after our little river—Clearwater.

SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE

$10,000 worth of Hart Schaffner & Marx clothing on display and sale represents the highest standard of excellence in men's wearing apparel. Overcoats

Two fashionable overcoats in one smart stylish wet proof cloth over-coat a most extraordinary offering of this essential coat no man can afford to be without one.

Most dealers say the young men are too particular, and indeed, most of their stocks will not stand their inspection for this reason. It is very gratifying to see the enthusiasm with which our new styles have been received.

The fit, says the young man, is excellent and the snappy, yet refined styles, are all that one could desire.

Hats

Our fashionable swagger hats in black, pearl, fawn and brown in the best makes, showing the most popular hat; the best values. Every hat is guaranteed satisfactory or a new one free.

Boys' Suits

Mothers will find in the Surprise Store their ideals of what a practical suit for boys should be. They are sewed with silk thread and double stitched seams. Not only in point of service but also in appearance is why these clothes appeal to mothers.

Shirts

Do you notice how many men have eschewed the white "biled shirt?" More of them will do so this winter. They will be wearing one of those colored shirts. What can be more reliable or satisfactory than the Geo. P. Ide silver silver shirts or the Summit.

Hosiery

Iron Clad Hosiery, the best ever. Try them and be convinced.

An elegant line of Underwear, Neckwear, Night shirts, Sweaters, Mackinaws, Suspenders, Working shirts, Overalls, Gloves and Mittens.

The board of control is on top, as everybody knew it would be, if it's affairs were economically and wisely administered. A comparison of the expenses of the present or one-board system with the many-board system shows a difference of $1,300 in favor of the present one, the total expenses for the year ending July 31, 1901, being $23,431, and for the year ending July 31, 1902, $22,089.

The Gazette publishes a write up for Thos. Germo this week. It has been stated that "Mr. Germo is too honest to be a lawyer," but we fail to see where honesty ever hurt a man in any way. Indeed, honesty is one of the very important requirements in a public official. Add to this, ability, and you have a strong combination. Mr. Germo possesses both, and the people will make no mistake by voting for him for county attorney.

J. B. Hebert, Jas. Suter and Ole J. Johnson, county commissioners, are candidates for re-election, and reports from each district indicate that the chances for the return of all three are very favorable. The office of county commissioner is one of great importance, and yet as a rule, people are prone to give very little attention to the matter of representatives on the county board. The fact that signs point to the re-election of the three gentlemen named is indication that their services have met with the approval of their consiituents.

We noticed a very nice and well deserved personal compliment in the Straddler last week for D. Linoiban. It's perfectly safe for the Courier to give Dan credit, now that the primaries are past and gone, and he is in no danger of being nominated for sheriff on the Democratic ticket. Prior to the primaries the name of this gentleman was conspicuous in the Courier by its absence—in fact the name didn't even get into that official circular which is said to have been issued by the chairman of the Democratic county committee for the guidance of the faithful at the primaries.

THOMAS CROMPE.

Thomas Crompe deserves your vote. He will make a good officer, and his honesty, capability and affability are strong recommendations. Another strong recommendation is that Mr. Crompe, long a man of great influence in the county, was among the hardest workers for county division. The vote of Terrebone, his home township, gave a handsome boost for county division, in the neighborhood of 89 if our memory serves us right. Thus in electing Mr. Crompe, the people would be giving a worthy man an opportunity of sharing the benefits of an institution which he did so much to create. The Gazette confidently expects Mr. Crompe to carry Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire, and to see him break even in Thief River. If the balance of the county does as well for him, he will be elected. He is, himself, very confident of election.

The people will never have cause to regret it if he is chosen register of deeds. His word is as good as his bond. This is a pretty safe kind of a man to place in a position of public trust.

Maj. Bowler, Democratic candidate for railroad commissioner, and Geo. P. Jones, Democratic candidate for clerk of the supreme court, Wednesday evening next at the Metropolitan.

Thos. Meighen, Populist candidate for governor, and Judge Moen, Populist candidate for congress, will address a meeting in Red Lake Falls, Saturday evening, Oct. 18.

It is conceded on all sides that it will be either Auditor Peters or Auditor Zeh after Nov. 4th. Take your choice.

The Democrats and Populists are not fusing this year, remember this Populist voters.

Dr. Dumars, Democrat will speak at the court room in this city Saturday night.

THOMAS A. CROMPE.

To the Voters of Red Lake County.

I am a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds, and sincerely desire the support of all my friends at the coming election, to be held on November 4, 1902.

I wish to hereby express my sincere gratitude and thanks to my friends throughout the county who by their votes and support contributed to the splendid majority by which I was nominated. I trust that I may receive equally loyal support at the general election Nov. 4. If elected I promise the people of Red Lake county my best services, and the office will be maintained to the credit of the county and to the satisfaction of all citizens.

Your humble servant,
THOMAS CROMPE.

Anton Dion was in from Poplar River yesterday, and reports that his father, Damasse Dion, has sold his farm to the Goodenough Land Company of Erskine for $3,000. The old couple will hereafter make their home with their son Emery, while Anton will seek a new location.

County Surveyor P. O. Hagglund came down from St. Hilaire yesterday to run a line for Alfred Bisson, of Gervais township. Mr. Hagglund is giving such good satisfaction and is kept so busy that he has no time to campaign for re-election, but expects to get there just the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zaiser have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Bertha Adelaide to Lewis Phillip Adams, of St. Hilaire, at St. Mary's church in this city next Tuesday at 1 o'clock p. m. The couple will be at home at St. Hilaire after October 25.

Moses Langlois returned Tuesday from Larimore, N. D., where he had been working with threshing crews. Mr. Langlois says he could have had work there until Christmas at $4.50 per day. The crops were never better, and help was never so scarce, many threshing rigs being tied up on this account.

The report of the death of Mrs. John Grady reached here Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Grady left here a couple of months ago on a visit to her parents in South Dakota. She was taken ill before reaching her destination. Deceased was a lady of exceptionally sweet disposition and lofty character, and the sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved husband for his great loss.

Prof. Clinton O. Smith, of Renville, N. D., arrived in the city yesterday to assume the directorship of our band. A meeting for reorganization was held last night, and the following officers elected. L. P. Berthon, manager; Harry Healy, president; Adelard Lemieux, vice president; J. B. Armstrong, treasurer; Frank Brouillet, secretary; Harry Healy, Sam Hazlett and Cassimer Brunelle, committee on by laws.

Tha Rev. C. Dube, of Quebec, arrived in the city Friday on his way to Terrebonne, where he assumed charge of St. Anthony's parish. Rev. Dube spent several years in South Africa, being at Johannesburg during the Boer war, and tells some very interesting stories relative to conditions there. He was the guest of Rev. E. Fayolle during his sojourn in the city, and the reverend gentlemen exchanged remeniscences of North and South Africa.

Maurice Leonard, advance for LeFebvre Carpenter Co., was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday arranging for their appearances on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Mr. Leonard would like to make known to the city that the production of "Camilla" as played by this company is strictly moral and to suit the most sedate audience, and wishes to say that "Esmeraldo" and "East Lynne" will also be great treats. Prices have been reduced to 25c, 35c and 50 cts.

Baby carriages at cost.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Henderson Grimett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. R. McDonald, Man., Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by W. A. Schreiter.

Ladies length coats, worth $22.00 for $14, $16.

Garceau Bros.

Louisville was the mecca for the politicians last Sunday, and the Republicans, Populists and Democrats had representatives there in force.

E. J. Keating was in the city yesterday from Crookston. Mr. Keating has sold a number of pianos here and was looking after their disposition.

The LeFebvre Carpenter Co. seems well recommended by press and public and it is hoped that our citizens will appreciate the coming of such a company and congradulate Messrs. Anderson & Schwalan for opening tha season with such a refined company.

The many friends here of Wm. P. Dargan, who has for several years been wheat buyer at Erskine, will be interested to learn of his marriage on Friday last to Miss Inga Tolleson, an estimable young lady, who has made her home at Erskine for tha past three years.

Dr. Jules Gendron, whose fame as a poet preceedes him, was noted as a visitor by the Crookston papers Saturday. The Doctor's friends are subscribing to his book of poems very liberally, and its publication is now eagerly awaited. This will be one of the many occasions when the writer will regret his lack of knowledge of French.

The LeFebvre-Carpenter company has been secured for a threa nights engagement at the Metropolitan Opera house, beginning Thursday, Oct. 16. Miss Emily LeFebvre and Horatio Carpenter, from whom the company takes its name, are too well known to Western theatre goers to need an introduction to Red Lake Falls. In "The Musketeers," in "Quo Vadis" and in "Ingomar," both of these players hava proved themselves artists of superior quality; the praise of both the press end public has greeted them from Chicago to Colorado This yeer the Lefebvre-Carpenter company have selected a different class of plays as a medium for the display of their histrionic talent. The perennial favorite, "East Lynne," which has held the interest of play-lovers for more than a quarter of a century, is one of the dramas to ba presented by the LeFebvre-Carpenter Company this season. Dumas' classic, "Camille," the most thrilling tragedy on the stage, and that charming pastoral—"Esmeralda," are included in the repertoire of the company. The three plays will be seen during the local engagement. In "Camille" and in "Esmaralda," Miss LeFebvre takes the name part, in "East Lynne," she will be seen in the dual role of Lady Isabel, the unhappy wife, end later as the saddened Madam Vine. Horatio Carpenter, Miss LeFebvre's co-star, will teke the part of Armand Duvel, in the Dumas play, a role to which his handsome stage presence no less than his fine art peculiarly fit him. As Dave Hardy, Esmerelda's lover, Mr. Carpenter again finds a congenial part, a convincing evidence of his versatility. To the role of Sir Francis Levison he brings the requisite art which makes that one of the most fascinating, and the same time the most odious characters on the stage. The LeFebvre Carpenter company stage their plays elaborately. The costumes in "Camille" and "East Lynne" are rich and beautiful. The supporting company is very worthy of two such admirable players as Emily Lefebvre and Horatio Carpenter.

The Fair Store, west of the City Feed Store, on Saturday, Oct. 18, will give to each purchaser of $1.60 worth their choice of articles on ten cent counter and to each purchaser of 50c worth their choice on 5c counter.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

FIGHT PRIMARY LAW

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE MINNESOTA STATUTE TO BE TESTED IN COURT.

Leech Lake Indians in an Ugly Mood. Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad Case Appealed to Federal Supreme Court—Eastern Company Acquires Valuable Mining Property Near Hibbing—News of the State in General.

St. Paul, Oct. 8.—Senator H. J. Peck of Shakopee will at once institute proceedings in the supreme court, which, if successful, may invalidate the primary election law and render all nominations made Sept. 16 illegal and void.

Senator Peck will ask the supreme court for an order directing John H. Moore, auditor of Scott county, to show cause why he shall not be compelled to place the name of E. F. McCarthy on the Scott county ballot as an independent candidate for superintendent of schools.

McCarthy was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination at the primary election, and the suit is brought on the contention that the amendment to the primary law providing that a candidate defeated at the primary may not file as an independent, is an infringement of the citizen's constitutional rights. If Senator Peck is successful in his contention and that section is held invalid, the whole law will fall, as it has been held that the invalidation of a vital section renders a whole law void.

INDIANS IN AN UGLY MOOD.

Leech Lake (Minn.) Reds Demand Stumpage Money.

Cass Lake, Minn., Oct. 10.—The Chippewa Indians are in an ugly mood. Major Scott, the agent, was at the Leech Lake agency during the day and the Indians gathered in large numbers to receive their regular payment of annuity money.

When Major Scott tendered them the $5 they indignantly refused to receive it, and informed the major that it would not be accepted until they were paid their amount of stumpage money, amounting to $15 per capita. The agent, not having the money or the authority from the government, could not accede to their demands, and endeavored to calm and reassure them, but in vain.

He promised to wire to Washington, which he did. Meanwhile the Indians are in a very morose mood and insist that they must have the stumpage money with their regular payment.

MINNESOTA RAILWAY CASE.

Minneapolis and St. Louis Appeals to United States Supreme Court.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The question of the right of a state to require railroads to establish and maintain depots in rural and agricultural districts within a mile of each other is involved in the case of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad, plaintiff in error against the state of Minnesota and the railroad and warehouse commission, the transcript of records of which was docketed in the United States supreme court during the day. The railroad company contends that the Minnesota supreme court erred in upholding the validity of the statute making such requirement, in holding that the railroad must build a station at Emmons, Minn., and that a state may appropriate private property and practically control and manage the same without the consent of the company.

BUYS A MINE AND TWO BOATS.

Eastern Company Acquires Valuable Property Near Hibbing, Minn.

Duluth, Oct. 11.—The Donora Mining company, the ore company of the Union Steel company of Pittsburg, has bought from the Eddy Bros. & Co. of Bay City, Mich., the fee of the Penobscot iron mine, comprising forty acres near Hibbing, on the Mesaba range, and two lake steamers, the Howard L. Shaw and Simon J. Murphy. The consideration cannot be ascertained at present, but mine and boats are supposed to have commanded not less than $2,000,000. The Penobscot mine at present is producing about 250,000 gross tons of ore annually. The steamers are among the largest on the Great Lakes. H. C. Frick is identified with the Union Steel company.

TWO LIVES ARE LOST.

Couple of Fatal Accidents Occur in Duluth.

Duluth, Oct. 12.—C. W. Swanson of Minneapolis, an expert for the Otis Elevator company, met a terrible death in Panton & White's department store. He got caught between a freight elevator and the platform on the second story and his brains were dashed out. Mr. Swanson leaves a family in Minneapolis.

Claude, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of West Duluth, a newsboy, was drowned today while offering his papers to the boats at the lumber docks.

BURGLARS IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Ten Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property Stolen.

Minneapolis, Oct. 7.—Police Superintendent Waite has issued a general warning to all householders in Minneapolis to be sure that second-story windows are locked at night, on account of the unusual activity of porch climbers. It is estimated that $10,000 worth of stuff has been stolen during the past four days, but not one arrest for burglary has been made. Superintendent Waite says that the reason is the insufficiency of the police force in the residence districts.

Barn and Horses Burned.

Wells, Minn., Oct. 10.—Fire, the origin of which is a mystery, was discovered in George Honberg's livery barn and burned it and twenty-one head of horses. Two men were sleeping in the barn and had difficulty in getting out alive.

DESPERADOES BREAK JAIL.

Prisoners Suspected of Train Robbery Get Away.

Waseca, Minn., Oct. 10.—After lying in the county jail in this city for sixty days Mike Tobin and John McDonald, serving a sentence for carrying concealed weapons, and John Price, awaiting the action of the grand jury at the coming term of the district court, on the charge of assaulting Sheriff Collins with a dangerous weapon, broke jail and are now at liberty, with a posse scouring the county for them.

The three men are the desperadoes who were arrested here in August after an exciting man-hunt, during which Price shot five times at the sheriff and was captured after being chased by a posse into a swamp on the shore of Clear lake. The men at that time were thought to be connected with the gang which held up the Burlington train at Savannah, Ill., but owing to the fact that identification was incomplete they were held here in jail, two of them on the charge of carrying concealed weapons and Price for shooting at the sheriff, the purpose being to give the authorities time to trace up identification testimony.

INVITED TO A MOOSE HUNT.

Minnesota Sportsmen Anxious to Entertain the President.

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Mayor F. H. Kretka of Thief River Falls secured from Executive Agent Fullerton a nonresident hunter's license for President Roosevelt. The license is made out on a piece of birch bark and accompanying it is a unique invitation, also on birch bark. The invitation requests the president to be the guest of honor at a moose hunt which will begin Nov. 13 in Beltrami county, fifty miles northeast of Thief River Falls.

A camp is to be established and named in honor of President Roosevelt and the other invited guests are Senators Nelson and Clapp, Governor Van Sant, Congressmen Morris and Fletcher, T. R. Palmer, Renville Chinnock, George B. Lyman and F. I. Whitney.

The itinerary provides that the president and his party shall leave Chicago over the Burlington road Nov. 10; leave St. Paul over the Great Northern road Nov. 11; leave Thief River Falls overland by team Nov. 12; arrive at Camp Roosevelt Nov. 13, returning at the convenience of the president.

GREAT WESTERN CUTS RATES.

St. Paul, Oct. 8.—President Stickney of the Great Western has given his competitors another jolt in his announcement of a 45 per cent reduction of the rates on steel and iron articles in car load lots from Chicago to Missouri river points. The rate heretofore in effect was 27 cents. the new rate is 15 cents. The new tariff becomes effective Thursday.

The rate will apply from Chicago to Missouri river points, with a proportionately low rate, 13 cents, to Des Moines, Fort Dodge, Cedar Falls, Marshalltown, Waterloo and other points in the same territory. The rate from Minneapolis to the same points will be on a basis of 16 cents.

The reason for the slash was the action of lines reaching Colorado points from Chicago.

SLASHES HIS THROAT ON A CAR.

Staples (Minn.) Man Attempts Suicide in Montana.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 9.—Nelson A. Gotchie of Staples, Minn., made a desperate attempt to commit suicide in the lavatory of a Northern Pacific passenger car while his train stopped at Big Timber, Mont. Persons on the station platform noticed a man acting strangely and the door of the lavatory was broken open. With a pocket knife Gotchie had cut a terrible gash across his throat, severing the windpipe and narrowly missing the jugular vein. He had also slashed his arm, cutting an artery, and was bleeding profusely. He is in the hospital at Big Timber and his condition is serious. Gotchie was on his way to visit a daughter who lives at Whatcom, Wash.

CHARGED WITH VAGRANCY.

St. Paul Police Arrest a Man Carrying $26,000.

St. Paul, Oct. 11.—Easton Jacobson, a farmer, sixty-five years old, formerly of Blue Earth county, Minn., was arrested by the local police on the charge of vagrancy.

He was taken to the Central station where he was found to have on his person $26,000 in paper and currency and the charge against him was dismissed.

He was on his way to the state of Washington to buy a farm.

SHOT WHILE HUNTING.

Dr. B. W. Kelly of Aitkin Believed to Be Seriously Injured.

Aitken, Minn., Oct. 12.—Dr. B. W. Kelly yesterday accidentally shot himself seriously while out hunting. The horse he was driving ran away after the accident. Physicians from Duluth and Brainerd were called to Kelly's assistance.

Cattle Records Broken.

St. Paul, Oct. 8.—Cattle shipments from the West are very heavy just at present. As a result the high records at South St. Paul last for a short time only. The big run of cattle on Sept. 22, representing 7,500 head, was exceeded Monday by the receipt of 8,000 head. Among the number are very few good for beef, and most were sold for feeding.

Eighteen Years for Murder.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 11.—Judge McClenahan pronounced sentence upon George LaDue for the murder of Eugene McLaughlin, giving him eighteen years at Stillwater.

Strikers and Military Clash.

Madrid, Oct. 13.—Several bands of strikers at the small town in the Spanish line, facing the neutral ground about Gibraltar, who went to the cemetery with the object of carrying off the bodies of those killed in the conflict Thursday, had to be dispersed by the military. It is reported that ten persons were killed, including a woman and a child.

Possible Exception.

"It is my belief," said the lecturer, making a momentary digression from the subject in hand, "that we are on the eve of great changes in our civic and industrial life. Co-operation will solve the problem of cheap and comfortable living in our large cities. The automobile will do away with all our beasts of burden"—

"Not all!" muttered a haggard millionaire and man of business in the audience.

The Sea of Matrimony.

For all ye swains and maidens, too,
'Tis worthy of remarking
To sail the matrimonial sea
Needs frequent re-embarking.

Upon a little tender flirt
We venture, all unheeding,
And then a smack and after that
A transport quick succeeding.

Perchance we then prove men-o'-war;
The hopelessness is utter,
To the divorce court speeds the mate
To get a little cutter.

But if, upon the other hand,
There's neither tiff nor bicker,
We find the voyage safe in port
A worthy single sticker.

"La grippe left me with a bad cough. My friends said 'consumption.' I then tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was promptly cured."
A. K. Randles, Nokomis, Ill.

You forgot to buy a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral when your cold first came on, so you let it run along. Even now, with all your hard coughing, it will not disappoint you. There's a record of sixty years. Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. S. SELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

Miss Ida Hanson is visiting with Mrs. Chas. Moe of Sanders, this week.

Charles Asp resigned his position as engineer with M. Hanson's threshing rig Friday and returned to his home in Emardville. Mr. Asp will leave shortly for Alberta.

Thomas Germo and Thos. A. Crompe were with us last week on political matters Both gentlemen have many friends who will stand by them at the polls November 4th.

O ye people! have you wasted the golden moments of never returning time in taking a substitute for the genuine Rocky Mountain Tea made by the Madison Medicine Co. 35cts. W. A. Schreiter.

Adam Zeh, county auditor, handled the ditch matters in an able manner. Over $100,000 has been expended in ditch work in this county. This was a gigantic task, but he met it, and Red Lake county ditches have been built 15 per cent. cheaper than those of other counties. This makes a saving of nearly $20,000, and shows what able officers can do

There is no trick in dyeing. You can do it just as well as any one if you use PUTNAM FADELESS DYES. Boiling the goods for half an hour is all there is to it. Sold by W. A. Schreiter, 10c. per package.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

EMARDVILLE.

A surprise party was tendered Mrs. P. Oslund last Saturday by the northside Ladies' Sewing Society.

George Peppin, who recently sold his farm to Frank E. Hunt, moved with his family to Black River last Saturday.

Wheat on A. J. Hemstad's farm averaged 28 bushels to the acre, on Gulheranson's 24 bushels, and on Jacob Valdal's 27 bushels to the acre.

Minnesota's great governor, S. R Van Sant, Secretary P. Hanson and S. Iverson, Deputy State Auditor, were here Oct. 1st looking over the work done on the state ditch.

Messrs. J.J. Week, James McIntyre and James Wilson, of Thief River Falls called on us last Saturday and proceeded driving around the county canvassing in their interests.

Hens Pederson crossed the river with his threshing rig Monday to start threshing on A. F. Anderson's farm. Some other rig will have to finish the threshing on this side.

Frank E Hunt, Theo Garceau, Geo. Ralph, State Drainage Engineer, Dr. N. M. Watson and Phil. A. Kaufer, accompanied the members of the state drainage ditch commission here last Wednesday.

The Garnes correspondent says some noteworthy things about school conditions out there. What he says are the facts in a good many school districts out this way. Why does not the county superintendent ever come this way anyway?

Your correspondent had the pleasure of meeting and shaking hands with the members of the state drainage committee, consisting of Gov. S. R. Van Sant, Secretary of State P. Hanson and S. Iverson, when they were here inspecting the state ditch.

The Red Lake County Courier ought to be ashamed of itself for using such an expression as this: "The Republicans are wise in opening the campaign way off in the northwestern corner of the state. If it smells bad they can pitch it over into Manitoba or North Dakota." If this didn't smell bad, how did it smell anyway? A good deal worse than rotten!

Tot Causes Night Alarm.

"One night my brother's baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C. Snider, of Crittenden, Ky., "It seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." Infallible for coughs, cold, throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

A vote for Adam Zeh is a vote to retain the services of a capable, honest and obliging official.

For County Surveyor.

P. O. Hagglund, populist nominee for county surveyor, is a candidate for re-election to the office which he has creditably filled since the organization of Red Lake county.

In 1899 he proved himself to be possessed of sufficient brains and backbone to start the first drainage ditch in Red Lake county. This ditch was pushed through to a successful finish and at considerable cost to Mr. Hagglund, although he received no personal benefits and very little sympathy. This ditch proved to be a very good thing for the country, and to-day ditching is considered one of the greatest benefits to the county and is being extensively indulged in.

The ditches now finished and those being constructed have brought upwards of $100,000 into circulation in the county, and have resulted in untold benefits to the land drained. Money has been circulated and lands improved; there are better crops and better roads. The increase in the price of Red Lake county lands proves these facts and to-day this county holds a leading place among the agricultural districts of Minnesota.

That such conditions exist in this county today is due principally to Mr. Hegglund's efforts as a promoter of drainage. He is a man thoroughly qualified to fulfill the duties of the office, is experienced, honest, and in every way a man to be depended upon. A vote for Mr. Hagglund for county surveyor is a vote for the best man available for the position; one who has been tried and found absolutely reliable.

A vote for Adam Zeh is a vote to retain the services of a good officer.

Stepped Into Live Coals.

RURAL DELIVERY

RED LAKE COUNTY WILL SOON SECURE THE SERVICE.

F. P. Smith, assistant superintendent of the railway mail service, is in the city today. He says Red Lake county will shortly get the service of rural delivery and collection of mails on star routes, in this county, where boxes are provided along the route. The system is the same as rural free delivery, except no money orders are issued enroute.

In fact the Post Office Department has issued an advertisement inviting proposals for carrying the mail on all star routes in Minnesota for the term of four years commencing July 1st 1903.

In this advertisement two new features are incorporated, viz: limiting consideration of bids to those persons who will agree to reside on or contiguous to the routes on which service is performed and to give their personal supervision to the same thereby placing service in the hands of local men, so they may receive the entire amount paid by the Department and doing away with the syndicate professional bidders.

In the same advertisement, is also incorported the feature of delivering the mail into boxes along the routes.

Full information relative to the advertisement and the conditions under which such box delivery can be made may be obtained from any postmaster.

Proposals will be received by the Second Assistant Postmaster General at Washington, D. C., until 4 p. m., December 2, 1902:

Crookston to Red Lake Falls, 21 miles and back, seven times a week to Gentilly and once a week to Red Lake Falls.

DEATH OF OTTO H. ITTNER.

Succumbs to Kidney Trouble After Short Illness.

Otto Ittner breathed his last Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, after a short illness with kidney trouble, which affected his heart. Mr. Ittner was never strong, and on account of his physical condition failed to pass the medical examination which is a prerequisite for admission into fraternal insurance societies such as the Woodmen.

Deceased was born May 9, 1878, and was married in June, 1901, to Miss Louisa Huot, of Louisville. At that time he was Great Northern section foreman at Ives. He moved here with his wife about a year ago. Prior to his removal to Ives Mr. Ittner was a Red Lake Falls citizen, having lived here with his widowed mother for more than ten years. Before his death deceased expressed a desire to die a Catholic, his wife being an adherant uf that faith, and accordingly the rites of the church were administered to him. The funeral was held this morning from St. Joseph's church.

A wife and little daughter two months old are left sadly bereft by his death.

ENTERED INTO REST.

George Marchand Passes Away Monday Morning.

George Marchand breathed his last at 4:18 Monday morning. He had been unconscious from Suaday nooo. Mr. Marchand's illness dated back three years, and has assumed many perplexing phases. Recovering in a measure from his severe sick spell three years ago, his eyesight gradually failed, and he has been blind and helpless since.

He was one of the county's pioneers. Born at Batiscan, Canada, March 22, 1852, he moved with his parents to Red Lake Falls township 23 yeaas ago. Nov. 23, 1883, he was married to Miss Georgina Peppin, a popular school teacher. Eight children, four of whom survive, were born to them.

The devoted wife has borne with heroic fortitude her great grief and responsibilities and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to her.

The funeral took place yesterday morning from St. Joseph's church. The Women's Catholic Foresters, of which Mrs. Marchand is a member, attended in a body.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Geo. Marchand and family desire to thank kind friends for kindness and help in their time of sorrow. Members of the Women's Catholic Foresters were especially considerate.

GREAT NORTHERN EXTENSION

A LINE FROM THIEF RIVER FALLS OR WYLIE TO ROSEAU.

Col. R. A. Wilkinson left this moroiag on a trip that may mean a great deal to the people living in the eastern part of the upper Red Lake Valley, and incidentally to Cruukstoa as a railroad center. He weat to Thief River Falls and from there took a team and guide intending to drive north into Roseau county.

The object of his trip is to determine the feasibility of a line of ruad to be built by the Great Northern that will afford an uutlet to the valley for the products of Roseau and Eastern Marshall counties, aad affurd facilities for passenger service to those who wish to get closer to the ceoters of business in Minnesota.

The Great Northern has for a year or even longer contemplated ao exteosion into Roseau county but building activety on western lines, and the uncertainty uf securiog constructioo material has prevented actioa up to the present.

Col. Wilkinson's trip ouw does not mean that constructioa uo tbe proposed line will commence at aay stuted time, but it shows that the company is in earnest in tbe matter aad there is no doubt that if a practical route is found the work of conveyiag will be done during the comiag wiater and it is reasoaable to expeet that building will be done next year.

Col. Wilkinson was to have as a companion on the trip, Gea. Maaager Stevens, but illness prevented tbe arrival of the latter aamed gentleman. Tbe route taken on the preliminary trip will be north of Thief River, east of the muskeg that runs north a good portion of the way across Marshall couaty. If such a trip is aot satisfactory tbe return trip will be made from Pelan south to a coanection with the St. Hilaire branch at Wylie.

Tbe trip will occupy the greater part uf the week, and his report will be formulated later on.

Upon it depends the questioo of an early rail connectioa between Crookston and a large section of country that will be tributary to this city aad that will furnish railroad facilities to an immense sectioa of undeveloped territory in Northern Minnesota.

Editor Gazette:

Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to correct some misstatements which were published in the Red Lake County Courier of Oct. 16 under the heading "The Ralph Interview."

In making this statement I have no desire to render political assistance to any one or to injure the feelings of any who may be aspiring for political honors. But considering the fact that nearly all of the ditch work in Red Lake county has been or is under my management as engineer in charge of the work I believe it to be a duty which I owe at this time to the people of Red Lake county, to make a plain and correct statement of all the ditch work completed or in course of construction in Red Lake county, to the end that the people of Red Lake county who are interested in the work of drainage, may have a just appreciation of the drainage work now being carried on under the supervision and control of the Board of County Commissioners and the County Auditor and for the purpose of comparing the cost of ditch work in this county with similar work in other counties I submit herewith tabulated statements of the cost of ditches in Red Lake and Marshall counties as follows:

MARSHALL COUNTY DITCHES.

Name of Ditch.	Engineering Expense	Viewing Expense	Cost Per yard Cts.	Cost of Ditch Complete.	Length of Ditch Miles	Cost per mile of Eng. & viewing	Engineer in charge
Ditch No. 1	$1551.00	$ 208.00	13		24	$ 73.30	Arnold
Ditch No. 2	948.00	324.00	12½		18	70.70	Arnold

Ditch No. 4	145.14	66.95	13		2½	85.00	Hamery
Totals	3039.00	744.75		103000.00	56½

The above statements do not include the cost of inspection either in Red Lake or Marshall county. I am informed by the county auditor of Marshall county that the expense of inspecting and certifying to the work on the four ditches above named amounts to $17.50 per day. The inspection and certifying to work in Red Lake county costs less than $6 per day.

It will be observed that the total cost of viewing and surveying 56½ miles of ditch in Marshall county is $3783.75 or about $67.00 per mile, while the total cost of viewing and surveying 102 miles of Red Lake county ditches is $3837.35 or $38 per mile.

If you exclude from the Red Lake county ditches the ditch surveyed by Mr. Smiley which cost $110.00 per mile, it will bring the average cost per mile of Red Lake county ditches down to $36.60.

Had the ditches in Red Lake county cost as much for viewing and surveying per mile as Marshall county's ditches, this county would have had to pay out $3000 more than it has paid, and had the ditches cost the county at the same rate per mile as the ditch surveyed by Mr. Smiley, the county would have paid out for viewing and surveying ditches $11,220, or $7383.00 more than it has paid.

It will be observed also that the price paid per yard for excavating is very low considering the fact that most of the ditches run through wet, boggy land where the work is difficult to perform, the average price being about one cent a yard lower than similar work was let for in Marshall county which, on this item on the whole work, would amount to nearly $10 000 in favor of Red Lake county.

The average cost of county ditches, per mile, complete, in Red Lake county, is $970.00.

The average cost of county ditches per mile, complete, in Marshall Co. is $1890.

The chief reason for this large saving in favor of Red Lake county, is due to two causes. First, the slope of the land in Red Lake county is greater than in Marshall, hence it is not necessary to construct the ditches so large in Red Lake. Second, the work in Red Lake county as the above tables will show, has been managed much more economically than in Marshall.

The average cost of state ditches per mile up to the year 1901 has been $1550.

The average cost of state ditches per mile constructed during the years 1901 and 1902 under my direction as engineer has been $1350.

The column marked "cost of ditch complete" include both completed and uncompleted work. In cases of uncompleted work the estimates of what the ditch will cost when completed are used. These estimates are filed in the auditor's office, and judging from the cost of completed work, will be very close to actual cost.

The items in the columns marked "engineering expenses," and which foots up to a total of $2354.70, represents the total expense incurred by the engineers in surveying, platting and estimating the ditches and includes the wages paid his chainman, axemen, rodman, team hire, board for men, traveling expenses, stakes, drafting material, note books, and expense incidental to the work.

The items in columns marked "Viewing expenses" footing up to a total of $1482.65 represents the per diem of the viewers and engineer, their team hire and traveling expenses.

The final cost of inspecting the work as the same is executed cannot be determined exactly at this time, suffice it to say, however, that it will fall far below the estimates and is fully covered in the estimates of cost of the completed work.

The statements appearing in the Courier to which I have referred are misleading and inaccurate as will be seen by a comparison with the above tables which may be verified by a comparison of the files in the auditor's office.

The total length of all the ditches constructed or under way, the table will show, is 102 miles and not 84 miles as stated in the Courier. As a consequence of this mis statement all his deductions as to cost per mile are wrong.

The Courier writer also adds some estimates, which he found somewhere, to the bills actually allowed for engineering and viewing expenses, and in this way swells the cost to figures vastly in excess of what the cost has actually been. This is shown by the table.

Summing the whole matter up it simply amounts to this:

Red Lake county is constructing county ditches from 25 to 50 per cent. cheaper than such work is costing elsewhere.

The engineering expense in Red Lake county ditches, with one exception, is nearly 50 per cent. lower than is paid for similar work in other counties.

County Auditor Zeh has succeeded in letting the contracts for excavation at a saving of 10 per cent. under what is paid for work much easier to perform in other counties.

Very Respectfully,
Geo. A. Ralph.

The above showing of economy and good management deserves the endorsement of voters at the polls.

GOV. SAMUEL R. VAN SANT

Governor S. R. VanSant comes of the thoroughbred stock that had so much to do with making the West the wonderland that it is. His father came west in 1837 and for sixty-four years (he died last February, aged ninety-three) was a prominent and useful citizen. His mother is still living, having reached the age of ninety.

Governor Van Sant was born in Rock Island, Illinois, May 11, 1844, and was early employed in his father's boat-building yard, where he learned the trade of the ship carpenter and calker, but work was not permitted to interfere with proper education. He attended the common schools and was in the Rock Island high school when the war of the rebellion broke out.

AS A SOLDIER.

Governor Van Sant was less than seventeen years old when Sumter was fired on, but was one of the first to respond to Abraham Lincoln's earliest call for troops. On account of his age he, with thirty or forty others, was rejected, but thus early in life opposition engendered determination in this boy and rejection was followed by acceptance in another branch of the service.

For three years the young soldier went through that crucial test of patriotism, moral stamina and physical health and showed himself worthy in every respect of his sires and of his aspirations.

During the civil war most of his time was served in Grierson's famous raiders and the history of that dashing corps proves that a member thereof had no time to rust.

AS A BUSINESS MAN.

At the close of the war young Van Sant went to New York, where he graduated at a business college and later went to Knox College, near Galesburg, Illinois, where he remained two years. In 1868, at Le Claire, Iowa, he was married to Ruth Hall, by whom he has had three children, Paul, Gertrude and Grant. Of these the last alone reached adult years.

Governor Van Sant, soon after his marriage, went to Davenport, Iowa, and thence, in 1883, moved to Winona, Minnesota. He has built boats, owned them, commended them.

The Governor is a worthy and notable member of the Grand Army and has held the position of Senior Vice-Commander and Department Commander thereof in Minnesota.

HIS OFFICIAL LIFE.

Governor Van Sant has always believed that politics properly pursued was a high vocation; that the ambition of an honest man to serve in high official position was a worthy ambition; that service in the lower grades of official life showed whether the occupant was worthy of promotion or not.

He believed that the governorship was a legitimate object of his ambition and was a republican candidate for governor in the conventions of 1896 and 1898, being defeated on both occasions but turning to help those who had defeated him with a loyalty and force that endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. He has proved since that he wanted to do right for the public and to have an opportunity to show that he was a true American.

In 1900 S. R. Van Sant was nominated for governor and in the ensuing election defeated the most popular candidate the opposition could possibly name—John Lind—by a small plurality, it is true, but a plurality that more conspicuous politicians would not have secured.

Governor Van Sant's record since he was made governor has been open as the day. He is, first of all, an American citizen. He loves the flag he fought for. He loves the country he helped to preserve in unity. He believes in the rights of free men. When he discovered that millionaire railway men were deliberately trampling on the law of the state he determined to use his best endeavors to make these millionaires to obey the law and to render abortive their plans for self aggrandisement at the expense of the people.

With a firmness worthy of all praise and an evenness of temper that shows that the judgement, as well as the heart, is in the work, the Governor has steadily pursued the course he laid down for himself in the matter of the prevention of the illegal merger of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railways. Through it all he has created and led a public sentiment that shall make these merger millionaires discover that they are subjects and citizens and as such compelled to obey the law.

When Governor Van Sant called a meeting of his fellow governors of the Northwest, when he attended that meeting at Helena, when he instituted suits against the Northern Securities Company, when he took the various steps that are now part of the history of the Northwest he was actuated by one desire only and that was to make this republic one in fact as well as in name; to show that while all are peers none are dictators; while the law protects all it demands of every one obedience.

It should never be forgotten by those who are opposed to illegal combinations, whether in industrials or transportation lines, that Governor Van Sant's stand against the railway merger was the first of the kind taken in the United States; that it was followed by the federal government in that the President directed his attorney-general to bring suit against the merger, that in turn being followed by the State of Washington, jurisdiction in the case thus brought being admitted by the United States supreme court. The ball set rolling by Governor Van Sant will gather in momentum and the prime mover can very well be remembered with gratitude and applause and rewarded by support by every voting citizen of Minnesota.

Governor Van Sant was renominated for governor without dissent. He will be re-elected by a very handsome majority—re-elected because the people believe in him, because he is everlastingly right. Railway men who hate him with a virulence only possible in would-be autocrats who see themselves in danger of being foiled, will do all they can to defeat this man, will use every effort to keep the people's will from being expressed at the polls. They will fail and they will fail because the people themselves are not to be deceived by any specious protestations.

They will not listen to promises of what Mr. Rosing will do when they have the performances of Governor Van Sant to look back upon.

LUMAN C. SIMONS

L. C. Simons, of Red Lake Falls, the unanimous choice of the republican party for representative, for Beltrami and Red Lake counties, is a native of Minnesota, born in McLeod county in 1866 of parents who were early pioneer settlers of the state. In his early life he assisted his father in his occupation of surveying when Minnesota was still a frontier state.

He was educated in the public schools of Glencoe, Minn., graduating from Steven's seminary at that place in 1885; subsequently by pluck and perseverence he worked his way through the law department of the university of Minnesota, intending to better acquit himself for a career of general business. In this he has been successful. He has occupied several positions of public trust; having aided in the formation of Red Lake county, he was made the first judge of probate, which office he filled with honor and ability for two years. He has been connected with the development of Northern Minnesota for seven years and having lived all his life within the state is familiar with her legislative needs growing out of the development of her vast resources. He is now engaged in operating one of the largest farms of Red Lake county and is experimenting in fruit raising. He is a worker of energy and ability and has a faculty of carrying through what he undertakes. If elected representative as he no doubt will be, the people of this district may feel sure their interests will be well looked after next winter in the legislature.

YET UNVANQUISHED

RED LAKE FALLS HIGHS CONTINUE TO PUT UP A GOOD GAME OF FOOT-BALL.

The Crookston high school football team, accompanied by two dozen supporters, arrived in the city Saturday noon in great spirits. They left at 4 o'clock, crestfallen and with the starch pretty well taken out. The Crookston eleven had never before met opponents worthy of their steal. Red Lake Falls' eleven played with fine spirit, and while failing to score, succeeded in doing what no other team has yet been able to do—holding Crookston's score down to 0. The interference of our team was scientific and excellently maintained from the start, and against it Crookston could not progress. Once during the first half Crookston had the ball within a yard of Red Lake Falls' goal line and our players succeeded in stalling it on downs. The Red Lake Falls team was clearly gaining toward the end of the game, and a few minutes more would have seen our players force the ball over Crookston's goal line.

W. A. McIntyre officiated as referee for Red Lake Falls. F. E. Westerberg of Crookston represented the visiting team.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

END OF ANTHRACITE STRIKE.

The great anthracite coal strike is settled at last. A commission of six persons, with a seventh, Mr. Carroll D. Wright, as recorder, will adjust differences between the operators and miners. President Mitchell of the miners' union will take the necessary measures to call the strike off. The president will urge immediate resumption of mining and operations are expected to begin in a few days. The final outcome followed a series of conferences, beginning with two during the day with Mr. Mitchell and two during the night with Messrs. Bacon and Perkins, representing the operators. Events moved quickly at the last, the president being determined on a speedy settlement. The commission will assemble in a few days and choose a chairman, probably General Wilson. It will then arrange for sessions and testimony. Following is the official statement given out by Secretary Cortelyou:

"After a conference with Mr. Mitchell and some further conferences with representatives of the coal operators, the president has appointed the members of the commission to inquire into, consider, and pass upon all questions at issue between the operators and miners in the anthracite fields.

"Brigadier General John M. Wilson, retired, (late chief of engineers, U. S. A.), Washington, D. C., as an officer of the engineer corps of either the military or naval service of the United States.

"Mr. E. W. Parker, Washington, D. C., as an expert mining engineer. Mr. Parker is chief statistician of the coal division of the United States geological survey and the editor of the Engineering and Mining Journal of New York.

"Hon. George Gray, Wilmington, Del., as a judge of the United States court.

"Mr. E. E. Clark of Cedar Rapids, Ia., grand chief of the Order of Railway Conductors, as a sociologist, the president assuming that for the purpose of such a commission the term sociologist means a man who has thought and studied deeply on social questions and has practically applied his knowledge.

"Mr. Thomas H. Watkins, Scranton, Pa., as a man practically acquainted with the mining and selling of coal.

"Bishop John L. Spaulding of Peoria, Ill. The president has added Bishop Spaulding's name to the commission.

"Hon. Carroll D. Wright has been appointed recorder of the commission."

President Mitchell's letter to President Roosevelt accepting the commission named by the latter for settling the coal strike severely criticises the operators. He declares that the mine workers' officials have long endured arrogance, insult and false witness in order to render reconciliation less difficult and says the corporation managers have been taught a lesson in civic duty by their poor, underpaid employes.

The executive boards of the three anthracite districts of the United Mine Workers of America in joint session at Wilkesbarre unanimously decided to recommend to a delegate convention of striking miners the acceptance of the arbitration proposition submitted by the president of the United States.

A majority of the miners' delegates to the Wilkesbarre convention have been instructed to vote for the arbitration plan.

THE POPULIST REMEDY.

T. J. Meighen, the Populist candidate fur governor, has issued an address to the people of Minnesota in which he gives his views upon the questions of the day. He remedy for the present troubles in the Pennsylvania coal regions is public ownership of the coal fields. The people, he thinks, should own, contrul and operate the coal mines. As to the trusts, he favors neither the constitutional amendment plan advocated by the president nor the tariff reduction scheme proposed by the Democrats. He objects to the amendment plan partly on the ground that a long time would elapse before it could he put into operation, and says that removing the tariff would simply have the effect of forcing the forming of world trusts, insisting that public ownership of monopolies is the only solution.

Instead of reduction of the tariff, he maintains that the crying need of the people is a reduction of freight rates. A few years ago the Prohibitionists contended that the fight of the Republican and Democratic parties over the tariff question was, in the main, a fake battle, carried on fur the purpose of keeping out of sight the then only real issue, which they affirmed, was prohibition. Mr. Meighen likewise asserts that all the talk of tariff revision now being indulged in by the two old parties is only for the purpose of diverting attention from the question of public ownership, which is the real, live issue of the hour. He urges his fellow Populists to stand solidly by their nominees, paying no attention to the blandishments of those interested in the success of candidates of either of the other parties He appears to think that the Cleveland wing will dominate the next Democratic national convention and that the possibility of its regaining its former ascendency is ample reason for the continued existence of the Populist party.

The St. Hilaire Spectator says: It has been many years since the people of this portion of Minnesota have had an opportunity to vote for a man who has the ability to become a leader in legislative matters, national or international and thoroughly take care of the interests of his constituency. This year this opportunity presents itself in the candidacy of Hon. Halvor Steenerson for congress. Mr. Steenercon is a man who not only has the ability to properly represent the Ninth district in congress, but also enjoys the respect of all who know him as being strictly honorable in all his dealings. He is one whom the people can trust to look after their interests and the candidate who should be elected by one of the biggest majorities ever given a congressman in this state.

L. C. Simons, Republican nominee for representative, needs no introduction to the people of Red Lake county. In fact, the sentiment in this county is so strongly in favor of his election that it is doubtful if any press statement could influence the votes one way or the other. As to Beltrami county, the situation is different. There Mr. Simons is not so well known. But he has substantial backing, and is receiving the solid Republican support. His election is only a question of majority. Voters who desire to be represented hy a man who has the ability to press for and secure recognition for the demands of his constituents, should vote for L. C. Simons for representative. It is the part of wisdom to send to St. Paul as legislators, men who will be in accord and sympathy with the majority, which is largely republican—and no thinking man will gainsay the statement that the legislator who is not a part of the majority, stands very little chance of securing needed legislation for his district. Send L. C. Simons to represent us in the house, and E. J. Swedhack to represent us in the senate. They will be in hearty accord with the administration, and thus in a position to do something for their constituents. It is well in these important matters to exercise good business judgment, and that judgment dictates the election of Swedhack and Simons.

The Gazette trusts to the good judgment of the voters of the 1st. 3d and 5th commissioner districts for the return of Messrs. Jas. Sutor, Ole J. Johnson and J. B. Hebert. These gentlemen at different times in the past have not agreed with The Gazette on subjects very near to our heart. However, we have always conceded that these three commissioners were able, honest men, who could at all times be depended upon to look after the public interests. The people of the three districts will do well to retain them. Their experience on the county board will make them in future all the more valuable as public servants. As a good business man would make an effort to retain the services of an experienced and competent employe, rather than be compelled to break in a new one, so the people of these districts will do well to re-elect Messrs. Jas. Sutor, Ole J. Johnson and John B. Hebert.

Why should Republicans of Red Lake county vote for the Courier's man for county auditor? The Courier is throwing all the mud it can at the noble Republican candidate for governor, S. R. Van Sant, and at the Republican organization generally. Republicans who do not intend to vote for O. H. Peters, the nominee, should place an X mark opposite the name of Adam Zeh. Mr. Zeh has not thrown mud at anybody, not at the Republicans to he sure. If there is such a thing as fair play in politics, Mr. Zeh will receive the solid vote of his own party, the People's party, a big Republican and independent vote thrown in, while Democrats who do not approve of the manner in which Ford and his backer, the Courier editor, ignored several of the Democratic candidates before the primaries, will also vote for him.

O. H. Peters, the Republican nominee for county Auditor, is drawing a heavy vote in the northern part of the county. It will be Auditor Peters or Auditor Zeh after Nov. 4th. Ford is not seriously in the race.

Governor Van Sant has entailed the enmity of the railroads on account of favoring increase in their gross-earnings taxation. The Courier's attempt to place him in a false light falls flat.

Adam Zeh has earned the confidence and esteem of the people of Red Lake county. They are his friends, and will vote to retain his efficient services as county auditor.

There is no fusion between the Populists ond Democrats this year. Both parties have state, congressional and county tickets in the field.

Leading Clothiers and Furnishers of Red Lake County, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

The people of Red Lake county elect the board of county commissioners to manage the business of county. At the time of election, then, the one genuine issue is how they have performed their duties. The Gazette publishes a statement this week showing how the auditor and the county board have saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars by good management, honesty and economy in ditch matters. Their official duties have been well performed. Three members of the board, Ole J. Johnson, John B. Hebert and Jas. Sutor, as also the county auditor, are candidates for re election. They have shown loyalty to the people's interests, good business sense, and should he re-elected. Vote for John B. Hehert, Ole J. Johnson, Jas. Sutor and Adam Zeh.

The Courier, we understand, in a recent issue stated in effect that Arthur Lizee, Populist nominee for sheriff, was not in the field and that the support of both Democratic and Populist parties was going to W. J. Kelly. The Courier man knew better than this, because he has printed thousands of cards for Mr. Lizee, soliciting the support for the office of sheriff. The Gazette is not supporting Mr. Lizee, but we will say this much, that there is not a squarer, better or more worthy citizen in the state of Minnesota, and the effort of the Courier at deception in this case is very much to that paper's discredit. Fair play should be given to all candidates, regardless of party. A reference to the official sample ballot published this week will show who is running. Mr. Lizee's name is on the ticket. So much for the Courier's last lie: They are coming so thick and fast of late that we would not have noticed this, had not our attention been drawn to it. The spectacle of a man who has been in the county but a few months, trying to undermine a man like Arthur Lizee is not one the public will look upon with favor.

ADAM ZEH, COUNTY AUDITOR.

The people of Red Lake county who want to reward merit in a county officer, will use their influence for the re-election of Adam Zeh. If merit in a public servant is the open sesame to public favor, then there shonld be no real opposition among the voters to his retention in office. Indeed, we do not believe there is any demand whatever for a change in this office. Mr. Zeh has demonstrated his fitness for the duties of county auditor. His original, systematic methods are a matter of comment by people who have occasion to compare them with those in vogue in other counties. Mr. Zeh can put his finger on any information desired, without a moment's hesitation or loss of time, and it is constantly a matter of gratification to people desiring to look up matters for themselves, to find order, painstaking care and system, making the task easy and pleasant. All the ideas in vogue are Mr. Zeh's own conceptions. He is constantly improving the system and the service. It will readily be seen that the replacing of such an officer is very likely to be a backward step that will be regretted when it is too late. One may be a good penman and competent book-keeper, and yet lack the executive force and acumen to manage the important details and new problems constantly arising that require mature judgment, quick perception, and the guiding hand of a man of self-reliance and ability like Auditor Zeh to draw up a quick plan of action and carry it out. Mere clerical ability constitutes a small fraction of the essentials of a good county auditor. Adam Zeh possesses this and all the other requirements combined. His ability is such that he could take up the work in any office in the court house and creditably discharge the duties.

A vote for Adam Zeh will be a recognition of honesty, capability and worth in a public officer, and will be a favor bestowed on one of the county's earliest pioneers and most popular citizens.

Frank Martin came up from Crookston Saturday to witness the football game between the Crookston and Red Lake Falls High School teams, and remained for a few days' visit with his sister, Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere.

Baby carriages at cost.

Anderson & Schwalen.

Mrs. B. Schusser was in attendance at the mission held at St. Bernard's church in Thief River Falls last week.

Will Knight has purchased the improvements in L. Jenson's claim in Itasca county and will shortly leale for the claim.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lachapelle went to Crookston Saturday to attend the funeral of Anton Reopel, who died thera last Thursday.

John Savard returned last night from the North Dakota wheat fields, where he has been cooking for Jack Legacy's threshing crew.

The members of the Junior Band drove to Terrebonne Sunday afternoon where they were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Tessier.

Phil. Zeh was down from Thief River Falls yesterday for a few hours' visit with his brother Adam Zeh, who is confined to the house by illness.

Rev. Frs. Charles, of Thief River Falls, and Augustine, of Moorhead, were visiting with the Rev. Fr. Ansgar Monday between trains.

Mrs. Gertrude Koke returned yesterday from a ten days' visit at Thief River Falls. She was accompanied by her grandson Alvin Holzknecht.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Odet drove over from Crookston Saturday for an over Sunday etay at the home of Mr. Odelt's sister, Mrs. O. Mikkelsen.

It stands alone, it towers above. There's no other, its nature's wonder, a warming poultice to the heart of mankind. Such is Rocky Mountain Tea. 35c. W. A. Schreiter.

H. H. Zaiser will leave Sunday for Duluth, where they will prove up on their Itasca county claims the following day. Mrs. Whitely will make proof on the timber claim the same day.

Joe Gray, Levi Mayhew and Dave Moreau returned Tuesday from North Dakota whera they have been working with threshing crews. Near Manville, Mr. Moreau lost $116. It seems there was a tear in his pocket and the roll of bills slipped through. His fall earnings are gone and Dave faces the winter with an empty purse.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pigeon, of Poplar River, mourn the death of their eldest son, Joseph Jr., aged 11, who breathed his last Monday at 5 p. m., following an illness of three weeks. The fond parents are prostrated over the loss of this promising boy, and are inconsolable. They have the sympathy of this community.

The many friends of John Lachance, whose pleasant face has been familiar in Red Lake county for over twenty years, are sorry to know he has made all arrangements to leave with his family for North Yakima, on the 28th inst., J. B. Fournier, of Terrebonne, having purchased his residence property on State street. Mr. Lachance is one of the solid kind; a good citizen, whose acquisition is a gain to any community.

O. H. Peters was in the city Saturday on his way to Terrebonne. Mr. Peters is very confident of election. He thinks he will come first, Adam Zeh second and Ford third. The Gazette acknowledges that Mr. Peters is running hard in certain portions of Red Lake county, but we believe Adam Zeh is running harder, and will beat him, leaving Ford in third place.

Joseph Belair, of Garnes, who sold his personal effects last week, is preparing to leave on the 28th inst. for North Yakima, Wash. Mr. Belair lived on his farm in Garnes for thirteen years and had one of the finest places in eastern Red Lake county. Robt. Bourdon purchased the place for $2,400 and has leased it to Octave Lefaive. Mr. Belair has been a good citizen and leaves with the best wishes of hosts of friends.

C. G. Rapp: It is much more pleasant to sit back and see the other fellow do the worrying, and I am very glad that I did not file as a candidate for rapresentative again. I think Mr. Simons will be elected. He will be given a loyal support in Red Lake county and I have no doubt that Beltrami will give him the same big republican vote it gives to the other candidates.

Dr. G. Dumars, of Hallock, Democratic spellbinder, addressed a meeting at the court house Saturday night. The audience was small, but the Doctor is personally well liked here, and was given attentive hearing, although he is not considered a success as a vote maker. Sunday Dr. Dumars, with a number of local Democrats and candidates drove to Terrrebonne to meet the people after church. At Terrebonne the Democrats ran against a big snag in the person of Hon. W. O. Tessier, who took the stump to answer Dr. Dumars, and so effectively, that the audience was completely carried away and the good doctor completely crushed. Mr. Tessier showed how in 1900 the Republicans in congress had tried to pass a constitutional amendment giving congress power to deal with trusts, and the bill failed of securing tha necessary two-thirds on account of Democratic opposition.

Norwegian services will be held in the city hall next Sunday at 10:30 in the forenoon by Rev. I. T. Aastad from Thief River Falls. Scandinavians are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. D. W. Gaass, mother of our realestate hustler, arrived in the city yesterday from Pella, Iowa, on a visit. She was accompanied by little Wanda Gaass, who has been visiting with "grandma."

Hon. Marcus Johnson was in the city Saturday. He has just returned from a very enjoyable trip to Denver, in attendance at the Irrigation Congress. Among the points visited were Cripple Creek, Pike's Peak and the Garden of the Gods.

While in Crookston next Monday do not fail to visit our Big Department Store. Never before have we been so fortunate to have a more complete line of Dry Goods, Cloaks, Millinery, Clothing, Shoes and Groceries. We will be glad to have you make our store your headquarters while in Crookston.

Fontaine & Anglim.

The LeFebvre-Carpenter Company closed a three nights' engagement at the Metropolitan Saturday night. Miss LeFebvre and Mr. Carpenter are artists of great merit, and greater promise for the future. There is not a weak member in the support. Mr. Hugh Jaeger, the manager, is a host in himself—and personally they are refined ladies and gentleman.

The Red River Presbytery meets in Crookston next Tuesday to complete organization of the new Adams Presbytery, which will be composed of territory from the old Duluth and Red River Presbyteries. This is a great honor to Dr. Adams, synodical missionary of Minnesota. On Wednesday there will be a conference of the Presbytery to organize evangelical work for the coming winter.

In reference to county surveyor, P. O. Hagglund, the present incumbent and candidate for re-election, has been a citizen of the county over twenty-eight years. He has been a hard worker, a heavy tax-payer. Always a public-spirited citizen, he has done his full share towards the upbuilding of schools and churches and the interests of the community generally; the father of the drainage system of Red Lake county. Who is the opposition candidate and what has he done? It is said he is making the claim that if elected he will at once begin the work of replacing the township corner monuments, at the expense of the tax payers. Mr. Hagglund says this work would be a needless expense and he is opposed to the idea on these grounds and recommends the improvement of the ditches and county roads rather than to make needless expenditures for the benefit of the county surveyor.

MODEL INSTITUTION

HENRY KAUFER'S BARBER SHOP AND BATH ROOMS DESERVE PRAISE.

On Tuesday Henry Kaufer opened to the public his new bath rooms and his splendid new barber shop, one of the most finely equipped in the Northwest, is now complete. The walls of the room are beautifully tinted and richly frescoed. There are three departments—the shop proper, the waiting room back of it, (pertitioned off by open quarter sawed oak grill work,) equipped with rockers and easy chairs; and the three bath rooms. In the front are on sale cigars and general barber supplies. The mirror case is a beauty. It is 15 feet 11 inches in length, made of quarter sawed oak, golden finish. Glazed earthen ware jardeniers for towels, and Bohemian glass vases for soiled paper, make a sanitary arrangement. The mirrors, French beveled plate glass, is 44 by 54 inches. The shelf is of Italian marble, supported by metal brackets of copper, oxidized finish. The pillars at either end rest upon the floor, giving the whole a massive appearance.

Three chairs are kept running with three good workmen. The six foot bath tubs are parcelain enamel. In the basement is a No. 22 Wilkes heater with an 8 barrel boiler. A 12½ barrel tank overhead furnishes pressure, and a 100 barrel cistern supplies soft water.

Beautiful bronze electric light chandaliers and an ornamental window light complete the equipment.

No city in the state the size of ours can boast of a higher class institution of the kind.

Court convenes Monday.

The Junior Band went to Wylie Monday evening to play and make merry at a Populist rally there.

The Red Lake Falls Lumber Co, are now cutting a day and a quarter to enable them to fill orders before it freezes up.

The St. Hilaire saw mill shut down Saturday evening after having completed the season's run. The work of taking out the gang saw which will be moved to Bemidji has already begun.

JIM YOUNGER DEAD

NOTORIOUS EX-BANDIT COMMITS SUICIDE AT ST. PAUL BY SHOOTING.

Tracy Man Kills His Wife, His Child, a Bystander and Himself—Supreme Court Upholds the State Primary Election Law—Duluth Leads the World in Flax Receipts—News of the State in General.

St. Paul, Oct. 20.—James Younger, one of the famous gang of bandits which raided Northfield over a quarter of a century ago, is dead—a suicide.

Some time Sunday the man who had borne twelve bullets in his body fired another, the thirteenth, into his brain.

He was found dead in bed in his room in the Hotel Reardon and from all appearances life had been extinct several hours when his body was discovered.

The famous bandit had been despondent. He had been prevented from securing employment on account of his health, and a ruling of the attorney general to the effect that he was legally dead prevented him from marrying a young woman to whom he was attached.

These circumstances preyed upon his mind and he procured a revolver and killed himself.

His brother, Cole, ill in bed, declares James was not in his right mind, and when informed of the contents of a message which Jim left upon the table of his room declared there was no doubt that his brother was insane.

He seemed relieved when he learned that in the letter there was no reference to significant names or circumstances and realized that the secrets which the two brothers have kept for so many years were not revealed.

Among Jim Younger's most loyal friends was a woman who is the daughter of a former official of the state prison. She labored for the pardon of the men, and when they were paroled continued her efforts to secure a full pardon for them.

It is claimed that the couple desired to marry. Certain it is that the question of marriage was called to the attention of Governor Van Sant and he requested an opinion from Attorney General Douglas, who ruled that Younger was legally dead and could not marry.

Jim Younger was nearly fifty-six years of age, and when paroled from the penitentiary in July, 1901, had served nearly a quarter of a century in the Minnesota penal institution.

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED.

Domestic Troubles Cause Awful Tragedy at Tracy.

Tracy, Minn., Oct. 15.—A tragedy resulting in the death of three persons and serious injury to another occurred here during the afternoon.

Edward Stricker, a former resident of this place, is the murderer.

Stricker married Miss May Harvey of this place. Matrimonial troubles ensued and two years ago Stricker and his wife separated. Their only child was left with the mother.

A few months ago Stricker took the child from the mother. He returned here last week with the boy and has since been in town. During the afternoon he followed his wife into the furniture store of Frank McCallister and, pulling a revolver from his pocket, shot and killed his wife and little boy. He then fired another shot, presumably at his father-in-law, L. H. Harvey, who is an employe of McCallister, but the bullet struck McCallister, tearing out one jaw.

Stricker then turned the revolver on himself and ended his own life.

McAllister, the wounded storekeeper, lingered for about twelve hours and passed away.

PRIMARY BALLOT DECISION.

Minnesota Supreme Court Rules as to Blank Spaces.

St. Paul, Oct. 18. — The supreme court has handed down a decision in the case of John L. Guden, relator, vs. Robert L. Johnson, auditor of Mower county, respondent.

Guiden appealed to the court to have the county auditor leave a blank space on the primary ballot under the names of the candidates for each office and also under each office where there was no candidate nominated. The contention that unless this was done the voter was deprived of his constitutional right.

The decision, written by Justice Lewis, and concurred in by all of the bench, except Collins, who was absent, holds that the law does not require such blank spaces to be left on the primary election ballot.

DULUTH HAS THE FLAX.

Head of the Lakes City Making a Record for Itself.

Duluth, Oct. 20.—Duluth as a flax market is attracting attention this week. It will take $3,000,000 to pay for the flax received here this week. The receipts for the past three days have been more than 1,100 cars. Grain commission men are making more money handling flax than wheat. Duluth is easily the leading flax market of the world, and Chicago now looks to this city in flax operations. Flax deals for exports are worked here daily and all of the crushers look to Duluth for their supplies.

Judge Suggests Whipping Post.

Minneapolis, Oct. 17.—Judge John F. McGee of this city suggests that the whipping post be established in Minnesota as a punishment for husbands who desert their wives. The advice was given in connection with a decision granting an absolute divorce to Minnie M. Price from William L. Price.

New Trial for Tanke.

Henderson, Minn., Oct. 20.—Franke Tanke, convicted of the murder of John Wellner, has been granted a new trial by Judge Cadwell. The case will be heard at the general term in December.

DIAMONDS STOLEN.

Duluth Woman Loses Some Valuable Jewelry.

Duluth, Oct. 17. — Seven thousand dollars' worth of diamonds and precious stones were stolen from the counter in the First National bank building late in the afternoon. The victim was Mrs. T. D. Merrill, a prominent society woman and wife of the senior member of the firm of Merrill & Ring, lumbermen. Mrs. Merrill had just come from the safety deposit vaults, where she drew out the jewels and lay them down, then leaving the building. Discovering her loss, she hastened back, but the jewels had disappeared. The police say there is no clue to the thief.

Duluth, Oct. 20.—Seven thousand dollars' worth of diamonds and pearls belonging to Mrs. Thomas B. Merrill of Duluth have been returned. Mrs. Merrill had offered a reward of $500 for the return of the jewels and agreed to ask no questions. During the afternoon a man called at the residence and left the jewels and was allowed to depart. He refused to accept the reward.

MINNEAPOLIS MEN ARRESTED.

Messrs. Blew and Armstrong Charged With Forgery.

Minneapolis, Oct. 16.—Edwin T. Blew and Thomas Armstrong, constituting the mill brokerage firm of Blew & Armstrong, have been arrested on a charge of forgery and swindling.

The direct charge is that they secured an advance of $485 from the Swedish-American National bank on a fraudulent bill of lading. The draft, drawn on G. D. Suter & Co., of Danville, Va., was returned protested. Both men called at the bank and admitted the character of the bill of lading on which they had secured the money.

The belief exists that other forgeries have been committed by the pair, and that several banks are involved in the loss. There is a persistent rumor afloat that one bank will suffer to the extent of $40,000 and another to the tune of $21,000.

The two young brokers have been maintaining fashionable offices in the Guaranty Loan building, and they seemed to have a large business.

NORTHERN PACIFIC COLLISION.

Number of People Injured in Wreck Near Brainerd, Minn.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 20.—A bad wreck occurred on the Northern Pacific, six miles west of here, when a light engine struck No. 12, the passenger train from Staples, bound for Duluth.

Engineer Carlson, pulling the light engine, had orders to meet the passenger at Baxter siding, but pulled right on through and met No. 12 about half a mile west of the siding, moving about fifty miles an hour.

No one was seriously injured, as all the engine crew saved themselves by jumping. Carlson was buried under the tender of the engine and it took over an hour to dig him out.

His fireman escaped with slight injuries.

The passengers were more or less hurt, but not seriously, one lady, name unknown, having her shoulder broken. The passengers were brought to this city and the injured taken to the Northern Pacific sanitarium.

WILL BE CONTINUED.

Colonist Rates Likely to Be in Effect All Winter.

St. Paul, Oct. 18.—The action of the Northwestern line in applying colonist rates to points on its system in South Dakota, Iowa and Wyoming will, it is predicted by local officials, result in all St. Paul-Chicago lines and the North Pacific coast lines continuing the present colonist rates throughout the remainder of the year and the coming winter.

"The tide of immigration is headed strongly this way," said a passenger traffic official. "The Northwest has had the call over the Southwest in this respect. Should we allow the Southwestern lines to run colonist excursions throughout the winter but shut off the low rates into the Northwest, the result probably would be a change in the movement of immigration to an appreciable extent. I am convinced that the present colonist rates should be continued."

DENIES HE WAS MURDERED.

Supposed Dead Man Turns Up in Time to Stop Funeral.

Minneapolis, Oct. 18.—Thomas McCall turned up Thursday evening just in time to look over the list of pallbearers selected for his funeral and to approve of the handsome casket which had been purchased for the interment of his remains. Incidentally he has had his funeral postponed.

The remains of the man murdered at Prospect park had been identified as Thomas McCall by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Philip McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Flannigan and a friend named Anderson. Anderson went to McCall's boarding house late Thursday afternoon to take care of McCall's effects and to pay his bill and was astounded when the supposed dead man appeared, full of life.

McCall and the dead man are alike enough in every detail to be twin brothers.

HIS VOICE FAILS.

Governor Cummins of Iowa Cannot Speak in Minnesota.

Des Moines, Oct. 20.—Governor Cummins, who was scheduled to make two speeches in Minnesota next week, has been obliged to cancel his dates there on account of the failure of his voice. He was to have spoken at Winona and Duluth.

Has No Meeting Place.

Albert Lea, Minn., Oct. 17.—For the first time in its history the Minnesota Federation of Woman's Clubs has disbanded its convention without knowing where it is to meet next year. No invitation was received from any town, so the place of the meeting will be left in the hands of the executive board. Absolute harmony has characterized the sessions of the eighth annual meeting which closed here at night.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

The Minnesota Christian Endeavor union held its sixteenth annual convention in St. Paul last week.

John Hechtman, one of the pioneers of Osseo and prominent in business there, is dead, aged seventy-four years.

The Southeastern Minnesota Educational association will meet at Red Wing, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22.

The Duluth flax receipts for the past week broke all previous records, coming into market at the rate of a million dollars worth a day.

The Great Northern spur to the Hawkins mine at Nashwauk will be finished in a few days and shipments of ore will be made immediately.

Captain E. C. Bill, aged eighty, is dead at Winona. He was the oldest river captain on the Mississippi river and was an old settler of Winona.

The ninth annual convention of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers was held in Minneapolis last week.

Daniel Hayes, whose residence in Minneapolis runs back nearly half a century, is dead. He was a member of the Minnesota Territorial Pioneers.

The new city directory of Winona contains over 9,000 names, showing a population of over 23,000. This is a decided increase over the census figures of two years ago.

John S. Bouch, for many years engaged in the ministry in connection with the Methodist church, died at his home in Princeton Wednesday night at the age of seventy-nine years.

The state auditor has issued his warrant for the purchase of the $300,000 new capitol bonds sold to the permanent school fund of the state at the last meeting of the commission.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Haley of Redwood Falls ate several headache powders that were lying on the floor, and died in half an hour. The powders contained strychnine.

State Auditor Dunn conducted the sale of state lands in Cass county at Walker Thursday. Ten thousand acres were sold at prices averaging $8 an acre. Actual settlers were the purchasers.

The westbound Sioux City passenger train on the Omaha road collided with the Des Moines passenger at Lake Crystal, injuring several passengers and wrecking the rear sleeper on the Des Moines train.

The state board of health has indorsed the proposition to secure from the legislature an appropriation of $125,000 with which to erect a building for pathology and bacteriological work at the state university.

The Redwood County Rural Telephone company, organized last spring and which already has sixteen miles of line in successful operation, will soon extend its lines from Wabasso to Morgan, a distance of twenty miles.

A new record was made by the Minneapolis mills last week, exceeding any former output for a similar length of time by 40,000 barrels. The quantity of flour ground was 443,830 barrels, as against 353,650 in 1901, and 220,870 in 1900.

Mrs. Samantha W. Galpin, widow of Rev. Charles Galpin, died at Excelsior last week, aged eighty-seven years. She had lived in Excelsior since 1853 and had been a member of the Congregational church there for forty-nine years.

The assembly of the St. Paul council has passed an ordinance which prohibits the erection of any sort of an apartment house or a hotel on Summit avenue between Selby and Cleveland avenues. The aldermen are doubtful about the validity of such an ordinance.

It is learned from authoritative sources that Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland, who have had an option on the Elizabeth mine at Hibbing for several weeks, have practically closed for the property and that the bonus of $350,000 for the lease will be paid in a day or two.

State Superintendent Olson has completed a synopsis of the returns of the school attendance in the state for the year ending July 31. The number of pupils was 416,251, an increase of 13,251; number of teachers, 12,344. Total school expenditure, $7,081,618.10. Balance at the end of year, $1,915,633.86.

While the Great Northern train from Sandstone was running at the rate of fifty miles an hour Andrew Machlin jumped through a coach window, taking the frame with him, and escaped from the custody of City Marshal Sandy Gund of Sandstone. Machlin is a colored man, and was being taken to Stillwater by the marshal.

The Duluth, Mesaba and Northern railway, which has iron ore as the bulk of its tonnage, has just filed its annual report. Gross earnings from operation last year were $3,755,416 and operating expenses were only $1,576,525. The net income amounted to $1,489,283. The surplus on June 30, 1902, was $3,581,591. All the earnings, with the exception of $100,815 from passenger business, came from the freight traffic.

Mrs. T. D. Merrill, a prominent society woman of Duluth, drew $7,000 worth of diamonds and other jewels from the safety deposit vaults of the First National bank and thoughtlessly laid the bag containing them on the counter for a moment. She left the building, and missing her jewels, hastened back, only to find them gone. A large number of persons were in the room at the time, but suspicion thus far has pointed to no one.

The state supreme court has held against W. F. McCarthy of Scott county and decides that he cannot have his name placed on the ballot of the coming election. McCarthy was a candidate for county superintendent of schools at the recent primary election and was defeated. He sought to run as an independent candidate and mandamused the county auditor to have his name placed on the election ballot, urging that the provision of the primary law, prohibiting defeated candidates from having their names placed on the ballot as independent candidates, was unconstitutional.

My Lungs

"La grippe left me with a bad cough. My friends said 'consumption.' I then tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was promptly cured."
A. K. Randles, Nokomis, Ill.

You forgot to buy a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral when your cold first came on, so you let it run along. Even now, with all your hard coughing, it will not disappoint you. There's a record of sixty years. Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.
J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

Deceased.

On receiving and filing the petition of Mary Prihyl of Plymouth, Pennsylvania, representing among other things, that Frank Prihyl late of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county Minnesota, on the 20th day of March A. D. 1896 at Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, (formerly Polk) Minn., died intestate, and being a resident of this county at the time of his death, leaving Goods, Chattels and Estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to L. A. Kanfer granted.

It is ordered, that said petition be heard before this court, on Monday, the 10th day of November, A. D. 1902 at two o'clock p. m. at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Ordered, further, That notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

By the Court:
J. T. Knight,
Judge of Probate.

Rev. A. Melin and Chas. Johnson left Monday for New London, Minn., to attend the conference of the Swedish Augustana church.

She's a radiant, witching, wondrous gem that beautiful, blushing wife of mine. She is an angel on earth, so you can see, only take Rocky Mountain Tea. W. A. Schreiter.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Johnson gave a party Sunday night, the occasion being the 27th birthday anniversary of their son C. W. A large crowd of young people attended and an enjoyable time was had.

Chas. Adolfson and family left this week for their new home in California. We regret to see the family leave but hope the change will benefit Mr. Adolfson's health and that they may prosper in their new home.

The Republican Rally Friday night was well attended. Speeches were made by Messrs McIntyre, Germo, Simons, Wilson and Smiley. The music furnished by a mixed choir from Thief River Falls was very good. Both speakers and singers received an ovation which they certainly deserved.

The Populists held a rally here Monday night. The Red Lake Falls band furnished excellent music, and speeches were made by Jeffers, Grady and others. The music was enjoyed very much and while the arguments presented by the speakers were somewhat shop-worn and dry this was remedied by liquid refreshments being served after the entertainment was over.

RIVER FALLS.

A. P. Anderson is on the sick list this week.

Emil Johnson, of Crookston, spent a few days here last week visiting relatives and friends.

Samuel Gibeau, O. T. Taudberg and P. O. Hegglund were here talking politics to the farmers.

There is no trick in dyeing. You can do it just as well as any one if you use PUTNAM FADELESS DYES. Boiling the goods for half an hour is all there is to it. Sold by W. A. Schreiter, 10c. per package.

BRAY.

We are having fine weather for this time of the year.

Claus Kaser and P. Lindblom drove to Wylie Friday.

John and Elmar Olson of Numedal were visitors here Saturday.

C. P. Swanson and wife did a stroke of business in Thief River Falls Saturday.

Charley Enslund, Halvor and Henry Hanson marketed three loads of flax at Wylie Wednesday.

A large number of office seekers have been around here lately looking after their political interests.

Mrs. Stomberg, of Carver county, is visiting with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. A. Hogstrom.

Andrew Letvig, Fred Leppert and Mr. Wilson, of Wylie, passed through here Saturday going north on a goose hunt.

P. A. Erinkson, of East Grand Forks, who has been helping his son A. E. with the fall work, returned home Monday.

Julius Pleth, the land man of St. Hilaire, accompanied by an Iowa farmer were looking over land in this vicinity Saturday.

The social held at the Swedish Lutheran church by the Y. P. S. was largely attended by people from all parts of the country.

BADGER

David Leurent was calling on friends here Sunday.

Geo. Beausoleil has been quite ill this week, but he is now able to be out again.

Mrs. Adelard Leurent drove to Terrebonne Wednesday to spend the day with her mother, Mrs. Perusse.

Arthur Mercier and Miss Alma Quesnell spent a few hours at Mitchel Quesnell's home Sunday.

A crowd of young people gathered at the home of Evangelist Quesnel Sunday. A pleasant time is reported by all.

Mrs. Telleephnre Tessier, of Red Lake Falls, was visiting with her sisters, Mrs. Quesnell and Mrs. Beausoleil this week.

A turkey raffle and dance was held at the home of Peter LaPoint Monday night. A large crowd attended from here and they brought back a number of turkeys.

While splitting rock Tuesday afternoon Joe Ducherme had the misfortune of injuring one of his eyes by a piece of stone cutting the eyeball. He will probably lose the sight of the member.

GRIT.

Threshing is now practically done in this vicinity.

Your correspondent was too busy last week to send in any notes.

Parties returning from the Dakotas say there is lots of threshing yet to be done.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gaston made a flying trip to Fosston last Saturday on business.

School began in District No. 19 Oct. 6 with Miss Clara E. Witchterman as teacher.

Ljot Legerson went to McIntosh for a load of store goods for the Equality store last Thursday.

Gunnar Hegland returned last Sunday from near McIntosh where he has been employed as a thresher.

Rev. and Mrs. O. Kolstoe were callers at Grit last Tuesday, and also took dinner at the home of your correspondent.

Thomas Germo and Thos. A. Crompe, of Red Lake Falls, were canvassing this part of the county the first of the week.

Ladies, remember the Equality store contest closes Nov. 1st. Bring all the eggs and butter you can, while prices are good.

L. J. O'Niel and James Gaston left for the lumber camps last Monday with a bunch of steers, but have not returned yet.

T. G. Rome, Tarje Narison, Ole Gunstenson and E. Langerak returned from Hatten, N. D., where they had been threshing for the past two months.

Olaf Tande was a pleasant caller at Grit last week. He has now secured the necessary signatures to his petition and is now independent candidate for county commissioner of the 5th district.

The country is fairly ablaze with prairie fires, although there is little damage done yet. Parties setting fires now surely ought to be punished to the full extent of the law.

O ye people! have you wasted the golden moments of never returning time in taking a substitute for the genuine Rocky Mountain Tea made by the Madison Medicine Co. 35cts. W. A. Schreiter.

A week ago last Sunday occurred the death of little Carl Grovem, who had been ailing for a couple of weeks, or more. It was a blow to the bereaved mother, who was alone, her husband being in Dakota. But she was kindly assisted by friends and neighbors and all that could be done was done. Carl was but two years old, and was the baby and pet of the family and the bereaved ones will sadly mourn his loss. He was interred on Tuesday in the Riverside cemetery. Rev. Kolstoe officiated.

EMARDVILLE.

C. Simons. Music by W. C. Smiley's brassband. A good sized crowd attended.

Communicated,

Grit, Minn., Oct. 20, 1902.

Editor Gazette:

In your issue of Oct. 9 we find an item from a St. Hilaire correspondent regarding chicken hunters, etc. We believe as he says that the game laws should be changed, and the use of dogs prohibited. We believe that the season should open Sept. 15 or Oct. 1. This would give the farmer a chance to also have a hand in the shooting, because the harvests would be done and he could perhaps find a few spare moments. But as the season now is fixed, why the farmer is totally ignored as far as justice is concerned and is by law barred from the sport and satisfaction. This is a cruel injustice to the farmer; when we look at the thing from a practical standpoint, and we believe it is time that a radical change was made, both in the behalf of the innocent chickens and also to the farmer that is thus far mindless of all right and justice, as far as the respects of the law is concerned.

Now in regard to primary election day we believe that it should be made a legal holiday, and that it should be in June, when the farmers have the time to attend. The primary election law is something like the chicken laws, they come in so as to push the farmers out and not in. It seems as if the farmer has no right worth respecting at all Justice! Why don't talk about it, the farmers are supposed to live without that. Yes, and will Mr. Steenerson give the poor his helping hand when it comes to the question of opening up the Red Lake reservation? Or will he turn his back on the poor and homeless, we wonder!

E. J. Swedback.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 21, 1902.
Editor Red Lake Falls Gazette,

My Dear Sir,—

Referring to an article which appeared in the "Courier" of Oct. 8, I desire to invite attention to the enclosed statement of the vote at the primary election in the city of Bemidji where I live, and of the surrounding precincts where I have been doing business with the farmers for the past four years. You will observe that the farmers voted for me almost solidly as against Mr. Street, who has been county attorney of this county for the past six years. It seems to me that this is substantial evidence that the farmers understand perfectly well they will have a friend in me in the state senate. Nothing could be further from the truth than to state that my interests are not identical with those of the laborer and farmer of the 61st legislative district. While I am at present operating a retail lumber yard at Bemidji, I have been a working man nearly all my life. I have largely bought the lumber which I sell from farmers of the surrounding country, giving them the top market price for what they had, and it seemed to me my dealings with them must have been satisfactory or they would not have remembered me so unanimously on the day of the primaries.

I wish that in your paper you would kindly set the farmers of your county right in regard to this matter. I am aware that newspaper articles are written for the purpose, sometimes, of covering up the truth instead of promulgating it, and it seems to me the former must have been the purpose of the Courier when its editor wrote the article referred to. If I am elected to the State Senate, I will give the interest of the farmers in this district my most careful attention. This is well understood by the farmers of Beltrami County where I am most known. I am in harmony with the republican administration in its effort to control combination of property, such as railroad merger, etc. I have long been of the opinion that some system might be enacted into law by which some protection could be afforded the farmers for loss by hail, etc., and any reasonable legislation in that direction will receive my hearty support.

I will be pleased to have you give my views such prominence in your paper as you can.

Very respectfully,
E. J. Swedhack.

[The above letter is a good platform for Mr. Swedback to stand upon, and after reading it, the farmers will admit they have a friend in him. The vote referred to, follows:—Ed]

Hon. Halvor Steenerson.

Steenerson is Coming.

Hon. Halvor Steenerson, candidate for congress, will speak in Red Lake Falls, on Friday, Oct. 31, at 8 p. m., at the Metropolitan on the political issues of the day. He will be accompanied by other speakers, also the candidates for county offices on the Republican ticket.

There is no more able and fearless exponent of the people's rights than Mr. Steenerson and he will doubtless be heard here by one of the largest audiences ever seen in Red Lake Falls. His address will be of particular interest to farmers and all should attend who can possibly do so.

Remember the date, Friday, Oct. 31, and the speaker, Hon. Halvor Steenerson, our next congressmat.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

MEETING AT THE METROPOLITAN LAST NIGHT BOWLER AND JONES.

The Democratic meeting at the Opera house last night was under favorable auspices. The evening was perfect, and the hall about one third filled. The speakers were Maj. J. M. Bowler and Geo. P. Jones. Mr. Jones is a flowery speaker—a fine orator, in fact, and pleased the Republicans and Populists as much—nay more—than he did the Democrats, because he said nothing. His oratory is very pretty and pleasing indeed. Maj. Bowler, who left the Populist party sometime ago is a handsome, grandfatherly old gentleman—and we venture the assertion that if he were running for a position as nursery inspector in this great state, and the babies could vote the Major would go in with a whoop. He has a soothing way of putting his hearers to sleep. Many left the Opera house while he was speaking. Mr. Bowler wants the Populists to vote for Rosing for governor. This is what the Minnesota Forum, the official organ of the Populist party in this state says in regard to this matter:

Populists are told to vote for Rosing so that he can win. That is poor argument. If a man has no principles at stake he could as well vote with the dominant party and be in the swim.

The Populists will, of course, vote for Meighen, the gallant leader who is sacrificing so much to hold the banner of the peoples party where all may see it.

The populist who declares himself a democrat in anticipation of Rosing's election will find himself in a sorry plight after election.

What has Rosing done to earn the suffrage of a populist? Yet he has nerve to ask populists to become democrats for his sake.

Victor Lawson, state populist chairman, is giving Mr. Rosing some hard raps, and he declares that Rosing cannot count on receiving any populist votes this time. Mr. Meighen, the populist candidate, having been too long identified with the populist movement to be turned down by his old associates in favor of a democrat. Mr. Lawson says that the argument that the populists can elect Rosing by voting for him is a poor one.

High School Notes.

BY THE ATHENIAN SOCIETY.

You must not be selfish even while experimenting in Chemistry.

The past two weeks have seen their share of tests.

Frank Brady slightly injured his ankle Thursday afternoon while practicing foot-ball. Though unable to engage actively in the sports he is able to be out and does not intend to let it lay him up.

Anton Schusser did not attend school this week, but it is expected that he will soon return.

A few of the lower class of the H.S. girls, spent a few pleasant hours at the home of Miss Maude Findeisen Friday evening.

The Athenian program will be given next Friday afternoon, Oct. 24.

The heating plant is now in working order and we are all prepared to enjoy it.

The foot-ball game last Saturday was quite to our expectations, though we hear that the Crookstonists were a little taken aback by the result.

The basket-ball team is intending to keep up practicing, so we will no doubt be in readiness in a little while for a match game with some other team.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SAVES $3,000.

COUNTY AUDITOR ZEH DOES THIS FOR THE TAX-PAYERS TODAY.

The Garnes ditching contract was let to-day by Auditor Zeh. Last month he rejected a bid of 13c. because it was too high. To-day he accepted a bid at 10½c, a saving to the county on this job of 2½c a yard, or nearly $3,000 on the job. The Rocksbory ditch, bids which were rejected last month, being 13c, and considered too high, was to-day let at 11c.

He is sick in bed, but the bids were all referred to him and he personally directed their disposition. Had he not rejected the high bid last month and advertised over again, the work would cost the tax payers nearly $3000 more than it now will.

These facts are history. This is what Adam Zeh is doing for the tax payers. What will they do for him? Let them vote for him on Nov. 4.

Adams-Zaiser.

The marriage of Mr. L P. Adams, of St. Hilaire, to Miss Bertha Zaiser, of this city, was solemnized at St. Mary's church Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, the Rev. P. Ansgar officiating. Albert Brunelle acted as best man, while Miss Gertrude Hennemuth, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zaiser, where a sumptuous repast was served. At 4 o'clock the bride and groom accompanied by their immediate relatives, and close friends of the family, took the train for St. Hilaire. Preparations were complete for the entertainment of the guests at Hotel Markham. Supper was served, and later there was dancing in the dining room of the St. Hilaire hotel, to music furnished by the Red Lake Falls Junior Band. Hundreds of guests were present and participated in the hospitalities extended by A. C. Adams, father of the groom.

The happy couple will go to housekeeping at St Hilaire, where the groom, who is very popular, has a well established barber business. The bride, a daughter of pioneer settlers, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zaiser, was one of Red Lake Falls' most popular daughters.

The Gazette extends its blessing.

THE PEOPLE'S CHAMPION

GOV. S. R. VAN SANT

DEMOCRATIC FALSEHOODS LAID BARE!

Personal Abuse and Villification of Governor Van Sant Their Only Campaign—Republican Campaign of State Issues Impregnable and Unassailed.

The state campaign is about to close and we briefly review the contest.

On the Republican side it has been straightforward, manly and above board and along lines of clean and honorable politics.

The Republicans have frankly and openly given an account to the voters of what the party has done while managing the business of the state, and Governor Van Sant has asked re-election on his record—a record so good that the Democrats have not been able to find a flaw in it.

On the other hand, the Democrats have made their three months' campaign on canards, roorbacks, personalities and straightout willful and malicious lying.

The word "lie" is a strong one. It is a good old Anglo-Saxon word, however, and no other fits the occasion. We use it advisedly and propose to prove that it applies to the stuff the Democratic committee have been publishing and that they are now sending out broadcast over the state in big posters.

WHY MERGER RAILROADS HATE REPUBLICANS.

Soon after the campaign opened the Republicans found that they did not have Mr. Rosing to fight, nor the Democratic party, but the merger railroads as represented by the Northern Securities company of New Jersey. This foreign corporation simply made a tool of Mr. Rosing and his committee with which to try to punish Governor Van Sant and the Republicans for opposing their great stock-jobbing scheme whereby they were adding $200,000,000 of water to the stock of these railroads and proposed to make that much more clear profit out of the already burdened producers of the Northwest. When men are prevented from stealing $200,000,000, they naturally curse the law, and all there is in this merger scheme is not "love of the people," but an attempt to turn $200,000,000 of water into two hundred million gold dollars.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN DICTATED BY NORTHERN SECURITIES CO.

The Northern Securities company put itself in the place of Mr. Rosing as the candidate for governor of the state of Minnesota. Its organ, the St. Paul Globe, owned solely by the president of the company, became the Democratic organ. One of its reporters, paid by the president of the Northern Securities company, wrote the full page biography of Mr. Rosing. A man paid by the president of the Northern Securities company has for weeks accompanied Mr. Rosing all over the state as his confidential adviser and to send in glowing accounts of his meetings.

This paper, directly representing and personally owned by the president of the Northern Securities company, has descended to the politics of the gutter. Its methods would make a highwayman blush and for replying to its attacks, we perhaps owe an apology to the people of the state. But we wish to appeal from the villification and assassin-like methods of this trust-owned organ to the sense of fairness of honor and right of the people.

A BOGUS INTERVIEW.

This Democratic trust organ opened its attacks with lie No. 1: It was a bogus interview in which Governor Van Sant was quoted as opposed to the Pennsylvania coal miners. A large extra edition was sent out and they were prepared to plaster the state with it. Governor Van Sant's prompt and vigorous denial and demand for a retraction, forced an apology but no extra papers containing it were sent out.

PUBLIC FRANCHISE ASSESSMENTS.

Lie No. 2 accused the governor of voting against an increase of the Twin City Street Railway assessments, but the records show just the contrary and that he did vote for an increase of $822,000 on the assessment of last year, making the street car company's total assessment $5,572,941 and increasing its taxes about $25,000. In 1896 this assessment was but $1,875,000, and this immense increase was made possible by the law passed in 1897 by the Republican legislature permitting the state board of equalization to raise individual assessments. Because of this Republican law passed to reach just this case this great increase has been made. Moreover the record shows that the governor voted to increase the Minneapolis Gas company's assessment $250,000, making a total of $900,000, and the St. Paul Gas company's assessment $125,000, making a total of $800,000. So much for that lie.

THE RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS TAX.

Lie No. 3 was the statement that Governor Van Sant and the Republican committee so worded the proposed gross earnings tax law that it would reduce the tax on railroads. This opposition to railroad taxation was a part of the bargain whereby the Democrats got railroad money to run Mr. Rosing's campaign. But when it was shown that ex-Governor John Lind was one of the men who drew the law and who approved of its wording they were obliged to drop this effort to keep down the tax on railroads.

THE ASSESSMENT OF LANDS.

The next lie was that Governor Van Sant voted to increase the assessed value of farm lands 50 per cent. In 1896 the assessed value on lands was largely decreased by the state board because of the great reduction of values caused by Democratic hard times and this was just and fair. The increase made this year was to bring back the assessment on lands to what was considered a right value. The total increase on all real estate made this year over the 1894 total was $94,095,800. Of this $20,000,000 was on iron ore lands alone, and practically that much more was on city and village property, leaving but about $54,000,000 on acre property. This is but a 10 per cent increase on the total assessment for 1894, which was $553,157,461, and less than 12 per cent on the total for 1900, which was $490,537,617, instead of 50 per cent, as the Democrats charge. Moreover this makes the assessment on farm lands for 1902 at not to exceed one-fourth of their selling value.

EXTRA SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The trust organ next attacked Governor Van Sant for calling the extra session of the legislature and repeatedly called attention to the fact that this session did not pass the tax code, nor the Jacobson bill. Yet Mr. Rosing at that session, though not a member, lobbied persistently against these bills and against any bill that would hurt the moneyed class and in his opening speech made in the city of St. Paul admitted it and said he was proud of it. Day and night he worked to this end. Whose interests did he represent and what room has he now to talk for those measures?

GOVERNOR VAN SANT'S TAXES.

Finally after seeming to have run the gamut of low and nasty politics they accuse the governor of being a "tax dodger." They sent detectives to pry into Governor Van Sant's personal business affairs, and their trust organ, in flaring headlines, declares that he does not pay his taxes. Huge posters with abusive cartoons paid for with railroad money make the same charge.

When Mr. Rosing's committee got their reports from their detectives why did they not tell the truth? Why did they not tell what they really found? Why did they deliberately publish and send to the people a bald lie about the governor of their state and hide the facts?

GOVERNOR VAN SANT'S STEAMBOAT TAX.

They really found that Governor Van Sant had no interest in any company of any kind at Le Claire, Iowa, and he never claimed that he had, but they also found that he is interested in and is president of a company organized at Muscatine, Iowa, which owns steamboats, and they found that this company pays taxes and has paid taxes for years on those steamboats, which are the only ones the governor has any interest in of any kind. They found, too, that these taxes are paid in the state of Iowa because the law says that that is where they must be paid.

OTHER THINGS THE DEMOCRATS DISCOVERED.

They found, moreover, that the governor is one of the largest personal property taxpayers in Winona county. That last year his personal property tax, paid there, was $242.88. Their chairman, who is Governor Van Sant's townsman, also knows that the governor has the reputation in his home of being unusually generous and public spirited in the return of his property for taxation.

WHY DID THE DEMOCRATS HIDE THE FACTS?

They found that for several years, moreover, the governor has invested all his savings in Minnesota lands. That he has had that confidence in his own state and loyalty to it, that, while far from a rich man, having only the savings from a long and active business life, he has put all these savings in such lands, and that in every county in which he has land holdings, the state board increased the assessed valuation, and the governor sustains that increase because he thinks it fair and just.

LOOK UPON THIS PICTURE.

And what of Mr. Rosing's record in public life? On what besides personal abuse of Governor Van Sant does he base his claim to the high office of governor of Minnesota? What has he ever done for the farmers? What has he ever done for the laboring men? How has he even shown sympathy with the needs of the people of the state? He was a Republican until 1890, when he was a delegate to the Republican convention of his county, and because he could not dominate that convention, his biography says, "he walked out a Democrat." He changed his political principles as most men change their coats. What would he do if governor and what influence would be behind him and control his acts?

AND THEN LOOK UPON THIS.

But the people of Minnesota all know Governor Van Sant. They know what he stands for and what he represents. They know that he stands for the enforcement of the law against great and powerful corporations and combinations of wealth as well as against the poor and humble citizen. They know that under his inspiration the dairy and food commission has been active and practically helpful and has done a great work for the creamery interests, that has won for Minnesota the name of the "Bread and Butter State." They know that the labor bureau, through his appointive power, is in the hands of practical men, thoroughly in sympathy with the needs of the wage-earners. They know that the department of public instruction has been doing earnest, honest work for the schools of the state. They know that the insurance department, the bank examiner's department and every branch of this Republican administration is being so conducted as to defy honest criticism.

The people have looked upon these two pictures. This of honest, capable Republican administration in the interests of the people. This of Democratic abuse and villification of the state's chief executive in the interests of a great foreign railroad trust. Having looked, they will vote, not for the candidate of the Northern Securities company, but for their friend, Samuel R. Van Sant.

THOMAS GERMO

Candidate for County Attorney

The Gazette in supporting Thomas Germo for county attorney, makes a final plea for consideration by the voters of a young man who is worthy the utmost confidence of the public; a man eminently honest, a man with the acumen and the ability to perform the important duties of a county attorney as they should be performed. Mr. Germo has made a most vigorous compaign, and his speeches, listened to by men of all parties, have convinced a vast majority of the voters that he is the proper man to place in the county attorney's office. He enjoys an enviable reputation for industry, sobriety and good fellowship and is admired as a self-made man, who has worked his own way through life, and who could be held up as a model for ambitions young men. A vote for Thomas Germo for county attorney will be a vote for ability and real intrinsic worth. His personal worth and fine qualifications are universally conceded. The Gazette predicts Mr. Germo's election by a rousing majority.

ADAM ZEH

County Auditor and Candidate for Re-election.

Adam Zeh has rendered the people of Red Lake county some very important services both before and since his election as auditor. In 1896, when the records were being transcribed from Polk to Red Lake county, the fees were 6c. Mr. Zeh was mainly instrumental in having the fees cut down from 6c. to 3c., thus saving the taxpayers of Red Lake county over $5,000. Let us recall the facts:

There was drafted a bill to reduce these fees, the legislature of this state then being in session, and the bill was referred to the representative of this district. Nobody paid any more attention to it. The legal limits for introducing bills had already expired, when Adam Zeh, seeing that something had to be done, at once made a special trip to Red Lake Falls to confer with Hon. Marcus Johnson, who was in the city at that time, laid the whole matter before Mr. Johnson, showing the enormous drain upon the treasury of the county—a drain that was absolutely needless and unjustifiable. He had been working in the register of deed's office and could form a good idea as to the cost of transcribing. Upon Mr. Zeh's representations, Mr. Johnson drove to Crookston on Sunday—got into St. Paul on Monday—secured the governor's request for the introduction of the bill—(It could not have been passed without it as the time had gone by) and the bill was passed the last day of the session. These facts are history. Had it not been for Adam Zeh the county would have paid the 6 cents instead of the three, and would to-day be behind $5,000 as a result.

Red Lake county has built more ditches in the past two years than has any other county in the Valley; by comparison with statistics of cost of excavation, we find Auditor Zeh has succeeded in saving the taxpayers $10,000. On the Garnes ditch alone the saving is nearly $3,000.

The facts are, the law gave Auditor Zeh the authority to accept a bid of 13c but no higher. He could have accepted the 13c bid, but he rejected it, in the interests of economy. Give every one his due.

Would it be wise to turn down such an officer on the promises of what some other aspirant will do? We leave it to the voters.

THE HUNTER AND THE LOG.

Eighteen years ago this fall I went to a political meeting, at which an impressive story was related. Jos. E. McDonald and Isaac P. Grey (peace to their ashes) were the speakers and the latter kept the multitude in tumultous good humor. The best of his stories is here given:

Away down south there lived a farmer who went hunting one sunny fall after work. He wore no more clothing than was necessary for comfort, and was just enjoying himself when he noticed that the sky darkened and soon there was a drenching shower. His hickory shirt and jeans trousers were not very good protection under the circumstances, so he looked around for shelter. Noticing a hollow spruce log right at his feet he slipped into it, congratulating himself on his good luck. After a while the rain ceased and our friend decided to continue his tramp; but to his horror he found that the rain had caused the log to swell to such an extent that he was held fast. He squirmed and twisted, but to no avail. It began to look serious with him, and he determined to look after his spiritual condition. He searched within himself as to all the mean things he had ever done and he decided that the very meanest thing was his having always voted the—— ticket, when lo! he felt so small that he slipped out of the log without any trouble.

This is a good story to think about now. Many a man feels small enough to go through a key hole when he recalls what influences his way of voting.

Social equilibrium is augmented by opposing political parties to which men should adhere because of principle and conviction. I regret to remark that the conviction is often produced by the acquirement of anything from a mint of money to a glass of whiskey.

In national and state politics we see party lines closely drawn. This is commendable; but when local politics come up I consider it every man's duty to vote for the best man, regardless of party. There you have a chance to study your candidates and your support is due to the best men. Should an efficient incumbent desire re-election let the public ascertain as to his value as a servant, and if he does well why should he be turned down for party reasons? I have in mind a man who had the proud record of having been the best sheriff Blank county ever knew. Yet he was defeated by a comparative stranger, a man with a bad reputation and not qualified for the position simply because the other party carried the day. Is such a consummation just? Is it tending to strengthen the moral tone in the nation?

Another political scourge is intimidation. Let no man tell you how to vote. You are free to go to the polls and vote as you choose; and did it ever occur to you that you are the bone and sinew of this great nation?

Study the questions of the day, watch the men in public places, vote for no man whom you cannot trust fully, for into the hands of the public men you place the safety of much that is dear to your heart. Let no office be too small to escape your thought. Another thing to remember is this: A man detected as a political criminal (and his name is legion) should be ostracised. He should be looked down upon as the basest of criminals, for what worse can any rogue do than undermine the foundation of a nation—a pure ballot? Let parents and teachers impress young children with the idea that a man who buys votes, intimidates voters, or corrupts the ballot, is in every way as unfit to associate with as is the most repulsive criminal.

So much depends upon how you vote. We do not want our loved republic to crumble and decay through corruption and vice, as did Rome, but we want our glorious banner to wave on and on over the cleanest, noblest and bravest people on the face of the earth. That condition is not attainable unless every man does better than the man in the story.

Let each and every voter who reads this be able to swell out with pride at the officers he helped to place in their respective positions. Having all voted for the best men regardless of party there will be no vain regrets when the votes are counted.

ADAM ZEH IS THE BEST MAN FOR COUNTY AUDITOR.

GRIT.

First snow of the winter to speak of fell last Sunday night.

Ed. O. Erickson took a load of wheat to McIntosh last Tuesday.

Genrnn Underdahl was out in town of Sletten last week for a visit.

Turjus Smidjam, of Lillo, was a caller at Grit the latter part of the week.

G. Swenson and son Gustave returned last Wednesday from Edmore, N. D.

It has been rumored that a feed mill will be started in Grit in the near future.

T. G. Rome went to McIntosh Wednesday on a business mission, returning on Friday.

R. H. Green, one of the most prosperous farmers in Garnes was a pleasant caller here last Tuesday.

Ed. Havik returned from his farm in Bransvold the other day, after a few weeks' stay looking after his flax crop.

C. C. Hell had the misfortune to get his hand smashed by a kicking broncho some time ago, but is now improving fast.

Thor Skreland, the "sawed-off" bachelor of Grit, returned from North Dakota the other day with a few extra pounds of Dakota flesh.

John Gunderson, of Lillo, was to McIntosh last week for a load of lumber. John expects to build a barn now since the price in cattle has decreased.

After Nov. 1st the Equality store will be closed on Sunday, with the exception of one hour, (from 9 o'clock a. m. to 10 a. m.) for Post office accommodations.

Matt O'Niel, of Moorhead, brother of L. J. O'Niel, the riverside ranchman, was visiting here last week. Matt is proprietor of one of the best restaurants in Moorhead.

Tallak S. Dale had a narrow escape the other day from being killed. He was returning home late when he was attack by wolves and only his strong voice saved him. He is still hoarse.

W. A. Bishop is really the only wise man around here. Some two weeks ago he sent for a pair of "hip boots." Who would ever have dreamed of the like? that they would be in demand at the near approach of winter. But sure enough! We have now had a three days' rain, and no signs of fair weather yet.

We are nearing election day fast, and perhaps but very few of us has given the thing a thought. Who shall we vote for and not? But about first thing we should take into consideration should be the county commissioner question. Or shall we remain silent, and stand pat, or shall we try and elect a man that stands ready to perform his duties as a citizen and an officer, willing to stand by the people that must bear the heaviest part of the burden in any respects? If so—you should cast your vote for Olaf Tande. The Independent candidate for county commissioner for the 5th district. He is well known in this part of the county as an upright, honest young man. Mr. Tande needs no further recommendation as we have said before, a better man could not be put in the field. In the first place he has a good business education and always uses good sound judgment in all his business affairs and is well posted in general. He has for several terms held the office of town clerk in Garnes and still holds that position with entire satisfaction. We are personally acquainted with Mr. Tande, and we cannot speak too highly of him, and without hesitation we can safely recommend him to the voters of the 5th district as by far the best qualified candidate now in the field. Therefore, give him your support.

Adam Zeh is without question the best man for county auditor. An officer who has saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars should be re-elected.

JAMES A. WILSON

Candidate for Supt. of Schools.

James Wilson, Superintendent of schools at Thief River Falls, was born at Lake City, Minn., in 1875. His boyhood days were spent on his father's farm, and at an early age his first desires for work in his chosen profession of teaching were satisfied by tutoring classes in the largest school in the county, as an assistant.

Being the oldest child he was obliged to remain at home until circumstances permitted him by exercising strict economy and hard labor to put himself through three years of high school work, after which he taught for two years, the second year as principal of the graded schools at Cottonwood, Minn. Feeling the need of a more liberal education, he declined a second offer of this promising position and entered the University of Minnesota in September, 1896, heavily conditioned. During his first year young Wilson not only worked off all of his conditions but taught as a special instructor in the schools of St. Paul during the afternoons of each day. During the summer months of his university course he attended various teachers' training schools, the better to prepare himself for his future work. While at the university Mr. Wilson took an active and prominent part in all social, literary and athletic life, holding various offices of trust in the student body. Besides making his own way and helping a younger brother, who was physically disabled, he accumulated enough money to enable him to spend a time between his junior and senior years on special work at Chicago university. He graduated with honor with the class of 1900 and shortly afterward accepted the principalship of the schools at Thief River Falls, which position he still retains.

During the past summer Mr. Wilson was selected as one of the instructors in the Teachers' Training Schools, in which capacity he served with the marked success which has always attended his efforts along educational lines.

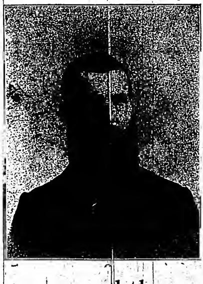
Wilson is a big man in every sense of that term. He is broad minded, vigorous and gritty by nature and has had all these qualities strengthened and rounded out by the best education the state has to give. He would be an inspiration to both teachers and students.

It is not often that the people of a county situated as we are have an opportunity to place at the head of its schools a man of Wilson's mental calibre. The county is growing rapidly in population and wealth, our schools are in the formative period, the strong hand of a man of Wilson's executive ability will bring them rapidly to the front. A community is judged largely by its schools. Whether or not a family will locate in a certain place depends much upon the kind of school found there. There is perhaps nothing which aids more in bringing desirable citizens into a country than the knowledge that it has good schools.

Mr. Wilson's career in Red Lake county has been marked with that success, earnestness of purpose and unimpeachable integrity which have won for him esteem and honor of our citizens. Of recognized ability and untarnished reputation he is the ideal man to come in contact with the youth of the county, and we feel ourselves safe in predicting for him a handsome majority when the votes for superintendent of schools of Red Lake county are enumerated.

If elected, Mr. Wilson has given his word that he will at once resign his position at Thief River Falls, and take up his residence in Red Lake Falls, to give the duties of the office his entire personal attention.

OLE J. JOHNSON



He has served the people of the County faithfully as Commissioner from the 3rd district and should be re-elected.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

MINERS DECLARE STRIKE OFF.

With a shout that fairly shook the convention building at Wilkesbarre the representatives of the 147,000 mine workers, who have been on strike since last May, officially declared off the greatest contest ever waged between capital and labor, and placed all the questions involved in the struggle into the hands of the arbitration commission appointed by the president of the United States. When the news was flashed to the towns and villages down in the valleys and on the mountains of the coal regions the strike-affected inhabitants heaved a sigh of relief. The vote to resume coal mining was a unanimous one and was reached only after a warm debate. The principal objection to accepting the arbitration proposition was that no provision was contained in the scheme to take care of those men who would fail to get back their old positions or would be unable to get any work at all. The engineers and pumpmen get better pay than other classes of mine workers and they did not wish to run the risk of losing altogether their old places and be compelled to dig coal for a living. This question came up the previous day and was argued right up to the time the vote was taken. No one had a definite plan to offer to overcome the objection and the report of the committee on resolutions that the strike be declared off and that all issues be placed in the hands of the arbitration commission for decision was adopted without the question being settled. A few moments before adjournment, however, a partial solution was reached, when a delegate in the farthest corner of the hall moved that the problem be placed in the hands of the executive boards for solution and his suggestion was adopted.

The resumption of mining throughout the anthracite region Thursday was not as general as was expected. Unlooked for difficulties were encountered in the shape of water and accumulated gas, and dangerous roofs, which threatened to fall and entomb the workers, were also discovered in many of the collieries. The mine superintendents would take no chances and the mining of coal was put off until all parts of the underground workings can be made safe. This will take a few days yet and in some cases it will take weeks before some of the mines can be put in full operation.

President Morton of the International Association of Stationary Engineers and Firemen states that all members of the association all over the country will be ordered to refuse to handle any anthracite coal until every member affected by the anthracite coal strike is reinstated on the basis on which the miners returned to work.

The members of the coal strike arbitration commission appointed by President Roosevelt met at Washington Friday and organized by electing Judge Gray president. It was decided to admit the public at all formal meetings of the commission.

At the request of the members of the anthracite coal strike commission and with the assent of both the operators and the miners President Roosevelt has appointed Carroll D. Wright, recorder of the commission, a member of that body.

The employes of the G. B. Markle & Co.'s collieries and the men working at the Drifton mines of Coxe Bros. & Co. have voted to continue on strike until the conditions on which they are to be taken back by these firms are withdrawn.

General orders for the withdrawal of the troops in the anthracite coal regions have been issued by Governor Stone. The orders do not state the time and manner of withdrawing the troops.

A WORD TO REPUBLICANS.

The Gazette warns Republicans against voting for Jas. E. Ford for county auditor. Ford and his backer, the Courier, have been throwing mud at the Republican candidate for governor, Samuel R. Van Sant; they are opposing the Republican organization from top to bottom. Why should Republicans indorse this by their votes? Republicans who do not intend to vote for O. H. Peters, the Republican nominee, should vote for Adam Zeh. Mr. Zeh has a record of saving upwards of $10,000 to the taxpayers in judicious letting of ditching contracts. This is proven by the records in the court house. In every other way he has stood for absolute honesty and fair dealing. Republicans who want to assist the Courier and Ford in their onslaught against Van Sant and the Republican organization, will vote for Ford. But loyal party men cannot. If they would cast a logical ballot, and do not intend to vote for Peters, they must vote for Zeh.

WILL POPULISTS BETRAY THEIR OWN LEADER?

We are informed on the best of authority that John King wanted to kill the Peoples Party of Red Lake county outright by getting Populist office holders to join the Democratic party and run as Democrats. After failing in his attempt to assassinate the Peoples Party organization, he has the temerity to ask them to take his advice. It is not likely the Populists of Red Lake county will consent to be swallowed up. Everybody knows that Gov. Van Sant will be re-elected. He defeated John Lind two years ago, and now the opposition is split, since the Populists have a candidate in the person of T. J. Meighen and the Democrats are running Rosing. The Courier does not expect Rosing to be elected, but desires to make a big showing for him at the expense of the Peoples Party nominee, T. J. Meighen. Now the question for the Peoples Party of Red Lake county to answer is whether they want the Democrats to outrate them in this county, or whether their own candidate, T. . JMeighen, will get their votes. Will they go back on their own candidate simply to gratify the ambition of the man who tried to kill the People's Party in Red Lake county? This is what the Courier said of T. J. Meighen, the Populist nominee, in its issue of July 10:

> The People's Party could not have selected a better candidate for governor, Thomas J. Meighen is a man among men, worthy of the highest honor his countrymen can bestow.

And yet the Courier asks Populists to betray him, to desert him in his fight for their party. There is no more show for the election of L. A. Rosing than there is for the election of T. J. Meighen. Either question is an impossible proposition. Populists who want to make a showing for their party will vote for T. J. Meighen. But citizens generally regardless of party, who desire to encourage fearlessness in a governor, and who desire to show appreciation of a governer who has taken sides with the plain people should vote for the re-election of Governor Van Sant.

The Minneapolis Journal says: Populists supporting the regular state ticket are much incensed over the systematic "raid" made on their ranks in the interests of L. A. Rosing, and they are carrying on a war of retaliation. They are especially gratified over a letter written to Thomas J. Meighen, the Populist candidate for governor, by M. T. Grattan, of Preston stock farm, and one of the leading stock breeders of the northwest. In his letter he declares that he is a democrat from principle and tradition, and that in the coming election Mr. Meighen more nearly represents democratic principles than his "so-called democratic competitor," Mr. Rosing: If Democrats of Minnesota do their duty, says Mr. Grattan they will vote for Mr. Meighen.

AT THE OLD TRICKS.

A circular issued in the interest of Frank Eddy, has been distributed throughout the seventh congressional district, in which Mr. Eddy takes credit for the passing of the free home-stead bill. It is further claimed in said circular, that this so-called free homestean bill saves to the settlers the sum of $600,000. Now what are the facts in regard to this much boasted achievement?

They are simply this, that the free homestead bill is ineffective for the reason that theNelson bill still stands on the statutes and has never been repealed and not a single word in the so-called free homestead bill refers to the repeal of the Nelson bill, which distintctly states that each settler will have to remain on his claim for the full term of five years and then pay $1.25 per acre for his land. The so-called free homestead bill requires that the settler must still remain the full term of five years on his land, and until the Nelson bill is repealed he will still have to pay the price set forth in the Nelson bill, namely $1.25 per acre. Is this acting in good faith with the settlers or not? Voters, answer this question.

The above sounds queer, does it not? It is a relic of the shameful campaign carried on against Congressman Eddy two years ago. Many homesteaders and thousands of honest voters were convinced by these lying statements that the Free Homes bill was a fake. Since that campaign thousands of homesteaders have proved up and by grace of this act. have been saved $200 each. Many of the settlers in Garnes and Equality have since expressed regret that they were so basely deceived. The Red Lake County Courier of this city was the principal medium for promulgating the deception. The Gazette upheld the validity of the law then, and assured the voters of the truth. This year a campaign of detraction is being waged against county auditor Adam Zeh by this same Courier. All credit due him for what he has saved the taxpayers in ditch and other matters is denied him, and a desperate effort is being made to convince the voters that no credit is due him and in fact that nothing has been saved; that, in short, the balance is the other way. It is the Free Homes play over again. But will the voters allow themselves to be deceived again as they were deceived before?

The Gazette appeals to every fair minded man to stamp with his disapproval this shameful and reprehensible method of campaigning.

Thos. Crompe worked like a tiger for county division six years ago. In all fairness he is entitled to first consideration when he asks for the favor of the voters at the polls.

BERTHON & ARMSTRONG, Props.

The man best qualified to fill the office of county auditor is Adam Zeh. The duties of the office require something more than mere clerical ability or good penmanship. How easy it would be to lose to the taxpayers several thousand dollars by one blunder in such matters as awarding ditching contracts.. Not every man has the self-possession and clear headedness to grasp the situation as has Auditor Zeh. Any bright, methodical and accurate High School boy could serve as deputy county auditor. Judgment and ability is needed in the auditor himself. Mr. Zeh has been proven to be possessed of both. The taxpayers are not in an experimenting mood. When they get a man as county auditor who is praised by the state auditor's office as being "one of the best county auditors in the state," and when the people have his record to assure them that he has already saved many thousands of dollars to the taxpayers by good management, they will vote to retain the deserving official. A vote for Adam Zeh is a vote for the best all around man for the place.

Halvor Steenerson is a sure winner, according to the St. Paul Dispatch: Halvor Steenerson is more than busy. He is averaging two speeches every day, as he has immense territory to cover. He will cover every county in his district. His speeches are attracting wide attention because of the fearless way in which he is taking up every question of public interest and discussing it freely, as he sees it. In no district of the state is the result more absolutely assured than in the Ninth.

There is no more honest or fearless man in Red Lake county than Thomas Germo, the Republican candidate for county attorney. If he is not elected it will be simply because the voters of the county have not become acquainted with him.—Thief River Falls News.

"The voter is reminded that roorbacks of every kind may be expected at the last moment before election in the interest of Zeh's candidacy for county auditor. The Republican manager of Zeh's campaign has already resorted to tactics that show the weakness of his cause: Different stories have been hatched for different localities. Be on your guard, A slander started too late for denial ought not deceive a single intelligent voter."

The above is from the Courier. Bro. King's old tactics—accusing his opponents of what he is himself guilty. Readers of The Gazette and the Courier can judge which paper has conducted a clean campaign and which paper has thrown mud. The Courier and its man Ford may be safely set down as hatching stories and springing roorbacks when they make such a statement. Readers have not forgotten how the Courier indulged in personal abuse of the editor of The Gazette and then declared a respectable newspaper man would not indulge in personalities against an opponent. When King makes accusations you can safely lay the the very direlictions he is deprecating, at his door.

Haivor Steenerson will speak at the Metropolitan to-morrow night; at Terrebonne Sunday morning. Hear him.

The Red Lake Falls Courier says that Red Lake county voters should vote for Swanson for senator because he lives in the county, and in the next breath advocates the election of Krohn, a Beltrami county man, for representative, when there is a candidate for that effice on the Republican ticket living in RedLake county.—Thief River Falls News.

Thomas Germo will be elected by the people of Red Lake county who admire him for his sterling worth as a man, no less than for his abilities as a lawyer.

CREDIT DUE ADAM ZEH.

County Auditor Zeh has earned the confidence and gratitude of the public in no way more than from the way in which he has consummated the saving of thousands of dollars to the taxpayers by judicious management in ditch matters. Mr. Zeh's administration has been eminently one of good business management, and one the voters should indorse. The price paid per yard for excavating being about one cent lower than similiar work is let for elsewhere, the tax-payers may thank the county auditor for a saving of $10,000 on this item alone. An example of what a clear headed and self-possessed auditor can do, is the saving to the tax payers of nearly $3,000 on the Garnes ditch which was let last Thursday. Auditor Zeh rejected the bids of 13c a yard on this work in September, called for new bids, and last Thursday the contract was let at 10½c a yard, an actual saving of nearly $3,000. Had there been a conniving or scheming auditor in the chair, or one who would get "rattled" and lose his head, the tax-payers would be out this $3,000. There are many reasons why Auditor Zeh should get large credit for Red Lake county's record of economy in ditch matters:

1. There has never been one mistake on the part of the county auditor in the compilation of notices. All ditch work has all been attended to by him personally.

2. The auditor has always been consulted in the appointment of viewers, and the selections in the main have been such as to warrant rapid and accurate work.

3. Viewers have always been instructed and urged to push work without undue delay.

4. When viewers got ready to report Auditor Zeh has always assisted them in making out reports; and has thus saved two or three days' time on each ditch.

5. Auditor Zeh has always taken great pains to thoroughly advertise the prospective letting of contracts, and has spent many hours mailing notices to prospective bidders, so as to insure active competition. Thus Red Lake county always had 4 or 5 times as much competition as other counties when contracts were let.

6. No jobs could be put up and carried out in the way of pooling, etc., as has been done in other counties.

This is a record of competency and ability that can not be duplicated in any other county of the Red River Valley. Vote to retain the service of such an officer.

Thomas Germo for county attorney.

According to the Courier there is only one real clean candidate in the field, and his name is Ford. Beware of the "holier than thou" species. Adam Zeh is the best man for county auditor.

You will make no mistake by voting for Thomas Germo for county attorney.

Red Lake Falls people surely have no complaint to make as to the eminent fairness with which Mr. Zeh has conducted the office of county auditor. He deserves a good vote here at home.

Thomas Germo is entitled to the office of county attorney on his merits. Vote for him.

Samuel Iverson, deputy state auditor and candidate for state auditor says: "You may say for me that Adam Zeh is one of the best auditors in the state."

Vote "yes" on the proposition to change from county to township poor system.

Red Lake county will roll up a handsome vote for E. J. Swedback—what will Norman do?

Chas. Lajambe, one of the leading farmers in the town of Lambert, in Red Lake county, returned from St. Paul yesterday morning. With a number of neighbors he loaded 42 cars of stock picked up among the farmers in the eastern part of Polk county and southern Red Lake, and shipped the train load direct to the St. Paul stock yards where they struck a good market and made a favorable sale. Mr. Lajambe tells the Journal that his stock averaged upwards of 1,200 pounds per head. The animals were for the most high grades, and the farmers who raised them lived a considerable distance from the railroad. Wheat raising so far from the market was considered less profitable than cattle which could be driven to the shipping points, and the result is that the farmers are money ahead, with far less outlay and time and labor. Mr. Lajambe and his neighbors have young stock that they will turn out another year, and you can not make them believe that there is any such thing as hard times.—Crookston Journal.

"THE DEADLY PARALLEL."

FROM ADAM ZEH'S CIRCULAR LETTER:

"If re-elected, I pledge my earnest efforts at (sic!) economy, for which I have always stood.

ORDER GIVEN BY ADAM ZEH TO GEORGE D. BARNARD & CO.

1000 Auditors Warrants	$21 00
1000 Commissioner's warrants	21 00
500 Wolf Bounty warrants	10 50

$51.50

The Courier or any other legitimate job office will duplicate this order for $7.50

Net loss to the taxpayers of Red Lake county:

$44.00

The above was printed in the Courier last week. The policy of lying outright in an effort to further the cause of the pet candidate, is maintained. The Courier man knew he was indulging in direct misrepresentation, and the Courier's pet candidate knew it.

The order referred to was given in response to a ruling by Public Examiner Pope, who desired the auditor's warrants, the commissioners' and the wolf bounty warrants lithographed, so that they could be circulated in the same manner as a draft or check. Accordingly, following Public Examiner Pope's directions (this Pope was an appointee of the Courier's ideal, John Lind) an order was given for a lithographed job. There were three different forms, and this called for three different lithographs. Now the Courier man knows that each lithograph would cost from $7 to $15, and that, contrary to his statement, no mere job office in the United States could furnish one. It is only a lithograph plant that can turn out a lithograph. The charge of from $4 to $6 for cost of paper and printing 1000 warrants on both sides, is very reasonable. The Pioneer Press bid on this job was the same as that of Geo. D. Barnard & Co.

So much for the Courier's latest lie. We doubt not there will be a new batch in the current issue, but the public must remember that "roorbacks" and schemes of every kind may be expected from the Courier at the last moment before election in the interests of its pet candidate. The Courier has been detected and exposed in so many lies, that the voters will know how to guage anything that may come from that unreliable source. Look out for a flood of new lies this week, and remember that while we have refuted and disproved every one as fast as they bobbed up, it is too late to answer anything that may be published this week. But no one will believe a statement by one who has been proved a liar over and over again.

L. C. SIMONS For Representative.

Vote for One Who will Properly Represent His Constituency.

Red Lake county people will have an opportunity on Tuesday next of voting for one of the most capable men who has ever aspired to represent the people in the state legislature. Mr. Simons is eminently qualified by education, and by training to do valiant services for his constituency in a position of this kind. He will without a doubt be elected, and the people of the district may rest assured that he will be both capable of looking after the wants of the district and eager to promote its best interests.

He will work hand in hand with Senator Swedback in the interests of the people of this district. They will make a strong team, and, as they will be part of the majority, they will be able to do effective work where members of the minority could do nothing.

Be sure, on Nov. 4. to place an X mark after the name of L. C. Simons.

High School Notes.

BY THE ATHENIAN SOCIETY.

This is the week of report cards, and all of us are looking forwards to high marks.

After being confined to the house for about two weeks, Anton Schnsser is again able to be with us.

Tuesday forenoon our High Algebra teacher had difficulty in making one of the Senior boys understand that unless he turned around and looked at the board on which an example was placed he would not understand it.

Book-keeping and chemistry are progressing nicely.

Monday morning only a few of the H. S. pupils were present, but in the afternoon the attendance was a little better.

Something must be done, and that quickly! Perhaps we will all have to get up in the morning a little quicker. There were but six cases of tardiness the first month of school, while during the last month there were only sixty-four.

Why doesn't the basket-ball team continue practicing? Oh! look at the mud on your shoes!

There was quite a fire in the basement of the H. S. building Monday morning. However, no damage was done, as the fire was in the furnace.

There was no class in Chemistry Monday morning as Prof. Whitelay was out of town.

A couple of weeks ago there was a note in the paper about one of the Seniors seeking a lower level. Well Tuesday that seat broke again. We dislike to think that the lower rooms have such an attraction to one of our dignified Seniors.

The Athenians received 26.36 points on last Friday's program. At least the Spartans are satisfied.

The Crookston foot-ball team has disbanded. The reason is unknown. But we will venture an opinion, yes several. Perhaps they can not arrange for games, perhaps the Crookston people are not enthusiastic enough, and do not support the team. But the one uppermost in our mind is a simple one—a very simple one, and is characteristic of Crookston to wit: If they cannot win they will not lose and disgrace their last year's record.

Tuesday one of the Junior girls was accused of painting. She replied that she could draw a little too.

Next Friday afternoon the second debate will occur. The subject is, Resolved that country life is more beneficial than city life. The Athenians have the affirmative side of question, and their debaters are Drew Marshall, Rose Sutter and Charlay Brady.

The Spartan debaters are Fred Richard, Ella Kruger and Varne Healy.

We are all beginning to appreciate the results of the radiation.

POSTMASTER REMOVED.

Reported to Be Eight Thousand Dollars Short in His Accounts.

Duluth, Oct. 25.—William D. Ellsworth, postmaster at Eveleth, has been removed pending an investigation, and J. C. Poole, one of his bondsmen, is acting as postmaster in his stead. It is said that postal inspectors developed a shortage in his accounts, which is stated to be $8,000, though the postoffice officials refuse to discuss the matter. One of his bondsmen stated that the shortage would probably amount to that sum, however.

OLDEST RESIDENT OF DULUTH.

George R. Stuntz, Engineer and Explorer, Dies of Paralysis.

Duluth, Oct. 24.—George R. Stuntz, who came to the Head of the Lakes in 1852 and was an explorer and engineer for half a century, died during the night after two years' suffering from paralysis. Mr. Stuntz was the first man to explore the Mesaba range and was a recognized authority on the topography of Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. He is survived by a wife. Mr. Stuntz was the oldest resident of Duluth.

Editor Gazette:

Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to correct some misstatements which were published in the Red Lake County Courier of Oct. 16 under the heading "The Ralph Interview."

In making this statement I have no desire to render political assistance to any one or to injure the feelings of any who may be aspiring for political honors. But considering the fact that nearly all of the ditch work in Red Lake county has been or is under my management as engineer in charge of the work I believe it to be a duty which I owe at this time to the people of Red Lake county, to make a plain and correct statement of all the ditch work completed or in course of construction in Red Lake county, to the end that the people of Red Lake county who are interested in the work of drainage, may have a just appreciation of the drainage work now being carried on under the supervision and control of the Board of County Commissioners and the County Auditor and for the purpose of comparing the cost of ditch work in this county with similar work in other counties I submit herewith tabulated statements of the cost of ditches in Red Lake and Marshall counties as follows:

MARSHALL COUNTY DITCHES.

Name of Ditch.	Engineering Expense	Viewing Expense	Cost Per yard Cts.	Cost of Ditch Complete.	Length of Ditch Miles	Cost per mile of Eng. & viewing	Engineer in charge
Ditch No. 1	$1551.00	$ [illegible]	13		24	$ 73.30	Arnold
Ditch No. 2	948.00	[illegible]21.00	12½		18	70.70	Arnold
Ditch No. 3	394.86	145.80	10½		12	45.05	Hamery
Ditch No. 4	145.14	66.95	13		2½	85.00	Hamery
Totals	3039.00	744.75		103000.00	56½

The above statements do not include the cost of inspection either in Red Lake or Marshall county. I am informed by the county auditor of Marshall county that the expense of inspecting and certifying to the work on the four ditches above named amounts to $17.50 per day. The inspection and certifying to work in Red Lake county costs less than $6 per day.

It will be observed that the total cost of viewing and surveying 56¼ miles of ditch in Marshall county is $3783.75 or about $67.00 per mile, while the total cost of viewing and surveying 102 miles of Red Lake county ditches is $3837.35 or $38 per mile.

If you exclude from the Red Lake county ditches the ditch surveyed by Mr. Smiley which cost $110.00 per mile, it will bring the average cost per mile of Red Lake county ditches down to $36.60.

Had the ditches in Red Lake county cost as much for viewing and surveying per mile as Marshall county's ditches, this county would have had to pay out $3000 more than it has paid, and had the ditches cost the county at the same rate per mile as the ditch surveyed by Mr. Smiley, the county would have paid out for viewing and surveying ditches $11,220, or $7383.00 more than it has paid.

It will be observed also that the price paid per yard for excavating is very low considering the fact that most of the ditches run through wet, boggy land where the work is difficult to perform, the average price being about one cent a yard lower than similar work was let for in Marshall county which, on this item on the whole work, would amount to nearly $10,000 in favor of Red Lake county.

The average cost of county ditches, per mile, complete, in Red Lake county, is $970.00.

The average cost of county ditches per mile, complete, in Marshall Co. is $1890.

The chief reason for this large saving in favor of Red Lake county, is due to two causes. First, the slope of the land in Red Lake county is greater than in Marshall, hence it is not necessary to construct the ditches so large in Red Lake. Second, the work in Red Lake county as the above tables will show, has been managed much more economically than in Marshall.

The average cost of state ditches per mile up to the year 1901 has been $1550.

The average cost of state ditches per mile constructed during the years 1901 and 1902 under my direction as engineer has been $1350.

The column marked "cost of ditch complete" include both completed and uncompleted work. In cases of uncompleted work the estimates of what the ditch will cost when completed are used. These estimates are filed in the auditor's office, and judging from the cost of completed work, will be very close to actual cost.

The items in the columns marked "engineering expenses," and which foots up to a total of $2354.70, represents the total expense incurred by the engineers in surveying, platting and estimating the ditches and includes the wages paid his chainmen, axemen, rodman, team hire, board for men, travelling expenses, stakes, drafting material, note books, and expense incidental to the work.

The items in columns marked "Viewing expenses" footing up to a total of $1482.65 represents the per diem of the viewers and engineer, their team hire and traveling expenses.

The final cost of inspecting the work as the same is executed cannot be determined exactly at this time, suffice it to say, however, that it will fall far below the estimates and is fully covered in the estimates of cost of the completed work.

The statements appearing in the Courier to which I have referred are misleading and inaccurate as will be seen by a comparison with the above tables which may be verified by a comparison of the files in the auditor's office.

The total length of all the ditches constructed or under way, the table will show, is 102 miles and not 84 miles as stated in the Courier. As a consequence of this mis statement all his deductions as to cost per mile are wrong.

The Courier writer also adds some estimates, which he found somewhere, to the bills actually allowed for engineering and viewing expenses, and in this way swells the cost to figures vastly in excess of what the cost has actually been. This is shown by the table.

Summing the whole matter up it simply amounts to this:

Red Lake county is constructing county ditches from 25 to 50 per cent. cheaper than such work is costing elsewhere.

The engineering expense in Red Lake county ditches, with one exception, is nearly 50 per cent. lower than is paid for similar work in other counties.

County Auditor Zeh has succeeded in letting the contract for excavation at a saving of 10 per cent. under what is paid for work much easier to perform in other counties.

Very Respectfully,
Geo. A. Ralph.

It is not what a man promises to do for the tax-payers, but what he has done for them, that counts with the people. Auditor Zeh as county auditor saved the tax-payers nearly $3,000 on one ditching job last Thursday, Oct. 23. This is what he is doing for the tax-payers. Let them remember him at the polls.

Bad Coughs

"I had a bad cough for six weeks and could find no relief until I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. One-fourth of a bottle cured me."
L. Hawn, Newington, Ont.

Neglected colds always lead to something serious. They run into chronic bronchitis, pneumonia, asthma, or consumption. Don't wait, but take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral just as soon as your cough begins. A few doses will cure you then. 25c., 50c., $1.00. All druggists.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows.

Ayer's Pills cure any tendency to biliousness or constipation, and thus hasten recovery. Purely vegetable. Gently laxative.
J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.
J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss.

In Probate Court,
Special term, Oct. 16th, 1902.

In the matter of the estate of Frank Pribyl,
Deceased.

On receiving and filing the petition of Mary Pribyl of Plymouth, Pennsylvania, representing among other things, that Frank Pribyl late of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 20th day of March A. D. 1896 at Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, (formerly Polk) Minn., died intestate, and being a resident of this county at the time of his death, leaving Goods, Chattels and Estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to L. A. Kaufer granted.

It is ordered, that said petition be heard before this court, on Monday, the 10th day of November, A. D. 1902 at two o'clock p. m. at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Ordered, further, That notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, in said county.

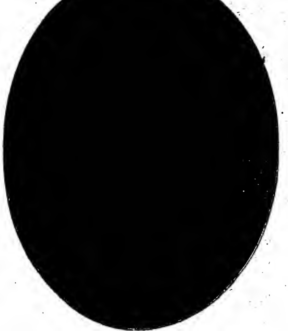
OUR COUNTRY NEIGHBORS

HALVOR STEENERSON



Republican Candidate for Congress, Ninth District

Halvor Steenerson is the republican nominee for congress. Mr. Steenerson's courageous utterances and brilliant suggestions for the solution of the trust evil have attracted attention throughout the state and will undoubtedly give him a national reputation when he formulates them into a bill and presents them on the floor of the national house of representatives. Mr. Steenerson's plan is simple, yet it seems entirely possible and effective. He declares that unequal freight rates are in a large measure responsible for the great trusts. and he further declares that the evils which have thus arisen may in great measure be remedied by legislation which shall compel the railways of the country to grant equal rights to all. Mr. Steenerson further suggests that the trust may easily be controlled by taxation, just as the wild cat banks, once a serious problem in this country, were eventually controlled. These suggestions are new and stamp Mr. Steenerson as a man of original ideas and capable of grasping the fundamental principles which und rlie the great public questions of the hour. His election means great prominence for the Ninth Minnesota congressional district in the nation, and corresponding benefits which Mr. Steenerson will be able to secure.

He is one of the best known and most highly esteemed members of the legal profession of the state of Minnesota, while his reputation as a jurist and amiable advocate extends throughout all the northwestern states. He is a man of strong physique, standing six feet three inches in his stocking feet, and splendidly proportioned, and is well known by the appropriate cognomen of the "TailPine of the Red River Valley." Unlike many attorneys, his reputation as a lawyer has been gained largely by the many successful legal battles he has fought for the common people, and there is perhaps no attorney in the northwest so well known among the common people as Mr. Steenerson.

He was born in Dane county, Wis., in 1852, his parents having emigrated from Ti llimorken, Norway, the year previous. A year after his birth the family moved to Houston county, Minn. Mr. Steenerson was educated in the common, graded and high schools of the state and at the Union college of Law in Chicago, where he graduated in 1878 and at once began the practice of law in Fillmore county, this state. His success was immediate and pronounced. In 1880 he removed to Crookston, where he has resided ever since. He was elected county attorney of Polk county and in 1882 was sent to the senate, where he served in the sessions of 1883 and 1885. Mr. Steenerson's practice has been so extensive that he has for the most part refused to be a candidate for public office. Nevertheless, he has taken an active interest in public affairs. He has held various public offices, such as member of the board of education, city attorney, etc., has often represented the republican party of the county in state and district conventions, and has twice represented the state in republican national conventions.

Mr. Steenerson has rendered the people of the state some very important services. It was through his initiative that the principle of the right of the state to regulate railroad rates was established. Mr. Steenerson has always been a strong advocate of the right of the state to regulate and control railway and other quasi public corporations. In 1893 he instituted the celebrated "Steenerson Grain Rate" case which was twice fought through the supreme court, the Great Northern railway employing the ablest attorneys at its command. In 1898 Mr. Steenerson was finally victorious, the supreme court ordering the railroads to reduce their rates about 15 per cent. and the principle of state control of the railways was definitely established.

Not only did Mr. Steenerson push this law to a successful conclusion, and thus make it a large practical value to the farmers of the state, but he was in fact one of the authors of the law. While state senator in 1885 he was a member of the commission which framed the law creating the railway and warehouse commission and endowing it with power for the regulation of rates.

A further evidence of the promptness and ability with which Mr. Steenerson has always championed the cause of the people is found in his course immediately after the organization of the Northern Securities company. He immediately wrote a long opinion asserting that the state and federal laws were adequate to protect the interests of the people, and in particular that the Sherman anti-trust law afforded abundant remedy. Mr. Steenerson's opinion was widely commented upon, it being so vigorous and unequivocal, while prominent attorneys and public men all over the country were hesitating as to what they should say. Moreover, the position taken by Mr. Steenerson within a few days after the formation of the Northern Securities company was precisely that finally taken by Attorney General Knox of the United States after several months' delay.

Mr. Steenerson's nomination in the Ninth district is a splendid tribute to his commanding abilities. His nomination resulted from the conviction that he was the ablest man that could be sent from this district to congress. No machine pushed his interests; he made his own campaign absolutely unassisted, and the result is the choice of a man of the people.

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by W A. Schreiter.

THOS. A. CROMPE

Who is Entitled to Special Favors at the Hands of Red Lake County Voters.

No more energetic or creditable campaign has been made in the county this year, than that by Thos. Crompe, candidate for register of deeds. Mr. Crompe has been warmly greeted by the people in his tours through the county. They appreciate in him a man of high character, whose worth has been tested by over twenty years of continuous residence here, during which he has gained the esteem of all who know him. Every position of trust in which he has been placed has been filled by him with credit to himself, and his record as a public servant has been one to vindicate the good judgment of those who voted for him. Mr. Crompe's character is of the highest order; his abilities are unquestioned. He is a man of unusually good judgment and of wide information and if elected he will assume the duties of the office well equipped in every way to give a sound, clean, business administration. The people will never regret it if Thomas Crompe is chosen register of deeds.

VOTE FOR ADAM ZEH FOR COUNTY AUDITOR.

There is one contest in Red Lake county to be decided at the pulls on Nov. 4, that is not merely a contest for office. In this case, the decision of the voter should be swayed largely by a consideration of the peculiar claims of one of the aspirants, entitling him to recognition at the hands of the people of Red Lake county to-day, to an extent not exceeded by any candidate, no matter for what office or on what ticket. That man is Adam Zeh. As to his qualifications, there is no question. All concede that he has discharged the duties of the office in a manner that merits the highest degree of confidence.

For nearly a quarter of a century he has been a resident of this county, and he is affectionately regarded by a host of warm friends.

Aside from his fitness for the position, there is a strong and proper sentiment that Red Lake county desires to remember the man who was here during the early struggles and hardships, whose shoulder was to the wheel when others had not ventured beyond the pale of the centres of population and comforts. Deprived of the opportunities of education, it is much to his credit that his unaided efforts at self education were successful in an imminent degree. We look back and see many of the country's ablest men who have had a like experience, even the presidential chair has been filled, and filled ably by three incumbents who were wholly self educated men. Many of the presidents have been men of the humblest origin, who have worked their way from the log-cabin to the White House; and often very ill-furnished log cabins at that. Thus it is, when a self-educated man has actually demonstraded his abilities to fill a position, as Adam Zeh has demonstrated his, the credit due him is all the greater, as a consequence of the uphill work, and the obstacles overcome.

If any man in Red Lake is entitled to an office, it is he, for he represents in his candidacy the pioneer element of this county, whose early struggles, and perseverance under difficulties he has shared. Combined with all these claims is his ability as an officer, and his record for economy and good management which has been demonstrated.

Another Lie Nailed.

The Populists of Red Lake County are reminded that the manager of Adam Zeh's campaign is Philip A. Kaufer, a deserter and a renegade to the People's Party cause. Is it to the interests of the reform forces, or to the interests of good citizens generally to have this office controled by men who are obtaining thousands of dollars worth of work by Auditorial favor every year?

The above (except the heading) is from last week's Courier. Adam Zeh is managing his own campaign. Philip Kaufer is simply defending him from the mud batteries of the Courier.

Below we give the facts as to the job work done by the Courier and the Gazette for the county during three years of Zeh's incumbency. The figures are from the official financial statements. The statement for 1902 is of course not yet compiled

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DEC 31, 1899.

The Courier received for job work...

$202.52

While the Gazette received for job work..........

$5.25

This was the first year Adam Zeh was in office. The Courier had bitterly opposed Adam Zeh's election.

YEAR ENDING DEC. 31. 1900.

Courier received for job work........

$389.30

While the Gazette received.........

0000000
Nothing

This is the "thousands of dollars worth of work" the Courier tells about. How do you like this brand of campaign rot, reader? Will it influence you to vote for Ford, the Courier's man, who promulgates it?

YEAR ENDING DEC. 31, 1901.

Courier received for job work......

$237.67

While the Gazette received.......

$22.95

Outside of job work, the Courier and every other paper in the county gets about an equal share, as everybody knows.

So much for this roorback.

Festival at Gentilly.

Don't forget that the Fall Festival at Gentilly has been postponed to Sunday, Nov. 2. The Rev. Eli Theillon bids Red Lake county people a cordial invitation to participate. A good time is assured to all.

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescripton, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced a serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent. of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J. Fulton Company, 420 Montgomery St. San Francisco, Cal.

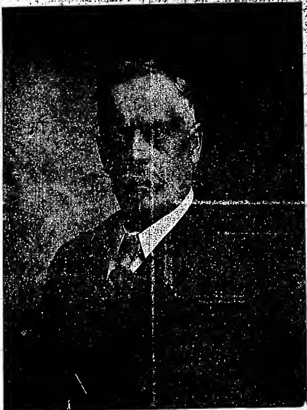
E. J. SWEDBACK



Anti-Merger Candidate for Senator.

The Gazette desire to make a final plea to the Republicans of the 61st legislative district to stand solid for E. J. Swedback, nominee for state senator. When the question as to siding with the railroads or with the people came up, Mr. Swedback did not hesitate for one moment. He took his stand with the people. He went into the fight at the primaries on a platform which declared hostility to the merger, for legislation in the line of state hail insurance for the farmers; for a system which would make the monopolistic interests, both local and foreign, doing business in our state, pay their just proportion of the burden of taxation; for a law which would enable the state to loan money to the farmers for drainage purposes at the rate of 4 per cent. He took his position squarely with the people, and the overwhelming plurality by which he was nominated over the brilliant Street of his own town, attested the great faith the people had in him. Mr. Swedback is a man among men. The better you know him the more you esteem him. He does not go to the temperance people and tell them he is against the saloons; neither does he go to the saloons to decry temperance and moderation. He stands for equal rights to all, special privileges to none.

He stands with the administration, both state and national, for the people, with the people.

His candidacy represents ability, dignity, character. He has never stooped to double dealing. If elected he will be able to do something for his district, because the legislature is Republican, and he will work with the majority. Good judgment dictates the election of E. J. Swedback.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

VERY CLOSE VOTE

ODELL RE-ELECTED GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK BY NOT OVER TEN THOUSAND.

DEMOCRATS STILL HOPEFUL

WILL NOT ADMIT DEFEAT UNTIL COMPLETE OFFICIAL FIGURES ARE IN.

BIG LANDSLIDE IN OHIO

REPUBLICAN PLURALITY ESTIMATED AT ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Since Roswell P. Flower, in a Democratic landslide, defeated J. Sloat Fassett for governor in the face of Republican claims for an easy victory, there has not been such an overturning of votes from the Republican to the Democratic party in this state as that which occurred Tuesday.

Over its combined vote in the state two years ago the Democratic party gained at least 35 per cent and the Republican party lost 40 per cent. From a plurality of 111,000 Odell drops to below 10,000, a loss of over 100,000.

On the face of the returns, while Judge Werner, the Republican candidate for judge of the court of appeals, has run ahead of his ticket in many of the counties up the state the fact that Judge Gray, the Democratic nominee, ran 13,000 ahead of his ticket in New York city, would seem to indicate the latter's election, but it may take the official canvass to decide the matter. In the case of Mr. Cowan, the Republican nominee for attorney general, almost the same condition prevails, it not being possible to determine as yet whether the Prohibition ballots upon which the name of John Cunneen, the Democratic nominee was printed, were sufficient in number to elect Cunneen. This also may have to be determined by official count.

While the Democrats have gained three and possibly four members in the senate and about fifteen in the assembly the legislature is safely Republican, insuring the election of a Republican to succeed United States Senator Platt.

The latest revised returns from the state indicate that Odell's plurality will be about 10,000. These figures were based on complete returns from a number of counties, with partial reports from others, missing districts being estimated. The Republican plurality above the Bronx, as indicated by the returns received, was 132,000, against 122,000 in the Greater New York for Coler.

Democrats will not admit defeat but will wait for complete official returns.

REPUBLICAN PLURALITY CUT.

Bates Chosen Governor of Massachusetts by 37,000.

Boston, Nov. 6.—Massachusetts elected a Republican state ticket, a congressional delegation of 10 Republicans and 4 Democrats, a state senate of 31 Republicans and 9 Democrats and a house of representatives of 155 Republicans, 82 Democrats and 3 Socialists.

The total vote was the largest ever cast for governor, reaching approximately 390,000, against 386,100 for governor two years ago.

Lieutenant Governor Bates, in being chosen governor, led Colonel William A. Gaston, the Democratic candidate, by a plurality of 37,479, but Colonel Gaston made a gain of 40 per cent in the party vote as compared with that given Josiah Quincy last year and cut an average Republican plurality about one-half.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND.

Estimate of the Republican Plurality in Ohio.

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—With more complete returns the Republicans say their plurality on the state ticket will approximate 100,000 and that the Ohio congressmen stand seventeen Republicans to four Democrats, as in the last congress. The pluralities in all of the four Democratic districts were greatly reduced and in the Republican districts increased. The only changes were in the Twelfth and Thirteenth districts and they offset each other. The Democrats gained the former by electing Judge Dewitt C. Badger over Cyrus Huling and lost the latter by the defeat of Dr. James A. Norton, who has been in congress many years.

BY BIG PLURALITY

GOVERNOR VAN SANT OF MINNESOTA RE-ELECTED BY REPUBLICANS.

LIND GOES TO CONGRESS

DEFEATS FLETCHER IN FIFTH DISTRICT BY NEARLY TWO THOUSAND.

IN IOWA AND WISCONSIN

REPUBLICAN TICKETS SUCCESSFUL BY ABOUT USUAL MAJORITIES.

St. Paul, Nov. 6.—Samuel R. Van Sant, Rep., has been re-elected governor of Minnesota over L. A. Rosing by a plurality that will not fall below 30,000 and may run up to 40,000.

The entire Republican state ticket was elected by various pluralities, but in no case was any one in danger.

In every section of the state Van Sant ran well up to his figures of two years ago, while Rosing fell far short of the strength shown for Lind.

The Republicans elected eight out of nine congressmen, Lind, Dem., defeating Fletcher in the Fifth district by a plurality of nearly 2,000. The only other close district was the Sixth, where Buckman was expected to have a hard fight against Du Bois. The returns there are not yet by any means complete, but they clearly indicate the election of the Republican candidate.

LAFOLLETTE DEFEATS ROSE.

Re-Elected Governor of Wisconsin by Big Plurality.

Milwaukee, Nov. 6.—Complete returns from the city of Milwaukee give Lafollette (Rep.) a plurality over Mayor Rose (Dem.) for governor of 2,653. Governor Lafollette carried Milwaukee county by 4,607.

The latest returns from the state show that Governor Lafollette carried the state by at least 40,000 plurality and some estimates give him 45,000. The congressional delegation complete is made up of ten Republicans and one Democrat. The returns from legislative districts indicate an overwhelming majority for the Republicans, which means the probable re-election of United States Senator John C. Spooner.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Assistant Secretary Taylor of the treasury department has received the following telegram from Postmaster General Payne at Milwaukee:

"State senate unanimously Republican except one. Assembly overwhelmingly same way. There can be no doubt about Spooner."

WHITE CHOSEN GOVERNOR.

North Dakota Goes Republican by a Safe Margin.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 6.—With less than 70 per cent of the registered vote of the state cast, the Republican state and congressional ticket has been elected by majorities ranging from 8,000 to 12,000. Spalding and Marshall, for congress, have won out by about 12,000. The state ticket will average around 10,000, and Governor White has defeated Cronan by probably 2,000.

The legislature will be at least 100 Republican out of a total of 140.

DEMOCRATS SECURE ONE.

Elect a Congressman in Iowa for First Time in Years.

Des Moines, Nov. 6.—The Democrats succeeded in electing one congressman in the state of Iowa for the first time in eight years, Judge Martin J. Wade defeating the Republican candidate, Hoffman, by 800 plurality. Birdsall, Rep., in Speaker Henderson's district, received 5,000 plurality. The Republican plurality for the state ticket will exceed 70,000. Returns are coming in slowly.

IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Republican State Ticket Has a Large Plurality.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 6.—Thirty-two of fifty-four counties in the state give the Republican state ticket a plurality of 16,590. The Republicans have elected over 100 of the 132 members of the legislature. This insures the re-election of Kittridge to the senate.

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN DECLARES HIS PARTY HAS A MAJORITY.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The following table of the result of the congressional elections is made up from the returns received here up to noon. It gives the Republicans 197 in the next house, not including three Republicans elected in Pennsylvania on fusion tickets, the Democrats 177 and leaves nine districts still in doubt:

MAJORITY OF THIRTY.

Claim of Republicans in Connection With Next House.

New York, Nov. 6.—Congressman Overstreet of Indiana, secretary of the Republican congressional committee, said at noon that the Republicans would have in the next house of representatives at least 206 members, probably 208 and possibly several more. Republican gains, he said, were reported from Colorado and Republicans in the Eighth Tennessee, Ninth Virginia and Seventh Alabama were claiming victory.

With 206 members the Republicans will have a majority of 26; with 208 a majority of 30.

CLAIMED BY GRIGGS.

Says Democrats Will Have a Majority in the Next House.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Chairman Griggs of the Democratic congressional committee still claims the election of a Democratic house by twelve majority. He claims the election of two Democrats in Rhode Island.

TELLER WILL BE RETURNED.

Democrats Control the Legislature in Colorado.

Denver, Nov. 6.—The result of the election as to the state is still in doubt. The Republicans claim that Peabody is elected by 8,000 to 10,000 plurality, while the Democrats claim that Stimson has a plurality of 2,500 over Peabody.

The Democrats will have a large majority on joint ballot in the legislature, insuring the re-election of United States Senator Teller. Both Republicans and Democrats are claiming the three congressmen but the chances favor the Democrats.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

Brainerd is to have an electric street railway.

John B. Mueller, aged seventy, a resident of Winona for forty years, is dead.

George H. Marsh, one of the best known residents of Mankato, is dead. He had resided in that city for forty-nine years.

Mrs. Samuel Edwards, an aged paralytic, was saved from cremation at St. Paul by the extraordinary bravery of Patrolman Miskie.

The sale of lands in Benton county has been concluded and has aggregated 113,510 acres. Purchasers in arrears have paid up on 4,500 acres.

Twenty-five actions for divorce and twenty personal injury damage suits appear on the calendar for the November term of the Ramsey county district court.

The Union Iron works of Minneapolis has a contract to build a new saw mill at Winton, near Ely, to cost $50,000. The plant will have a capacity of 90,000 feet per ten hours.

E. T. Blew, found guilty of forgery at Minneapolis, was given seven years in the state penitentiary. His partner, Thomas F. Armstrong, pleaded guilty to the same charge, and was given four years.

At a charivari in North Branch, near Cambridge, the bride was possibly fatally wounded by three shots fired by a boisterous mob outside the house. Two of the bullets entered her breast and one plowed into her shoulder.

A fire that threatened the entire Minneapolis business district Thursday night totally destroyed the large store and warehouse of the Minneapolis Paper company and did considerable damage to many of the surrounding buildings.

Hans Anderson, aged nineteen years, was shot and severely wounded at Chester, five miles from Rochester, by Bertin Musterly. Musterly is in the county jail awaiting his preliminary examination. The affair was a sequel of a Halloween prank.

A fourteen-year-old girl is dead near Hutchinson of rabies. She died frothing at the mouth and snapping and biting at her attendants and in frightful paroxysms. Three persons bitten by the same dog have been sent to Chicago for treatment.

A disastrous prairie fire swept across Wilkin county last week, burning over a strip of country fourteen miles in length, and being finally stopped by one of the state ditches. About 6,000 acres were burned over, and several hundred tons of hay were destroyed.

The fourteen-year-old son of William Zarenhusen, a farmer living ten miles southeast of Pipestone, committed suicide by setting fire to a straw pile and throwing himself into the flames. It is alleged that inhuman treatment on the part of the parents caused the boy to take his own life.

J. J. Keane of Minneapolis and J. M. Starlha of St. Paul were consecrated Roman Catholic bishops of the dioceses of Wyoming and Lead, S. D., at the cathedral in St. Paul last week. In addition to several thousand persons who thronged the cathedral, there was a large assembly of noted prelates.

A deal is in progress whereby the Wolvin building at Duluth will be owned by a Boston insurance company. The building is nearing completion and will be the home of the vessel, railroad and mining interests of the United States Steel corporation. The property is valued at $300,000.

The lumber cut of Minneapolis this year will be 126,000,000 feet less than last year, and 160,000,000 feet under 1899, the banner year. The number of feet cut this year is about 462,000,000. The reduction is due largely to low water in the upper Mississippi and inability to get the logs to the mills.

William H. Johnson, secretary of the Minneapolis board of charities and corrections, has been indicted on the charge of misappropriating public funds and his assistant, Charles H. Brown, father of Thomas R. Brown, private secretary of Mayor Ames, has been indicted on the charge of falsifying public records.

The business transacted by the Duluth land office during the past year broke all records for that office. The sales amounted to more than those of the Crookston and St. Cloud offices combined. The acres sold number 363,386, of which 60,000 were cash entry and 90,000 homestead. The total receipts were $206,231.40.

Labor Commissioner O'Donnell states that his department has received reports from 312 organizations in the state out of 335, the total number at the present time. Two years ago the labor bodies, organizations, etc., numbered 205. Brainerd is held to be the best organized town in proportion to its size, containing fourteen labor unions.

The report of the state treasurer for October shows a much smaller cash balance than usual on account of the large disbursements of recent date. The monthly disbursements have included $707,000 from the general school fund, $610,000 from the revenue fund for state expenses, $354,000 from the permanent school fund, $39,000 from the general university fund and $21,000 from the grain inspection fund.

A mistake regarding signals caused an accident on the Northern Pacific near Watt Siding Saturday. The first section of the westbound passenger passed the way freight at Glyndon, after which the freight pulled out to Watt Siding, two miles farther along, and while standing there was hit by the second section of the passenger. Conductor Charles Goff, Brakeman J. C. Congdon and John Ryan were in the caboose. Goff and Congdon were instantly killed.

Special inspectors of the government land office have discovered that many persons now holding lands in Northern Minnesota are doing so upon perjured affidavits. Immediate steps will be taken to cancel such entries, take away the property from the holders and prosecute them upon a charge of perjury. Numbers of these pretended homestead claims are already being contested upon grounds of non-residence and non-cultivation, principally in the counties of Itasca and Beltrami.

REAR END COLLISION

TWO TRAINMEN KILLED IN A NORTHERN-PACIFIC WRECK AT WATT SIDING.

Aitkin Farmer Convicted of the Murder of His Daughter—Business of Duluth Land Office Breaks Former Records—Captain Walton, Minneapolis Militiaman, Acquitted on Murder Charge—General State News.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—Two men are dead as a result of a rear end collision on the Northern Pacific at Watt Siding, Minn., eight miles east of Fargo, at an early hour in the morning. A mistake regarding the signals of the first section of Westbound passenger No. 3 seems to have been the cause of the accident.

The first section passed the way freight at Glyndon, after which the freight pulled out to Watt Siding, two miles farther along, and while standing there was hit by the second section of No. 3. Conductor Charles Goff, Brakeman J. C. Congdon and John Ryan were in the caboose. Goff and Congdon were instantly killed, the former being badly mutilated and the latter having an arm and a leg burned off. Ryan escaped with a scalp wound.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER.

Minnesota Farmer Convicted After a Brief Trial.

Aitkin, Minn., Oct. 31.—One of the shortest murder trials by jury in the history of Minnesota courts was that of O. G. Olson, who killed his daughter Oct. 21.

Court convened Tuesday afternoon, a jury was secured the same night and the trial began Wednesday morning, the jury returning a verdict of murder in the first degree at 9:30 the same night, with a recommendation for mercy.

Olson's recital of the crime showed it to have been particularly atrocious, and no surprise was manifested at the verdict.

Olson formerly lived the life of a recluse, but recently sent to Sweden for his two children, a boy and a girl. The father lived happily for a time in his joy in the companionship of his children, but not long ago his daughter fell in love and wanted to marry. The father, rather than lose his daughter, fearing the terrors of a life of solitude, killed her in a most brutal way with a butcher knife.

CAPTAIN WALTON ACQUITTED.

Jury Finds Him Not Guilty of Manslaughter in Killing John Krisko.

Minneapolis, Oct. 28.—Captain Percy Walton of Minneapolis, the national guardsman who has been on trial before an Anoka county jury on the charge of manslaughter in accidentally killing Johnny Krisko, was acquitted during the day. The jury was out less than half an hour.

The accident occurred on Aug. 20, last, at Columbia Heights, where Captain Walton was engaged in target practice. He saw a white object several hundred yards distant on the rifle range, and taking aim, fired. The bullet sped with fatal accuracy.

The object proved to be little Johnny Krisko, the son of a former resident in that vicinity. The accident fairly prostrated Captain Walton with grief.

BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

Duluth Land Office Transacts Immense Amount of Business.

Duluth, Oct. 29.—The business transacted by the Duluth land office during the past year breaks all records of this office. The sales amount to more than those of the Crookston and St. Cloud offices combined. The acres sold number 363,386, of which 60,000 are cash entry and 90,000 are homestead. The total receipts are $206,231.40.

At Crookston there were 3,000 transactions, bringing the total receipts to $122,000, and at St. Cloud the transactions numbered 1,600 with total receipts of $27,600.

The Duluth land office is the largest in the Northwest, with the single exception of the one at Devils Lake, N. D.

TWO PRIESTS MADE BISHOPS.

Brilliant Ecclesiastical Assemblage Held in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Oct. 29.—In the presence of a brilliant ecclesiastical assemblage and a congregation that taxed the capacity of St. Paul's old cathedral, Rev. John M. Starlha of St. Paul and Rev. James J. Keane of Minneapolis were during the morning consecrated bishops of the Roman Catholic church. The former will have jurisdiction over all South Dakota west of the Missouri river, and the latter over the state of Wyoming. The ceremonies attendant upon the consecration began shortly after 9:30 o'clock and were not concluded until 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

GIRL'S HORRIBLE DEATH.

Dies Frothing at the Mouth and Snapping at Her Attendants.

Hutchinson, Minn., Oct. 30.—Last Saturday three persons, two farmers named Young and Badnar, residing a few miles east of Hutchinson, and a five-year-old girl, were sent to Chicago for treatment for hydrophobia in the Pasteur institute. During the day news was received of the death in the neighborhood of a girl aged fourteen years who was bitten by the same dog. She died frothing at the mouth and snapping and biting at her attendants and in frightful paroxysms.

Serious Blaze in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Oct. 31.—A fire that threatened the entire Minneapolis business district during the night totally destroyed the large store and warehouse of the Minneapolis Paper company at 239-243 First avenue south, and did considerable damage to many of the surrounding buildings.

ON PERJURED AFFIDAVITS.

Many Holders of Land in Northern Minnesota to Be Prosecuted.

Duluth, Oct. 29.—Special inspectors of the government land office have discovered that many persons now holding lands are doing so upon perjured affidavits. Immediate steps will be taken to cancel such entries, take away the property from the holders and prosecute them upon a charge of perjury.

Numbers of these pretended homestead claims are already being contested upon grounds of non-residence and non-cultivation, principally in the counties of Itasca and Beltrami.

Many persons holding lands given them by the government are lawyers, merchants, doctors or people of independent wealth.

Many other claims are made by agents of corporations, large logging firms, etc., who are said to give a money consideration to these men to come to the land office and make application for certain sections. In this way the firms are alleged to obtain control of large tracts of very desirable pine and other good timber land, strip them of their wealth, and then forsake them after they are vandalized.

MURDERED IN SEATTLE.

Former St. Paul Woman Killed by Her Husband.

St. Paul, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Mollie Bartlett-Walsh, a former St. Paul girl, and known throughout the country as the first white woman to visit Dawson City, Alaska, was shot and instantly killed at Seattle Tuesday night by her husband, Edward Bartlett, a noted Alaskan.

Patrick C. Walsh, the woman's father, who lives at 658 Fauquier street, received word of her death during the evening in a telegram from the Seattle chief of police. No details of the shooting affray were given.

Mrs. Bartlett lived in St. Paul until 1890, when, unknown to her parents, the girl left the city for Butte.

At the time of the great Alaskan gold boom, in 1897, Miss Walsh went to Dawson City as cook for a party of miners. She was the first white woman to set foot in the mining camp, and two months after her arrival was married to Edward Bartlett, a hotel man and general merchant. Later Bartlett obtained a reputation as the heaviest gambler in the territory.

READY TO TRY AMES.

Case Against Ex-Mayor of Minneapolis May Soon Be Called.

Minneapolis, Nov. 3.—The November term of the district court will open during the day. During this term Judge McGee will have charge of the criminal calendar.

The most important cases are those involving municipal corruption. The most notable figure to be placed on trial, if his health will permit, is Mayor Ames. His brother, Colonel Fred Ames, has several indictments against him. J. L. Cohen, the alleged go-between, will have to answer to a number of charges, and several detectives and former detectives will have an opportunity to appear before the court.

There are three indictments against Mayor Ames; three against his brother, the former chief, who has been sentenced to a long term in the penitentiary, and several against the other members of the Ames coterie.

RAPIDLY BEING TAKEN.

Land Claims Becoming Scarce in the Northwest.

St. Paul, Oct. 29.—The amount of land taken during the past twelve months in Minnesota and North Dakota along the Great Northern line is indicated by a statement issued by the Great Northern, giving the receipts of the various United States land offices in the Northwest. The receipts, which include incomes from all sources, including sales of land, pre-emption and homestead fees, are as follows:

Devils Lake, $312,696; Minot, $240,208.35; Duluth, $206,231.40; Crookston, $139,636.71; Grand Forks, $86,510.82; Fargo, $40,814.76; St. Cloud, $27,606.31; Marshall, $3,123.

APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT.

Northern Pacific Will Fight the Duluth Station Case.

Duluth, Oct. 30.—The Northern Pacific railway during the morning filed in the office of the clerk of the district court a notice to the supreme court appealing through its attorneys from the order of the court entered Oct. 18, 1902, denying the right of the company to a new trial in the case of the State of Minnesota ex-rel against the Northern Pacific railway, brought about by the state warehouse commissioners to compel the company to open its abandoned station at the West End, Duluth. The case will probably come before the supreme court in April next.

BOY'S HORRIBLE DEATH.

Sets Fire to a Straw Pile and Throws Himself Into Flames.

Pipestone, Minn., Nov. 3.—The fourteen-year-old son of William Zerenhusen, a farmer living ten miles southeast of this city, committed suicide during the evening by setting fire to a straw pile and throwing himself into the flames.

It is alleged that inhuman treatment on the part of the parents caused the boy to take his own life.

Norbeck Gets Three Years.

Minneapolis, Oct. 28.—C. A. Norbeck, the detective accused of bribery, was sentenced in Judge Brook's court during the morning to three years in the state penitentiary at Stillwater at hard labor.

Father Under Arrest.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 3.—John McFarlane of this city is under arrest charged with attempting murder. It is claimed that McFarlane, in an altercation with his wife, threw a lighted lamp at her. Her fourteen-year-old daughter, Myrtle Boyle, ran between them and the lamp struck her. She was burned so badly that she died a few hours later. Mrs. McFarlane is seriously burned.

THREE EYED ANIMALS.

New Zealand Possesses Some of These Remarkable Creatures.

There is no more interesting country in the world to a biologist than New Zealand, and to Professor Dendy is due the credit of having made some very valuable original researches in regard to some of the more characteristic fauna of the country.

Nearly every one has heard of the tuatara, the curious iguanalike looking creature now found on only one or two islands off the coast of New Zealand and supposed to be the oldest living type of animal on the face of the globe. One of the most curious features is an organ on the head which at one time was spoken of as the pineal gland, but which Dr. Dendy discovered to be in reality a third eye. His paper on the subject caused the greatest interest in scientific circles, and, as an illustration of the way in which research is specialized nowadays, it may be mentioned that while Dr. Dendy devoted himself to the study of the third eye one distinguished English biologist is "working out" the skeleton, another the kidneys, etc.

More recently Dr. Dendy has discovered another New Zealand creature possessing a third eye. This is the New Zealand lamprey, a favorite article of food among the Maoris. The third eye is situated right on top of the head and is covered with a thin coating of skin. It is doubtful whether it is now of any practical use for seeing, but Dr. Dendy believes that at one time, far back in the world's history, there were two eyes on the back of the lamprey's head. He is further of the opinion that at one time the tuatara also had two eyes where now only one remains. In the tuatara it is the left eye which has survived, while in the lamprey it is the right one.

The English lamprey has only two eyes and is to that extent inferior to its New Zealand congener, but it has its compensations, for was it not recorded in our history books at school that an English king died from eating too many lampreys?—Melbourne (Australia) Argus.

Artificial Lobster Culture.

For many years, both in Europe and this country, the artificial propagation of lobsters has presented an unsolved problem. Now, at last, Professor H. C. Bumpus of the American Museum of Natural History has discovered the secret of success. His discovery comes at an opportune moment, because for five years past the supply of lobsters has been decreasing. The method of Professor Bumpus depends upon keeping the water in which the lobster fry are placed after hatching in constant motion, for, if allowed to settle, the fry smother or devour one another. By this device the young lobsters are successfully reared until at the age of from nine to sixteen days they are able to take care of themselves. The United States Fish commission is planning to restock the depleted waters along our coast with lobsters hatched and reared in the manner described.

Waves in Solid Metal.

Professor Roberts-Austen, in talking before the institution of civil engineers in London about advances in metallurgy and engineering, demonstrated that solid metals might reveal by their structure the vibrations to which they had been subjected. In explaining this phenomenon experiments were shown proving that a beautiful wave structure can be imparted to the surface of mercury by the vibrations of a tuning fork and that even the surface of solid lead which has been subjected to similar vibrations possesses a structure resembling that of a vibrating surface of mercury. Mild steel was defined by Professor Roberts-Austen as a "solid solution" of iron and carbon, free from cinders. Metallurgists have doubled the strength of steel as it was known in its early days.

New York's Sky Line.

Vereschagin, the artist who is painting a large picture of the battle of San Juan Hill, with President Roosevelt as the central figure, was very much depressed over New York's sky line when he visited the metropolis fifteen years ago. He said that the occasional skyscraper was a painful blot on the landscape; that it made the sky line one terrible thing to behold. The other day after long contemplation of it and the scores of big buildings which load down the island of Manhattan he is said to have turned to a friend and remarked, "Really [a pause] it begins to be grand."

Sandwich Islands.

The term "Sandwich Islands" recurs in news items, scientific addresses and in lectures with a frequency which suggests some other cause than ignorance of the fact that the early name of the group has long been obsolete. One cause of this survival, especially where these islands are mentioned in public speech, is the inability of the mainlander to pronounce "Hawaiian." He usually says "Haywayian" and knows that he is wrong; so to protect himself from a lingual infelicity he says "Sandwich Islands" and lets them go at that.

The Pennypackers.

There are not many Pennypackers in the state of Pennsylvania, and the name of the Philadelphia jurist who has been nominated for governor has aroused considerable discussion. There is only one Pennypacker family in Pittsburg and one in Allegheny. Allegheny has a Panabaker. That is really the nearest thing in the directory to Pennypacker, for Pennypacker originally had no suggestion of coin about it and is a corruption from the old Dutch or Pennsylvania German Pannebecker or Panabaker, which merely means a man who bakes in a pan.

Carupano, state of Bermudez, Venezuela, was attacked by revolutionary forces Sunday and Monday. After a hard fight with the government soldiers, in which the rebels lost one cannon and had a number of men killed and wounded, they retreated.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Mail cables that there is an epidemic of measles on the Kamchatka peninsula. Ten thousand persons have died of the disease, and the population of some country villages has been nearly wiped out.

The Colombian revolutionary general, Uribe-Uribe, with 10 cannon, 2,600 rifles and 300,000 rounds of ammunition, has surrendered to General Marjarres at Rio Frio, near Santa Marta. His surrender is believed to be a death blow to the revolution, which began over three years ago.

There is reason to believe that the Colombian revolution will now end with little or no more bloodshed. Confirmation from a reliable source has been received that General Vargas-Santos, the military director of the revolutionists, has been negotiating a treaty of peace in Costa Rica with a representative of the Colombian government.

STRIKE COMMISSION AT WORK.

The seven commissioners appointed by President Roosevelt to adjust the differences existing between the anthracite mine workers and their employers made a tour of the extreme upper coal field Thursday and saw every step taken in the production of coal from the time it is hoisted from the ground, hundreds of feet below the surface, to the point where it is sent to market ready for the use of the consumer. The arbitrators had an interesting day and returned to their hotel in Scranton at night grimy from coal dust and tired after eight busy hours of observation and investigation. The trip was quite a novelty to most of those in the commissioners' party, some of whom had never been in the coal regions. The commissioners displayed the greatest interest in every feature of coal mining and went about their work in a manner that was pleasing to both the mining superintendents and the representatives of the mine workers, who accompanied the president's arbitrators.

The anthracite strike commission has officially decided that if any change is made in the rate of wages of the men it shall date from Nov. 1. This announcement was made by the commission through Recorder Wright in the following brief statement given out by him: "Voted unanimously, if the commission, at the conclusion of its hearings and deliberations, makes any award affecting existing rates of wages, such award shall take effect from Nov. 1, 1902."

"Mitchell day" was celebrated in all the principal towns of the anthracite coal region Wednesday, and in order that all the mine workers might have an opportunity to participate in the exercises, the mines were closed down.

Pennsylvania militia are being withdrawn from the anthracite region.

Red Lake Falls Gazette.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER
—BY—
PHIL. A. KAUFER.

Published weekly. Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post-office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

AT THE SACRIFICE OF HONOR.

On election morning John E King showed his true calibre in the "Bust the Newspaper Combination" circular. The Gazette will not at this time analyze that incident. Suffice it to say, we do not believe another editor in the state of Minnesota would stoop to such methods. John King, in desperation, repudiating not only his associates, bound to him by ties of honor, but repudiating the work of his own hands—a traitor not only to his associates, but to himself. Here is a clause in the circular issued on election day and signed by John E. King: "As an instance of the outrageous charges for printing under Auditor Zch's administration it might be cited that the primary ballots, printed by The Red Lake Falls Gazette, cost $402." Now, the fact is, about Sept. 30, the writer called up John E. King by telephone and asked him what in his judgment would be a proper charge for the primary election ballots. He favored $20 per M, which would aggregate about $402, and said "I think this would be very reasonable". He further said he would see one of the commissioners and urge him to vote for the allowance of this "very reasonable" bill, because, we assume, he expected to get a rake off. Where is the honor in such a man? Who is safe to trust him? Where are his ideas of fraternal decency? This act will ever brand him as an editorial scapegrace not worthy the trust or respect of the meanest member of the Fourth Estate, because such tactics are unknown and foreign to honorable men.

John King entered into an agreement with the Red Lake county publishers to charge legal rates for legal publications. After having adhered to the association for over a year and urging the new proprietors of the Press of Thief River Falls to join, when those gentlemen hesitated; after greedily grasping after a full quota of the benefits, he holds up his own figures to horrorize the tax payers of the county. There you have it. If John King had not entered into a compact bound only by ties of honor, the act would not assume such hideous proportions. But a publisher who would do what he has done, should be forever branded as an outcast from the Fourth Estate. Ford's election has been encompassed at the sacrifice by John King of his sacred honor. The Courier is welcome to its victory. The writer would not have done the like to gain the presidency.

RESULT IN THE COUNTY.

Red Lake county shows a remarkable slump towards Republicanism. Gov. Van Sant carries the county with a plurality of over 200, while two years ago Lind had a plurality of about 1000. This is a Republican gain of over 1200 votes. No doubt Red Lake county breaks the record in the state, on percentage of Republican gain.

The Republican county ticket went down in a heap, with the exception of Sheriff Sampson, who was re-elected, Louis Falardeau, commissioner in the 5th and Ole J. Johnson, commissioner in the 3d. This disastrous result on the county ticket in view of the showing of Republican strength on the state, legislative and congressional tickets, shows that the county candidates did not receive the united party support. For this the candidates and the managers of the campaign have no one to blame but themselves. They were in a position to grasp victory, but did not make the most of their opportunity, which was not properly appreciated until too late.

THE PEOPLE RULE.

Samuel R. Van Sant is a governor who was not afraid to do his duty as he saw it regardless of the fact that in carrying out this distinct line of action he antagonized the most powerful moneyed interests in the state. The overwhelming indorsement received by Governor Van Sant will have a great moral effect throughout the United States. No election in the country was watched with greater interest than the battle for the people waged by our governor at the polls on Tuesday of this week. Notice is served that the people will stand by the official who takes up the fight in their interests. The people of Minnesota have started the ball rolling, and it will constantly increase in momentum. It is a good omen and bodes well for the fortunes of President Roosevelt when the time shall come for a test of public gratitude. President Roosevelt holds the same position to-day towards the people of the union as Van Sant holds in the state. The right spirit has been manifested, and all public men may well study the situation in Minnesota with benefit to themselves and to the public.

It is Senator Swedhack. Mr. Swedback's vote in Red Lake county was heavier than had been anticipated, in view of the fact that a Red Lake county man opposed him.

Mother's Corner.

GIRLS IN CITIES.

How many of my girl readers are casting longing eyes cityward, thinking that by securing a position with fair wages they have a good, solid footing on the ladder of fortune. Before you leave the home of your childhood please listen to what I have to tell you, and believe me, it is because I love you, as well as from what I have seen that I speak. No doubt you prefer nice clean work, "behind the counter" to kitchen drudgery. That is what one hears on all sides when talking with girls about choosing their work. You will not find the shops so clean as you expect, you will have long hours and small wages, cold lunches and dismal quarters and at the end of each week if you have saved one dollar you have done well. You have other things to encounter, my dear girls, which I do not like to mention in the "Corner" for I want my writing to be receptable to the "purest of minds."

You MUST dress well when out in public places. Let me tell you what a floor-walker in one of the best paying, one of the most beautiful stores in the world has to say on this matter. "It is too bad, look about you, see the fashionably dressed young women here. Many of them get $5 a week, some get $10 and more. They pay board, care for and buy clothes—how do they manage?" Again we are told of the newspaper women who went about this broad land ostensibly seeking a position. Office work, as well as clerkship, were sought. SHE WAS GIVEN TO UNDERSTAND WITHOUT MINCING MATTERS, WHAT THE REQUIRMENTS OF SUCH POSITIONS WERE.

I believe in the virtue of girls, I believe that many many, of the army we see are the comfort of aged parents but, the question for you to ask yourselves is: "Am I strong enough to withstand the temptations of the city?" If you feel that you are strong enough to brave the storm then go in God's name, but remember, that you can do nothing alone, so pray daily for strength and guidance; it will come if you ask for it, from the One Source which alone can sustain you in the battle of life.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY.

BY FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.

Here is a story that every one will enjoy. Little Lord Fauntleroy was a very good child, not a lord at all when the story opens. He makes friends everywhere and is the joy of his widowed mother's heart. Then, along comes a lawyer who asks the mother to return to England that the heir of the family be educated properly. The old Earl will not meet the mother and is prepared to hate the boy. But no one can hate such a fine lad and finally the old Earl meets the young mother. When everything is as fine as can be the story ends.

"Is there anything you want?" the Earl asked; "anything you have not?"

"Only one thing," he answered.

"What is that?" inquired the Earl.

"It is Dearest," he said. (He called his mother Dearest.) The old Earl winced a little.

"But you see her every day," he said, "is not that enough?"

"I used to see her all the time" said Fauntleroy. "She used to kiss me when I went to sleep, and in the morning she was always there, and we could tell each other things without waiting."

The old eyes and the young ones looked into each other through a moment of silence. Then the Earl knitted his brows.

"Do you never forget about your mother?" he asked.

"No" answered Fauntleroy, "never, and she never forgets about me. I should never forget about YOU, you know. If I didn't live with you, I should think of you all the more."

"Upon my word," said the Earl, after looking at him a moment longer, "I believe you would."

"Sara Crewe" by the same writer, is a pretty story written for girls.

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescripton, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced a serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scorces of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent. of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J. Fulton Company, 420 Montgomery St. San Francisco, Cal.

No Novels A Century Hence

By.....
JULES VERNE

I DO NOT THINK THERE WILL BE ANY NOVELS OR ROMANCES, AT ALL EVENTS IN VOLUME FORM, IN A HUNDRED YEARS FROM NOW.

They will be supplanted altogether by the daily newspaper, which has already taken such a grip on the lives of the progressive nations.

The romance, the novel, the descriptive story, the story historic and the story psychological will all disappear. They are not necessary, and even now their merit and their interest are fast declining. As historic records the world will file its newspapers.

I am second to no living man in my admiration of the greatest psychologist the world has ever known, Guy de Maupassant, and he, like all true geniuses, foresaw the trend of human ideas and needs and wrote his stories in the smallest possible compass. Each one of De Maupassant's soul studies is a concentrated lozenge of psychology.

THE DE MAUPASSANTS WHO WILL DELIGHT THE WORLD IN YEARS TO COME WILL DO SO IN THE NEWSPAPERS OF THE DAY AND NOT IN VOLUMES, AND THEY WILL CRYSTALLIZE THE PSYCHOLOGY OF THE WORLD IN WHICH THEY LIVE BY "WRITING UP" THE DAY TO DAY EVENTS.

The real psychology of life is in its news, and more truth—Truth with a big T—can be gathered from the police court story, the railway accident, from the everyday doings of the crowd and from the battles of the future than can be obtained if an attempt is made to clothe the psychological moral in a garb of fiction.

EVERY SINGLE GEOGRAPHICAL FACT AND EVERY SCIENTIFIC ONE IN EVERY BOOK THAT I HAVE EVER WRITTEN HAS BEEN LOOKED UP WITH CARE AND IS SCRUPULOUSLY CORRECT. If, for instance, I had not wished to point the fact that a journey round the world entailed the apparent loss of a whole day, my "Round the World In Eighty Days" would never have been written, and "The Mysterious Island" owed its inception to my wish to tell the world's boys something about the wonders of the Pacific.

My eighty-fourth book, which has just been published, is a description of the home life of the missing link as I believe the life of that queer bond between the ape and the man will one day be found to be. And I have placed my missing link in an African forest, IN A PLACE WHERE IT VERY LIKELY MAY BE FOUND, for it is one of the few corners of the world which have not yet been thoroughly explored.

Plaindealer: The Grand Forks high school team returned from Red Lake Falls yesterday morning from the game which they played at that place Saturday. The game was easy for the home aggregation and the final score was 10 to 5. The heavy field made it very hard work for the teams but the head and brawn of the Grand Forks boys made it possible for them to win out. They returned by way of Crookston and spent the night at the Commercial hotel in that city and it is claimed by the guests that they played football all night, so great was their enthusiasm for the game.

Hindoo Weddings.

Hindoo weddings usually come in the hot months, when the families have leisure to prepare for them, but an astrologer must select an auspicious day for the event. The groom is ready for his preliminary game of diplomacy, which is scarcely more than a "bluff." This is a pretense to visit the sacred Ganges at Benares and wash away his sins in its healing waters. Generally there would not be time before the wedding day to complete such a journey when the groom undertakes it, but the readiness must be shown, and the company sets out. When the bride's father meets them and dissuades the groom from such an undertaking, he is very ready to stop. He is assured, moreover, that his sins have not been so grievous as to need cleansing before his nuptials. If the bride's father is satisfied with his spiritual condition, the young man may need say no more, but he returns and prepares the thali, or gold badge, that all married women must wear suspended from their necks. —Woman's Home Companion.

Too Realistic.

During a performance of "Captain Lapalisse" at a Valencia theater some years ago an incident occurred which, for lifelike effect, left nothing to be desired. During the said play some of the actors mingle with the spectators in order to co-operate from the body of the house. No sooner had Miralles, the actor, taken his seat in the stalls than a daring pickpocket robbed him of his gold watch. Miralles seized the man by his coat collar and called out in a deep bass voice:

"Police! Help! Thieves!"

The audience, taking this little episode to be part of the performance, roared with laughter. Even the policemen joined in without stirring hand or foot.

"This is no farce!" cried the actor in tones of despair. "The fellow has got my watch!"

The voice sounded so natural that the audience broke into loud applause at "such excellent fooling." Meanwhile the thief managed to break away from his captor and escaped.

Wellington's Coolness.

The Duke of Wellington was one day sitting at his library table when the door opened and without any announcement in stalked a figure of singularly ill omen.

"Who are you?" asked the duke in his short and dry manner, looking up without the slightest change of countenance upon the intruder.

"I am Apollyon. I am sent here to kill you."

"Kill me? Very odd."

"I am Apollyon and must put you to death."

"'Bliged to do it today?"

"I am not told the day or the hour, but I must do my mission."

"Very inconvenient; very busy; great many letters to write. Call again or write me word. I'll be ready for you."

The duke then went on with his correspondence. The maniac, appalled probably by the stern, immovable old gentleman, backed out of the room and in half an hour was in an asylum.

Railroading Terms.

Railroading terms in England and America differ very widely. The English would speak of shunting a train. We call it switching. Freight trains they call goods trains, coaches are carriages, conductors are guards, engineers are drivers, trucks are bogies and freight cars are wagons. The British always say station instead of depot, and in that they have the better of us. Rails they call metals and tracks permanent ways. They do not get their tickets at a ticket office, but at a booking office, and the smokestack of the locomotive is to them the chimney. A railroad man going from one country to the other finds that he has to learn an entirely new set of phrases about his business.

A Chameleon's Bite.

The bite even of the largest chameleon does not fetch blood, though the teeth leave indentations. I often, says a naturalist, provoke them to bite me in order to observe their habits, and only once, when one caught me between the fingers where the skin is tender, was I really hurt. On this occasion the thing held on so persistently and firmly that I could not for some time free my finger. At last I was obliged to call some one to get it off by forcibly opening its mouth. Even then it did not pierce the skin. Its teeth are too fine and regular, but the dotted triangular impression of the little teeth was very red and distinct for some minutes.

Do Your Work Well.

Possibly you think your employer does not notice you or know about your work. The writer of this was talking the other evening to an extensive employer of labor, and he talked most of the evening about his workmen. He knew all about every one of them, from the head man to the laborers, and noted their good and bad points. Don't forget that your employer knows all about you. When he needs a new foreman or superintendent, he knows the one to select.—Atchison Globe.

Maryland Goes Republican.

Baltimore, Nov. 6.—Though the count has not been officially declared and will not be actually announced for two or three days it is known that the Republican majority in the state of Maryland is very near 8,500.

Almost Without Opposition.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 6.—The Democrats elected their entire congressional, state and county tickets almost without the slightest opposition.

SWEEPING VICTORY.

Republicans Carry Everything Before Them in Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—Connecticut elected the full Republican ticket for state offices and all the five Republican candidates for congress.

Tennessee is Democratic.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 6.—The entire Democratic state ticket, headed by James B. Frazier for governor, has been elected by a majority estimated at 50,000.

Democratic Walkover in Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 6.—There was no opposition to the Democratic ticket, state or congressional. The legislature elected will re-elect United States Senator Mallory to succeed himself, he having already been nominated by primary.

No Opposition in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 6.—All the Democratic candidates for congress were elected without opposition.

Leaves Used For Paper.

Leaves of trees were used for writing purposes very early by the Egyptians and probably by the Greeks. The Hindoos continued the use of this material until within a few centuries. Even at the present time books of leaves are not uncommon in the south of India and the island of Ceylon. The leaves of some Asiatic trees, from their size and smoothness, are admirably adapted for books. If we may judge from the name "leaf" being still applied to the paper of books, we should imagine these leaves to have been formerly the principal material in use.

Umbrella Inconsistencies.

"There's something remarkable about this umbrella," said Jawleigh, exhibiting the antique handle.

How the Small Boy Succeeded in Breaking Bad News Gently.

"What do you want, little boy?"

"Is this where Mr. Upjohn lives, ma'am?"

"Yes."

"Well, ma'am, he's in the hospittle with four ribs broke, an' one leg's in a sling, an' his nose is knocked kind o' sideways, but he's gettin' along all right, an' he'll be out again in about a month, an' here's a letter f'm the doctor tellin' y' all about it, ma'am."—Boston Traveler.

THE COOKBOOK.

A cup of butter means sixteen tablespoons. When we measure butter in a cup, we measure it packed solid.

One cup of sauce means one cup of liquid, regardless of the amount of thickening and butter that you use.

A novel and dainty way of cooking little new onions is to boil them and serve them on toast, similar to asparagus.

Stir all sauces with a wooden spoon until they thicken and begin to leave the sides of the pan. Add flavoring essences after taking the pot from the fire.

After boiling a ham let it cool in the water in which it was cooked. This helps to make it more tasty, moist and tender. The same rule applies to tongue or corned beef.

Sardines broiled in a chafing dish are nice for Sunday night suppers. Use just enough of the oil in the box to cover the bottom of the dish and keep the fish from sticking. When they are browned on both sides, sprinkle liberally with lemon juice and serve hot.

Carried Further.

Not long ago a lady was giving a lecture. Her subject was the human figure and the requirements in the way of proportion for beauty. She herself was of generous—one may say unwieldy—size, and her manner was supercilious and lofty. She was trying to demonstrate the relative sizes of the limbs as they really ought to be.

"For example," said she, "twice round my thumb"—she held it up—"once round my wrist; twice round my wrist, once round my neck; twice round my neck, once round my waist."

Here she paused, and a shrill voice from the audience exclaimed:

"Twice round your waist, once around Hyde park!"

The lecturer hastily passed on to another branch of the subject.—London Answers.

How Old Spiders Live.

Old spiders, which have neither web nor the materials to make one, often hunt about to find out the webs of other spiders, younger and weaker than themselves, with whom they venture battle. The invader generally succeeds, and the younger spider is driven out to make a new web, and the old spider remains in possession until a stronger spider invades the web and drives it out. When thus dispossessed, the spider seldom ventures another attack, but tries to subsist upon the few insects that may fall accidentally into its clutches and eventually dies of hunger.

The Blind Leading the Blind.

Little Ina had always lived in the country until her parents moved to the seat of the State Normal college. Ina was sent to the "practice school" of that institution, where during one hour of each day she was taught by members of the senior training class.

When asked how she liked the school, she replied, "I love my regular teacher dearly, but I don't much like it when those false teachers come in."—Harper's Magazine.

Too Late For Regrets.

Tired of life and the ever present necessity of earning his daily bread by working he had taken a dose of carbolic acid and laid down to die.

But the meddlesome doctors pumped him out and saved him to society.

"Oh, Horace," moaned his wife, leaning over him, "why did you take that awful stuff? Laudanum would have been less painful and so much surer!"—Chicago Tribune.

Ironmaking.

The first mention of ironmaking in Pennsylvania goes back to 1692. It is contained in a metrical composition entitled "A Short Description of Pennsylvania," by Richard Frame, which was printed and sold by William Bradford in Philadelphia in 1692. Frame says that at "a certain place about some forty pound" of iron had then been made.

THE REPUBLIC.

Thou, too, sail on, O ship of state!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know what Master laid thy keel,
What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast and sail and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
In what a forge and what a heat
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock;
'Tis of the wave and not the rock;
'Tis but the flapping of the sail
And not a rent made by the gale!
In spite of rock and tempest's roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee;
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee, are all with thee!

—Longfellow.

EXPRESSIVE PHRASES.

Those Which Foreigners Coming to America Learn to Use First.

What are the most expressive phrases in colloquial English? Of the dozens that slip off English speaking tongues in the course of a day some must be better suited for their purpose and more characteristic of the race that originated them than others. When foreigners come to this country, they catch certain expressions almost immediately and long before they can attempt to speak the language have made them part of their vocabulary. It would seem that these phrases must be the most expressive in English and that they are peculiar to the language and "fill a long felt want," since foreigners seize so eagerly upon them.

Every man or woman who lands in this country is saying, "Hurry up!" in two months. In whatever quarter of the city one may walk, Italian or German or Jewish, mothers will be dispatching their offspring on errands, using their native speech, but closing their orders with the magic "Hurry up!" How delightfully characteristic of the nation is the phrase! It is not to be wondered at that the newcomers from the slow moving old world find that they have brought over nothing to equal it.

"All right" rivals "hurry up," not because foreign tongues lack similar expressions, but because there is a jolly, hail fellow well met air about "All right" lacking in other phrases of the same character. Then, too, "All right" takes the place not only of "Good," but of "Yes" and "I understand" and of a dozen other phrases which in other languages require separate expressions.

The third phrase, which alone shares the popularity of the first two, is, "It's nice." This should be interesting to purists who wish to restrict "nice" to its first and original meaning of "exact." No word of ancestry sufficiently aristocratic to please them takes the place of "nice" in its colloquial meaning, and foreigners clasp it with joy, wholly ignorant of the fact that they are outraging the feelings of anybody by so doing. Other phrases besides "Hurry up," "All right" and "It's nice" captivate the fancy of the newly landed, but these three reign supreme.—New York Tribune.

They Were Not Indians.

It is said that when the first Chinese came to California the Indians were very curious about them. A dispute arose among some of them as to what country the strangers might hail from and whether or not they were Indians. The Indians, wise as the Puritans of old, decided to apply the water test. If the accused swam, they were witches; if they drowned, they were innocent.

One day a party of Indians met a party of Chinamen approaching a little stream. The strangers approached the bridge and started across. The Indians, too, filed across and, meeting the Chinamen in midstream, pushed two of them into the angry, spooming current below. The test was conclusive. They could not swim. They were not Indians.

How to Detect a Cheap Shoe.

"It takes a rainy spell to show up a cheap shoe," says a shoe dealer. "It can be spotted by an observer on a rainy day, though it may have come within an hour from the store. Watch the feet of people the next time it rains, and you can pick out the inexpensive shoes. A cheap shoe always slips when the pavements are wet. Artificial stone pavements especially show them up. The sole of a cheap, common shoe is made of imitation leather, composed of pressed paper, and water softens it and makes the wearer slide along while walking. You can always tell a cheap shoe in this way."—Indianapolis News.

The Greatest Surrender.

The greatest surrender in the annals of warfare was that of Metz on Oct. 27, 1870. As a fortified place Metz, with its surrounding forts, was practically impregnable, but had generalship permitted it to be completely surrounded and cut off. The surrender included 3 field marshals, 66 generals, 6,000 officers of lower degree, over 400 guns, 100 mitrailleuses, nearly 60 standards and 173,000 rank and file.

Uninteresting.

A COLUMBUS STATUE.

The Story of a Brass Founder's Transformation of Gambrinus.

A story is told of a brass founder who was one day visited by a friend acting as agent for one of the cities of Central America. The agent asked what it would cost to cast a statue of Christopher Columbus for the public square of the city. The amount was far in excess of the sum which the man had at his disposal. He was about leaving in despair of being able to secure the statue when the brass founder said:

"Come back in the junk yard and let us see what can be found there."

He went back, and the brass founder showed him a colossal statue of Gambrinus, recently removed from the front of a large brewing establishment. Under his feet rested a beer keg. In his hand was a large and overflowing schooner, his beard was long and shaggy, and about his brows was wreathed a garland of barley and hops.

"Why, this will never do," said the commission merchant. "I want a statue of Columbus."

"Wait until I have touched this one up. Come back in about a week and see what you think of it. If it suits you, you can have it for the amount you have at your disposal."

As soon as the visitor had gone the brass founder set two men at work on the figure of Gambrinus. They removed the beer keg from under his right foot and placed there an anchor and a coil of rope, from his hand they removed the goblet and substituted a globe, with the continents traced on it; from his brow they took the wreath of barley and hops and substituted a wreath of laurel and then proceeded to trim up his whiskers. The finishing touch consisted in putting at the base of the statue "Cristoforo Colombo."

When the commission merchant came, he was delighted with the figure and, purchasing it, shipped it to the Central American city, where it adorns the public square and is looked upon with veneration by the citizens of that town.—New York Times.

FIRES CAUSED BY NAILS.

Particularly Guarded Against by Firms That Handle Cotton.

"Speaking of insurance matters," said a listener, "I suppose the plain, old fashioned nail has caused more fires in the big establishments where machinery is used in many and complicated ways than any other little thing in existence. The only thing needed is for it to come in contact with some other hard material with sufficient force to cause a spark and heat generation. Nails have really produced a heavy per cent of the cotton fires of the country. During recent years, on account of steps taken by the owners and conductors of the larger cotton and byproduct plants at the instance of insurance men, the nail has not been such a prolific producer of fires.

"A way has been found, for instance, in cotton gins, cotton mills and in plants where cottonseed are put through manufacturing processes, of extracting nails and other weighty and flinty substances that may find lodgment in these inflammable products. Gravity is the natural force used. Nails and rocks and materials of this kind are heavier than cotton and its byproducts, and they have a tendency to force their way to the bottom of the heap. By allowing these products to pass over a rolling belt arrangement these heavier materials filter toward the bottom and are finally extracted, so that when the cotton or the cottonseed passes through the grind in the various manufacturing processes there is but little danger from fire so far as these things are concerned."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

About Writing One's Name.

People who sign their letters with wild flourishes or initials only and give no address offer one of the worst of compliments to their correspondent by egotistically assuming that their handwriting must be of such familiar importance to him or that they and their affairs are so present to his mind that further identification is unnecessary. Having their signature cut from the end of a letter and the address from its heading pasted on the envelope which incloses a reply is a bad compliment which many persons bring upon themselves by an unpardonable illegibility. It is a singular fact that accidental misspelling or mispronunciation of one's name generally constitutes a greater affront and is provocative of more annoyance than a studied insult.—All the Year Round.

Brotherly Help.

"Sis will be down in a minute," said her little brother.

"I'm so glad," replied Mr. De Trop. "She wasn't at home the last time I called."

"Oh, yes she was, but wouldn't come down."

"How do you know she'll come down this time then?"

"'Cause I told her you was another fellow."—Philadelphia Record.

The Earliest Lens.

The earliest known lens is one made of rock crystal unearthed by Layard at Nineveh. This lens, the age of which is to be measured by thousands of years, now lies in the British museum with its surface as bright as when it left the maker's hands. By the side of it are very recent specimens of lens which have been ruined by exposure to London's fogs and smoke.

His Preference.

"Would you rather have something else than a piece of pie?" asked the kind neighbor of little Freddie, who had run an errand for her.

"Yes, ma'am," said Freddie promptly. "I wu'd rather have two pieces."—Ohio State Journal.

Dark Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a great many years, and although I am past eighty years of age, yet I have not a gray hair in my head."

Geo. Yellott, Towson, Md.

We mean all that rich, dark color your hair used to have. If it's gray now, no matter; for Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. Sometimes it makes the hair grow very heavy and long; and it stops falling of the hair, too.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by W A. Schreiter.

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced a serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent. of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J. Fulton Company, 420 Montgomery St. San Francisco, Cal.

Wants Location Where an Abundant Supply of Skimmed Milk Can Be Had.

The St. Paul Dispatch says: Dairy and Food Commissioner McConnell today received a letter from the Plasmon company, of America, stating that the company would like to locate a factory in Minnesota. Plasmon is a powder made from the albumen extracted from skimmed milk and is used in the preparation of a number of food products. The company states that it would use from 100,000 to 150,000 quarts of skimmed milk daily and wants to locate where the demand for skimmed milk for commercial or food products is not very heavy. It pays in the east from 12 to 15 cents per 100 pounds for skimmed milk and would expect to get it cheaper in the west.

Mr. McConnell replied that at present, owing to the high price of stock food, there is a strong market for the skimmed milk in this state. When food for young stock is cheap, the milk is valued at only 10 cents per hundred pounds, but at present it is worth much more than that. Besides the number of cheese factories in the state is rapidly increasing, and they use all the milk.

E. F. Marshall, P. M.

Government Land in Minnesota.

Washington, Nov. 4.—There are 3,553,143 acres of unappropriated and unreserved lands in Minnesota, of which 1,533,635 acres are surveyed and 2,020,508 acres unsurveyed, according to the annual report of Land Commissioner Hermann, made public today. The area of reserved land is 5,046,508 acres, and 42,644,429 acres are already appointed.

The report says that the survey work authorized in Minnesota during the year included three contracts, with aggregate liability of $6,100, and thirteen small surveys of islands under special instructions, the average cost of which was $15 each, all being payable from the general appropriation.

There is also a contract of $3,000 for surveying a remnant of Chippewa Indian lands, a tract which was long of uncertain status, at the northwest angle of the Lake of the Woods.

The surveyor general's report states what progress has been made in examining and platting the returns received from these and prior contracts. The surveys approved at that office during the year contained 1,018 miles of line, with a new area of 158,552 acres, and requiring the platting of seventeen townships in triplicate.

The report omits to make the usual exhibit of disposition of pending contracts during the year. The following facts are therefore given:

The commissioner has accepted eight small island surveys, and nine other surveys under contracts. Five of these were by Deputy Ogaard, the others by Mulligan, McGilvray and Croswell. He has suspended five quite extensive contracts for defective and erroneous work found by field examiners, and rejected two others for the same condition after reported correction.

A large amount of the most severe and exhausting labor performed by any of the office examiners has been done in the forests and marshes of Northern Minnesota at all seasons of the past fiscal year. The retracement of deputies' line in the heavy snow and coldest weather in winter has been found more practicable and endurable by the agents of the department than to endure the wading and heat and insects of the summer season.

Gentilly Harvest Festival.

The harvest festival held at Gentilly Sunday was a rousing success from all points of view. The day was pleasant, the candidates for office gathered, and a large number of Red Lake Falls and Crookston people joined those that gathered from that vicinity and enjoyed the day. The dinner served by the people of Father Theillon's parish was magnificent and satisfied the appetites of those present, the serving of it being continued throughout the day and evening.

The usual effort was made by the parishioners to raise funds for their society by various devices, sales of chances on many articles being the most popular means. These and other matters caused the purses of those in attendance to open frequently, and those who attended contributed freely to the receipts of the day which aggregated $1,233.

Grand Forks vs. Red Lake Falls.

The high school team from this city journeyed to Red Lake Falls yesterday and measured strength and skill with the High School team at that place, with the result that the Grand Forks boys were not found wanting in either brawn or brain, defeating the Red Lake Falls team to the tune of 10 to 5. The score, however, does not indicate the relative merits of the two teams, as when the whistle was blown at the end of the first half the Grand Forks boys had the ball on the Red Lake Falls one and a half yard line and at the end of the second half had it on their five yard line. The locals were also held for downs but three times during the entire game. Capt. Wells has reasons to feel proud of his men. The fullback of the Red Lake Falls team was laid out in the first half, and Fawcett, the left halfback of the Grand Forks team, was laid out during the last half of the game.

The locals received the very best treatment from the Red Lake Falls boys, which they appreciated highly, and state that every man on the team was a gentleman, and played a gentleman's game. The boys returned as far as Crookston last evening and will come home this morning on No. 8.

Solving the Horse Disease.

It is announced by Dr. F. F. Westbrook of the state bacteriological laboratory that the state has succeeded in finding bacteria which seem to be responsible for the mysterious horse disease that has been inflicting farmers of the Red River Valley for a year. The bacteriologists are not yet able to speak definitely of their discovery, but the bacteria are undergoing careful study and it is hoped that further experiment will turn expectation into fact.

The curious disease on which the veterinary staff and bacteriologists have been working has been unusually fatal to stock. Its cause and method of transmission are as yet unknown. Horses attacked by it show remittent attacks of fever extending over a period of time varying from a few weeks to several months. As a result of the progress of the illness the animal grows gradually weaker, showing less and less ability to go to work, but all the time eating voraciously. There are no striking features of the disease and no extra uniformity in symptoms.

The post mortem examinations show that hemorrhages are the characteristic features of the trouble. Abscesses and inflammations are often present also.

In the Red River Valley where the disease is especially prevalent, it is called "swamp fever" and is popularly supposed to appear mostly in low-lying localities where the animals feed on swamp hay or coarse native grasses.

Of the prevalence of the disease there is plenty evidence. In one sparely settled district, within a radius of twelve miles, 100 horses died within eighteen months. In Manitoba the ravages have been so great that many farmers have seriously considered the abandonment of horses as draught animals and the use of oxen instead. One railroad contractor reported not long ago that he had lost $10,000 in horses from this disease alone. Manitoba people call it "malaria" and "pernicious anaemia."

The Minnesota veterinary staff took up the matter some time ago. The disease had existed in Manitoba for about twenty years, but no result had come from the study given to it. In Iowa there had also been some study, but without result. The state department secured information by sending out experts to examine the disease in living and dead animals. Many farmers allowed their sick horses to be killed for the purposes of study, so little hope had they of recovery. From these killing were secured a large amount of valuable data on internal conditions of the sick animals. In response to an invitation from the provincial authorities of Manitoba the experts of the state work also went into Canada and examined the forms of the disease found there. Various tissues from diseased animals were taken to the state laboratory for bacteriological tests.

In hunting down the character of a new disease there is a certain order of investigation. First comes the discovery and propagation of bacteria that are suspected of causing the disease. Next is the experimental work of producing the disease in healthy animals by infection from cultivated bacteria. Finally comes the discovery of anti-toxins or vaccines to protect healthy animals from infection. The Minnesota bacteriologists have found peculiar bacteria in the diseased horses, and have cultivated these forms of bacteria until suited for experimental purposes. They have gone further and have reproduced the same disease, apparently, in small animals. The next step, for which they are now preparing, is to test their bacteria on healthy horses and see if the peculiar disease of the Red River Valley results from the artificial infection. The results secured thus far indicate the probable certainty that the disease will be decided to the microbic. Thus far it has not been considered as an infectious disease. But another attitude may be taken as a result of the new experiments, and the disease may be stamped out by appropriate precautions.

JASON T. KIDDER AT LARGE

When Last Heard From He Was Rounding up Subscribers in the Vicinity of St. Hilaire.

Everybody is Surrendering to Kidder. Subscribing for Red Lake County's Leading Newspaper and Receiving a Roast.

Just Getting up Steam—To be Under Full Swing Next Week.

I suppose it will be necessary for me to make an apology to the intelligent readers of The Gazette for being a disturbing element in what otherwise is a good news medium, but, kid-like, I shall lay the whole blame upon the editor who, I suppose, induced me to come up here so that people could take a shot at me. It being open season. He hasn't given away how much he received from Ottertail county publishers for working the deal, but judging from the expensive premiums he is giving to every new subscriber it must have been something handsome. However, if I get out of the country alive, I promise not to let it happen again.

It is not any intention to give a detailed account of the vast resources of Red Lake county which is termed by many of its prosperous farmers and business men, the garnet stone in a galaxy of lesser jewels, but will leave that to noted historians who have already been engaged to furnish reliable data for the mammoth Christmas number which The Gazette, with its customary enterprise, is endeavoring to make one of the neatest editions that Red Lake county people or anyone else ever saw, and what this paper attempts it usually accomplishes.

To return to what I came up here for, which was to get subscribers, gather in collections, if people insisted, and in short do anything and everything to get the most reliable news before tha people in the most truthful manner.

Upon my arrival at the Falls on Saturday, which I thought no one knew anything about, I was met by a smooth faced, early complexioned man who said I was expected at the Palace. Thinking perhaps that I had stumbled upon the king's domain and the above mentioned gentleman was one of his couriers, laboring under the delusion that I was Teddy Roosevelt on a moose hunt, I explained the mistake, whereupon he decided that it would not make much difference anywey, so long as I had money and was willing to Cougher up. The Palace is a first-class hotel and its management is a credit to a city of four times the size of the Falls. When I had been there a few days and the landlord sized up my luggage which I carried in a cigar box, he gently intimated that it was customary for people of my occupation to pay as they go. "That's all right, son," I replied airily, "but I am not going yet, leastwise not when you are looking." Strolling down to the Kaufer tonsorial parlors which are the very best, I had a close shave and took a bath. I always bathe once a year, whether I need it or not. Then I went up to The Gazette office and denounced myself. Mr. Kaufer, the proprietor, was out, but the devil was in and told me to take a seat and make myself scarce. In a few moments a tall, dignified, good-natured gentleman came in, who introduced himself as the proprietor, and said that I could consider myself hired for as long as I could collect enough to pay the walking expenses of myself and the rest of the office help. He stated also that Red Lake county was a great field for a man with either money or brains, and having about as much of one commodity as the other, and not much of either I bid fair to make the business a partial success. Monday morning the county circuit opened with every prospect for a busy day, and it was. The first two men I approached were already subscribers, the third man wouldn't take it on a bet and the fourth man ran when he saw me coming. But the fifth was caught on a downhill grade and readily planked down a plunk for the leading paper. This gentleman was a farmer and merchant from Plummer's dam in Emardville township, Mr. H. H. Finrow and proved conclusively that Red Lake county had dealt him a full hand, by taking out his check-book and giving me a draft. Here's hoping that it won't make the editor get chilly.

B. Thelander, one of the intelligent farmers near St. Hilaire said "yes" at once and gave me a dollar with a readiness only equaled by my anxiety to get it. But such things as that don't happen often, because there are not many people like Mr. Thalander.

If there were the newspaper business would be one continual round of pleasure.

Another gentleman who subscribed said it was bad enough to get talked into taking this paper, without mentioning his name, and as that is on the list I respect his feelings enough to heed the request.

Thos. Moreau, of Terrebonne P. O., answered in the affirmative and gave me two dollars as evidence that he means to keep up his good reputation for fair and honest dealing.

Adolph Carpenter by name and a farmer by occupation, is one of the old settlers and a history of his pioneer days would be very interesting reading. His reason for not taking The Gazette until the present time was because he had never been asked. He cannot complain on that score now and I hope he will always act as sensible in the smaller affairs of life as he did in this, a greater one. I intend to give the P. M. at Lambert something to do from now on, that being Mr. Carpenter's address.

Noticing a very intelligent gentlemen looking in my direction I approached and politely inquired if he had lost anything. "No I haven't," he replied, "but I live at Lost post-office." I explained that the management was willing to risk the Gazette's finding its way out if it was agreeable to him. Such being the case, Lawrence Lee, inscribed in my book, added another to the list.

Further research disclosed another tall well dressed fellow whom I had hard work to land, but as he stated that he had some business at the office we walked down there together and Mr. Kaufer did the rest. Oscar Anderson is the young man's name, and although he is just proving up on one of the finest quarter sections of land around here he doesn't want the Red Lake Falls beauties to know he is single. Therefore, I promised not to tell. Oscar gets his mail at Terrebonne, girls.

About this time I received orders to move on and decided St. Hilaire would be a good field for one of my aimless temperament. At the train I was greatly surprised and not a little scared to meet one of the well-to-do farmers of my home town and a near-by neighbor. I tried to recollect whether it was honey or turkeys he kept but happened to remember that his place was where the water melon brigade got in their work. This gentlemen was Andy Walters, of Ottertail county. Of course he was glad to see me. Said he had been looking for me for some time. The only way I could square myself was by letting him take the Gazette, and paying for it. He said he didn't need it and I don't suppose he does. People are living yet who never subscribed and others are dead who never had a chance. Many of Mr. Walter's relatives reside at the Falls, well to do and respected citizens of that busy berg. And I only hope they will not blame Andy for fooling away his money, but I figured it out that if I could not get a neighbor to subscribe it would be no use to try strangers. I feel better, thank you.

"Change clothes for Thief River Falls," cried the nice looking conductor, and in my haste to obey I grabbed up a nice overcoat belonging to Andy, likewise a three dollar grip. I guess if I could have had another minute the change would have done me good, but Andy having some business at St. Hilaire, called my attention to the difference. St. Hilaire like the rest of this banner county has been better written up than I could ever hope to do. It is a place of 1000 people and the throngs of people from the mills and surrounding country which crowd the depot platform at train time, gives the town a Metropolitan air. No complaint is heard of hard times and the merchants and bankers alike give one the impression of thrift and prosperity.

Tuesday morning I decided that I might as well have the whole cheese at once, consequently I walked down to the creamery, a co-operative success of which more will be written later. The head man in the building, S. Wherry, whom I found busily at work, became so interested in my talk or I in his, that he forgot his breakfast and was only brought back to a realization of the time and place by his better half, who reminded him it was past the hour, that the fuel supply was low and if he expected to win in the checkered game of life that it was time to move. There are few if any better qualified creamery men than Mr. Wherry and he hopes ultimately to see this country as great a dairying and butter-making center as any of the southern tier of counties. There is no reason why it should not be, as there are many elements favoring it. A few practical men who believe in the effeciency of the cow as a mortgage lifter are of great value to any wheat producing belt.

Coming back to town I became acquainted with Philip Lee, one of the early settlers, and who believes in diversified farming. That he is intelligent and well read goes without saying, for he takes The Gazette.

Andrew Rolstad, one of the early pioneers, had heard of The Gazette but never knew it was such a good paper until I explained a few points of advantage. Any time you want The Gazette in future go to Andrew and borrow it until you see me and get a chance to subscribe.

John Johnson, a youthful aspirant for county information, eagerly sought the opportunity offered to subscribe, and had it sent to box 46, St. Hilaire, and "don't forget to send it," was his parting injunction.

Ola A. Breeten, also of St. Hilaire, and a farmer who has been here 12 years, had heard of The Gazette but never had time to hunt for a solicitor until today when fortunately he found one hunting for him.

Ole T. Omoth, an old subscriber, came up smiling with a dollar in his outstretched hand which was quickly transferred to mine, and with a receipt in his pocket and the best paper coming his way, Ole certainly ought to be happy. At any rate he thinks this country far ahead of Dakota where he formerly lived.

Becoming somewhat tired from carrying around so much money, I decided it best to go and spend some, but was stopped on the way by O. H. Peterson who asked if I had time to credit him with a dollar. O. H. being one of the goodnatured Swedes that you read about I could not refuse. I have dollar, Mr. Peterson has a receipt, and the editor gets the rest. Let us hope that he is as well satisfied as we are. Mr. Peterson has been here for 22 years and could no doubt tell when the first building of St. Hilaire went up and who built it. Any one writing a history of this county can learn many useful and truthful stories of one of the oldest settlers.

Meeting an alert, sturdy looking man in the middle of the street, I approached him on the paper question. As soon as he was convinced that he would get more than value received, he readily subscribed and gave me a dollar as evidence of good faith on his part. His name is Louis Myron, of Hillsboro, N. D., where he has resided the past sixteen years and farmed very extensively, cultivating this past year over 800 acres. Mr. Myron intends to live near Red Lake Falls, where he owns property, another evidence of his thrift and energy. The hospitable people of this county always welcome such men as this gentleman, but there is still room for more.

Perhaps no one in St. Hilaire is better known or better posted on the latest market reports than A. Dainard, the man to whom most of the farmers bring their hides and furs, knowing full well that every cent that the market will warrant will be paid as well as light dockage and good grade. The Fairbank's Nursery Co., for which he is agent, were very fortunate in securing his services, as their reliable methods and his wide acquaintance will make a strong combination.

[To be continued next week.]

VOTE ON DIVISION

HOW THREE PROPOSITIONS CARRIED OVER IN POLK.

The board of canvassers completed their work Tuesday afternoon as far as the tabulating of the returns is concerned. No footings have yet been made, however.

A footing of the vote on county division reveals the fact that the vote for and against the different propositions is as follows:

VALLEY COUNTY.
Yes	135
No	918
COLUMBIA COUNTY.
Yes	1513
No	813
NELSON COUNTY.
Yes	1381
No	111
STAR COUNTY.
Yes	132
No	18

This makes the majority of Columbia county over Nelson county 132. Valley county is defeated by a majority of 783, Columbia carries by a majority of 700, Nelson by a majority of 1270 and Star by a majority of 114.—Crookston Times.

WYLIE CHEESE FACTORY.

40,000 lbs. Sold—Test, 4 1-2 Per cent Butter Fat.

The cheese factory which was established at Wylie last spring closed down yesterday after a successful run of 178 days, says the Crookston Journal. The manager and operator, Mr. Dedrick Kvinlaug, of McIntosh, passed through Crookston to-day on his way home for the winter. He reports that the management is more than satisfied with the outcome of the season's business. There were 40,000 pounds of cheese manufactured, and the average price at which this was sold was 10½ cents per pound. Most of this was sold to the wholesale merchants at Grand Forks, while some of the cheese was shipped to other points in North Dakota and as far west as Montana.

The actual making of the cheese stopped on Oct 31, and the time intervening between that date and yesterday was spent in putting everything in ship shape so that the start in the spring would not be delayed through lack of anything not being in the proper place. Enough money has been cleared to enable the management to pay for the entire plant and the year's running expenses, so that next year the firm will start out free from debt and with every prospect of doubling the business of this year.

Mr. Kvinlaug says that on the average it took 9½ pounds of milk to make one pound of cheese. This shows an average of 4¼ per cent. of butter fat, which is much above the usual run, this being 3¼ per cent. This is the strongest kind of evidence that the farmers around Wylie have the best in milk producing kine. This season there was received at the factory an average of 3,000 pounds of milk a day and the expectation is that next year this figure will be raised to from 5,000 to 7,000 pounds.

This is the kind of farming that pays and is the kind that the farmers of the Valley are going to engage in more and more.

Editor Gazette:

As I promised many of my friends to write to them I thought it best to write to The Gazette, which would do for all.

We had a snow storm a few days after we arrived. About two inches fell, but it did not last long, all disappearing in a few days, then we had some rain. Yesterday it was very nice and warm. The ladies were walking about without coats or jackets. To-day it is raining. But the people all say that when it rains the wind never blows, and it has proved to be true so far.

A saw-mill of fair size is being built, which will give work in a few months. For carpenters there is plenty of work. Everyone I meet I make it a point to ask them how they like the place. I have hardly finished my question when the answer comes, "wou dn't go back for a farm." All seem to be quite happy and content. As for my part, I find everything pleasing. I expected to find it more dull and lonesome than it really is, and I am glad to say all my folks are very much encouraged and like the place real well.

The government has decided to build more irrigation ditches and canals. That will help the place greatly. I will not write any more for this time, but this is just as I found the place.

Yours truly,
John Lachance.

The K. P.'s held a social session Monday night.

1,200 SHEEP

MILLING COMPANY BRINGS THEM HERE FROM MONTANA.

S. M. Sivertson returned Saturday from Montana where he made purchase of 1,200 head of sheep, which are now being fattened by the Red Lake Falls Milling Company. In a few weeks they will be sent down to the South St. Paul stock yards and sold to packing houses. The sheep came in over the Northern Pacific Saturday, occuping five double-deck stock cars.

This is the second consignment of sheep brought in by the Milling Company and if this venture is successful as the first, it will no doubt be made a permanent feature of the business.

G. N. EXTENSION

SURVEYORS NOW AT WORK ON EXTENSION FROM THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Surveyors are now at work running a line from Thief River Falls to Roseau county. It is not settled as to whether the line will run to Badger or to Roseau. The extension will no doubt be completed next season, and with the change in the route through this city, the N. P. tracks will be used from Red Lake Falls to Tilden. A Union Depot is already constructed at the junction of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern lines there.

About Minnesota.

Minnesota is larger than all the New England States, and nearly equal in size to both Illinois and Indiana. The North-Western Limited is handsomer than any train in the Northwest, and is the most popular with all travelers because it's the best.

ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL

ALREADY TOO SMALL AND NEW ROOMS WILL BE ADDED.

Ven. Sister Scholastica, mother general of the Sisters of St. Benedict, arrived in the city from Duluth on Monday to inspect St. Joseph's school. Mother Scholastica was agreeably surprised at the flourishing institution, with 167 pupils in daily attendance, and plans maturing for enlargement of the school facilities at this early day. It has been decided to finish a room in the basement for the chapel, with a view to utilizing the present chapel as a class room. When the improvements are completed, which will be as soon as the Rev. E. Fayolle can get men to do the work, two grades will be added, and another sister secured.

Advertised Letters.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the postoffice at Red Lake Falls for the week ending Nov. 15, 1902:

Marguerite Patnode, Carline Berry, Fred Kirchhoff, Avey Gervais.

If not called for in two weeks these letters will be sent to dead letter office as prescribed by law. In calling for the above please say "advertised."

SEEKS DEATH IN FIRE

MINNEAPOLIS GIRL SOAKS HER CLOTHING IN OIL AND APPLIES A MATCH.

Board of Pardons Refuses to Release Frank H. Hamilton—Minnesota Congressman Decides to Support Cannon for Speaker—Rochester Asylum Attendants Not Responsible for Death of Insane Man—General State News.

Minneapolis, Nov. 17.—After watching his daughter Grace constantly for two nights W. H. Foster, residing at 2029 Clinton avenue, awoke during the morning, after a short nap, just in time to see her enveloped in the flames from her burning clothes, which she had saturated with kerosene.

The terrified father sprang from the floor upon which he had fallen asleep, through fatigue, and threw a blanket around his daughter. As he tightened it about her to smother the flames, she fell to the floor dead.

A glance at her face told him she was dead. It was only then that Mr. Foster hurriedly pulled off his coat and vest, which were on fire. Before he could remove them his face and arms were badly burned, and it was feared that he too, would die, but he will probably recover, owing to the prompt arrival of Dr. Quinby, who was summoned by the occupants of the lower floor.

Chronic asthma is believed to have been the reason for the girl's act.

APPLICATION DENIED.

Board of Pardons Refuses to Release Frank H. Hamilton.

St. Paul, Nov. 13.—The state board of pardons has denied the application of Frank H. Hamilton of Minneapolis for a pardon. Hamilton was convicted of causing the death of Leonard Day, who was stabbed during a row in the West hotel two years ago and is serving a seven-year term at the penitentiary.

The vote of the members of the board on the application was not made public, but unanimous consent is required to grant a pardon or commutation of sentence, and after the session it was simply announced that the application had been denied.

Chief Justice Start said that he did not speak for the board, but that the evidence bore out the verdict. The judgment was pronounced by a conservative, humane judge, and the sentence was not excessive.

Attorney General Douglas and Governor Van Sant and the other members of the board declined to discuss the case.

FAVOR CANNON.

Northwestern Representatives Go on on Record for Illinois Man.

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Minnesota, North and South Dakota are for Cannon for speaker.

This is the result of the conference of the Minnesota and Dakota house delegations in this city.

From the first there was no doubt at all as to what the sentiment of the members was. Bede, Tawney, McCleary and Steenerson had been for some time actively out for Cannon, and the other members agreed with them without argument.

The conference was held at noon at the Merchants. All of the new Republican members were present, as well as Congressman B. F. Spaulding of North Dakota.

ATTENDANTS EXONERATED.

Acquitted of Malice in Handling Minnesota Insane Man.

Rochester, Minn., Nov. 17.—The attendants who were struggling with George Haim, a patient in the state hospital here, at the time he received injuries resulting in his speedy death, have been completely absolved by the coroner's jury, the verdict reached acquitting them of any malice or viciousness in handling him at the time of the struggle.

The only words of censure in the verdict are directed at the head nurse and the nurse in charge of the ward in which Haim was confined. They are reproved on minor points of procedure only.

PAY WELL FOR PINE.

Lumbermen Give $507,000 for 60,700,000 Feet of Minnesota Timber.

St. Paul, Nov. 13.—The annual sale of stumpage on state lands, which was held at the capitol during the day, was the most successful ever held as to prices obtained.

The amount realized was $507,000 and 60,700,000 feet of pine was sold. The price was $2 per thousand higher than ever before secured and the average was $8.35 per thousand.

WAS DEATH OR INSANITY.

Minneapolis Traveling Man Suicides at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—A. E. Barnes, a commercial traveler of Minneapolis, committed suicide in his room at the Kennard House during the day by shooting. The suicide left the following note: "Dear Will: Tell the folks I had to do this or go crazy." Barnes registered at the hotel last Monday. He was about forty years of age and well dressed.

CLASSIFIER OF CEDED LANDS.

Edward L. Warren of Minnesota Receives the Appointment.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Edward L. Warren of Minnesota has been appointed chief classifier of the ceded lands of the Chippewa Indians in Minnesota.

Fatal Shooting Affray.

Aitkin, Minn., Nov. 17.—A shooting affray occurred at Mississippi, in the northern part of Aitkin county, during the day, when A. C. Bennett shot and fatally wounded John Berg. Sheriff Newstrom has started after the prisoner, who is held under arrest by the marshal at that place.

STORY OF CRIME.

Two Minneapolis Young Men Confess to Murder.

Minneapolis, Nov. 12.—Ignorant of their victim's death, two footpads made confessions solving the Prospect Park murder and robbery mysteries which had baffled the authorities for nearly a month. The culprits recited a story of criminal deeds, the boldness and enormity of which are unparalleled in the police annals of Minneapolis.

Andrew Haakenson and Levi Nystedt, who admit complicity in a series of brutal highway robberies, are mere boys. Nystedt, twenty-three years old, is five years the senior of his accomplice. Yet these beardless youths have perpetrated a series of crimes the daring of which is explained only by the culprits' seeming ignorance of their enormity.

The blind consciencelessness with which the twain prosecuted their criminal career is best evidenced by the fact that they did not even watch the newspaper accounts of their deeds, and through the same negligence failed to learn that one of the men they had robbed and beaten died from the injuries they inflicted.

The two highwaymen, when shown the picture of the murdered man, identified him as one of the victims whom they led to the Prospect Park district. They pounded him into insensibility, robbed him of a small amount of money, searched him for more and then, believing he had hid his savings in his shoes, took one of his shoes off and, not finding the money, left him lying where he was later found by school children, cold in death.

The young men confessed to the robbing of four men, including the victim who died, and who, they say, told them he was a plumber.

LIVE STOCK DEALER MISSING

Feared North Dakota Man Has Been Murdered.

St. Paul, Nov. 14.—E. P. Lundy, a dealer in live stock at Leal, N. D., is missing. Nov. 2, Lundy brought some stock to South St. Paul, which he sold to the C. L. Haas Commission company for $800. He went to Minneapolis and notified the Haas company to forward check in payment for the stock. This was done, and in due time the check came back properly indorsed by Lundy. Nothing further has been heard, and fears of foul play are entertained, as Lundy had something like $1,000 after he received the check, which was cashed at Minneapolis.

The St. Paul and Minneapolis police have been put to work on the case.

LESTER R. BROOKS DEAD.

Prominent Minneapolis Lumberman Smitten by Apoplexy.

Minneapolis, Nov. 12.—While playing a game of chess in his apartments at the West hotel at 6 o'clock p. m Lester R. Brooks, a prominent lumberman and member of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, suffered a stroke of apoplexy and in a few seconds was dead

Mr. Brooks was engaged in the game with his physician, Dr. Lester D. Day who exerted every effort to arouse his patient. All attempts proved futile and after having gasped a couple of times the unconscious man expired

J. H. OUTHWAITE DEAD.

Had Extensive Ore Holdings in Minnesota and Michigan.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 17.—J. H. Outhwaite, one of the most prominent and wealthy citizens of Cleveland, died in New York during the day as the result of a surgical operation. He had been in ill health for several years. His business interests were largely in extensive ore holdings in Northern Michigan and Minnesota. Mr. Outhwaite was much interested in horses and was a prominent member of the Cleveland Driving Park company. He was forty-five years old.

DIES FROM APPENDICITIS.

Frank B. Johnson, a Prominent Brainerd Man, Dead.

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 16.—Frank B Johnson, one of Brainerd's most prominent business men, died at the Northern Pacific sanitarium in this city at 8 o'clock this morning after a week's illness. He was operated on for appendicitis.

He was a member of the McFadden Drug company and H. P. Dunn & Co., druggists, a prominent Mason, Elk, K. of P. and A. O. U. W.

Seventeen Cows Burned.

St. Paul, Nov. 12.—Seventeen cows belonging to Martin Ivenson, a dairyman, were burned in the barn at Arcade and Ivy streets at midnight. The loss is in the neighborhood of $3,000. The insurance amounts to $675. The barn was a flimsy structure and the loss in that quarter was not great. Ivenson suspects a firebug.

Forced to Jump Into Lake.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12.—Archibald Bright Robertson, a sophomore in the University of Minnesota, was given the "water cure" by the Wisconsin football team for watching the secret practice of the Badgers. He was required to jump into the icy water of Lake Mendota. Coach Phil King watched the ducking.

Lind's Plurality Over 2,000.

Minneapolis, Nov. 13.—Ex-Governor Lind's majority over Loren Fletcher in the Fifth congressional district was 2,054, according to the completed returns of the canvassing board. James C. Haynes, the Democratic candidate for mayor, was elected over Alderman Fred Powers by a plurality of 5,308.

Minnesota Judge Resigns.

St. Paul, Nov. 12. — Governor Van Sant has announced that the resignation of Judge John F. McGee of the Hennepin county district bench had been received and accepted and that the appointment of Willard R. Cray had been made to fill the vacancy.

Minneapolis Times Sold.

Minneapolis, Nov. 12.—Herschal V. Jones, formerly for fifteen commercial editor of the Minneapolis Journal, and now proprietor and publisher of the Commercial West of Minneapolis, has bought the Minneapolis Times.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

Edward L. Warren has been appointed chief classifier of the ceded lands of the Chippewa Indians in this state.

Treasurer Al Coons of East Grand Forks, who is $4,500 short in his accounts, has been released on $2,750 bonds.

Henry Rathbun, a veteran of the Civil war, who was blind for the last twenty years, caused by his army service, is dead at Spring Valley.

Governor Lind's majority over Loren Fletcher in the Fifth congressional district was 2,054, according to the completed returns of the canvassing board.

A freight wreck occurred on the Great Northern near Garfield. Nine cars were demolished, but no one was injured. The wreck was due to a broken flange.

Simon Clark of Duluth has been appointed by Governor Van Sant surveyor general of logs for the Duluth district. Mr. Clark is an old-timer in Duluth and a well known grocer.

The district court of McLeod county has opened at Glencoe with Judge Cadwell presiding. The calendar is the shortest on record for that county. There are only five court cases.

The Farmers' Mercantile company is the name of a new organization in Lake Crystal. It has incorporated with a capital of $20,000 and will do a general department store business.

Seventeen cows belonging to Martin Ivanson, a dairyman, were burned in the barn at Arcade and Ivy streets, St. Paul. The loss is in the neighborhood of $3,000. Ivenson suspects a firebug.

Hundreds of black ducks encountered a driving sleet at Sleepy Eye. In Leavenworth township, six miles south of there, many of them fell to the ground exhausted. They soon froze fast and became an easy prey to the farmers, who gathered them in by sackfuls.

The state board of pardons has denied the application of Frank H. Hamilton of Minneapolis for pardon. He was convicted for causing the death of Leonard Day, who was stabbed at the West hotel two years ago. Hamilton is serving a seven-year term in the penitentiary.

The seven-year-old daughter of John Holland, a farmer living eight miles south of Chokio, was burned to death. During the absence of her parents, the girl in attempting to remove a kettle of water from the stove ignited her clothing and before assistance arrived was almost burned to a crisp.

A. E. Barnes, a commercial traveler of Minneapolis, committed suicide in his room at the Kennard House at Cleveland, O., by shooting. The suicide left the following note: "Dear Will. Tell the folks I had to do this or go crazy." Barnes was about forty years of age and well dressed.

The trial of John Grahek of Ely, charged with the murder of Elias Seatavich Oct. 6 last, has begun in the district court at Duluth. The men quarreled over the affections of a girl. Hot words led to blows and Grahek whipped out a revolver and shot his rival, killing him instantly. He maintains self defense.

Lumber operations in the vicinity of Virginia will be more active this winter than ever before. O'Neil Bros. of Stillwater have taken a four-year contract to bank from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 feet of logs annually for the Taber Lumber company of Keokuk, Ia. The company is operating sixteen miles north of Virginia.

The annual sale of stumpage on state lands, which was held at the state capitol last week, was the most successful ever held as to prices obtained. The amount realized was $507,000 and 60,700,000 feet of pine was sold. The price was $2 per thousand higher than ever before secured and the average was $8.36 per thousand.

Never before in the history of the lumbering interests of the Northwest has there been such activity along the lines of logging as this year. The number of small jobbers who take contracts to get out a certain quantity of timber for the larger companies, as well as those companies who hire thousands of men and run scores of camps, are increasing in Minnesota.

The United States Steel corporation expects to move a great deal more ore from Duluth in 1903 than this year, and will consume four or five million tons more in its own furnaces, at which construction is now going on. It is the opinion of well posted lake ore men that the total tonnage to be mined another year will not be less than 29,000,000 tons, and that an even 30,000,000 tons is not impossible.

Andrew Haakenson and Levi Nystedt admit complicity in a series of brutal highway robberies in Minneapolis. Nystedt, twenty-three years old, is five years the senior of his accomplice. Yet these beardless youths have perpetrated a series of crimes the daring of which is explained only by the culprits' seeming ignorance of their enormity. They are responsible for the Prospect Park murder.

The city of St. Paul cannot issue bonds, with which to build a new armory. The supreme court has filed a decision sustaining the decision of the lower court, that the issuance of $99,000 bonds for this purpose would be illegal as the city has already issued bonds for 5 per cent of its assessed valuation, the limit imposed under the constitutional amendment of 1898 on cities framing their own charters. The court holds that the law imposing this limitation is constitutional.

The machinery of the West Superior Lumber Company's mill at Duluth, which closed down permanently last week, has been sold to Arizona man and will be shipped there. The mill building will perhaps pass into the hands of the American Lumber company which has been negotiating for it. If it does, it will be used for a factory. If not, it will be torn down. The company has a lease of the ground upon which the mill stands and this lease had but a short period to run.

A COLUMBUS STATUE.

The Story of a Brass Founder's Transformation of Gambrinus.

A story is told of a brass founder who was one day visited by a friend acting as agent for one of the cities of Central America. The agent asked what it would cost to cast a statue of Christopher Columbus for the public square of the city. The amount was far in excess of the sum which the man had at his disposal. He was about leaving in despair of being able to secure the statue when the brass founder said:

"Come back in the junk yard and let us see what can be found there."

He went back, and the brass founder showed him a colossal statue of Gambrinus, recently removed from the front of a large brewing establishment. Under his feet rested a beer keg, in his hand was a large and overflowing schooner, his beard was long and shaggy, and about his brows was wreathed a garland of barley and hops.

"Why, this will never do," said the commission merchant. "I want a statue of Columbus."

"Wait until I have touched this one up. Come back in about a week and see what you think of it. If it suits you, you can have it for the amount you have at your disposal."

As soon as the visitor had gone the brass founder set two men at work on the figure of Gambrinus. They removed the beer keg from under his right foot and placed there an anchor and a coil of rope, from his hand they removed the goblet and substituted a globe, with the continents traced on it; from his brow they took the wreath of barley and hops and substituted a wreath of laurel and then proceeded to trim up his whiskers. The finishing touch consisted in putting at the base of the statue "Cristoforo Colombo."

When the commission merchant came, he was delighted with the figure and, purchasing it, shipped it to the Central American city, where it adorns the public square and is looked upon with veneration by the citizens of that town.—New York Times.

FIRES CAUSED BY NAILS.

Particularly Guarded Against by Firms That Handle Cotton.

"Speaking of insurance matters," said a listener, "I suppose the plain, old fashioned nail has caused more fires in the big establishments where machinery is used in many and complicated ways than any other little thing in existence. The only thing needed is for it to come in contact with some other hard material with sufficient force to cause a spark and heat generation. Nails have really produced a heavy per cent of the cotton fires of the country. During recent years, on account of steps taken by the owners and conductors of the larger cotton and byproduct plants at the instance of insurance men, the nail has not been such a prolific producer of fires.

"A way has been found, for instance, in cotton gins, cotton mills and in plants where cottonseed are put through manufacturing processes, of extracting nails and other weighty and flinty substances that may find lodgment in these inflammable products. Gravity is the natural force used. Nails and rocks and materials of this kind are heavier than cotton and its byproducts, and they have a tendency to force their way to the bottom of the heap. By allowing these products to pass over a rolling belt arrangement these heavier materials filter toward the bottom and are finally extracted, so that when the cotton or the cottonseed passes through the grind in the various manufacturing processes there is but little danger from fire so far as these things are concerned."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

About Writing One's Name.

People who sign their letters with wild flourishes or initials only and give no address offer one of the worst of compliments to their correspondent by egotistically assuming that their handwriting must be of such familiar importance to him or that they and their affairs are so present to his mind that further identification is unnecessary. Having their signature cut from the end of a letter and the address from its heading pasted on the envelope which incloses a reply is a bad compliment which many persons bring upon themselves by an unpardonable illegibility. It is a singular fact that accidental misspelling or mispronunciation of one's name generally constitutes a greater affront and is provocative of more annoyance than a studied insult.—All the Year Round.

Brotherly Help.

"Sis will be down in a minute," said her little brother.

"I'm so glad," replied Mr. De Trop. "She wasn't at home the last time I called."

"Oh, yes she was, but wouldn't come down."

"How do you know she'll come down this time then?"

"'Cause I told her you was another fellow."—Philadelphia Record.

The Earliest Lens.

The earliest known lens is one made of rock crystal unearthed by Layard at Nineveh. This lens, the age of which is to be measured by thousands of years, now lies in the British museum with its surface as bright as when it left the maker's hands. By the side of it are very recent specimens of lens which have been ruined by exposure to London's fogs and smoke.

His Preference.

"Would you rather have something else than a piece of pie?" asked the kind neighbor of little Freddie, who had run an errand for her.

"Yes, ma'am," said Freddie promptly. "I wu'd ruther have two pieces."—Ohio State Journal.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

FOREIGN NEWS.

The French coal miners' strike has practically ended, nearly all the men returning to work.

The heads of twenty of the pretender's followers have been nailed to the city gates of Faz, Morocco.

An Italian anarchist fired three shots at King Leopold of Belgium at Brussels Saturday. The shots went wild.

Mail advices from China report a fire at Kweilin Kwangai, causing great loss of life and property. Many Chinese were burned to death.

All efforts to form a concentration cabinet have failed, and Senor Sagasta has now begun an attempt to form a homogeneous Liberal ministry.

A dispatch received by a prominent mercantile firm of San Francisco from its agent at Retalhuleu, Guatemala, states that the volcano of Santa Maria is still in active eruption.

The Colombian gunboat Bogota, with an American commander and crew, destroyed two rebel vessels and killed all the insurgents. One American was killed and three were wounded.

The German reichstag has passed the paragraph in the new tariff bill that gives the government power to retaliate against any country discriminating against German goods. The measure is aimed at the United States in particular.

The London Times prints another page of President Kruger's memoirs, dealing with the Jameson raid. Mr. Kruger claims that had it not been for his influence the burghers would have shot all the inhabitants of Johannesburg at that time.

The volcano on Stromboli island off the north coast of Sicily has commenced a terrible eruption. A colossal column of fire is rising, and incandescent stones are being emitted from the craters. Many houses on the island have been destroyed.

LABOR NEWS.

About ninety delegates from all parts of the United States assembled at Niagara Falls to consider what may eventually prove to be a reorganization of the Knights of Labor.

The first witness to testify before the coal strike commission under oath was President John Mitchell of the miners' organization. He was the only witness on the stand the first day.

President Mitchell read the statement of the miners' case before the strike commission at Scranton. The document contained 6,000 words and covered every phase of the controversy.

The answer of the independent operators of the Lackawanna and Wyoming region to the statement of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers has just been made public. It severely scores the miners' union.

The wage controversy between the railroads and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which for a time threatened to tie up all the principal switching terminals in Chicago, was amicably adjusted at a conference between the railroad managers and officials of the brotherhood.

President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company has filed with the anthracite coal strike commission the reply of that company to the demand of John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, concerning the points involved in the anthracite coal strike.

That the anthracite coal mine owners will resist to the utmost every effort to make the recognition of United Mine Workers of America an issue in the arbitration which is now in progress is made evident by the replies to the statement of President John Mitchell of the miners' organization, which have been filed with the strike commission.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

General Chaffee's report warmly defends military methods in the Philippines.

American sailors and marines may soon be withdrawn from the isthmus of Panama.

The Bond-Hay treaty, providing for reciprocity between United States Newfoundland, has been signed.

Cuba has intimated to the United States that if she cannot get justice in Washington she will appeal her case to The Hague tribunal.

A banquet was tendered in Washington to the representatives of foreign commercial bodies who came to attend the dedication of the New York Chamber of Commerce.

Representative Grosvenor probably gives the Republican policy for the short session of congress when he says that no attempt will be made to amend the Dingley tariff act.

Red Lake Falls Gazette.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

—BY—

PHIL A. KAUFER.

Published weekly, Thursday evening, and entered as second-class matter in the post-office at Red Lake Falls.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

'TIS SAID IN SELF-DEFENSE.

The Courier says the result of the late election demonstrates that the methods of The Gazette have been repudiated by the voters of Red Lake county. The facts are quite to the contrary. The Gazette, unlike the smut mill conducted by the editorial prostitute, was never given to boasting. But we doubt if a stronger indorsement was ever given a newspaper than the vindication accorded The Gazette's by the voters of Red Lake cuunty for its stand for Republicanism as represented by Roosevelt and Van Sant. The Gazette not only led the sentiment tnat has effected a change of over 1300 votes from Populism to Republicanism in Red Lake county, but this paper's work and influcnce extended throughout the 61st legislative district.

Two years ago The Gazette did not supbort Van Sant or the Republican state ticket and Red Lake county went Demo-Populist by about 1000 plurality. The Gazette sopported Eddy, and he ran ahead of McKinley in Red Lake county, and in only one other county in the district.

Following conviction, immediately after the campaign, when there could be no suspicion of mercenary motive, The Gazette started in on the apparently hopeless task of converting a Demo-Pop majority of 1000 into a Republican majority. After leading the sentiment for two years, the votes came our way, and the county went Rewublican by over 300. The congressional and legislative tickets shared the benefits. Our circulation during the campaign averaged 3,000 papers weekly. No country paper in the state worked up such a circulation for the promulgation of Rooseveltism and Van Santism, or made more strenuous efforts with better results.

The phenomenal change of 1300 votes in Red Lake county, out of a total of less than 2300, closely following The Gazette's lead, precipitated the Republican avalanche on Nov. 4. Yet The Gazette only points this out in self-defense, and not in a spirit of exultation, although any editor would be ungrateful who would not appreciate such a vindication at the hands of the voters.

Out of 21 offices voted on in this county, only three whom The Gazette opposed were elected. One of these three got in by 5 majority. Of the nineteen candidates supported by the Courier, only eight were elected. The Courier forces did not by any means hold their own. They were driven back all along the line, and their political corpses strew the way. The total Republican pluralities in Red Lake county foot up in round numbers to 5000, while the total Demo-Pop pluralities are only 3,000.

The campaign just closed in Red Lake county demonstrates as never before, the influence wielded by a newspaper conscientiously conducted on a plane of patriotism and independence.

Pope Leo XIII receives daily in average from 22,000 to 25,000 papers and letters. No less than 35 secretaries and scribes are employed to handle this immense correspondence. The President of the United States comes next, receiving daily in average 1,400 letters and from 3,000 to 4,000 papers. Emperor William is said to receive during the same span of time 1,000 letters and from 3,600 to 4,000 papers, the Czar of Russia 600, the King of Italy 300 letters and Queen Wilhelmina from 300 to 150 letters.

JASON T. KIDDER.

For nearly a year the Gazette has been endeavoring to ensnare the original and only Jason T. Kidder, of Rumsey, Minn., expert subscription solicitor. On Saturday, November 15, A. D., 1902, our efforts were finally crowned with success and Mr. Kidder surrendered. Monday he started out on his mission of inducing every family in Red Lake county to subscribe for the county's leading newspaper, the Red Lake Falls Gazette. Mr. Kidder is authorized to receive and receipt for moneys, on account of the Gazette, and we commend him to the tender mercies of our constituency. He is amply able to tell his own story, however, and the Gazette refers its readers to his initial communication in another column. Try to wade through the article to the end.

But above all give Jason T. Kidder your subscription, and if the spell overtakes old subscribers to square up, and even to pay in advance, do not hesitate, but follow the promptings of the good spirit which has stirred you.

A combination of circumstances promises to make the last session of the fifty-seventh Congress more interesting and exciting than is usually the case with "short sessions". The withdrawal at so early a date of Speaker Henderson has precipitated a contest for the speakership of the next Congress which is already participated in by six candidates and which grows more active every hour, notwithstanding that the actual election will not take place for a year. Apart from administrative details, the tariff question is bound to cut an important figure during the approaching session and there are prospects of sharp lines being drawn in the controversy, within the Republican party. It has been given out at the White House, in a semi official way, without permission to quote, that the President will not urge any immediate revision of the tariff and many of the republican senators and representatives who have already come to Washington say that there will be none. On the other hand, Secretary Wilson says that the people of the West were looking to Congress for a diligent inquiry into the existing schedules, that "they do not believe that the tariff schedules are inspired like the Lord's Prayer", that "they are questioning whether the great combinations of capital may not have got beyond control and whether certain industries longer need the protection of the tariff". Representative Babcock, a prominent member of the House and Representative Overstreet of Indiana, says that the republican party pledged itself to "early tariff revision along Republican lines", that it was the pledge which won the cordial support of the West in the recent elections and that "the Republicans cannot disregard this pledge". Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania, who expects to receive the support of all the large manufacturing states of the east, freely says that he asks election on the ground of his high protection views and because he believes that the people desire a speaker who is known to be sound on that question, which being interpreted, means a speaker who will use his extensive power to prevent any change of the present schedules.

The Courier attributes the defeat of certain candidates on the Republican county ticket to a lack of support from the Gazette. We are glad to note our esteemed contemporary gives us credit for wielding such influence. We would not ourselves be boastful enough to claim as much. We will, however, recur to the fact that only three county officers whom the Gazette opposed were elected—and one of these by the narrow margin of 5 majority.

Mother's Corner

By Mother Katherine.

MAKE YOUR WILL.

In this workaday life of ours, where every one seems to be rushing on madly, there are not many persons who think of making their wills. They will tell you that death is afar off, that they "never trouble trouble till trouble troubles them." Many a man has become angry when asked to make his will. Believe me, it is the wise man and the wise woman who does not wait for illness with its ravages on mind and body to make a will.

Many people are not aware of the burden they are preparing for those whom they love when they leave business matters for the courts to settle. I have seen so many estates settled, some with harrowing lawsuits, others, thown in the hands of HONEST lawyers dwindling perceptibly in going through probate court.

When a man dies, his wife (if he has one) gets one third of his estate and his children or his blood relations (in case of no children) get the rest.

Then if the wife wishes to buy a pair of shoes or any other needed article, she must keep an account of every cent expended and the judge allows the bill if he so chooses. I recall an incident, where a young girl's share in an estate was twenty thousand dollars, yet the judge objected to a bill for a wheel and made things very unpleasant for all concerned. Suppose a woman owns property given her by her husband, if he is a good husband and father, she should make her will in his favor, for in case of her death her children or others next of kin would inherit two-thirds of her property, thus perhaps financially embarrassing a good man.

In connection with law and lawyers I recall a story which served me well in a badinage of words with Senator Blank, a lawyer. Pat was walking through a cemetery reading the inscriptions on the monuments. Finally he read—"Here lies a lawyer and an honest man." Pat looked both shocked and puzzled, saying: "Sure an' it's very scarce ground must be whin they are putting two men into one grave."

I do not agree with Pat, for it has been my good fortune to know many honest lawyers; but be that as it may when a man leaves his property for the probate court to handle he must allow for a good fat fee, and furthermore he is running the risk of calling up resentment, when he'd only wish the most loving of memories.

Husbands, do not forget that the wife who helped you acquire what you have, has a right to all, at least as long as she lives, though I favor absolute possession. Call on your lawyer therefore, and make your will and those who survive you will bless you, when in perhaps the saddest time of their lives, you have made everything easy for them.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

TRUE STORIES OF GREAT AMERICANS FOR YOUNG AMERICANS.

By the Famous Writer fur Young Americans, and Thomas Sheppurd Meek.

I wish every boy and girl could read the stories in the books of which today's talk treats. It contains twelve stories about the lives of our bravest and noblest men, setting forth the fact that they led good lives, doing great deeds, even though they had little help while young. The stories are told in such an interesting way, that old and young enjoy reading them over and over again. The lives of the following named Americans are discussed:

George Washington, John Paul Jones, Benjamin Franklin, Patric Henry, Robert E. Lee, George Peabody, Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, James A. Garfield, Robert Fulton, Cyrus W. Field, Thos. A. Edison. Published by John C. Winston Co., Philadelphia, Chicago, Toronto.

THOMAS A. EDISON.

Thomas Edison showed when he was a very little boy that he was both a Dutchman and a Scotchman in strength of body and his bright and strong mind. His mother had been a teacher, and it was she who gave this promising boy his early instruction. It is said that only two months of his life did Edison attend school. Nevertheless, when but ten years old he was so bright that he could read Gibbon's History of the Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire, Burton's dry book called the Anatomy of Melancholy and David Himm's History of England. When twelve years old he read one of the hardest books in the world, Newton's Principia.

He started to work the first evening at six o'clock, and the operators thought they would have some fun out of the new man, so they sent him over to the table to sake a special report from the "Boston Herald."

Now, they had gotten the fastest telegraph operator in New York to send the message, and had wired him they had a new man in the office, "a regular jay from the woolly West" they called him, and they wished he would paralize him by sending the message so fast he could not take it.

Edison wrote a very plain and yet a very rapid hand. The men stood around as he received the message with perfect ease, and looked on with astonishment. After that they had the greatest respect for him and "the jay from the woolly West" became one of the best liked men in the office.

HOUSEHOLD.

It is a great mistake to imagine that turning down the wick of a lighted lamp subserves economy. Then, too, a lamp thus used will throw off poisonous vapors which are inhaled by those in the room.

Prairie Flowers of Fancy.

A brief for the state in an early Nebraska case indulges in the following prairie flowers of fancy:

"Plaintiffs in error are afraid that the honor and dignity of the state will suffer, and they invoke for the claimants broad principles of natural equity and the claim that neither the laws governing courts nor the constitution applies to them. The logical sequence is this—that persons who hold claims against the state are a favored class, who can alone make wings of 'justice and right' to fly to that mystic region above and beyond the trammels of law, and where such unjust things as contracts and written constitutions do not exist, but where for them a straight and narrow pathway leads to the treasury, whose doors, without stint or delay, turn softly on golden hinges to admit them. Yet if I do not very much mistake this court 'these wings' will unfeather in their flight, and claimants against the state must fall to a common level with all other litigants and stand up to the rack where is fed that good old fodder of 'justice and right' as administered by our courts."

A Sound Sleeper.

At the Francais theater in Paris one evening during the performance of a play by Soumet a spectator was observed to be slumbering. "Look," said Dumas to the author, who was sitting near him, "you see the effect produced by your tragedy." But the next evening at the same theater it happened that the play was one of Dumas' own, and it happened also that a gentleman in the stalls was overpowered by sleep. Soumet being present noticed this, and, with infinite satisfaction, tapping Dumas on the shoulder and pointing to the offender, he said, "Please notice, my dear Dumas, that your plays can send people to sleep as well as mine." "Not at all," was the ready answer; "that's our friend of yesterday. He has not woke up yet!"

Smallest People In the World.

The inhabitants of the Andaman islands are the smallest race of people in the world. The average height of a full grown Andaman is 4 feet 5 inches, and few weigh over seventy-six pounds. They are marvelously swift of foot and as they smear themselves over with a mixture of oil and red ocher present a very strange appearance. Few travelers care to encounter any of these bellicose little people, for their skill in throwing the spear and in using the bow is only equaled by their readiness to attack strangers.

Mexico's Dirtiest City.

Merida, the capital of Yucatan is, it is said, the richest city in Mexico in proportion to its population, which is placed anywhere from 50,000 to 90,000. It is also the dirtiest city in Mexico, which is saying something very unpleasant, for there are few clean cities in the sister republic. Merida has neither a water nor a sewerage system, and that it is not depopulated every year speaks well for the constitutions of the inhabitants.

"Forgetting the Man at Bethesda"

By Rev. Dr. CHARLES JEFFERSON of New York

WITH THE WORLD THUNDERING ON AT ITS PRESENT RATE WE ARE IN DANGER OF FORGETTING THE MAN AT BETHESDA. We have forgotten him many times already. We forgot him a hundred years ago. We forgot him fifty years ago, and because we did forget him it was necessary that every drop of blood shed by the lash should be paid for by blood by the sword.

WE FORGOT HIM ONLY THE OTHER DAY. HE WAS IN A MINE, AND WE COULD NOT SEE HIM, AND SO WE HURRIED ON AND BUILT OUR CIVILIZATION ON THE PRODUCT OF THAT MAN'S LABOR, NEVER THINKING OF HIM OR HIS WIFE OR HIS CHILDREN, EVEN THOUGH EVERY ONE OF THEM IS A CHILD OF GOD.

The other day that man quit working, but we paid no attention to his action. He was only a Slav, and his bad humor, we thought, would quickly subside. But to our surprise he persisted in his refusal to work, and, LITTLE BY LITTLE, THE PILLARS OF THE REPUBLIC BEGAN TO TREMBLE. The wheels in the factories and mills ceased to turn. The hands of that Slav were on them. Schoolhouses began to close. That Slav had kept them open. Sick people in many a humble home began to feel the pinch of cold. The Slav had been ministering unto them. The poor in great cities began to moan, and the chief magistrate of the republic confessed, "The situation is intolerable."

That unnoticed foreigner, hundreds of feet underground, had by his labor made life comfortable and pleasant to millions who had never seen him. He has called for help repeatedly for many years, but no one went to his assistance. By refusing to work he compelled the world to look at him.

Men today are computing the cost of the strike. They say it has cost the nation $180,000,000. How much it has cost in suffering no one knows, but this is certain—THE STRIKE WAS WORTH ALL IT HAS COST IF IT FIXES THE EYES OF THE NATION ON THE MEN WHO SPEND THEIR LIVES IN THE MINES. They are our brethren. Christ died for them. They toil for us. If they are foreigners and ignorant and depraved and dangerous, then their claim upon us is all the greater. If the miner is at the rear end of the procession, our Lord is by his side.

The Greatest Question of the Day

By JOHN MITCHELL,
National President United Mine Workers of America.

THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN CAPITALISTS AND LABORERS IS BY ALL ODDS THE GREATEST QUESTION CONFRONTING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

It is a question which has been with us since the formation of our government; it is a question which will remain with us as long as justice is withheld from the men and women who are compelled to earn their living by the sweat of their brows. The time has come when the tenement houses of our cities, which reek with filth, disease and misery, must give way, and upon their ruins comfortable homes must be erected for the producers of wealth. The time has come when the boys and girls must be taken from the factories, the workshops and the mines and placed in school and kept there until they have reached the age and have acquired the education and the physical strength which shall properly equip them for the battles of life. Not only are the wage earners organized and organizing for the purpose of enforcing these necessary reforms, but behind their demand is a growing, crystallizing public sentiment which recognizes that the safety and THE PERPETUITY OF OUR GOVERNMENT CANNOT BE MAINTAINED IF THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE IS TO BE KEPT IN IGNORANCE, POVERTY AND SERVITUDE IN ORDER THAT THE FEW MORE FAVORED MAY LIVE IN LUXURY AND IDLENESS.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorder of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidney and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system Puts new life and vigor into any week, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents Sold by W. A. Schreiter druggist.

High School Notes.

By The Athenian Society.

We were pleased that so many visitors were present to hear the Spartan program last Friday. The society that rendered it realized 24.6 points. One of the humorous recitations appeared a little more ridiculous than laughable.

None of us blame Prof. Whiteley for being just a little startled Tuesday morning during an experiment in Chemistry when one of the girls turned suddenly from her desk and fell prone at his feet. On investigating we found that a piece of burning phosphorus had shot through the air from the opposite side of the room and falling on her book had damaged it considerably besides scattering a quanity of powoered charcoal lying near. In her fright and surprise she turned suddenly and tripped herself on her apron.

Chas. Dougherty and Jesse Luxemburg started work in the H. S. Monday morning. The enrollment is now up to 68.

Next Friday afternoon occurs the next debate. It promises to be interesting, so don't miss it. The subject is: "Resolved, that Lee was a greater general than Grant." The Athenians have the affirmative side; their debaters are Maude Findeisen, Ralph Healy and Mabel Zaiser. The Spartan debaters are Alice Newton, Frank Brady and Emma Allard.

Too bad that the snow is melting! The lower grade pupils, being smaller than we are, do not echo our sentiments

The first of the tri annual examinations begin next Monday. Several of us appear to be "cramming" continually of late. It is to be regretted that this studious spirit is but transitory.

Miss Emily LaFreniere visited the High School last Friday.

By way of preparation for the coming examinations we are having reviews in all studies.

Expiation must be made!! Those boys who miss school to go hunting are requested to bring back game, if nothing but a jack-rabbit.

Were the High School not so quiet and peaceful, these notes would be more numerous.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR CROUP.

[From the Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe.]

This is the season when the women who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack, It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by W. A, Schreiter's drug store.

SELECTIONS

UNCOOKED FOOD.

Human Sickness Said to Be Largely Due to the Kitchen.

The advocates of uncooked food say that, however well the cooking is done, it ought not to be done at all. They claim that the minute cells which go to make up the organization of the texture to be eaten should not be broken up by culinary processes, that they should go into the stomach as nature intended them—raw and ready for digestion.

They notice that animals, which seldom eat cooked food, are a hundred times less likely to be sick than men and women, that an invalid brute is a rarity, while more or less ailing human beings are in every neighborhood.

One physician who has adopted this method of eating altogether and is advising and teaching others to do so claims to have learned a lesson from his horses. "While I was growing more and more sickly," he avers, "and 'running down' rapidly my horses were sleek, fat and as healthy as ever. I at last made up my mind to eat the same kind of things that they did and have since been as healthy as they."

There can be no doubt that a great deal of disease is caused by eating the wrong thing and often too much even of the right thing. The products of nature's laboratory are probably as nearly right as she can make them, but when "civilization" gets its hand in they run at least a risk of being spoiled and unfit for the human stomach, however pleasant to the palate.

In the first place, they are often adulterated, even before they get to the cook. In order to preserve them or to make them more attractive in appearance or pleasing to the taste and at any rate more profitable to the money till the dealer is tempted to "doctor" them with various products of the drugstore and by other means of which the consumer has no idea.

The advocates of this plan of eating claim that undue stimulus does not lurk in liquids alone and that cooking often makes food so stimulating to the human system as to produce a bad state of the nerves. They abjure the free use of salt, pepper and other substances used as "relishes," claiming that the same are little better than poison. They designate all sorts of mental and physical ailments as having been produced by cooked food.—"Uncooked Food Movement" in Will Carlton's Magazine.

Bright Pupils.

A young woman teacher in one of the grammar schools in Brooklyn was speaking of her work the other day. She said that unless a person had some experience in teaching he could scarcely understand how marvelously stupid some children were and what peculiar mistakes ordinarily bright children sometimes make. To illustrate her point she told three stories from her own personal experiences. One day, on a language examination, the following was one of the topics: "Name three kinds of sentences and give examples." This is the way one of the children met the problem. He wrote: "Declarative, interrogative, imperative. 2+2=4. 9×2=18. 13—6=7."

On another day one of the questions in a grammar examination read: "'I cannot see it ——.' Complete this sentence by using the words plain or plainly. Give your reason."

One bright youth wrote this answer: "'I cannot see it plain.' Reason: Because it is too far away."

Another scholar answered the question as to why the Dutch settled on the Hudson river by saying, "So they could have a place to wash."—New York Tribune.

Evils of Excessive Smoking.

While a good cigar, used temperately two or three times a day, may be smoked by the average adult man to good advantage, excessive indulgence in smoking is very harmful. It is only necessary to recall one's first cigar and the profound effect it produced to realize that the smoking of tobacco in large quantities is trifling with a dangerous agent, says the Baltimore Sun.

The chief effects of smoking are from the nicotine and empyreumatic oil, the first being an active poison—an infinitesimal quantity will destroy life—and the latter, which is the rank accumulation in the stem of the pipe, is also a potent poison, one drop on the tongue of a cat having been fatal. The nicotine and the oil both act on the nervous system, though differently, the nicotine paralyzing the heart by its action on the brain, while the oil confines itself chiefly to the spinal cord and the motor nerves.

Cast Out Cant.

Honor to the strong man in these ages who has shaken himself loose of shams and is something. For in the way of being worthy the first condition surely is that one be. Let cant cease at all risks and at all costs. Till cant cease nothing else can begin.—Carlyle.

Heroic Remedies.

"They claim that peritonitis is a cure for appendicitis."

"I suppose that's on the same principle that beheading is a sure cure for squinting."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wit is brushwood, judgment is timber. The first makes the brightest flames, but the other gives the most lasting heat.

THE COUNTY BOARD

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Proceedings Board of County Commissioners. Red Lake Falls Minn., Sept. 29, 1902.

Board met in extra session this day.

Meeting called to order by chairman.

All members present.

On motion duly carried Auctioneer's License was granted to Daniel Patterson of St. Hilaire.

Hearing was then had on county road petition of D. Linahan and others.

On motion duly carried the following order was made.

FINAL ORDER ON COUNTY ROAD.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake. } ss.

Whereas, A petition signed by twenty-four freeholders of said County, praying for the laying out and establishing of a certain highway in said County, running into more than one town, and not within the limits of any incorporated city, as hereinafter described, was presented to this board at its session on the 26th day of July 1902 and this Board having determined by the judgment of a majority of its members that said petition is reasonable on its face, and having by its order made at said session, appointed Friday the 12th day of September 1902, at 3 o'clock p. m., at the Auditor's office in said county as the time and place for a hearing upon said petition, and having by said order appointed a committee of its members to examine said proposed highway of said road and designated Tuesday the 9th day of September 1902, at 2 o'clock p. m., at NW corner sec. 15 151 44 in said county, as the time and place for said committee to meet on the route of said proposed road, for the examination of the same, and having caused notices of said hearing and said meeting of said committee embodying a copy of said petition, to be posted in the three most public places of each town through which said proposed highway of said road runs or affected thereby, at least thirty days before the day of said hearing upon said petition, and being satisfied that said notices were so posted and proof of said posting duly made, and the committee having met at the time and place designated in said order and said notices, and examined the same and made its report in writing to this board, and recommended that said petition be granted, and said Board having met at the time and place designated in said order and said notices to-wit: at the Auditor's office in said county, on Friday the 12 day of September, 1902, at 3 o'clock p. m., and adjourned said hearing to the 30th day of Sept. 1902 at 1 o'clock p. m., and duly heard all that anyone had to say in favor of or against, the granting of said petition, and considered said petition and the report of said committee thereon, and a majority of said Board having agreed that said petition should be granted,

It is Hereby Ordered, That the prayer of said petition be and the same is hereby granted, and said highway is hereby established so as to run according to said committe's report, by courses and distances as follows, to-wit:

It is Further Ordered, That the County Auditor notify the Town Supervisors of each town through which said road is laid out and established of the fact of said laying out and establishing of said road and that they shall cause to be opened so much of said highway as lies in their respective towns.

And Whereas, At the said hearing, upon said petition and said report of said committee, certain persons over whose lands said L of said road will pass did remonstrate against granting the prayer of said petition and did set forth in writing that they would be damaged in a sum therein mentioned by the establishing of said road, and made oath and subscribed to the same, and said Board has determined from said report and the evidence before them, the amounts of the damages sustained by said persons and that said proposed establishing of said road is of sufficient advantage to said county to warrant the paying of the damaged assessed by this Board, the said Board proceeded to assess said damaged at what is deemed just and right to each land owner, taking into account the advantages and benefits of said establishing of said highway as well as the disadvantages and damages,

It is Ordered, That said damages be and they are hereby assessed to be paid to each person by said county as follows, to-wit: Benefits equal to damages.

Names of Owners, Description of Lands, Sec., Town, Range, Damages.

S. A. Swanson NW¼ sec. 28 Twp. 152 Rng. 44 damages none.

L J. Waggoner SE¼ sec. 28 Twp. 152 Rng. 44 damages none.

In witness Whereof, The chairman of this board has hereunto set his hand and affixed our seal at Red Lake Falls in said county, this 29th day of September A. D. 1902.

The Board of County Commissioners,
Of Red Lake County, Minn.,
By James Sutor,
Chairman.

Attest:
Adam Zeh,
County Auditor.

On motion duly carried recess was taken to 9 o'clock a. m.

9 o'clock a. m. Sept. 30, 1902.

Board reconvened.

Meeting called to order by the chairman.

Members all present.

Hearing was then had on county road petition of Joseph Rose and others.

On motion duly carried hearing on same was adjourned to December 8th 1902.

Commissioner Johnson offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved that Engineer Ralph's estimates on ditching jobs be approved as follows:

Wyandotte ditch No. 1	$ 350 00
Wyandotta and River Falls No. 1	500 00
Wyandotte and River Falls No. 2	1100 00
Black River-River Falls No. 1	156 68

Provided that $100 00 be retained on Black River-River Falls No. 1 until final approval of said work by the board.

Which resolution was seconded by Commissioner Hanson and on motion carried unanimously the same was adopted.

Motion made by Hebert seconded by Demann that bill of Dr. W. O. Tessier of $49 00 for balance due on former bill be allowed. Motion carried, Hebert, Demann and Sutor voting in favor of same, Hanson and Johnson not voting.

Motion made by Hebert, seconded by Demann, that bill of Dr. H. Grundy of $50 00 for balance due on former bill be allowed, Motion defeated, Hebert and Demann voting in favor of same, Hanson, Johnson and Sutor not voting.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF PETITION.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake. } ss.

Whereas, The petition of Gunstein Torgerson and others, bearing date the 2nd day of June 1902, and on file in my office, praying for the establishment of a public ditch along the route proposed therein, has been filed in my office.

Now, Therefore, Notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition, and that the same will be heard and determined before the said Board of County Commissioners, at their special session to be held at the Auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, on the 8th day of December 1902, at 1 o'clock P. M.

A true copy of said petition is as follows, to-wit:

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for the expense of, the construction of the public ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare require the establishment and construction of a public ditch along the following described route in the Town of Garnes in said county of Red Lake, and that the construction of the same would be of public benefit and utility.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at or near the southeast corner of section 13, township 151, range 41, thence running along the following route: West on the section line between sections 13 and 24, and 23 and 14, township 151, range 41 and terminating at or near the Northwest corner of section 23, township 151, range 41, and having as its outlet the branch ditch of Garnes-Emardville ditch No. 1.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred and Fifty-eight (258) of the General laws of Minnesota for 1901, and subsequent amendments thereto.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF PETITION.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake } SS.

Whereas, The petition of P. A. Rustad and others, bearing date the 3rd day of June 1902, and on file in my office, praying for the establishment of a public ditch along the route proposed therein, has been filed in my office.

Now, Therefore, Notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition, and that the same will be heard and determined before the said Board of County Commissioners, at their special session to be held at the Auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, on the 8th day of December, 1902, at 1 o'clock P. M.

A true copy of said petition is as follows, to-wit:

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for the expense of, the construction of the public ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare require the establishment and construction of a public ditch along the following described routes in the towns of Lambert and Garnes in said county of Red Lake and that the construction of the same would be of public benefit and utility.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said public ditch is as follows:

Commencing at or near the Southwest corner of section 23, township 151, range 41, thence running along the following route: South on the section line between sections 26 and 27 and 35 and 34 of township 151, range 41, and south on the section line between sections 2 and 3 of township 150, range 41, to a point where said section line intersects the Lost River in said township 150 range 41, and terminating at the north bank of the Lost River, between sections 2 and 3, township 150, range 41, and having as its outlet the said Lost River.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred and Fifty-eight (258) of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1901, and subsequent amendments thereto.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF PETITION.

State of Minnesota }
County of Red Lake } SS

Whereas, The petition of Francois Lambert and others, bearing date the 27th day of May 1902, and on file in my office, praying for the establishment of a public ditch along the route proposed therein, has been filed in my office.

Now, Therefore, Notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition, and that the same will be heard and determined before the said Board of County Commissioners, at their special session to be held at the Auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county on the 8th day of December, 1902, at 1 o'clock P. M.

A true copy of said petition is as follows, to-wit:

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

The undersigned landowners, whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for the expense of, the construction of the ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare require the establishment and construction of a ditch along the following described route in the town of Lambert in said county of Red Lake and that the construction of the same would be of public benefit and utility.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at point thirty five rods south from the northeast corner of section thirteen in the Town of Lambert, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, thence running along the following route: In a northwesterly direction through the northeast quarter of section thirteen, in said town of Lambert, to grade running east and west between sections twelve and thirteen, and eleven and fourteen, and ten and fifteen, and running west along the south side of said grade to a point about 120 rods west of the southeast corner of section ten and the northeast corner of section fifteen, to the present culvert, thence crossing said grade, thence running north one half mile, thence running in a northwesterly direction through the balance of section ten and through section nine to grade running north and south between sections eight and nine, thence running north on east side of grade between the balance of sections eight and nine and four and five of said town of Lambert, and terminating at Lost River at a point between said sections four and five of said town of Lambert, Red Lake County, Minnesota, and having as its outlet the said Lost River.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred and Fifty-eight (258) of the general Laws of Minnesota for 1901, and subsequent amendments thereto.

Editor Gazette:

It has long been said that this is the country of the free, the cradle of "Liberty" and the Mecca of civilization. What a farce! When the people now must sacrifice their liberty and rights at the polls. The principles of right should be enforced on election day. Every legalized citizen should be compelled to cast his vote. Unless this is done, and every citizen does his duty on that day why liberty is sacrificed at the polls, and their right of citizenship is barred from them. There should be a law, or a constitutional amendment made to that effect. It is a cruel injustice to the many that they should suffer loss for the few that ignore all rights, and the laws that govern the nation's welfare.

It is now time that all right thinking citizens should make an appeal to the law-makers for ample provisions to protect their citizenship and right. Until this is done, we have no rights and cannot enjoy the fruitage of true born liberty, as citizens.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. GIVE HIM A TRIAL.

THE WINE EXPERT.

HE MUST BE AS TEMPERATE AS AN ATHLETE IN TRAINING.

By Sight, Smell and Taste He Tests the Quality of Liquors and Hence He Must Lead a Life at Once Rigorous and Ascetic.

Many hotels and restaurants of importance as well as many wholesale and retail liquor dealing firms employ a wine expert. It is the duty of this man to pass upon the quality of all wines, brandies, whiskies and other alcoholic beverages handled by his house. He works with an empty stomach, and he makes his tests through the three senses of sight, which tests the spirit's color and clarity; smell, which tests its odor, and taste, the most important sense, which tests its flavor. To keep these senses at once delicate and sharp the expert must not use tobacco, and in the use of liquors he must be temperate to the point of teetotalism.

If two glasses of champagne are set before a clever wine expert, one a champagne of the vintage of 1864, the other of the vintage of 1888, he will tell readily which is which. There are indeed a half dozen vintages which he can designate by their taste alone without the helpful presence of the labeled bottle.

The wine expert must also have a profound knowledge of red wines. Among the red wines of France he must be able to tell those of the Garonne from those of Burgundy and of Dauphiny.

In the white wines also he must be learned, and he should have no difficulty in distinguishing the champagnes of Sillery, of Ay, of Reims and of Epernay and in distinguishing also their best vintages. Among the other French white wines he must know those of Sauterne, Barsac, Preignac and Bommes. And the Spanish white wines of Xeres, the German white wines of Johannisberg, Steinberg and Hockheim must be like old time friends.

Whiskies and brandies are divisions of his work that are as important as the wines. He must tell at a glance whether a brandy has been aged in wood or in glass, and he must not only separate with ease the Irish, the Scotch and the American whiskies, but he even must designate the districts in which each was distilled.

Considering his knowledge the salary of the wine expert is not great. It averages $40 a week. Occasionally it falls as low as $25, and occasionally it mounts to munificence.

The expert must not eat rich, heavy foods and pastries. He must not keep late hours. His life, in a word, must be as temperate as that of an athlete in training. This is in order that his senses of sight and taste and smell may be at their best always. Smoking is bad for the smell; rich foods are bad for the taste; late hours or any sort of dissipation, even the mildest, is bad for the health generally and for all the senses, sight in particular; hence the rigorous and ascetic life of the wine expert.

The wine expert works with stomach empty, for then his taste and smell are at their keenest. He works on bright days only in a room flooded with sunlight, for then he can best weigh a liquor's color and lucidity. He uses glasses of the oddest shapes—a different glass almost for every liquor—for these help him to distinguish the most delicate gradations of smell and color. The brandy glass, for instance, has a bowl almost as big as a washbowl. The bottom of this bowl the brandy covers in the thinnest layer. The expert puts his face down close and, with his nose inside the bowl, rolls the brandy about, thus getting the full bouquet of the liquor.

He must never swallow the beverages he tests. He holds them in his mouth about a minute, rolling them upon his tongue and letting them touch his palate, and that is sufficient for an accurate judgment. To swallow them would not aid him, for there are no nerves of taste in the stomach. To swallow them would, on the contrary, hinder him, sending him drunk to bed each testing day.

The expert of a large and fashionable New York hotel in discussing the other day his business said:

"What is more difficult than to describe in words the taste of anything? How, for instance, would you say what bread tastes like or meal or potatoes?

"But red wines have, after all, a definable taste. The poor red wines are earthy. They have a flavor of fresh soil. The good ones taste like field mushrooms, and the best ones taste like truffles. But the taste of whiskies and brandies and white wines is not to be defined in any such concrete way as this.

"The wine science is a nice one. Few men know it. Few men indeed can tell with their eyes shut whisky from brandy or ale from beer. Few men who use liquor even know the wines that custom demands should be drunk with a dinner at which wine is served."

When asked what those wines were, he said:

"Sauterne with the oysters, sherry with the soup, Rhine wine with the fish, claret with the roast, champagne with the game, salad and dessert and cognac with the coffee."—New York Tribune.

The Amendment.

Wannamo—Here, read over this feature of the proposed charter amendment and tell me what it means.

Duzno (after reading it carefully eleven times)—It means that in any case of emergency the board of education may employ or remove any teacher or head of department if it can.—Los Angeles Herald.

E. J. Brink smiled in on us from St. Hilaire Tuesday.

Mrs. Alice Gorvais, of Grand Forks, is a guest of her daughter Laura.

Frank Lesarge, of Polk county, and Miss Lulu Lacoursitre, of Lambert, have been granted a license to wed.

F. D. Jacobson and M. M. English, of Marshall, were ushered into Healy's Land Office Monday by F. J. Parker.

H. J. Kaufer hasn't said a word about Socialism since yesterday. His theme now is the glory of being a grandfather.

T. Lefaive arrived in the city last week from Two Harbors. He will remain a couple of weeks looking after private collections.

Rt. Rev. Peter Engel. O. S B., abbot of St. John's abbey of Collegeville, was in the city Tuesday a guest of the Rev. P. Ansgar.

Dr. C W. Doran, of LeSueur, and Miss Catherine E. McCaffery were married at St. Hilaire yesterday, the Rev. P. Ansgar officiating.

L. P. Stranahan, auditor for the St. Hilaire Lumber Company, was here Monday, checking up the big business transacted by Manager Bob Raney.

Manager Wilrry, of the St. Hilaire creamery, reports an excellent business, and says he expects to have a big run all winter, as he is constantly receiving cream from a number of farmers who are not even stockholders in the association but who appreciate the prices they get for their cream.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Murphy are rejoicing over the arrival of a son and heir. The youngster timed his arrival for Wednesday, the 19th inst., this being his mother's 21st birthday anniversary, and he wanted to be on hand to assist in the family observance. The Gazette welcomes its new nephew to the fold.

Mrs. J. R. Lewis, of Minneapolis, arrived in the city Thursday, and is a guest of her grand daughter, Mrs. L. C. Simons. Mrs. Lewis was made a great grand mother Thursday by the birth of a son and heir to Mr. and Mrs. Simons. She looks scarcely old enough to be a grandmother, however, and only a few weeks ago made a record of riding 44 miles in a stretch on a bicycle. We know of no other great grandmother in the country holding a like record.

An observing contemporary says that "we never saw a man well enough off so that he could afford to leave his farm implements in the field where he last used them, or leaning against the side of the barn or in the grove, neither did we ever see one who was so hard pressed that he could not afford to build a shed to receive the tools when the season is over. The fact of it is, the well-to-do farmer has become so by caring for everything as he went along, his tools included. That is one secret of success."

The Gazette last week omitted to chronicle the party, given on the 8th inst., by little Wanda Gaas, on the occasion of her 4th birthday anniversary. Wanda's little friends congregated at her home in the afternoon and what with games, and goodies galore, had a royal good time. The little hostess was remembered by her friends with numerous beautiful birthday gifts.

The Red Lake Falls Co-operative Creamery Association held a meeting Saturday and decided to close the creamery for the season. The record of the Association this season has been one of continuous success. Buttermaker Johnson is now contemplating leasing the plant until spring. By taking in dairy butter and working it over, besides making all the butter he can with the available milk supply which is naturally at a low ebb during the winter, he figures he can make it a paying proposition.

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced a serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent. of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J. MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Thirty-one dollars and fifty cents, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Albert Smith mortgagor, to Julius W. Berg mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of August 1901, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 30th day of August 1901, at 3 o'clock p.m., in book 18 of Mortgages, on page 568.

And Whereas, the said Julius W. Berg, mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Four hundred and eighty-one dollars and fifty cents with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, from the 28th day of August 1902, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The west half (W½) of the Southeast quarter (SE¼) of section Nineteen (19) in township one hundred fifty (150) of range forty-three (43) West containing eighty acres according to the government survey thereof in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 9th day of January 1903 at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four hundred and eighty-one dollars and fifty cents, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five dollars, ($25) Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated November 18, A. D. 1902.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.

I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

Vol. 20. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, NOVEMBER 27, 1902. No. 11

SAINTLY CITY

Jason T. Kidder, The Gazette's Hold-up Artist, Continues to Gather in New Subscribers.

Fifty of Red Lake County's Best are Made to See a Great Light in the Brief Space of One Week's Time.

Thief River Falls Will Next be Favored With a Visit From Kidder.

Strolling up to the elevator I met W. A. Sorsoleil who for the past ten years has been a trusted employe of the Red Lake Falls' Milling Company. Mr. Sorsoleil is a man who forcibly impresses upon one the fact that the French are the most polite people in the world. It is always a pleasure to mingle with that class, and if this gentleman had not cheerfully handed out a dollar, I should have still retained the same impression. A gentleman is easily known in any walk of life.

It is sometimes said "like father, like son," and in this instance it is certainly true, for P. S. Dalnard, the obliging assistant at the Red Leke Falls' Milling Co.'s elevator is certainly one of nature's nobleman, anxious to please and ever willing to extend the good hand of fellowship. No wonder that his services are always in demand at first class wages. An experienced edger is always employed in season and Mr. Dalnerd expects shortly to return to his profession in Bemidji. As both gentleman now take The Gazette their happiness should be complete.

It doesn't do for a man with a weak top piece to keep too busy. Consequently I went in to the Spectator office to meet the good-natured editor and his sharp witted assistant. I found Col. Ives in the editor's easy chair and of the two he seemed the easier. Contentment was written all over his face in capital letters and he didn't look as if the gaunt wolf had ever been within nine hundred miles of him. If the circulation of The Spectator is as large in porprotion as the genial proprietor, no wonder that the Irish humorist who manages the plant wears such a self satisfied smile.

As Mr. Kaufer doesn't pay me for sitting in someone else's office I went out and stopped the first man I met who readily agreed that the official paper was a good thing for every taxpayer to have in the house and if he was sure it could be stopped at the expiration of the subscription he would take it. I guaranteed that it would be discontinued when his time was up or else he would get it free from then until it did stop. I gave a receipt to that effect and C. A. Nelson of Bray P. O., will have a much better idea of the county business than he would otherwise have had.

John Jensen, of Thief River Falls, discovered when it was too late that he was too far from his base of supplies. otherwise I should not have added his name to the roll of honor; but St. Hilaire draws tribute from a wide scope of country, and thus I get them from every direction.

Ola A. Hesteind, a hardy norseman, came here 23 year's ago from the lager state where he landed July 5, 1873, just when there was something doing in the boundless west. Ola says he can't read much English but he is always willing to learn and wishes his children to keep posted.

A warm day like the present seems to be a good one for Ola's. That accounts for Ola M. Fleeke, of Wyandotte P. O., being inscribed here. Mr. Fleeke wants all the news he can get for his money and invariably pays cash which always make the editor's heart glad.

J. N. Evenson whose similarity in name and feature to an army chum of mine made me all the more anxious to have him on the list, and as he is an agreeble young man and a prosperous farmer he couldn't say no, and The Gazette has another intelligent reader.

About this time another young man whose name reads A. Axelson, a near by farmer, decided it was best to be in the majority and down went his name for a year and undoubtedly longer

The young men seem to be out in force to-day for I have just written out a year's receipt for Sam Huiland, a new comer from Halstad Co. and a very promising young man whose intelligence is only exceeded by his good nature. Here's success to you Sam, may your shadow never grow less.

Dan. Patterson, one of your keen. sharp sons of the Green Isle. was already a patron. His livery business does not give him much time to read even a paper like The Gazettte; but if you want to go anywhere and get there the same day you start just ask Mr. Patterson to get out his roaders and see how soon your'e there.

I don't wish to keep the office help working over time for every Saturday there's the "devil" to pay and the other help; but how can I keep people from taking a paper that everybody ought to have.

The town is noisy with wedding bells, no less than three weddings in the past thirty-six hours. Most of the nice looking bachelors are getting vaccinated to prevent a spread of the disease, the rest are in quarantine. There was enough rice scattered around the depot last night to keep a Chinaman busy with his chop sticks all winter.

Henry Eliason. a former Badger, but now a Gopher, didn't seem to care if Wisconsin did get beat in the foot-ball game, and says "Wisconsin should known better than to have played. Yes, I will take the paper. Everyone ought to get the official news"

Seeing such a large gathering at tha other elevator I went over to learn the cause. "Well so you are the Kidder we read about, are you?" said a shrewd featured men who sat in the office. "What are you doing?" "Everyone I can, and you are next," I replied. "You bet I'm next, and as I may as well try to get rid of the devil as a newspaper man, here's your dollar. That's why Leonard Holmes is still in business at this place He owns a large elevator and his twelve years' experience has made him not only a capable buyar but a host of friends.

Aug. Swenson, a former Gazette man, who stopped his paper through a misunderstanding for which it transpired that neither Mr. Kaufer nor himself were to blame, was induced to take a six months' term in the leading paper, with the agreement if all went well it could be sent indefinitely. August always does just as he egrees. May the management do the same and all will be well

Adolph Brsnvold. who has enjoyed the benefits of this salubrious climate without the added comfort of a good paper, will now be content and the editor certainly ought to be pleased to number Adolph among his friends.

B .J. Brevig, noticing the drift of the tide, thought it time for him to float in and his name is here inscribed. He's glad now he left Dakota and came up here, so am I.

It's hard to get along without the Irish. That's why I was glad to get B. C. Shannon, a practical dairy farmer, who sees a future in that line for this country. Although young in years Mr. Shannon is old in experience as his life has been spent on the farm and he has not lived in vain.

It seems that the old saying about "birds of a feather" were true, for the next man that insisted upon having the paper was also a dairy farmer who came from Iowa last March. His first name, I find by looking in the receipt book, is Sam Thompson, and he thinks this country is the only one. Quite right milord.

Again does tha old saying coma handy for the naxt man to band out a dollar was Willie Lauritzon, a great Dane who mastered the art of successful dairying in that far off country, but who is soon to take a term at the state agricultural school in ordar that he mey be still better qualified to fill the position he has already been asked to assume. It will be what is termed a post graduate course for William.

Halstad must be short of good citizen. for Ed. Hanske, who signed for this paper just ordered it sent to Esple, Marshall county. where he is going to look up a homestead. I dare say good liteture is scarce up there, but it won't be now.

To illustrate that competition is the life of trade, and a first-class article sells better by comparison. I will only say that Saturday fourteen of St. Hilaire's best lined up and subscribed for The Gazette and it was their first offiense. The St. Paul Dispatch man, the Minneapolis Times and the Red River Farm Journal were well misrepresented besides a slick talker who was traveling for a congressional library; but he only wanted two or three of the best so he tackled Homles, the hardware man, and Colonel Ives. I guess he got 'em, but I have another guess left.

As I needed a dollar to make it even fifty I went down to see Wm. Olson, the expert horse shoer, and repair him. I found him very busy as he invariably is, for when people went a first-class job done at reasonable price they always go to Olson and never make a mistake. The business was established by his father but is being continually increased by his very satisfactory work. I was there several times and the shop was always well filled as also the blacksmith's pocket-book. It's lighter now by a dollar.

When I am well treated by one member of a family I never lika to slight any of the rest, consequently I did not hesitate to enroll G. W. Olson on the list. He is at present active assistant, and his muscle and brawn add greatly in controlling the wild untamed. bronchos that are brought to the shop almost daily. They haven't found one that G. W. is afraid to tackle. Both boys well deserve the large trade they enjoy.

Hogan Hanson, a new comer from Big Stone county, and a new comer in any county, was well pleased to know that the editor took enough interest in the welfare of the people to send a man out into the highways and byways to lead the poor benighted wayfarers out of the wilderness into a place flowing with beer and money; but each being his view of the case I willingly inscribed his name on the book.

About that time Wm. Shannon drove up and inquired if we allowed more than one in a family to subscribe. stating that his brother had taken The Gazette the day before. I looked up the rules and informed him that if they were not living under the same roof there was no law against his going on the list, whereupon he quickly handed out the money for a year. I never allow any one to take the paper for a longer period than a year without a rest. That's what comes of marrying en educated woman, as Mr. Shannon took the paper to please his wife.

I guess they are not going to let up even for dinner for Jacob Amundson said that his father was or hard been taking The Gazette but as it did not come regular I might put him down, and perhaps between the two they could get the full edition. (Editor plessa look this up.)

Gilbert Peterson from Garnes here interposed and asked if there were any more receipts left. "Just about out, but I can take your name and address and send one in case I get one." A hardy Norseman like Gilbert is certainly entitled to the best and he has it now.

J. A. Anderson, one of your thrifty farmers. was unacquainted with the merits of so well-known a news medium as The Gazette, but as live and learn is his motto and he has been living for some time, he can now realize tha rest of his ideal. I am sure J. A. will always be on tha regular list, for when a man of his cool, calculating turn of mind decides upon a plan it is usually carried out to the capital letter.

Having my attention next attracted by a regular Santa Claus who looked as if he had just fallen off the Christmas tree or came down one of the sawmill chimneys, I learned that his name was Michael Wagner of Thief River Falls and that going down so many sky pieces he had always found a Gazette on every mantel shelf and if the paper was so popular he wanted one on his. It is there now. provided he has received his meil, for we never har anyone, not even a first-class chimney-sweep.

For fear this will make too dry reading I will just mention here that Mike Anderson, a professional drink mixer, has just handed in his money. Isn't it a shamo that I don't drink, else that money would avert a drought, but I see too many people who have looked too long upon the wine when it was red and for fear it might evaporate, drank it up. and became drunk thereby. Very few bartenders drink to excess, which speaks well for will power. I suppose if I had followed my first inclination to drink to have something. I would not have secured Nels Hemrene, because Nels believes in people attending to pleasure before business, which is quite as it should be.

Ike Halvorson, night clerk at the Hotel Markham, stated that he only had a short time to live in the town, but while he wae there he was bound to keep posted. Ike is one of the best liked clerks along the line and has well earned the regard of the traveling public by his always pleasant smile and ever obliging manners. May your shadow never grow less. Ike, for if you get much thinner, your father and mother would not be able to sae you at the same time.

R. H. Duntley, a progressive business man, saw the advantage at once of being advertised in the leading paper with a circulation almost double that of any in the county. He is located almost opposite the Markham, and if the door squeaked on its hinges, there would be music in the air all the time for his choice line of confections, fresh-roasted peanuts, luscious fruits, probably cause more small-change famines than any other two stores in town. In the summer time his expensive soda fountain is the talk of the ice cream fraternity, and those who can't talk can always find a first class line of stationery and can write. Feeling that leaving St. Hilaira without hearing that eminent Divine, Colvin Butler, whom the Free Press in its Horoscope of twenty years hence designates as Bishop Butler, I, in company with Mr. Sorsoliel, went up to the M. E. church to listen. I will here state that the reverend gentleman and myself are old acquaintances and I had previously informed his Reverence that I would be present, consequently or at any rate his text was "the Prodigal Son," which was singularly appropriate, not that it fitted me at all, for I never could eat husks. They always went right to my stomach and made me sick.

Monday morning before leaving St. Hilaire I want down to the large sawmill in operation here, the very largest I ever saw. While there I happened into the office of head book-keeper, N. H. Amos, and in my aimless way stated my business and inquired his. He proved to be a regular encyclopedia of information regarding the lumber industry. and I am only sorry that time and space prevent me from giving the information at hand. Suffice it to state that the pay roll for one month would, if used for that purpose, give every voter in tha county a year's subscription to the leading paper and leave enough for Mr. Amos himself to take a copy; but as he subscribed anyway it's just as well. The pay roll for the year foots up to $120.000 more than I would need for a summer at the seashore, and enough to allow me to burn chips all winter even as high as they are in St. Hilaire. I saw them sell readily for fifty cents a piece, regardless of color.

If you want to get a good roast go to L. M. Roland's shop on Main st. He has been there four years, and his son C. M., although born in Norway, speaks the language like a native and is well up in all the arts pretaining to all well conducted shops. As I said before. if you want choice cuts or a pan roast go to Roland's. If you want a nice newspaper roast come to me.

Thus ends my stay in St. Hilaire. I intended to give the creamery meet which I attended a write-up; but doubtless, a more able writer will give that in the Christmas number, which will be a hummer.

Thief River Falls comes next.

RASTUS AND THE TURKEY

A Thanksgiving Poem

There's a big fat gobbler, I knows where—
Git behin' me, Satan!
An' he look so temptin' roostin' there—
Satan, git behin' me!
Foh I wants to keep mahself from sin,
But de turkey's fat an' I is thin,
An' Ize 'fraid de tempter's boun' to win—
Git behin' me, Satan!

There's a big fat gobbler, nice an' sweet—
Git behin' me, Satan!
An' I can't control mah waywa'd feet—
Satan, git behin' me!
An' by force dey takes me thu de dark
To dat mean ole white man's turkey park.
But I doan' like how dat bulldog bark—
Git behin' me, Satan!

When a big fat gobbler's roasted right—
Git behin' me, Satan!
He's a bird dat's simply out o' sight—
Satan, git behin' me!
An' it's hard to tread de narrer way
When yo' knows it's neah Thanksgivin' day,
Foh yo' wants to go an' ought to stay—
Git behin' me, Satan!

There's a big fat gobbler on de roost—
Git behin' me, Satan!
An' be shu an' give dis chile a boost—
Satan, git behin' me!
Foh dis chile am short, an' roost am high,
An' I'll need dat fat bird by an' by,
So boost me hard 'fore de turk done fly—
Push behin' me, Satan!

COMPROMISE MADE.

Whereby Portion of Moosedung Lands Will be Turned Over to the Meehans.

An agreement has been reached between P., James and John Meehan on one side, and Halvor Steenerson and his Indian clients on the other, for a settlement of the dispute over the Meehan's land north of the city and in the northern part of town, says the Thief River Press.

The conveyances have not as yet been signed by the parties, but both sides are satisfied and the transfer will be made as soon as the signatures of the Indian plaintiffs can be secured. This settlement does not include the Knox and Eshelby interests.

By the terms of the agreement the plaintiffs give up all claim to the land in question upon payment to them of $3,000.. This will insure the Meehans, and those holding under them, a clear title, a fact that means much at the present period of Thief River's growth.

It is not known whether or not the suit will be prosecuted against the other defendants in the case; although it probably will be, unless a settlement can be secured before the date set for the trial.

This, if the agreement is ratified by the Indians, settles the case as to 240 of the 600 acres involved in the suit that is now pending in the U. S. supreme court.

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescripton, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced a serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scorces of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent. of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J. Fulton Company, 420 Montgomery St. San Francisco, Cal.

MAKE A RICH HAUL

BANDITS HOLD UP A GAMBLING HOUSE ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF MINNEAPOLIS.

Hundreds of Horses in Red River Valley Dying of a Strange Disease. Half Dozen Mysterious Disappearances Worrying Duluth Officials. Minneapolis Thieves Carry Off an Organ—General State News.

Minneapolis, Nov. 21.—Two masked highwaymen, who displayed remarkable coolness and daring, held up the "Monte Carlo" gambling house at Columbia Heights at 7 p. m., securing from the attaches and inmates of the place $1,943, in addition to a number of certificates of deposit which will raise the total booty secured to nearly $3,000.

George Harvey, the colored porter of the place, while attempting to make his escape, was shot in the right thigh and in the left leg just above the knee.

Carl Carlson, who also attempted to escape, was shot at, but the bullet missed its mark.

The highwaymen proceeded with the greatest deliberation and although they went through the pockets of a dozen men maintained remarkable composure during the entire transaction. They were considerate of the comfort of their victims, at one time forcing the line of men down the room so that the end man should not be too close to the stove, which was blazing hot at the time.

On taking their departure the highwaymen tossed back $2 for car fare.

DYING OF STRANGE DISEASE.

Hundreds of Horses Perishing in the Red River Valley.

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—A serious condition of affairs prevails in the Red River valley, according to reports in possession of the veterinary department of the state board of health.

Great numbers of horses have been dying of a mysterious disease said to have been imported from Manitoba. The state authorities are of the opinion that it is a microbic disease and are using every effort to isolate the germ.

The manifestations of the trouble are peculiar. A horse in the best of health will suddenly become listless and unfit for work, while at the same time developing a voracious appetite. From the time of seizure until death ensues, which is from three to six weeks, the horse eats twice as much as it would ordinarily do, yet steadily loses flesh and eventually dies of exhaustion.

EPIDEMIC OF MYSTERIES.

Series of Incomprehensible Disappearances at Duluth.

Duluth, Nov. 22.—There seems to be an epidemic of mysterious disappearances at the Head of the Lakes and the police fear the existence of a desperate gang of robbers who believe in putting their victims out of the way.

Half a dozen cases have been reported during the past few weeks. Two new cases are furnishing the police with much much perplexity. After drawing $600 from the bank, Walter Ladell of West Superior has dropped out of sight. Clues, theories and logical deductions lead to the belief that he lost himself this side of the bay. Ray Hall, son of a wealthy and prominent citizen of Bay City, Mich., has also disappeared from this city, much to the anxiety of his people and the perplexity of his friends.

CREW ESCAPE SAFELY.

Steamer Robert Wallace Founders on Lake Superior.

Two Harbors, Minn., Nov. 19.—The steamer Robert Wallace foundered in 300 feet of water on Lake Superior during the night. Captain J. W. Nicholson and the crew were rescued by the schooner Ashland, which the Wallace had in tow, and were brought here by the tug Edna G.

The lost steamer was owned by James Corrigan of Cleveland and was built in 1882. She measured 1,189 tons and was valued at about $40,000.

THIEVES TAKE AN ORGAN.

Musical Instrument of a Minneapolis Church Missing.

Minneapolis, Nov. 22.—Local thieves this week opened up a new line of business by stealing the organ of the First Swedish mission. The organ was in its place Sunday evening but when the congregation assembled for the midweek prayer meeting Wednesday evening the instrument was missing.

The organ was put in when the church was built fifteen years ago and cost $125.

DUE TO OLD AGE.

Mother of Late Senator Davis Dies at Yankton, S. D.

Yankton, S. D., Nov. 20.—Mrs. H. N. Davis, mother of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota, died here during the day at the home of her son-in-law, Judge Bartlett Tripp.

Mrs. Davis had been very weak for some time owing to extreme old age. The remains will be interred at Waukesha, Wis.

Ill Health the Cause.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 20.—Egbert T. Clarke, aged about twenty-three, son of General Traffic Manager Francis B. Clarke of the Great Northern Railway company, took his own life here, shooting himself through the heart. He was seriously ill with consumption, and his melancholia had become so intense that it resulted in temporary aberration.

Engineer Killed in Landslide.

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—W. H. McKee, an engineer in charge of a steam shovel at work on the Rock Island's new road bed near Inver Grove, was instantly killed in a landslide Thursday night. Seven railroad laborers were also buried, but all escaped without serious injury.

FOR BENEFIT OF FARMERS.

St. Paul, Nov. 20.—Beginning Jan. 6 a lecture course of eight weeks will be given at the School of Agriculture for the benefit of farmers who cannot take the regular school course.

This course of lectures covers the subjects of general farm management, drainage, rotation of crops, building and maintaining roads, bridges and fences, farm machinery, dairy husbandry, animal husbandry, agricultural chemistry, farm mechanics, dressing and curing meats, farm horticulture, veterinary science, farm accounts, diseases of plants, economic entomology, poultry.

The whole course is given with special reference to the needs of mature farmers who are too old, or think they are too old, to go to school, and who are actually engaged in farming. It gives them an opportunity to get the cream of the latest investigations in scientific agriculture.

MURDER IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Body of a Stranger Found in a Stone Quarry.

Minneapolis, Nov. 24.—The body of a well dressed stranger was found partly submerged in a pool of water in the bottom of a stone quarry at Nineteenth avenue and Bluff streets, during the afternoon. Albert Ericksoo, a boy living at 1119 Nineteenth avenue south, made the discovery and notified the police. The South Side wagon responded.

Upon lifting the man from the water, it was found that he was dead. The body was placed in the patrol wagon and sent to the morgue.

The police have another murder mystery on their hands. The theory of suicide falls flat in the absence of anything to indicate that the stranger met death by his own hand. There is nothing, so far as the police have been able to ascertain, that indicates such a theory. All the circumstances point to murder.

MINNESOTA BUTTER OUTPUT.

Estimated Figures for This Year Will Far Exceed Last.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—Fifty-two million pounds of creamery butter were made in the 665 creameries of Minnesota during the year 1901. The average market price in New York for creamery butter during that year was 21½ cents a pound, but Minnesota creamery butter is of such a quality that it brings a premium of three-fourths of a cent above the market price.

On this basis the creamery butter output of 1901 brought to the creamery men of Minnesota $11,570,000 in round figures.

D. B. White, assistant dairy inspector, who has compiled the figures, says the showing for 1902 will exceed the figures for 1901, by reason of the season not being so dry as last year, and from the further fact that thirty-five new creameries have been constructed and are in operation this year.

SITUATION WORRIES LOGGERS.

Lumbermen Unable to Secure Sufficient Men for Camps.

Minneapolis, Nov. 19.—The labor situation in the pineries of Minnesota and Wisconsin is tense and loggers are unable to secure men to conduct the operations in the woods.

Just now, says the Mississippi Valley Lumberman, railroad companies and contractors are straining every effort to rush work before cold weather sets in and are offering special inducements to their men to keep them. In the meantime lumbermen and loggers need men to build roads before the freeze-up and do other preparatory work.

Orders for men are as large as last year, but the Minnesota and Wisconsin employment offices report a smaller supply. Last year the average wages were from $28 to $32 for common help. This year the wages are stiffer and run from $80 to $35 and over.

ST. PAUL'S NEW VICAR GENERAL.

Archbishop Ireland Appoints Mgr. Anatole Oster.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—After half a century of labor as a priest and missionary, Mgr. Anatole Oster has been named as vicar general of the diocese of St. Paul.

The appointment of the venerable priest to the position of vicar general was made by Archbishop Ireland, and he will fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Right Rev. John Stariha as bishop.

The recently appointed vicar general was born in France in 1834, and came to St. Paul from his native country in 1850. He was one of a party of students that came to St. Paul at the same time, among them being Father Caillet and Father Tissot, who later were prominently identified with the Catholic church in this city and the Northwest.

Result of Warming Dynamite.

Bertha, Minn., Nov. 22.—Fred Greves, working three miles west of Bertha, was instantly killed by the explosion of dynamite which he was warming over an old sheet iron stove. He had nine and one-half pounds of the explosive, which he was preparing to use in blasting stumps. The shock was so heavy that people here, three miles distant, ran from their homes to ascertain the cause.

Stockholders Not Doubly Liable.

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—The supreme court has sustained the decision of the lower court in the case of the state of Minnesota, ex rel. W. B. Douglas, attorney general, against the Savings Bank of St. Paul. The lower court held that the stockholders in the defunct bank are not doubly liable. The bank failed for $100,000.

Murder Is Suspected.

Morris, Minn., Nov. 21.—Fred Mesenbrink, treasurer of the township of Horton, was found dead about a mile and a half from his home. It is not yet known whether it was an accident or murder, though some money he is supposed to have had on his person is missing.

REMARKABLE CURES BY DR. REA.

Help For the Sick, Particularly For Those Who do Not Delay.

Often a Few Weeks of Neglect Allows Diseases to Reach a Stage Where They Cannot be Cured.

Dr. Rea heals not by Osteopathy, by Hypnotism, nor by Divine Healing, but by a system of natural science in combination with the most true and reliable remedies of the age. He is a man that cures the sick because he understands the nature, cause and the condition of circumstances which bring disease about. His discoveries are those made from personal experience and from long continued practice in his profession. An article published in the October number of the North American Medical Journal says: "Dr. Rea is a man who is eminently scientific in his profession, a man far beyond the average doctor, a man who is capable, or otherwise he could not be "successful." Dr. Rea, as a practicing physician, is successful, and he is one of the greatest diagnosticians of chronic diseases of the age. It is not reasonable to believe that if a man is successful in one branch of science that he is certainly capable of being successful in other branches. Analyze these matters yourself. Do not allow your thoughts and your opinions to be influenced by others who are not interested. One does not know how to appreciate health until they have lost it.

Dr. Rea has studied his profession both at home and abroad, and after a thorough and painstaking investigation has succeeded in curing the diseases of his specialty when other physicians had failed. Why not? Some of these people were blind, some were lame, some deaf, some paralytic, scarcely able to move, others afflicted with Bright's disease, heart disease, consumption, cancer, others with kidney troubles, dyspepsia, insomnia and the thousand and one symptoms of these dreadful maladies. It is claimed by his friends that he can tell the disease of a patient without asking him a question. This is perhaps true, for since he is so learned in his profession and so experienced in treating diseases, why shouldn't he, and why shouldn't he know the exact cause and true reasons of symptoms which produce disease? For years he has been visiting professionally the largest cities of the United States. His opinions are quickly made, and if a cure can be made then and there he tells them, and if it cannot be made he is equally honest, and tells them so. We know that he has cured thousands of cases of disease. We doubt if there is one-hundredth of one per cent of these cases that he treats that he fails to cure. We publish by permission the names of a few of his recent cures.

Andrew Anderson, Estherville, Ia., cured of blindness. Had to be led around. He is now able to be out at work.

A. W. Martin, Mora, Minn., cured of epithelial cancer on the face.

Mrs. C. N. Troxel, Fort Ripley, Minn., cured of early consumption, chronic bronchial and stomach troubles.

Mrs. Gust Hammerback, Wheaton, Minn., cured of cancer of the leg. Cured with Dr. Rea's injection fluid with three treatments.

H. C. Myers, New Prague, Minn., cured of heart, stomach and liver troubles after all doctors had failed.

Martin McCabe, Arville, N. D., cured of chronic, ulcerated sore leg of many years' standing. Completely cured with a few months' treatment.

Mrs. Nellie Dragsdale, Strout, Minn., cured of chronic articular rheumatism, where all other doctors she had treated with failed.

Johnson Harris, Harris, Minn., an old man 83 years, cured of piles of 40 years' standing. No operation. Cured by Dr. Rea's injection treatment.

Swan Walters, Nary, Minn., cured of rheumatism. Joints had been stiff and he ached from head to foot. Only a few months' treatment were necessary to cure him.

Henry Schwulke, Nerstand, Minn., cured of chronic kidney trouble which had give him rheumatism. Other doctors did not even know what was the matter with him.

O. W. Fishback, Fosston, Minn., cured of chronic stomach and liver troubles.

Mrs. Josie Short, Lillo, Minn., cured of a large rodent growth, cancerous in character. She had it a long while.

Victor Anderson, Fargo, N. D., cured of chronic rheumatic neuralgia of years' standing.

Dan Morrison, Larimore, N. D., cured of bad blood, nervous debility and rheumatism. Every one thought he would die as he had lost flesh for six months. Gained quickly and was cured in a few months.

Albert Burge, Andrea, Minn., cured of chronic catarrh of the stomach.

Mrs. A. Riechel, Red Lake Falls, Minn., cured of cancerous tumor of the wrist. This woman was cured by another doctor who used Dr. Rea's fluid for treatment for cancer.

Erick Bjorkland, Cambridge, Minn., cured of chronic piles with Dr. Rea's treatment. This treatment was also administered by another physician.

Dr. Rea is curing patients from all parts of the United States. His system of treatment is such that they soon get a relief and a permanent cure follows. His office is located at 329 Boston Block, Minneapolis, Minn., where he will examine and advise all persons who call on him. Consultation, examination and advice to those interested, $1.00.

Minneapolis, (Special.)—Dr. Rea, the noted specialist, has arranged to make his next regular professional visit to the Northwest and visit the following towns:

Litchfield, Litchfield House, Tuesday, Dec. 2.

East Grand Forks, Central hotel, Wednesday, Dec. 3.

Moorhead, Columbia hotel, Thursday, Dec. 4.

Breckenridge, Hotel Hyser, Friday, Dec. 5.

Duluth, Spaulding Hotel, Saturday Dec. 6.

Fosston, Commercial hotel, Tuesday Dec. 9.

Red Lake Falls, Grand View hotel, Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Thief River Falls, Ogahmah hotel, Thursday Dec. 11.

St. Vincent, Thedorf hotel, Friday Dec. 12.

Mora, Great Northern House Tuesday, Dec. 23.

New Paynesville, Russel hotel, Friday Dec. 26.

Glenwood, Glenwood house, Saturday Dec. 27.

This will give the many patients of this noted specialist the opportunity to visit him close to their homes. Dr. Rea has been making regular professional visits to the Northwest for the past three years and we know hundreds of the worst chronic cases that he has cured. His charge for consultation, examination and advice to those interested is $1.00.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

FOREIGN NEWS.

Cholera is spreading rapidly in the Holy Land.

An insurrection has broken out in Northern Siam.

Venezuelan government troops are preparing to attack Barcelona.

Martial law has been repealed throughout the Transvaal and Orange River Colony.

Thousands of Indians were asphyxiated in the recent volcanic eruption in Guatemala.

The bundesrath has appointed Fernand du Martheray to be Swiss minister at Washington.

Many people have been frozen to death in Bohemia as a result of the intensely cold weather.

William Duffik, M. P., (Nationalist), has been sentenced at Galway to three months' imprisonment for conspiracy and incitement to commit crime.

A treaty of peace has been signed on the United States battleship Wisconsin by the Colombian revolutionary general, Herrera, and the government commissioners.

A Bucharest newspaper publishes an unconfirmed report that the steamer Bosnia has foundered in a gale in the Black sea. One hundred and fifty persons are reported to have perished.

Thomas W. Russell, Unionist member of parliament for South Tyrone, was stoned by a mob after he had addressed an assembly in Dromore, Ireland. He is opposed to home rule.

The British expedition to put down the uprising of the Waziri tribesmen on the Afghan frontier is meeting with a determined opposition. The officer in command has asked for reinforcements.

The famous trading town of Resht, Persia, has been burned. It is known that 200 persons perished and it is believed that many more have lost their lives. Many warehouses containing valuable stores were destroyed.

The strain in the relations between Great Britain and Venezuela, already great, has been intensified by the refusal of the British government to give satisfaction in the Ban Righ affair and by the publication by the government of Trinidad of the decree announcing that the blockade of the Orinoco river ports, declared by the Venezuelan government, is null and of no effect.

LABOR NEWS.

The coal strike commission has adjourned until Dec. 3.

Samuel Gompers has been re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor without opposition.

The Federation of Labor has completely exonerated President Gompers of the charge of infidelity to trade unionism.

The salary of the president of the American Federation of Labor has been increased from $2,100 per annum to $3,000, and the salary of the secretary from $1,800 to $2,500.

Three physicians, who have practiced in Scranton or Wilkesbarre, took the stand in the anthracite investigation Thursday and in substance testified that the occupation of a mine worker was very unhealthful and shortened his life.

After being on the stand for four and a half days President Mitchell of the miners' union completed his testimony at noon Wednesday before the anthracite strike commission. During his ordeal he was examined by his own attorney and half a dozen attorneys representing the operators.

The mine workers, through their representatives, have agreed with the mine owners to adjust the differences existing between them outside the anthracite coal strike commission. The proposition was made on a compromise basis, and negotiations, it is expected, will be at once entered upon, with a reasonable hope of settlement with the aid of the arbitrators. The rough proposition, which is to form the basis of negotiations, is a 10 per cent increase in wages, a nine-hour day and trade agreements between the miners and the company by whom they are employed.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Senators and members of the house of representatives are beginning to arrive in Washington preparatory to the meeting of congress next Monday.

Owing to the anti-American feeling in the Cuban congress Washington officials are of the opinion that no reciprocity treaty can be arranged at the present time.

The check in the negotiations with Colombia relative to the Panama canal has given great encouragement to the friends of the Nicaragua project, who are showing renewed activity in the matter.

THE COMING MESSAGE.

The President's annual message is practically complete and will go to congress Monday or Tuesday next.

The president has discussed its main points with various administration leaders and it is possible at this time to fairly forecast some of its salient features.

On the subject of trusts the president will ask congress to regulate overcapitalization, lack of publicity, discrimination in prices to destroy competition, insufficient personal responsibility by officers and directors and a tendency to monopoly and disregard of the people.

The president, however, will urge the enactment of legislation which will regulate but not endanger the industries that trusts control.

As to tatiff the president probably will go no further than to recommend the appointment of a tariff commission for purposes of investigation.

The president is expected to stand by the principle of Cuban reciprocity and suggest a ratification of such a treaty as may be submitted later.

Banking reform will be urged to prevent a panic in money centers. The coal strike will be discussed and recommendations embodying a general arbitration plan are expected.

Among other probable recommendations are more stringent immigration laws; granting ship sub sidies; amendment of interstate commerce, an act extending the powers of the commission; an army reorganization law and the creation of a general staff; admission to statehood of Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico.

The Red Lake County Publisher's Association held a meeting in the city Saturday and passed a resolution expelling John E. King, of the Red Lake county Courier, from the association, and recommending a like action by the state editorial association. The papers represented at the meeting included every newspaper in Red Lake county with the exception of the Courier.

The withdrawal of Representative Babcock from the speakership contest in favor of Representative Cannon is regarded by many as ending the contest, to all intents and purposes. A number of other state delegations have hastened to get in line and are seeking to gain favor with Mr. Cannon by pledging to him their unanimous support. Representative Dalzell declares, however, that the race is far from run and he has nailed his flag to the mast. "As the lines are drawn at present, the contest seems to be narrowing down to a fight between the tariff revisionists and the anti-revisionists," says Mr. Dalzell.

Notwithstanding the fact that in many instances members of Congress were more or less severely re buked by their constituents for their opposition to Cuban reciprocity, there will be an organized effort made at the approaching session to defeat the President's, and it would seem the people's, wishes. Mr. Henry T. Oxnard, head of the Beet Sugar Trust, has engaged a winter residence in Washington and is already organizing for the winter campaign. Open opposition will not be the policy of the opponents of Cuban reciprocity. On the contrary, they will out-Herod Herod in their desire to promote reciprocity and their efforts to carry into effect the recommendations in the coming message of the President. Their idea is to make the ratification of the Cuban treaty conditional on the ratification of the Kasson treaties.

With a view to surmounting the many difficulties which threatened his Cuban reciprocity progress, the President, in conjunction with Secretary Hay, has adopted a plan which he believes will meet with the cordial approval of the Cuban authorities and will insure to the United States a virtual monopoly of the Cuban trade. The treaty which General Bliss, as Minister Plenipotentiary, has gone to Havana to negotiate provides that in return for a reduction of 20 per cent. from the Dingley schedules on Cuban goods entering this country, Cuba shall maintain her present rates of duty on goods imported from the United States and shall increase rates not less than 50 per cent. on the same goods coming from all other countries. While General Bliss is instructed to secure this concession in return for a 20 per cent. reduction from the Dingley rates, he is authorized to make the reduction 25 per cent. if necessary to obtain his object.

L. C. Simons attended a meeting of the legislators elect of the Ninth congressional district, called for the purpose of getting at the sentiment of the salons in the speakership contest. Dr. Babcock, of Winona, and J. N. Johnson, of Minneapolis, are the leading candidates, and the fight is assuming interesting proportions. Babcock is backed by the anti-administration forces. This alone should be sufficient to bring the legislators in the Ninth in line against him. In no district of the state did the voters speak with great emphasis in the indorsement of Gov. Van Sant's policy, and the legislator who will wittingly or unwittingly place himself in a position of hostility to the administration and incidentally to the wishes of the people will hear from his constituency in no uncertain tones. No Ninth district legislator is justified in supporting Babcock, the Great Northern candidate. The fate of W. F. Street should serve as a wholesome example. The caucus at Crookston showed six for Babcock and seven for Johnson.

The comparatively recent action of the President in removing certain Alabama office-holders because they have made an effort to eliminate the negro as a factor in the republican organization has given rise to numerous stories in regard to Mr. Roosevelt's attitude towards the "lily white" organizations, notably that he has determined to abandon the movement. It is further stated that the southern white republicans are all in favor of Senator Hanna and, regardless of the latter's wishes, will cast their first vote for him in the next national convention. In an interview yesterday Postmaster General Payne said that the President would not recommend to Congress the curtailment of the southern representation but added that he personally favored the reduction of the southern delegations in the national convention. He said that he thought the basis for representation in the national convention should be the number of votes cast in each district. While it is not easy to obtain accurate information in Washington concerning the attitude of the southern organizations, there is a growing belief that the antagonism to Mr. Roosevelt is developing in the southern states.

Mother's Corner

CONTENTMENT.

I once heard an eminent speaker lecture on "The Gifts of God," and no doubt many of his hearers were as much surprised as I was to hear him say that a contented mind is the greatest gift that can be bestowed upon a human being. He went on to show how even the greatest sufferer or the most poverty stricken with content in their hearts would be happier than those upon whom all health and wealth seem to be lavished but in whose mind unrest held sway. At first thought it seems impossible for those who have so much to bear to be cheerful and happy; but the seemingly impossible is often attainable, as is shown in a story told by one of my friends who recently visited Rome.

In the early days of Christendom, there was a swamp on the outskirts of the city of Rome which gave forth such poisonous gas that no one could live there. When Saint Paul was to be beheaded he was taken to this swamp as a fitting place in which a condemned man might forfeit his life.

The land remained a menace to public health, so the government presented the whole section to the monks. They planted trees which gave forth odors of medicinal qualities, thus soon redeeming the death dealing swamp and converting it into a beautiful suburb. Thereafter, and to this day, that very spot is used as a health resort to which invalids flock as to a saving Mecca.

Now my friends, if a miserable swamp can be changed by cultivation, how much more ought our souls, made according to the image and likeness of God, be benefitted by cultivation. Let those who have many things to worry them feel that they can improve by making an effort. No matter how much misfortune we have, if we think of others and strive to scatter sunshine, it is surprising how the rays will return and brighten our own lives. Our own trouble will seem small indeed and we shall acquire peace of mind even as the swamp acquired health-giving qualities. But we must remember that it took many a days' work, yes, even many years passed before the swamp was perfect, and even after the fruit trees grew and bloomed the monks never ceased in their faithful labor. Those who have tried to be content and became discouraged at the first failure should think of this. Now, habit is very strong and we must not expect to improve at once; but slowly, day by day, if we resolve within ourselves to be satisfied the task will be easier till at length we have acquired God's greatest blessing. "A Contented Mind."

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

BOYS AND GIRLS OF MARBLE DALE,

BY MARY D. BRINE.

This is a story of nearly three hundred pages telling of the daily life of a family of children.

They had many a frolic which I'm sure would interest my readers. I'll give you a quotation describing a Thanksgiving celebration given by a kind old lady whom they had not always been kind to:

The candy pull was a success, and if we don't speak of the tricks the boys played on the girls with the sticky mess they contrived to work into little balls, and if we say nothing about the growls of the old cook, who declared she had something better to do than to "wipe up spilt 'lasses," and if we refrain from mentioning the fact that it was hard and troublesome a little later to comb from curly locks, sundry lumps of soft, half pulled candy, why then we can say that the candy pull was a wonderful success.

Then in due time came the dinner. Oh, the dinner! And oh the appetites Do you think I can begin to describe all those children put into their little stomaches? Jack was only restrained from a fifth piece of chicken pie by a nudge from Frank Moose, who whispered also, "Don,t be more of a p-i-g than you need be in order to live at all."

DESTROY the GHETTOS

By RABBI EMIL G. HIRSCH of Chicago

I AM an American Jew and proud of it—proud to be an American and proud to be a Jew.

BUT WE MUST GET THE JEWS OUT OF THE CITIES. THEY CANNOT REMAIN SEGREGATED THERE IF WE DO NOT WISH TO ENDANGER THE CAUSE OF THE JEWS.

WE MUST NOT TOLERATE OUR GHETTOS. WE MUST STEP IN AND DISPERSE THEM. THERE IS ROOM IN THE WEST. The day will never come when our freedom of conscience will be interfered with, but the murmurs in other countries of undesirable immigration should be a warning to us. In England already such a murmur is audible. Let us not deceive ourselves. In our Jewish settlements there are countenances unlike those of our own people. The anti-Semite is never careful of fact. He makes men laugh or weep, as he chooses. The Jew has always been the scapegoat. It has always been his fate to say "No" when the world said "Yes." If ever there was suffering, it was in the ghettos of the mediæval Jews. THE DAY IS NOT YET PASSED WHEN THE PERSECUTION OF THE JEWS HAS ENDED. It may come in this country that the Jew here will be considered a disturber of the economic equipoise. The day may come when the Roumanians will say to us, "Didn't we tell you so?"

There is a top heaviness among our Jews—too many physicians, too many lawyers, too many rabbis. They should be taught the use of arms and legs.

"Thou Shalt Not Take Thy Brother's Job"

By Judge MURRAY F. TULEY of Chicago

"THE strike is the only weapon of the worker. When it is unaccompanied by violence, it is a perfectly legal weapon, but in all but a few rare instances it seems impossible to have a strike without some violence.

THE GREAT DIFFICULTY IS THAT NEITHER LABOR NOR CAPITAL HAS REALIZED THE COMMUNITY OF INTERESTS THAT EXISTS BETWEEN THEM. But I want to say that greater heroism and devotion to principles have never been shown by the soldiers in an army from Thermopylæ down to date than that of the men in the army of organized labor.

THEY HAVE A TWELFTH COMMANDMENT. IT IS, "THOU SHALT NOT TAKE THY BROTHER'S JOB." AND THEY KEEP THAT COMMANDMENT. WITH SOME OF THEM IT IS THEIR ONLY COMMANDMENT.

PLAYING THE VILLAIN

By FREDERIC DE SELLEVILLE, the Actor, Who Has Been a Stage Villain For Years

I BELIEVE IN PLAYING A VILLAIN FOR ALL HE IS WORTH, and, be he brutal, sensual or subtle, be he an intriguer, a spy, a ruiner of homes or what not, his particular villainy must be made the key of the character and must be made to stand out as positively as the beatific virtues of the hero.

I DESPISE THE PART, BUT THERE IS ONE GOOD THING TO BE SAID ABOUT PLAYING THE VILLAIN. I THINK ONE IS MORE APT TO BE ON HIS GOOD BEHAVIOR THAN IS THE HERO IN ORDER TO DISPEL THE ILLUSION THAT HE IS A VILLAIN WHEN HE STEPS OUT OF HIS MAKEUP AND IS HIS REAL SELF AGAIN.

PLANT PECULIARITIES.

The Reason Fruit Bushes and Vines Are Protected by Thorns.

Most persons think that the stem of a plant grows from the roots. On the contrary, the roots grow from the stem. In the case of a plant that dies down to the ground in autumn it is not the roots that send up a new stem in the spring, for a part of the true stem remains underground on the root crown, and from it grow up the bud bearing stems in the spring. When a seed germinates, it sends the light loving stem upward and the dark loving root downward.

Saw off part of a tree trunk and you will find a series of rings from the center to the bark, each ring marking a year of growth. But these rings indicate also which of the seasons through which the tree has lived were dry and which had plenty of rain. The rings are always of unequal width. The narrow ones represent dry seasons and the wide ones seasons when the conditions of growth were better by reason of plentiful rain.

Every rose has its thorn, and the same may be said of such fruits as blackberries, raspberries, etc., only they are not real thorns, but prickles, which strip off with the outer bark, while thorns will not strip off, being hardened, undeveloped branches.

But why do bushes and vines have prickles? Many people wonder at it, for they see no good reason for such a growth. But there is a reason, as there is in everything in nature. The prickles are given to them as a protection against plant eating animals. The stems have a pleasant, aromatic taste, and cows and sheep would be sure to eat them in winter, when they crave something fresh, if it were not for the prickles.

Ants In Siam.

M. Charles Meissen, a French explorer, in traveling through Siam observed a species of small gray ants which were new to him. These ants were much engaged in traveling. They lived in damp places and went in troops. To his surprise he noticed among them from time to time an occasional ant which was much larger than the others and moved at a much swifter pace, and each of these larger ants M. Meissen saw always carried one of the gray ants on its back. While the main body of gray ants were always on foot, they were accompanied by at least one of their own sort mounted on one of these larger ants. It mounted and detached itself now and then from the line, rode rapidly to the head, came swiftly back to the rear and seemed to be the commander of the expedition. The explorer was satisfied that this species of ant employs a larger ant, possibly a drone of the same species, just as we employ horses to ride upon, though scarcely more than one ant in each colony seems to be provided with a mount.

CONCERT....

Wednesday Evening
December 3 '02

Cash Discount sale until Dec. 1st at Anderson & Schwalen's.

Regis Huot, one of the enterprising farmers of Polk Centre, brought in 500 bushels of oats to Bourdon's feed store Monday. Mr. Huot says the price here is several cents higher than regular market quotations.

I have moved my feed store to the building two doors north of the Palace hotel, where I hope all my old patrons will call when in need of flour, ground feed, oats and barley, corn and corn meal, etc.
M. A. Hatten.

W. T. Mullarky, Red Lake county's first auditor, who has for several years been making his home in Arizona, arrived in Thief River Falls Saturday to look after some business matters in which he is still interested.

H. E. Ives, J. W. Eastman and D. E. Bagley, representing the St. Hilaire Spectator, the Thief River Falls News and Thief River Falls Press respectively, were in the city Saturday to attend a meeting of the Red Lake County Publishers' Association.

Hon. C. G. Rupp left last evening for a trip to Los Angeles, Cal., where he will spend the winter seeking benefit for his health which has been failing for some time. Every one who knows him will hope to see him return completely recovered.—Spectator.

A reception and ball was given Monday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duhuque, of Gentilly, by the Women's Catholic Foresters. The attendance was large, and the affair is pronounced a great success. Franz F. Freund and Harry Healy furnished the music.

Geo. A. Ralph, who recently returned from Winnipeg, where he has opened a land office, was in the city Saturday. Mr. Ralph says there is a great boom in Canadian lands. His firm is heavily interested, and will no doubt come under the wire with a big clearance to their profit.

Joe Gray left Saturday for Mallord Lake, south of Solway, where he in company with Bert Gray, has contracted to get out three million feet of logs for T. B. Walker. About ten teams and forty men will be employed. The logs will be banked on the Mississippi river and floated down to Bemidji where the hoisting plant will transfer them to cars bound for Walker's saw-mill at Akely.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company is reducing the capacity of its mill by removing the gang saw and rnoser. This will still leave the band saw, which will be run to its full capacity next year. The machinery that is being removed will be shipped to Bemidji for use in the mill which Mr. Shevlin's company is constructing at that point. The season's run at St. Hilaire has been the best since the mill was built and the output was approximately 40,000,000 feet. A good supply of logs is on hand for the next spring's business, and the mill will start as soon as weather conditions will permit.

The Fourth Annual Firemen's ball held at the Opera house last night was most successful, both from a social and a financial standpoint. Freund's orchestra furnished the music, and the supper as served by Krueger & Heyton left nothing to be desired.

When you wake up with a bad taste in your mouth, go at once to W. A. Schreiter's drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlein's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They also cure biliousness, sick headache and constipation.

Preparations are about completed for the first band concert of the season which will be given at the Opera house next Wednesday evening. This is an event looked forward to, and the favor with which the initial number of monthly concerts is received speaks well for the success of those to follow.

John Petterson, one of the early settlers of Polk county, died Monday morning after a long and painful illness. Deceased came to Polk county in the early eighties and opened a hardware store at Cerman, which he conducted until he was elected register of deeds. He was one of the first men in the county to be elected on the democratic ticket, and proved a most efficient officer. He also served a term or two as city clerk, and afterward was chosen to fill an unexpired term for sheriff. For some years past he has held a position as traveling salesman for Sundet, Rindel & Hemel. He was popular with the voters of the county and had many friends all over the northwest who will be pained to hear of his death.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR CROUP.

[From the Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe.]

This is the season when the women who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlein's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give the remedy as as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

High School Notes.

By The Athenian Society.

Ole Gjerberg started work in the H. S. Monday morning. He was unable to begin this year's work in September but there is no doubt but that he is able to make up for lost time.

Last Friday and Monday were busy days in the H. S. as the first of the tri-yearly examinations were taking place. A very enjoyable time is reported by the few wise ones.

Too bad more of us cannot be thankful for high marks. A new leaf is now to be turned over; but first, please allow us to review the old ones.

Some gentlemen visited the H. S. building Monday morning to examine the radiators.

For the past week Walter Buse has been wearing a bandage over an injured eye.

Lives of Freshmen all remind us
They can make their lives a pest;
And departing leave behind them,
Feelings of relief and rest.

The latest fad is—why, fingers.

The is no school after Wednesday of this week, for the school board came to the conclusion that as Thanksgiving gives us a holiday on Thursday, they would give us another Friday.

We are the people, therefore, we must be respected. Signed: Seniors.

The Seniors have decided to profit by the suggestions given them by a friend Tuesday evening.

The report cards for the third month of school were given out Wednesday noon. More than one pupil felt rather mortified at some of the marks, and yet they can but say that they received all the credit due them. Let us hope that there will be a great improvement during the next month.

The debate "Resolved that Lee was a greater general than Grant" occurred Wednesday afternoon. We were compelled to postpone it until that date because having it on the previous Friday would have interfered with the examinations. The result was in favor of the Athenians. The Athenians secured 14.62 points and the Spartans 11.34.

As neither of the presidents were at school Wednesday afternoon, the new members of the H. S. were not chosen by either society.

New reporting committees for both societies are soon to be appointed and we expect them to commence work next week. We hope the choosen ones will give the full benefit of their superior intellects. Of course we know that their notes can never equal ours in excellence.

Afternoon session, all members present except Commissioner Hebert.

Commissioner Hanson offered the following Resolution:

Whereas James Brady, Matt Skala and others made the following offer to the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county, Minnesota, a copy of which offer is hereto attached and made a part of this resolution as if the same were herein written, and whereas the acceptance by the said Board of County Commissioners of said offer would decrease the running expense of said county to the extent of over $600.00 per year.

Be it resolved that the Board of County Commissioners accept said offer.

The above resolution was seconded by Commissioner O. J. Johnson.

Red Lake Falls, Sept. 20th, 1902.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON CLAIMS, ETC.

STATE OF MINNESOTA }
County of Red Lake } SS

In probate court,
Special term, Nov. 11th, 1902.

In the matter of the estate of
FRANK PRIBYL
Deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of Frank Pribyl deceased, late of the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to L. A. Kaufer.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF PETITION.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake. } ss.

Whereas, The petition of Gunstein Torgerson and others, bearing date the 2nd day of June 1902, and on file in my office, praying for the establishment of a public ditch along the route proposed therein, has been filed in my office.

Now, Therefore, Notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition, and that the same will be heard and determined before the said Board of County Commissioners, at their special session to be held at the Auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, on the 8th day of December 1902, at 1 o'clock P. M.

A true copy of said petition is as follows, to-wit:

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for the expense of, the construction of the public ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare require the establishment and construction of a public ditch along the following described route in the Town of Garnes in said county of Red Lake, and that the construction of the same would be of public benefit and utility.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at or near the southeast corner of section 13, township 151, range 41, thence running along the following route: West on the section line between sections 13 and 24, and 23 and 14, township 151, range 41 and terminating at or near the Northwest corner of section 23, township 151, range 41, and having as its outlet the branch ditch of Garnes-Emardville ditch No. 1.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred and Fifty-eight (258) of the General laws of Minnesota for 1901, and subsequent amendments thereto.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE ON FILING PETITION TO SELL LAND.

State of Minnesota }
County of Red Lake } SS

In Probate Court.
Special Term, Nov. 11, 1902.

In the matter of the estate of
FRANK PRIBYL.
Deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of L. A. Kaufer, administrator of said estate setting forth the amount of personal estate that has come into his hands, the disposition thereof, and how much remains undisposed of; the amount of debts outstanding against said deceased, as far as the same can be ascertained; the legacies unpaid, and a description of all the real estate, (excepting the homestead), of which said deceased died seized, and the condition and value of the respective portions or lots thereof; the persons interested in said estate, with their residences, and praying that license be to him granted to sell all of said estate.

And it appearing by said petition, that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of the said L. A. Kaufer, administrator to pay said debts, the legacies or expenses of administration, and that it is necessary, for the payment of said debts, legacies or expenses, to sell all of said real estate.

It is Therefore Ordered, That all persons interested in said estate appear before this court, on Monday the 8th day of December A. D. 1902, at two o'clock P. M., at the court house in Red Lake Falls, in said county, then and there to show cause, (if any there be) why license should not be granted to said L. A. Kaufer, administrator to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased as shall be necessary to pay such debts, legacies and expenses.

And it is Further Ordered, That this order shall be published once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, Minn., in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn, the 11th day of November A. D. 1902.

Your correspondent was to McIntosh last Tuesday.

Chas. O. Swenson went to Fosston on business last Thursday.

W. A. Bishop took a load of pork and beef to McIntosh last Wednesday.

Thor Skreland drove to McIntosh Saturday to meet his sister Gertie.

Swen Arveson was around collecting threshing bills this week.

Miss Gertie Skreland returned from Crookston last Saturday after being away all summer.

A. O. Watsend, G. Svenson, T. K. Kleven and M. Larson took wheat to McIntosh last Tuesday.

Mrs. L. J. O'Neil returned from her visit to Grafton the other day. L. J. is now relieved of his responsibilities as cook.

Ole Vetendal took his wife to Crookston Wednesday for medical treatment. Mrs. Vatendal has been ailing for some time.

Ed Havik took his wife and daughter to McIntosh Saturday. Mrs. Havik intends to stay and visit her relatives there a few days.

E. K. Gjernes, the prosperous merchant, was on a business mission in the neighborhood of Grit last Friday. Mr Gjernes also called on your correspondent.

Found.—On the road between Lambert and Bucktown, a good fur cap, which had evidently strayed from its owner in some unaccountable manner; but if the owner still survives, he may "reclaim the lost" by calling on the Grit correspondent and telling him where the "jag" was secured and where he shook it off. We always harbor feelings of sympathy for the unfortunate.

A farmer living near McIntosh the other day thought he would take a load of wheat to Fosston and get the No. 1, which he did. He took the same sacks as he used to take to McIntosh and took pains to fill them as full as possible. The result was he paid one dollar to get the much talked of No. 1. He got two cents more a bushel and still came out $1 shy. We don't blame the McIntosh people a bit for wanting county division matters pushed to a speedy end, when that is the kind of neighbors they have in Fosston. They ought to be sidetracked.

It is with deep regret that we pen the sudden departure of Mrs. Osav Skreland which happened last Thursday about two o'clock in the afternoon. She leaves to mourn her loss, a kind and loving husband and her infant baby. Mrs. Skreland was not twenty-five years old and had been in this country but a few years. She was born in Soterstad, Norway, and it was less than two years ago that she was lead to Hymen's altar a blushing bride with a cheerful heart and a hopeful future. But it was but a step, from the altar to the grave. Thomas Moore has truthfully said:

"Oh! ever thus from childhood's hour,
I've seen my fondest hopes decay.
I never loved a tree or flower
But 'twas the first to fade away."

We know of no deeper words of consolation than those of Longfellow, when he said:

Thus do I walk with her, and keep unbroken
The bond which nature gives;
Thinking that my remembrance though unspoken
May reach her where she lives.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease. and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials,

CARIBOU MURDER.

The Newfoundland Fishermen Kill Hundreds For Salting.

Newfoundland is probably the only country in the world where venison, salted or fresh, is a staple article of diet for the masses.

The coast folk make their plans with method and deliberation.

From the harbors where they reside they go in their boats to the rivers and fiords which strike into the interior. When navigation is no longer possible, they debark and continue on foot to the deer country. They carry barrels filled with salt and sometimes go in large companies. When the rendezvous is reached, they camp. They ambush themselves along a promising "lead" or deer track, armed with long six foot muzzle loading sealing guns, which they charge with about "eight fingers" of coarse gunpowder and "slugs" of lead, fragments of iron or bits of rusty nails, whichever they may have. They fire point blank into a herd of cariboo as it passes and, being usually good shots, contrive to kill almost anything they aim at or to wound it so badly with these dreadful missiles that it soon collapses. Then they skin and cut up the meat, for these men know a little of every trade, and pack it in the barrels, with the salt as a preservative.—Outing.

The Oriental and His Rugs.

A recent writer on oriental rugs says that there is no arbitrary test by which an inexperienced person can tell a genuine rug from a bogus one. Knots and strands mean nothing except in connection with other important elements. Shades and spots are imitated. Washing the rug to discover if it has been painted over with brush and water color frequently leads only to the discovery of a bad spot in an otherwise fine rug. The oriental dyer does his work according to his own sweet will. Between the puffs of a cigarette and the gossip of his friends he dips his material in the dye tub. Only the expert knowledge of the old rug buyer can be depended on. These buyers go to the great fairs on the edge of the desert, where once a year the men of the east gather to haggle together. Sometimes western buyers push into Persia and the Caucasus to search out rare weaves in the homes of the weavers, but the venture is always attended with some danger from native hostility. It is said that the annals of commerce contain greater romances than were ever woven around tales of war.

With a Grain of Salt.

The earliest record of the saying, "With a grain of salt," dates back to the year 63 B. C., when the great Pompey entered the palace of Mithridates and discovered among his private papers the description of an antidote against poisons of all sorts, which was composed of pounded herbs. These, according to the recipe, were to be taken with a grain of salt. Whether this was meant seriously or as a warning sarcasm is not known, but thenceforth it became the custom to say that doubtful preparations should be taken with a grain of salt.

From this the meaning got transferred to sayings of doubtful truth. "Attic salt" was a Greek synonym for wit or penetration, and the Latin word "sal" had somewhat of the same meaning. It is thus easy to see how the saying, "Cum grano salis," could have come to mean the necessity of accepting doubtful or suspicious statements "with a grain of salt."

Her Complaint.

Jane was a patient in one of the large public hospitals. She boasted a cough which was more than suspected to be a "fake" cough rather than bronchial or pulmonary.

The kindly young physician in charge of the ward allowed her some harmless remedies. One day he said to her:

"Ah, Jane, I fear you are a bad case of hypochrondria!"

"Is that it, docther?" said Jane, much impressed.

The next morning there she was again, asking for her little dose.

"I'm very bad with it the day, docther."

"With what?" asked the doctor.

"Wid what ye were namin' for me yestiddy," she replied. "It gave me no peace at all last night."

An Item In Demand.

He was cutting an item from a newspaper.

"It tells how a house was robbed, and I want to show it to my wife," he explained.

"What good will that do?" a friend inquired.

"A whole lot," was the reply. "You see, this house was robbed while the man was at church with his wife."

"Say!" exclaimed the friend excitedly, "you haven't got a duplicate copy of that paper, have you?"—Chicago Post.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

Lake City's new pickle factory will be ready to commence business Jan. 1.

Mgr. Anatole Oster has been named as vicar general of the diocese of St Paul.

Two hundred and ninety-eight deer left Duluth Saturday for the Twin City markets.

The Union Veterans' union of the department of Minnesota held its annual encampment at St. Paul last week.

Lumbermen complain that they are unable to secure a sufficient number of men to conduct operations in the woods.

Fred Graves, working three miles west of Bertha, was instantly killed by the explosion of dynamite which he was warming over an old sheet iron stove.

James Lula was shot and fatally wounded in a dance hall row at Buhl, on the Mesaba range. Three men were responsible for the shooting and they have escaped.

Henry Johns, former member of the Minnesota legislature and prominent in the state Republican party, died at St. Paul last week. Bright's disease was the cause of his demise.

President George Cook of the Duluth, Virginia and Rainy Lake road has purchased several tracts of timber land in the northern part of the state at a cost of $1,275,000.

Olaf Tvete of the town of Carlisle, Ottar Tail county, was drowned in Lake Oscar. Tvete had been visiting a neighbor and attempted to walk home on the ice late at night.

Indians of Northern Minnesota are being paid their annuities from the proceeds of standing pine. Each Indian of whatever age gets $5.14 and this amounts to a goodly sum for large families.

At the auction sale of shorthorn cattle at the fair grounds last week fifty-one head of cattle were sold for $8,330. Some of the animals brought over $400 each. The average price paid was $160.

Fred Mesanbrink, a prominent farmer living nine miles south of Hancock, fell from his wagon between his horses and was dragged about a mile. He was dead when found a quarter of an hour after the accident.

In the judgment of the St. Paul council conference committee $2,858,000 will be ample for the needs of the city the coming year. The largest amount is for the public schools, $750,000 being set aside.

Railroad traffic officials report a great scarcity of hard coal in the Twin Cities for local and Northwestern consumption and they say the outlook promises no immediate relief as far as the supply is concerned.

Charles E. L. Henderson, who brutally murdered his mistress, Ida McCormick, at Duluth, June 21, has been sentenced by Judge W. A. Cant to expiate his crime on the gallows. Henderson is a colored man and his victim was also colored.

W. H. McKee, an engineer in charge of a steam shovel at work on the Rock Island's new road bed near Inver Grove, was instantly killed in a landslide. Seven railroad laborers were also buried, but all escaped without serious injury.

Charles A. Grant, a grocer, jumped from the Washington avenue bridge at Minneapolis. Grant was on his way to work and his act was due to despondency brought on by ill health. He struck the ground 150 feet below and death was instantaneous.

Edward Maxham of St. Paul, a man aged forty-eight years, was slugged on the street at Winona and received injuries from which he is dying. He was robbed of $400 in cash and a valuable gold watch. Jack Bingham, a local bad character, is under arrest.

Dr. J. C. Annand of the state health board, who has been investigating the outbreak of hog cholera in the southern part of the state, reports that the disease is practically stamped out along the border, and he is now investigating an outbreak further north.

A serious condition of affairs prevail in the Red River valley, according to reports in possession of the veterinary department of the state board of health. Great number of horses have been dying of a mysterious disease said to have been imported from Manitoba.

Mrs. Mary B. James of Minneapolis has been appointed by the state board of control to give expert and scientific oversight of the dietary and cooking at the state institutions. She is not employed for any definite period, her term depending upon the efficient result of her labors.

Fifty-two million pounds of creamery butter were made in the 665 creameries of Minnesota during the year 1901. On the basis of 22¼ cents a pound, the average price in New York during the past year, the creamery butter output of 1901 brought to the creamery men of Minnesota $11,570,000.

Mrs. H. N. Davis, mother of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis, died last week at the home of her son-in-law, Judge Bartlett Tripp, at Yankton, S. D. Mrs. Davis was nearly ninety years of age and had been very weak for some time. The deceased lived in St. Paul for thirty-five years.

John McKenzie, a well known Minnesota and Montana pioneer, is dead at Miles City, Mont., aged eighty-three. He was born in Scotland, emigrated to Ontario, and in 1847 moved to Stillwater, this state, where he amassed a fortune in the lumber business. He removed to Montana in 1880.

Minneapolis thieves last week opened up a new line of business by stealing the organ of the First Swedish mission. The organ was in its place Sunday evening but when the congregation assembled for the midweek prayer meeting Wednesday evening the instrument was missing.

Beginning Jan. 6 a lecture course of eight weeks will be given at the School of Agriculture at St. Anthony Park for the benefit of farmers who cannot take the regular school course. The course is given with special reference to the needs of mature farmers, who are too old, or think they are too old, to go to school, and who are actually engaged in farming. It gives them an opportunity to get the cream of the latest investigations in scientific agriculture.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SAL

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Thirty-one dollars and fifty cents, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Albert Smith mortgagor, to Julius W. Berg mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of August 1901, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 30th day of August 1901, at 3 o'clock p.m., in book 18 of Mortgages, on page 568.

And Whereas, the said Julius W. Berg, mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Four hundred and eighty-one dollars and fifty cents with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, from the 28th day of August 1902, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statue in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The west half (W½) of the Southeast quarter (SE¼) of section Nineteen (19) in township one hundred fifty (150) of range forty-three (43) West containing eighty acres according to the government survey thereof in Red Lake county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and state, on the 9th day of January 1903 at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four hundred and eighty-one dollars and fifty cents, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five dollars, ($25) Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.
I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

THE UPPER FALLS

When the Conductor Called "Thief River Falls," Kidder Says he Felt For His Purse.

Despite the Name, One Lone Policeman Controls the Situation, While Thrift and Prosperity Walk Hand in Hand.

Kidder Permits a Number of Thief River Fallsites To Subscribe.

Thief River Falls! How suggestive that name is. Instinctively one feels for the place where the pocket-book is and glances apprehensively around, expecting, no doubt, that a hold-up artist is only waiting the opportunity to order all hands up. But the name is a mis-nomer, for a more honest, law-abiding people than the twenty-five hundred or more who comprise the population it would be difficult indeed to find. One's first impression upon hearing of the town and its close proximity to the reservation, where the immortal Funkley of Blackduck has said "the wily redman wends his way, but not to water" and where almost every nation under the sun looks after the elusive dollar, is that where so many classes are continually coming in contact and where saloons are kept open day and night that rough houses would be inevitable. Yet amidst all this one lone policeman controls what few of the rough element there are in town. I venture the assertion that there is not another town of its size in the state so orderly conducted, with so little civil authority as Thief River Falls. Quiet—that is, the quiet that reigns over any well conducted municipality, is certainly in evidence in this little metropolis which not only draws tribute from its own county, but cuts off a generous slice of Marshall county's trade. All of the places seem to be crowded, despite the keen competition. The hotels, two of which I patronized, are about equal in accommodation and if there's any difference, they're both alike. Several good restaurants vie with the river in doing a rushing business. A large flour mill is in full operation and thus far I have heard no kick on the product.

My Monday's list and part of Tuesday's were mentioned in last week's issue, but a few of the best were left, which I will endeavor to speak kindly of in the Christmas number.

Fred Resnor of Hellem undoubtedly guessed that finances with me were rather slow, as he did not run when I approached and explained my mission. Fred is one of those people who are not afraid of the cars, and I have his dollar as prima facia evidence.

Martin Kich, from Axel P. O., had no difficulty in deciding that the leading county paper was the best for any man to have and as a dollar per year for two great family papers like The Gazette and St. Paul Dispatch (you see I name them in the order of their prominence) was a snap, Mr. Kich ordered them at once and paid a year.

As the Irishman figured—Nought from nought is oughty ought, according to his education, and one and one are as certainly two, L. Larson of the Falls paid up a year in advance as he feared that I might forget to send in his name unless I had a reminder. Somebody called me and I haven't even got that now. Wish I hadn't stayed.

Thorbjorn Skomedal, of Thorwick, replied "send it along for six or eight months and if I like it mayhaps I will subscribe." But fearing that he might forget his obligations I induced him to be a regular.

G. J. Norehagen of Strip, who used to take this paper two years ago but from some unaccountable reason discontinued it, regretted his action, and made it so evident that the Strip postmaster will now realize that there are a few of the best located around his domain.

C. Christenson, a near by resident, had often heard of the great family journal which has such a wide reputation, but never having tried it he was a little skeptical about subscribing; but this gentleman is a close student of economy, and will doubtless conclude after having The Gazette for awhile that its newsy columns will be indespensible to him.

The next man whom I approached was also in doubt about getting such a valuable paper, but when he looked to me for advise I told him the story of the boy, who when he reached his majority, asked his mother's advice about what party to support. "My son," she replied "I do not like to advise you about this matter. Go to the polls and do as your own good judgment and conscience dictate: but whatever you do and which ever way you cast your ballot, vote the Republican ticket, and vote it straight." This gentleman whose name is Albert Harldson saw the point at once and is now a reader of The Gazette.

Another man, one of your roving lads whose home is usually upon the border of civilization, for he likes the freedom of a hunter and trapper, gave me his name and the money but could not think of a permanent address, and will notify the office to send the paper when he gets settled.

Charles Langvein, a high-class carpenter even if his stature is low, looked The Gazette over with a critical eye and seeing nothing that conflicted with his idea of fitness of things, requested that it be sent to him until further orders. Charlie is one of the boys, and when you use him right there's no mistake; but when he is rubbed the wrong way, well, HELLO JOHN, there's something doing. I didn't find him hard to suit, but now that he is one of the big Ogamahs it might be different. His receipt is dated a long way ahead, and that's the way to log. (certainly.)

Strolling along one of the busiest streets I noticed a very nice looking store building with a large crowd in front, jostling each other good-naturedly. "What's the reason here," I asked approaching the place. "You must be brand new." yelled the struggling crowd, "why this is the Golden Rule Store, where bargains are an every day occurence." "Who owns it?" I next inquired. "Well, you're easy," jeered the crowd, "O. J. Schel & Co. of course, who else could conduct a business according to that motto?" I meekly admitted the truth, and as O. J. and myself were old time friends before Eddy was elected I went in and allowed him to subscribe and also have a prominent place in the mammoth Christmas number. Watch for his ad.

T. A. King, a "stranger from Polk county" and an educated farmer, is now on the list, and although he is a stranger and I took him in I hope he is satisfied that such is the case, he usually follows the dictates of his own good sense and I can scarcely claim any credit for landing him.

Fred Cuno from Grygla had been meditating for a long time about subscribing and only needed to be talked to right to get him on the list. People up here are far too intelligent for any one to rope them in with a game of talk. You have got to be there with the goods when you do business here, and Fred is one of those that believe "truth is stranger than fiction," which is quite right. At least I've heard so; but not being much accustomed to it, I am not competent to judge.

A. L. Bates, believer in diversified farming, and whose practical mind has already decided that this country is all right, only it needs a little fixing, had his paper sent to Tweet, where so many have gone before. There's no danger but what Mr. Bates will make win wherever the soil is right, for at Grand Meadow, Minn., is where he got his farm schooling, (and I guess they know their biz.)

Being somewhat hungry and not feeling able to walk down to the hotel, by which the street cars have ceased to run, I stepped into a neat little restaurant, whose very newness was a sure indication that the owner was there to do people good, I ordered a nice clean bite, and although the table was not oblong I demonstrated that I could get a square meal off a round table. The chef, O. Sachreasson, is a past master in the gastronomic art, and no matter at what hour you come it's all the same to Ole. He will give you a pleasant look and the best in the house. They always set up a good meal in Montevideo (both said) and why not do the same here. Which they will endeavor to do. No one barred. The firm's name is Gunderson & Co. Don't forget the number.

John Sherdahl is glad I came to town or at least he looked pleased when I made the usual floral offering, which every one is entitled to, metaphoricaly speaking whether they buy or not, having adopted the motto "no trouble to show goods." This gentleman has lived here two years and is never afraid to tell what part of Iowa he came from.

Christ Engeen, who hails from Pope county, could not help but listen to the oft' repeated tale, "do you take The Gazette?" and once stopped, the rest was easy, for a bargain always attracts a sharp buyer. I requested him to subscribe—to which he consented and that from a legal standpoint constitutes a bargain—the best county paper at a dollar a year is a double leader.

Renne Elliot, a stalwart young man whose pleasant countenance next attracted my wondering gaze, asked me for references and when I stated that I served in the same company with his two cousins George and Al, he said that was guarantee enough for if I had not been right as a golden guinea hen they would have written him about it. Renne has a bright future before him, as he is only nineteen and already a perfect Hercules, the sole support of a widowed mother, whose timely advice if followed will mark him as one of the foremost men of the town in time to come.

August Krause, one of the solid farmers around here, and whose similarity of name to a near neighbor at home at first attracted me, now has a receipt dated Nov. 29, 1903.

Olaf Thoen Jr., who gave his box number as 65; but who, judging from youthful appearance isn't half that number of years old, is always seeking for something to improve his already good education, thought The Gazette would just fill the bill. I thought so too, and here he is.

D. I. Englund, of St. Hilaire, it seems I overlooked in the hurry incidental to my visit there. But Mr. Englund is one of those people it doesn't pay to slight as the best is none to good for him.

Seeing a fine window display of birds in a small building and having some leisure time, I went in to learn the proprietor's name. It proved to be Sam Cheeley, whom every one knows and likes. His occupation as taxidermist, was a little out of my line, for he stuffs birds and animals and I write to stuff the public and others. I wish I were as expert in my profession as he is in his. J. T. Johnson of Fergus Falls, the noted politician, ought to be proud of the fact that Sam is his cousin and doubtless, he is. It is always pleasant to call at his general repair shop and listen to his experiences which are many and varied.

F. J. Lang, from Sandridge, wherever that may be, seems to be prospering, as his ready response with the almighty dollar indicates. I guess a ridge has got to be more sandy than the above mentioned place when Mr. Lang can't get along.

The free bus which makes every train is one of the events of the day, and the hotel clerk usually goes up to attend to the traveling public.

John F. Houfek readily patronized this paper when explained its merits. You will find his address by calling at The Gazette office, and otherwise write him at Thief River Falls.

While making a visit to the leading stores, I certainly had to call upon C. A. Loken, the harness maker. I found him and his two operators busily at work, with hardly time to listen to even so alluring an offer as the generous editor allowed me to make, but "a good bargain never goes begging," and Mr. Loken gave up his dollar without further comment. His business experience of several years at Oakes, N. D., and Fosston, besides his two years' here make him a dangerous competitor even against a hustler. Whenever you see a farmer driving out of this town with new and up-to-date set of harness, it's a safe bet that he bought them at Loken's, where prices are always right.

Don't forget that the local page of The Gazette will be scanned Christmas by over three thousand intelligent readers. Put in your ads, let people know where and what you are doing.

Noticing a nice second hand outfit in front of a large store I thought perhaps a new family had come to town, and wishing to get the best impression possible of this country and its resources, I deemed it my delightful duty to demonstrate to him the desirability of having the leading paper. I was all wrong in one wey but alright in another, for E. M. Evenson, the proprietor of the second-hand store, as it proved to be, was not averse to adding something new like The Gazette, more especially as he used to reside in Ottertail county, and knew that if a paper was not a winner I would not be with it. Bring in your second hand furniture, get the best prices going and while you wait read The Gazette, you will find it in his store. Here's success to you E. M. and may the goods brought in for sale be as good as the prices you offer and you will never want for a customer.

Last week I called this the garnet stone country on account of it's highly colored name. Now I guess I will have to reconsider that and call it the "succotash" for I have met thus far nearly all known nationalities. If the public stands for this I will write more later; but it doesn't pay to be too risky.

HALLOCK HORROR

Capt. Vanstrom Commits Suicide by Disembowelment.

Hallock, Dec. 1.—Capt. John A. Vanstrum committed suicide early yesterday morning at his home in this city. He has been living alone for some time with the exception of a man servant. The latter, Mr. A. A. Peterson, left him all right on Saturday night and when he came back Sunday morning after breakfast he found all the doors to the captain's bedroom, there were three of them, locked. After forcing open the doors and making a thorough search of the premises the body was found in the woodshed. He had used a jack-knife and disemboweled himself and his intestines were strung all over the room—a most horrible sight. An inquest was held to-day and the verdict was that he had become insane and had committed suicide.

Capt. Vanstrum has been a resident of Hallock for 23 years, having been county sheriff for ten years and register of deeds for twelve years. He resigned the latter place just before election. Some years ago he was divorced from his wife and has been living alone ever since in his fine residence just back of the Pacific hotel. He was worth $20,000 and left his entire estate to his daughter, who is now in New Mexico with her mother.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidney and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. THE MESSAGE

President Reiterates His Recommendation for Eliminating the Trust Evil.

Declares That Under Its Constitutional Power Congress Can Kill Trust Evil---Tariff Revision is a Separate Question and Will be Met.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

We still continue in a period of unbounded prosperity. This prosperity is not the creature of law, but undoubtedly the laws under which we work have been instrumental in creating the conditions which made it possible, and by unwise legislation it would be easy enough to destroy it. There will undoubtedly be periods of depression. The wave will recede, but the tide will advance. This nation is seated on a continent flanked by two great oceans. It is composed of men the descendants of pioneers or, in a sense, pioneers themselves—of men winnowed out from among the nations of the old world by the energy, boldness and love of adventure found in their own eager hearts. Such a nation so placed will surely wrest success from fortune.

As a people we have played a large part in the world, and we are bent upon making our future even larger than the past. In particular the events of the last four years have definitely decided that for woe or for weal our place must be great among the nations. We may either fail greatly or succeed greatly, but we cannot avoid the endeavor from which either great failure or great success must come. Even if we would we cannot play a small part. If we should try, all that would follow would be that we should play a large part ignobly and shamefully.

But our people, the sons of the men of the civil war, the sons of the men who had iron in their blood, rejoice in the present and face the future high of heart and resolute of will. Ours is not the creed of the weakling and the coward; ours is the gospel of hope and of triumphant endeavor. We do not shrink from the struggle before us. There are many problems for us to face at the outset of the twentieth century—grave problems abroad and still graver at home—but we know that we can solve them, and solve them well, provided only that we bring to the solution the qualities of head and heart which were shown by the men who in the days of Washington founded this government and in the days of Lincoln preserved it.

No country has ever occupied a higher plane of material well being than ours at the present moment. This well being is due to no sudden or accidental causes, but to the play of the economic forces in this country for over a century; to our laws, our sustained and continuous policies; above all, to the high individual average of our citizenship. Great fortunes have been won by those who have taken the lead in this phenomenal industrial development, and most of these fortunes have been won not by doing evil, but as an incident to action which has benefited the community as a whole. Never before has material well being been so widely diffused among our people. Great fortunes have been accumulated, and yet in the aggregate these fortunes are small indeed when compared to the wealth of the people as a whole. The plain people are better off than they have ever been before. The insurance companies, which are practically mutual benefit societies—especially helpful to men of moderate means—represent accumulations of capital which are among the largest in this country. There are more deposits in the savings banks, more owners of farms, more well paid wageworkers in this country now than ever before in our history. Of course when the conditions have favored the growth of so much that was good they have also favored somewhat the growth of what was evil. It is eminently necessary that we should endeavor to cut out this evil, but let us keep a due sense of proportion; let us not in fixing our gaze upon the lesser evil forget the greater good. The evils are real, and some of them are menacing, but they are the outgrowth not of misery or decadence, but of prosperity, of the progress of our gigantic industrial development. This industrial development must not be checked, but side by side with it should go such progressive regulation as will diminish the evils. We should fail in our duty if we did not try to remedy the evils, but we shall succeed only if we proceed patiently, with practical common sense as well as resolution, separating the good from the bad and holding on to the former while endeavoring to get rid of the latter.

In my message to the present congress at its first session I discussed at length the question of the regulation of those big corporations commonly doing an interstate business, often with some tendency to monopoly, which are popularly known as trusts. The experience of the past year has emphasized, in my opinion, the desirability of the steps I then proposed. A fundamental requisite of social efficiency is a high standard of individual energy and excellence, but this is in nowise inconsistent with power to act in combination for aims which cannot so well be achieved by the individual acting alone. A fundamental base of civilization is the inviolability of property; but this is in nowise inconsistent with the right of society to regulate the exercise of the artificial powers which it confers upon the owners of property under the name of corporate franchises in such a way as to prevent the misuse of these powers. Corporations, and especially combinations of corporations, should be managed under public regulation. Experience has shown that under our system of government the necessary supervision cannot be obtained by state action. It must therefore be achieved by national action. Our aim is not to do away with corporations. On the contrary, these big aggregations are an inevitable development of modern industrialism, and the effort to destroy them would be futile unless accomplished in ways that would work the utmost mischief to the entire body politic. We can do nothing of good in the way of regulating and supervising these corporations until we fix clearly in our minds that we are not attacking the corporations, but endeavoring to do away with any evil in them. We are not hostile to them. We are merely determined that they shall be so handled as to subserve the public good. We draw the line against misconduct, not against wealth. The capitalist who, alone or in conjunction with his fellows, performs some great industrial feat by which he wins money is a welldoer, not a wrongdoer, provided only he works in proper and legitimate lines. We wish to favor such a man when he does well. We wish to supervise and control his actions only to prevent him from doing ill. Publicity can do no harm to the honest corporation, and we need not be overtender about sparing the dishonest corporation.

In curbing and regulating the combinations of capital which are or may become injurious to the public we must be careful not to stop the great enterprises which have legitimately reduced the cost of production, not to abandon the place which our country has won in the leadership of the international industrial world, not to strike down wealth with the result of closing factories and mines, of turning the wageworker idle in the streets and leaving the farmer without a market for what he grows. Insistence upon the impossible means delay in achieving the possible exactly as, on the other hand, the stubborn defense alike of what is good and what is bad in the existing system, the resolute effort to obstruct any attempt at betterment, betrays blindness to the historic truth that wise evolution is the sure safeguard against revolution.

No more important subject can come before the congress than this of the regulation of interstate business. This country cannot afford to sit supine on the plea that under our peculiar system of government we are helpless in the presence of the new conditions and unable to grapple with them or to cut out whatever of evil has arisen in connection with them. The power of the congress to regulate interstate commerce is an absolute and unqualified grant and without limitations other than those prescribed by the constitution. The congress has constitutional authority to make all laws necessary and proper for executing this power, and I am satisfied that this power has not been exhausted by any legislation now on the statute books. It is evident, therefore, that evils restrictive of commercial freedom and entailing restraint upon national commerce fall within the regulative power of the congress and that a wise and reasonable law would be a necessary and proper exercise of congressional authority to the end that such evils should be eradicated.

I believe that monopolies, unjust discriminations, which prevent or cripple competition, fraudulent overcapitalization and other evils in trust organizations and practices which injuriously affect interstate trade can be prevented under the power of the congress to "regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states" through regulations and requirements operating directly upon such commerce, the instrumentalities thereof and those engaged therein.

I earnestly recommend this subject to the consideration of the congress with a view to the passage of a law reasonable in its provisions and effective in its operations, upon which the questions can be finally adjudicated that now raise doubts as to the necessity of constitutional amendment. If it prove impossible to accomplish the purposes above set forth by such a law, then assuredly we should not shrink from amending the constitution so as to secure beyond peradventure the power sought.

The congress has not heretofore made any appropriation for the better enforcement of the antitrust law as it now stands. Very much has been done by the department of justice in securing the enforcement of this law, but much more could be done if congress would make a special appropriation for this purpose, to be expended under the direction of the attorney general.

One proposition advocated has been the reduction of the tariff as a means of reaching the evils of the trusts which fall within the category I have described. Not merely would this be wholly ineffective, but the diversion of our efforts in such a direction would mean the abandonment of all intelligent attempt to do away with these evils. Many of the largest corporations, many of those which should certainly be included in any proper scheme of regulation, would not be affected in the slightest degree by a change in the tariff, save as such change interfered with the general prosperity of the country. The only relation of the tariff to big corporations as a whole is that the tariff makes manufactures profitable, and the tariff remedy proposed would be in effect simply to make manufactures unprofitable. To remove the tariff as a punitive measure directed against trusts would inevitably result in ruin to the weaker competitors who are struggling against them. Our aim should be not by unwise tariff changes to give foreign products the advantage over domestic products, but by proper regulation to give domestic competition a fair chance, and this end cannot be reached by any tariff changes which would affect unfavorably all domestic competitors, good and bad alike. The question of regulation of the trusts stands apart from the question of tariff revision.

Stability of economic policy must always be the prime economic need of this country. This stability should not be fossilization. The country has acquiesced in the wisdom of the protective tariff principle. It is exceedingly undesirable that this system should be destroyed or that there should be violent and radical changes therein. Our past experience shows that great prosperity in this country has always come under a protective tariff and that the country cannot prosper under fitful tariff changes at short intervals. Moreover, if the tariff laws as a whole work well and if business has prospered under them and is prospering, it is better to endure for a time slight inconveniences and inequalities in some schedules than to upset business by too quick and too radical changes. It is most earnestly to be wished that we could treat the tariff from the standpoint solely of our business needs. It is, perhaps, too much to hope that partisanship may be entirely excluded from consideration of the subject, but at least it can be made secondary to the business interests of the country—that is, to the interests of our people as a whole. Unquestionably these business interests will best be served if together with fixity of principle as regards the tariff we combine a system which will permit us from time to time to make the necessary reapplication of the principle to the shifting national needs. We must take scrupulous care that the reapplication shall be made in such a way that it will not amount to a dislocation of our system, the mere threat of which, not to speak of the performance, would produce paralysis in the business energies of the community. The first consideration in making these changes would, of course, be to preserve the principle which underlies our whole tariff system—that is, the principle of putting American business interests at least on a full equality with interests abroad and of always allowing a sufficient rate of duty to more than cover the difference between the labor cost here and abroad. The well being of the wageworker, like the well being of the tiller of the soil, should be treated as an essential in shaping our whole economic policy. There must never be any change which will jeopardize the standard of comfort, the standard of wages, of the American wageworker.

One way in which the readjustment sought can be reached is by reciprocity treaties. It is greatly to be desired that such treaties may be adopted. They can be used to widen our markets and to give a greater field for the activities of our producers on the one hand, and on the other hand to secure in practical shape the lowering of duties when they are no-longer needed for protection among our own people or when the minimum of damage done may be disregarded for the sake of the maximum of good accomplished. If it prove impossible to ratify the pending treaties and if there seem to be no warrant for the endeavor to execute others or to amend the pending treaties so that they can be ratified, then the same end—to secure reciprocity—should be met by direct legislation.

Wherever the tariff conditions are such that a needed change cannot with advantage be made by the application of the reciprocity idea, then it can be made outright by a lowering of duties on a given product. If possible, such change should be made only after the fullest consideration by practical experts, who should approach the subject from a business standpoint, having in view both the particular interests affected and the commercial well being of the people as a whole. The machinery for providing such careful investigation can readily be supplied. The executive department has already at its disposal methods of collecting facts and figures, and if the congress desires additional consideration to that which will be given the subject by its own committees, then a commission of business experts can be appointed whose duty it should be to recommend action by the congress after a deliberate and scientific examination of the various schedules as they are affected by the changed and changing conditions. The unhurried and unbiased report of this commission would show what changes should be made in the various schedules and how far these changes could go without also changing the great prosperity which this country is now enjoying or upsetting its fixed economic policy.

The cases in which the tariff can produce a monopoly are so few as to constitute an inconsiderable factor in the question, but, of course, if in any case it be found that a given rate of duty does promote a monopoly which works ill, no protectionist would object to such reduction of the duty as would equalize competition.

In my judgment, the tariff on anthracite coal should be removed and anthracite put actually, where it now is nominally, on the free list. This would have no effect at all save in crises; but in crises it might be of service to the people.

Interest rates are a potent factor in business activity, and in order that these rates may be equalized to meet the varying needs of the seasons and of widely separated communities, and to prevent the recurrence of financial stringencies which injuriously affect legitimate business, it is necessary that there should be an element of elasticity in our monetary system. Banks are the natural servants of commerce, and upon them should be placed, as far as practicable, the burden of furnishing and maintaining a circulation adequate to supply the needs of our diversified industries and of our domestic and foreign commerce, and the issue of this should be so regulated that a sufficient supply should be always available for the business interests of the country.

It would be both unwise and unnecessary at this time to attempt to reconstruct our financial system, which has been the growth of a century, but some additional legislation is, I think, desirable. The mere outline of any plan sufficiently comprehensive to meet these requirements would transgress the appropriate limits of this communication. It is suggested, however, that all future legislation on the subject should be with the view of encouraging the use of such instrumentalities as will automatically supply every legitimate demand of productive industries and of commerce, not only in the amount, but in the character of circulation, and of making all kinds of money interchangeable and, at the will of the holder, convertible into the established gold standard.

I again call your attention to the need of passing a proper immigration law, covering the points outlined in my message to you at the first session of the present congress. Substantially such a bill has already passed the house.

How to secure fair treatment alike for labor and for capital, how to hold in check the unscrupulous man, whether employer or employee, without weakening individual initiative, without hampering and cramping the industrial development of the country, is a problem fraught with great difficulties and one which it is of the highest importance to solve on lines of sanity and farsighted common sense as well as of devotion to the right. This is an era of federation and combination. Exactly as business men find they must often work through corporations, and as it is a constant tendency of these corporations to grow larger, so it is often necessary for laboring men to work in federations, and these have become important factors of modern industrial life. Both kinds of federation, capitalistic and labor, can do much good, and as a necessary corollary they can both do evil. Opposition to each kind of organization should take the form of opposition to whatever is bad in the conduct of any given corporation or union, not of attacks upon corporations as such nor upon unions as [illegible] for some of the most farreaching [illegible] work for our people has been [illegible] through both corporations [illegible] unions. Each must refrain from arbitrary or tyrannous interference with the rights of others. Organized capital and organized labor alike should remember that in the long run the interest of each must be brought into harmony with the interest of the general public, and the conduct of each must conform to the fundamental rules of obedience to the [illegible] individual freedom and of justice [illegible] dealing toward all. Each should [illegible] ber that in addition to power it [illegible] strive after the realization of [illegible] lofty and generous ideals. Every [illegible] every wageworker, must be [illegible] d his liberty and his right to do [illegible] s with his property or his labor [illegible] s he does not infringe upon the [illegible] of others. [illegible] r people felt this that in the Platt amendment if we definitely took the ground that Cuba must hereafter have closer political relations with us than with any other power. Thus in a sense Cuba has become a part of our international political system. This makes it necessary that in return she should be given some of the benefits of becoming part of our economic system. It is, from our own standpoint, a shortsighted and mischievous policy to fail to recognize this need. Moreover, it is unworthy of a mighty and generous nation, itself the greatest and most successful republic in history, to refuse to stretch out a helping hand to a young and weak sister republic just entering upon its career of independence. We should always fearlessly insist upon our rights in the face of the strong, and we should with ungrudging hand do our generous duty by the weak. I urge the adoption of reciprocity with Cuba not only because it is eminently for our own interests to control the Cuban market and by every means to foster our supremacy in the tropical lands and waters south of us, but also because we of the giant republic of the north should make all our sister nations of the American continent feel that whenever they will permit it we desire to show ourselves disinterestedly and effectively their friend.

A convention with Great Britain has been concluded, which will be at once laid before the senate for ratification, providing for reciprocal trade arrangements between the United States and Newfoundland on substantially the lines of the convention formerly negotiated by the secretary of state, Mr. Blaine. I believe reciprocal trade relations will be greatly to the advantage of both countries.

As civilization grows warfare becomes less and less the normal condition of foreign relations. The last century has seen a marked diminution of wars between civilized powers. Wars with uncivilized powers are largely mere matters of international police duty, essential for the welfare of the world. Wherever possible arbitration or some similar method should be employed in lieu of war to settle difficulties between civilized nations, although as yet the world has not progressed sufficiently to render it possible or necessarily desirable to invoke arbitration in every case. The formation of the international tribunal which sits at The Hague is an event of good omen from which great consequences for the welfare of all mankind may flow. It is far better where possible to invoke such a permanent tribunal than to create special arbitrators for a given purpose.

It is a matter of sincere congratulation to our country that the United States and Mexico should have been the first to use the good offices of The Hague court. This was done last summer with most satisfactory results in the case of a claim at issue between us and our sister republic. It is earnestly to be hoped that this first case will serve as a precedent for others, in which not only the United States but foreign nations may take advantage of the machinery already in existence at The Hague.

I commend to the favorable consideration of the congress the Hawaiian fire claims, which were the subject of careful investigation during the last session.

The congress has wisely provided that we shall build at once an isthmian canal, if possible at Panama. The attorney general reports that we can undoubtedly acquire good title from the French Panama canal company. Negotiations are now pending with Colombia to secure her assent to our building the canal. This canal will be one of the greatest engineering feats of the twentieth century, a greater engineering feat than has yet been accomplished during the history of mankind. The work should be carried out as a continuing policy without regard to change of administration, and it should be begun under circumstances which will make it a matter of pride for all administrations to continue the policy.

The canal will be of great benefit to America and of importance to all the world. It will be of advantage to us industrially and also as improving our military position. It will be of advantage to the countries of tropical America. It is earnestly to be hoped that all of these countries will do as some of them have already done with signal success and will invite to their shores commerce and improve their material conditions by recognizing that stability and order are the prerequisites of successful development. No independent nation in America need have the slightest fear of aggression from the United States. It behooves each one to maintain order within its own borders and to discharge its just obligations to foreigners. When this is done, they can rest assured that, be they strong or weak, they have nothing to dread from outside interference. More and more the increasing interdependence and complexity of international political and economic relations render it incumbent on all civilized and orderly powers to insist on the proper policing of the world.

During the fall of 1901 a communication was addressed to the secretary of state asking whether permission would be granted by the president to a corporation to lay a cable from a point on the California coast to the Philippine Islands by way of Hawaii. A statement of conditions or terms upon which such corporation would undertake to lay and operate a cable was volunteered.

Inasmuch as the congress was shortly to convene and Pacific cable legislation had been the subject of consideration by the congress for several years, it seemed to me wise to defer action upon the application until the congress had first an opportunity to act. The congress adjourned without taking any action, leaving the matter in exactly the same condition in which it stood when the congress convened.

Meanwhile it appears that the Commercial Pacific Cable company had promptly proceeded with preparations for laying its cable. It also made application to the president for access to and use of soundings taken by the United States steamship Nero for the purpose of discovering a practicable route for a transpacific cable, the company urging that with access to these soundings it could complete its cable much sooner than if it were required to take soundings upon its own account. Pending consideration of this subject it appeared important and desirable to attach certain conditions to the permission to examine and use the soundings if it should be granted.

In consequence of this solicitation of the cable company certain conditions were formulated, upon which the president was willing to allow access to these soundings and to consent to the landing and laying of the cable, subject to any alterations or additions thereto imposed by the congress. This was deemed proper, especially as it was clear that a cable connection of some kind with China, a foreign country, was a part of the company's plan. This course was, moreover, in accordance with a line of precedents, including President Grant's action in the case of the first French cable, explained to the congress in his annual message of December, 1875, and the instance occurring in 1879 of the second French cable from Brest to St. Pierre, with a branch to Cape Cod.

These conditions prescribed, among other things, a maximum rate for commercial messages and that the company should construct a line from the Philippine Islands to China, there being at present, as is well known, a British line from Manila to Hongkong.

The representatives of the cable company kept these conditions long under consideration, continuing in the meantime to prepare for laying the cable. They have, however, at length acceded to them; and an all American line between our Pacific coast and the Chinese empire by way of Honolulu and the Philippine Islands is thus provided for and is expected within a few months to be ready for business.

Among the conditions is one reserving the power of the congress to modify or repeal any or all of them. A copy of the conditions is herewith transmitted.

Of Porto Rico it is only necessary to say that the prosperity of the island and the wisdom with which it has been governed have been such as to make it serve as an example of all that is best in insular administration.

On July 4 last, on the one hundred and twenty sixth anniversary of the declaration of our independence, peace and amnesty were promulgated in the Philippine Islands. Some trouble has since from time to time threatened with the Mohammedan Moros, but with the late insurrectionary Filipinos the war has entirely ceased. Civil government has now been introduced. Not only does each Filipino enjoy such rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness as he has never before known during the recorded history of the islands, but the people, taken as a whole, now enjoy a measure of self government greater than that granted to any other orientals by any foreign power and greater than that enjoyed by any other orientals under their own governments save the Japanese alone. We have not gone too far in granting these rights of liberty and self government, but we have certainly gone to the limit that in the interests of the Philippine people themselves it was wise or just to go. To hurry matters, to go faster than we are now going, would entail calamity on the people of the islands. No policy ever entered into by the American people has vindicated itself in more signal manner than the policy of holding the Philippines. The triumph of our arms, above all the triumph of our laws and principles, has come sooner than we had any right to expect. Too much praise cannot be given to the army for what it has done in the Philippines, both in warfare and from an administrative standpoint, in preparing the way for civil government, and similar credit belongs to the civil authorities for the way in which they have planted the seeds of self government in the ground thus made ready for them. The courage, the unflinching endurance, the high soldierly efficiency and the general kind heartedness and humanity of our troops have been strikingly manifested. There now remain only some 15,000 troops in the islands. All told, over 100,000 have been sent there. Of course there have been individual instances of wrongdoing among them. They warred under fearful difficulties of climate and surroundings, and under the strain of the terrible provocations which they continually received from their foes occasional instances of cruel retaliation occurred. Every effort has been made to prevent such cruelties, and finally these efforts have been completely successful. Every effort has also been made to detect and punish the wrongdoers. After making all allowance for these misdeeds it remains true that few indeed have been the instances in which war has been waged by a civilized power against semicivilized or barbarous forces where there has been so little wrongdoing by the victors as in the Philippine islands. On the other hand, the amount of difficult, important and beneficent work which has been done is well nigh incalculable.

Taking the work of the army and the civil authorities together, it may be questioned whether anywhere else in modern times the world has seen a better example of real constructive statesmanship than our people have given in the Philippine Islands. High praise should also be given those Filipinos—in the aggregate very numerous—who have accepted the new conditions and joined with our representatives to work with hearty good will for the welfare of the islands.

The army has been reduced to the minimum allowed by law. It is very small for the size of the nation and most certainly should be kept at the highest point of efficiency. The senior officers are given scant chance under ordinary conditions to exercise commands commensurate with their rank under circumstances which would fit them to do their duty in time of actual war. A system of maneuvering our army in bodies of some little size has been begun and should be steadily continued. Without such maneuvers it is folly to expect that in the event of hostilities with any serious foe even a small army corps could be handled to advantage. Both our officers and enlisted men are such that we can take hearty pride in them. No better material can be found. But they must be thoroughly trained, both as individuals and in the mass. The marksmanship of the men must receive special attention. In the circumstances of modern warfare the man must act far more on his own individual responsibility than ever before, and the high individual efficiency of the unit is of the utmost importance. Formerly this unit was the regiment. It is now not the regiment, not even the troop or company; it is the individual soldier. Every effort must be made to develop every workmanlike and soldierly quality in both the officer and the enlisted man.

I urgently call your attention to the need of passing a bill providing for a general staff and for the reorganization of the supply departments on the lines of the bill proposed by the secretary of war last year. When the young officers enter the army from West Point, they probably stand above their compeers in any other military service. Every effort should be made by training, by reward of merit, by scrutiny into their careers and capacity, to keep them of the same high relative excellence throughout their careers.

The measure providing for the reorganization of the militia system and for securing the highest efficiency in the national guard, which has already passed the house, should receive prompt attention and action. It is of great importance that the relation of the national guard to the militia and volunteer forces of the United States should be defined and that in place of our present obsolete laws a practical and efficient system should be adopted.

Provision should be made to enable the secretary of war to keep cavalry and artillery horses worn out in long performance of duty. Such horses fetch but a trifle when sold, and rather than turn them out to the misery awaiting them when thus disposed of it would be better to employ them at light work around the posts and when necessary to put them painlessly to death.

For the first time in our history naval maneuvers on a large scale are being held under the immediate command of the admiral of the navy. Constantly increasing attention is being paid to the gunnery of the navy, but it is yet far from what it should be. I earnestly urge that the increase asked for by the secretary of the navy in the appropriation for improving the marksmanship be granted. In battle the only shots that count are the shots that hit. It is necessary to provide ample funds for practice with the great guns in time of peace. These funds must provide not only for the purchase of projectiles, but for allowances for prizes to encourage the gun crews, and especially the gun pointers, and for perfecting an intelligent system under which alone it is possible to get good practice.

There should be no halt in the work of building up the navy, providing every year additional fighting craft. We are a very rich country, vast in extent of territory and great in population, a country, moreover, which has an army diminutive indeed when compared with that of any other first class power. We have deliberately made our own certain foreign policies which demand the possession of a first class navy. The isthmian canal will greatly increase the efficiency of our navy if the navy is of sufficient size, but if we have an inadequate navy then the building of the canal would be merely giving a hostage to any power of superior strength. The Monroe doctrine should be treated as the cardinal feature of American foreign policy, but it would be worse than idle to assert it unless we intended to back it up, and it can be backed up only by a thoroughly good navy. A good navy is not a provocative of war. It is the surest guaranty of peace.

Each individual unit of our navy should be the most efficient of its kind as regards both material and personnel that is to be found in the world. I call your special attention to the need of providing for the manning of the ships. Serious trouble threatens us if we cannot do better than we are now doing as regards securing the services of a sufficient number of the highest type of sailormen, of sea mechanics. The veteran seamen of our warships are of as high a type as can be found in any navy which rides the waters of the world. They are unsurpassed in daring, in resolution, in readiness, in thorough knowledge of their profession. They deserve every consideration that can be shown them. But there are not enough of them. It is no more possible to improvise a crew than it is possible to improvise a warship. To build the finest ship, with the deadliest battery, and to send it afloat with a raw crew, no matter how brave they were individually, would be to insure disaster if a foe of average capacity were encountered. Neither ships nor men can be improvised when war has begun.

We need a thousand additional officers in order to properly man the ships now provided for and under construction. The classes at the naval school at Annapolis should be greatly enlarged. At the same time that we thus add the officers where we need them, we should facilitate the retirement of those at the head of the list whose usefulness has become impaired. Promotion must be fostered if the service is to be kept efficient.

The lamentable scarcity of officers and the large number of recruits and of unskilled men necessarily put aboard the new vessels as they have been commissioned has thrown upon our officers, and especially on the lieutenants and junior grades, unusual labor and fatigue and has gravely strained their powers of endurance. Nor is there sign of any immediate letup in this strain. It must continue for some time longer until more officers are graduated from Annapolis and until the recruits become trained and skillful in their duties. In these difficulties incident upon the development of our war fleet the conduct of all our officers has been creditable to the service, and the lieutenants and junior grades in particular have displayed an ability and a steadfast cheerfulness which entitle them to the ungrudging thanks of all who realize the disheartening trials and fatigues to which they are of necessity subjected.

There is not a cloud on the horizon at present. There seems not the slightest chance of trouble with a foreign power. We most earnestly hope that this state of things may continue, and the way to insure its continuance is to provide for a thoroughly efficient navy. The refusal to maintain such a navy would invite trouble, and if trouble came would insure disaster. Fatuous self complacency or vanity or shortsightedness in refusing to prepare for danger is both foolish and wicked in such a nation as ours; and past experience has shown that such fatuity in refusing to recognize or prepare for any crisis in advance is usually succeeded by a mad panic of hysterical fear once the crisis has actually arrived.

The striking increase in the revenues of the postoffice department shows clearly the prosperity of our people and the increasing activity of the business of the country.

The receipts of the postoffice department for the fiscal year ending June 30 last amounted to $121,848,047.26, an increase of $10,216,853.87 over the preceding year, the largest increase known in the history of the postal service. The magnitude of this increase will best appear from the fact that the entire postal receipts for the year 1860 amounted to but $8,518,067.

Rural free delivery service is no longer in the experimental stage. It has become a fixed policy. The results following its introduction have fully justified the congress in the large appropriations made for its establishment and extension. The average yearly increase in postoffice receipts in the rural districts of the country is about 2 per cent. We are now able, by actual results, to show that where rural free delivery service has been established to such an extent as to enable us to make comparisons the yearly increase has been upward of 10 per cent.

On Nov. 1, 1902, 11,650 rural free delivery routes had been established and were in operation, covering about one-third of the territory of the United States available for rural free delivery service. There are now awaiting the action of the department petitions and applications for the establishment of 10,748 additional routes. This shows conclusively the want which the establishment of the service has met and the need of further extending it as rapidly as possible. It is justified both by the financial results and by the practical benefits to our rural population; it brings the men who live on the soil into close relations with the active business world; it keeps the farmer in daily touch with the markets; it is a potential educational force; it enhances the value of farm property, makes farm life far pleasanter and less isolated, and will do much to check the undesirable current from country to city.

It is to be hoped that the congress will make liberal appropriations for the continuance of the service already established and for its further extension.

Few subjects of more importance have been taken up by the congress in recent years than the inauguration of the system of nationally aided irrigation for the arid regions of the far west. A good beginning therein has been made. Now that this policy of national irrigation has been adopted the need of thorough and scientific forest protection will grow more rapidly than ever throughout the public land states.

Legislation should be provided for the protection of the game and the wild creatures generally on the forest reserves. The senseless slaughter of game, which can by judicious protection be permanently preserved on our national reserves for the people as a whole, should be stopped at once. It is, for instance, a serious count against our national good sense to permit the present practice of butchering off such a stately and beautiful creature as the elk for its antlers or tusks.

So far as they are available for agriculture and to whatever extent they may be reclaimed under the national irrigation law, the remaining public lands should be held rigidly for the homebuilder, the settler who lives on his land, and for no one else. In their actual use the desert land law, the timber and stone law and the commutation clause of the homestead law have been so perverted from the intention with which they were enacted as to permit the acquisition of large areas of the public domain for other than actual settlers and the consequent prevention of settlement. Moreover, the approaching exhaustion of the public ranges has of late led to much discussion as to the best manner of using these public lands in the west which are suitable chiefly or only for grazing. The sound and steady development of the west depends upon the building up of homes therein. Much of our prosperity as a nation has been due to the operation of the homestead law. On the other hand, we should recognize the fact that in the grazing region the man who corresponds to the homesteader may be unable to settle permanently if only allowed to use the same amount of pasture land that his brother, the homesteader, is allowed to use of arable land. One hundred and sixty acres of fairly rich and well watered soil or a much smaller amount of irrigated land may keep a family in plenty, whereas no one could get a living from 160 acres of dry pasture land capable of supporting at the outside only one head of cattle to every ten acres. In the past great tracts of the public domain have been fenced in by persons having no title thereto, in direct defiance of the law forbidding the maintenance or construction of any such unlawful inclosure of public land. For various reasons there has been little interference with such inclosures in the past, but ample notice has now been given the trespassers, and all the resources at the command of the government will hereafter be used to put a stop to such trespassing.

In view of the capital importance of these matters I commend them to the earnest consideration of the congress, and if the congress finds difficulty in dealing with them from lack of thorough knowledge of the subject I recommend that provision be made for a commission of experts specially to investigate and report upon the complicated questions involved.

I especially urge upon the congress the need of wise legislation for Alaska. It is not to our credit as a nation that Alaska, which has been ours for thirty-five years, should still have as poor a system of laws as is the case. No country has a more valuable possession in mineral wealth, in fisheries, furs, forests and also in land available for certain kinds of farming and stock growing. It is a territory of great size and varied resources, well fitted to support a large permanent population. Alaska needs a good land law and such provisions for homesteads and pre-emptions as will encourage permanent settlement. We should shape legislation with a view not to the exploiting and abandoning of the territory, but to the building up of homes therein. The land laws should be liberal in type, so as to hold out inducements to the actual settler whom we most desire to see take possession of the country. The forests of Alaska should be protected, and, as a secondary but still important matter, the game also, and at the same time it is imperative that the settlers should be allowed to cut timber, under proper regulations, for their own use. Laws should be enacted to protect the Alaskan salmon fisheries against the greed which would destroy them. They should be preserved as a permanent industry and food supply. Their management and control should be turned over to the commission of fish and fisheries. Alaska should have a delegate in the congress. It would be well if a congressional committee could visit Alaska and investigate its needs on the ground.

In dealing with the Indians our aim should be their ultimate absorption into the body of our people, but in many cases this absorption must and should be very slow. In portions of the Indian Territory the mixture of blood has gone on at the same time with progress in wealth and education, so that there are plenty of men with varying degrees of purity of Indian blood who are absolutely indistinguishable in point of social, political and economic ability from their white associates. There are other tribes which have as yet made no perceptible advance toward such equality. To try to force such tribes too fast is to prevent their going forward at all. Moreover, the tribes live under widely different conditions. Where a tribe has made considerable advance and lives on fertile farming soil it is possible to allot the members lands in severalty much as is the case with white settlers. There are other tribes where such a course is not desirable. On the arid prairie lands the effort should be to induce the Indians to lead pastoral rather than agricultural lives and to permit them to settle in villages rather than to force them into isolation.

The large Indian schools situated remote from any Indian reservation do a special and peculiar work of great importance; but, excellent though these are, an immense amount of additional work must be done on the reservations themselves among the old, and, above all, among the young Indians.

The first and most important step toward the absorption of the Indian is to teach him to earn his living, yet it is not necessarily to be assumed that in each community all Indians must become either tillers of the soil or stock raisers. Their industries may properly be diversified, and those who show special desire or adaptability for industrial or even commercial pursuits should be encouraged so far as practicable to follow out each his own bent.

Every effort should be made to develop the Indian along the lines of natural aptitude and to encourage the existing native industries peculiar to certain tribes, such as the various kinds of basket weaving, canoe building, smith work and blanket work. Above all, the Indian boys and girls should be given confident command of colloquial English and should ordinarily be prepared for a vigorous struggle with the conditions under which their people live rather than for immediate absorption into some more highly developed community.

The officials who represent the government in dealing with the Indians work under hard conditions and also under conditions which render it easy to do wrong and very difficult to detect wrong. Consequently they should be amply paid on the one hand, and on the other hand a particularly high standard of conduct should be demanded from them, and where misconduct can be proved the punishment should be exemplary.

In no department of governmental work in recent years has there been greater success than in that of giving scientific aid to the farming population, thereby showing them how most efficiently to help themselves. There is no need of insisting upon its importance, for the welfare of the farmer is fundamentally necessary to the welfare of the republic as a whole. In addition to such work as quarantine against animal and vegetable plagues, and warring against them when here introduced, much efficient help has been rendered to the farmer by the introduction of new plants specially fitted for cultivation under the peculiar conditions existing in different portions of the country. New cereals have been established in the semiarid west. For instance, the practicability of producing the best types of macaroni wheats in regions of an annual rainfall of only ten inches or thereabout has been conclusively demonstrated. Through the introduction of new rices in Louisiana and Texas the production of rice in this country has been made to about equal the home demand. In the southwest the possibility of regrassing overstocked range lands has been demonstrated; in the north many new forage crops have been introduced, while in the east it has been shown that some of our choicest fruits can be stored and shipped in such a way as to find a profitable market abroad.

I again recommend to the favorable consideration of the congress the plans of the Smithsonian institution for making the museum under its charge worthy of the nation and for preserving at the national capital not only records of the vanishing races of men, but of the animals of this continent which, like the buffalo, will soon become extinct unless specimens from which their representatives may be renewed are sought in their native regions and maintained there in safety.

The District of Columbia is the only part of our territory in which the national government exercises local or municipal functions and where in consequence the government has a free hand in reference to certain types of social and economic legislation which must be essentially local or municipal in their character. The government should see to it, for instance, that the hygienic and sanitary legislation affecting Washington is of a high character. The evils of slum dwellings, whether in the shape of crowded and congested tenement house districts or of the back alley type, should never be permitted to grow up in Washington. The city should be a model in every respect for all the cities of the country. The charitable and correctional systems of the District should receive consideration at the hands of the congress to the end that they may embody the results of the most advanced thought in these fields. Moreover, while Washington is not a great industrial city, there is some industrialism here, and our labor legislation, while it would not be important in itself, might be made a model for the rest of the nation. We should pass, for instance, a wise employer's liability act for the District of Columbia, and we need such an act in our navy yards. Railroad companies in the District ought to be required by law to block their frogs.

The safety appliance law, for the better protection of the lives and limbs of railway employees, which was passed in 1893, went into full effect on Aug. 1, 1901. It has resulted in averting thousands of casualties. Experience shows, however, the necessity of additional legislation to perfect this law. A bill to provide for this passed the senate at the last session. It is to be hoped that some such measure may now be enacted into law.

There is a growing tendency to provide for the publication of masses of documents for which there is no public demand and for the printing of which there is no real necessity. Large numbers of volumes are turned out by the government printing presses for which there is no justification. Nothing should be printed by any of the departments unless it contains something of permanent value, and the congress could with advantage cut down very materially on all the printing which it has now become customary to provide. The excessive cost of government printing is a strong argument against the position of those who are inclined on abstract grounds to advocate the government's doing any work which can with propriety be left in private hands.

Gratifying progress has been made during the year in the extension of the merit system of making appointments in the government service. It should be extended by law to the District of Columbia. It is much to be desired that our consular system be established by law on a basis providing for appointment and promotion only in consequence of proved fitness.

Through a wise provision of the congress at its last session the White House, which had become disfigured by incongruous additions and changes, has now been restored to what it was planned to be by Washington. In making the restorations the utmost care has been exercised to come as near as possible to the early plans and to supplement these plans by a careful study of such buildings as that of the University of Virginia, which was built by Jefferson. The White House is the property of the nation, and so far as is compatible with living therein it should be kept as it originally was, for the same reasons that we keep Mount Vernon as it originally was. The stately simplicity of its architecture is an expression of the character of the period in which it was built and is in accord with the purposes it was designed to serve. It is a good thing to preserve such buildings as historic monuments which keep alive our sense of continuity with the nation's past.

The reports of the several executive departments are submitted to the congress with this communication. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION.

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.
I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

A QUEER PICTURE THING.

The Way One Art Treasure Was Rescued From Oblivion.

Few chapters in the world's history are more curious and interesting than that which deals with the fortunes of its art treasures. In the cathedral of Montreal is, or was a few years ago, a large piece of tapestry which had been discovered in a back street of a New England town. The story is told in Mrs. Silsbee's "Half Century of Salem."

One day a certain Mr. Miller passing through Derby street saw a woman beating clouds of dust from a carpet. Something peculiar in its appearance made him stop and look closely at it, when he discovered, to his astonishment, that it was a splendid piece of tapestry, with life sized figures wrought from Raphael's cartoon, "Feed My Lambs."

The woman was quite willing to tell how she obtained it. It was, in fact, a standing grievance to her. Her husband was a sailor, and when he went out on one of his voyages she had begged him to bring her a carpet for her best room. As it happened, he did not visit a port where he could buy a carpet, but rolled up in a little shop on the quay at Malta he had found the tapestry and purchased it, thinking it might answer the purpose. It was too large for the room, and the woman had to turn a big piece under. She folded the piece back, revealing part of the superb border of fruit and flowers, wrought in silk and gold thread, as fresh as when it was first worked. But the owner eyed it with contempt. She never did like the queer picture thing, she declared.

It was the opportunity of a lifetime. Mr. Miller promptly offered her the choice of any carpet in the stores in exchange for her "queer picture thing," and the woman as promptly accepted the offer. They went downtown together, and she selected, with unbounded delight, a hideous pattern of glowing reds and greens. Her face was full of triumph when she returned. The best room at last was to have a carpet that was a carpet!

It is safe to say that no bargain ever gave more complete satisfaction to both parties than the one made that morning in Derby street, Salem.

A GREAT WORRY CURE.

Common Sense Is the Best Remedy That Can Be Prescribed.

I once asked a physician what cure he could suggest for the worrying habit. "I would prescribe common sense," he said, "and if a man or woman hasn't got a stock on hand and cannot cultivate one the medical man is powerless." This worrying nonsense grows. The best means to cure it lies in the hands of the woman herself.

If she will just call a little horse sense to her aid, resolve not to borrow trouble, to be cheerful and think upon the right side of things, she will live longer and be able to retain her beauty. Every woman has the strongest desire to keep her good looks. Why, then, does she take the course which is sure to make her yellow skinned, dull eyed and thoroughly unlovely?

The Englishwoman is greatly admired for her utter refusal to worry or to be worried. Consequently she looks young at fifty. Undertaking no more than she can comfortably carry out and firmly believing in the coming of another day, she does not procrastinate, but simply will not let the domestic machinery grind her down to ill health and an early old age.

She is a frequent bather and regards health as the prime factor of life, to be looked after before everything else. She sleeps nine hours and also takes a nap during the day, arranging her work in the most systematic manner.

Her little memorandum slip always shows two vacant hours—they are for rest. She eats heartily, but of the most digestible food, and would rather have a mouthful of good food and go partly hungry than eat a whole meal of cheaper things.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Orphan?

A well known professor has a bright boy, who one day at the age of four appeared in his father's study clasping in his hands a forlorn looking little chicken which had strayed from a neighboring incubator.

"Willie," said his father sternly, "take that chicken back to its mother."

"Ain't got any mudder," answered Willie.

"Well, then, take it back to its father," said the professor, determined to maintain parental authority.

"Ain't got any fader," said the child. "Ain't got onythin' but an old lamp!"—New York Times.

It Makes Them Wild.

"I wonder why they always call them the 'wild waves?'" says the thoughtful one.

"I don't know, but I think I know what makes them wild," says the cynical one.

"What?"

"So many fools happen along, and as soon as they see the waves they ask, 'What are the wild waves saying?'"—Baltimore American.

THE NEED OF COURTESY.

It Is to Business and Society What Oil Is to Machinery.

If young people, especially in small towns, would form "courtesy clubs" or graft this idea upon existing organizations, it would result in great advantage not only to the young people belonging to such associations, but also to the towns themselves.

We find a great many men and women side tracked all along the pathways of life because they were not taught the value of good manners and of a fine, gracious courtesy in their youth. The result is that they have grown up hard and coarse and repulsive in manners and have not been able to win favor or attract trade or business. In other words, their bad manners and repulsive ways have kept them back and handicapped their careers.

It is astonishing how fine manners and politeness in children develop into ease and attractiveness in manhood and womanhood. Other things being equal the employee who is selected for advancement is the one with good manners, a fine, gracious demeanor, a good presence. These qualities are the best kind of capital, even better than money.

Everywhere we see young men and young women drawing big salaries largely because of their superior politeness. The fine mannered are wanted everywhere as superintendents, as salesmen, as traveling representatives, as clerks, as private secretaries or as credit men. In fact, agreeable deportment is the one indispensable quality sought after everywhere.

There is nothing else which will so quickly open the door to opportunities, to society, to the hearts of all.

Courtesy is to business and society what oil is to machinery. It makes things run smoothly, for it eliminates the jar and friction and the nerve racking noise.—Success.

A GOOD CHANCE TO BUY.

But He Hadn't the Nerve to Pay the Price Demanded.

A handsome bachelor of Baltimore, well known in social and educational circles, acknowledges the truth of the following story: He was driving with a very pretty and attractive young woman when on the outskirts of the city they met a lad of about twelve years leading by a chain a singularly ugly but finely bred bull terrier. The pretty girl went into raptures over the dog, and her escort determined the animal should be hers.

"Say, sonny," he called, "what will you take for your dog?"

"Nowthing," replied the lad.

"Nonsense," cried Mr. Blank, "Here's $5 for him."

"No, I won't. This here dog ain't for sale."

"Ten," said Mr. Blank, and then, growing desperate, "fifteen, twenty." But the owner still refused.

All the time the conversation was going on the youth, although talking to the man in the buggy, kept his eyes fixed on the other occupant of the vehicle, and at last he said gravely:

"I don't want yer money, but if you'll just give that lady there a kiss you may have the dog."

Mr. Blank was speechless. He stared at the boy an instant and then put the whip to his horse, starting him off at a run.

The story goes that a mile was gone over without a word being spoken, when as the horse's rapid gait became slower as it turned down a country lane the pretty girl turned ever so slightly and said shyly, "Oh, Mr. Blank, why didn't you buy that dog?"—Baltimore Sun.

Man's Influence.

The only responsibility that a man cannot evade in this life is the one he thinks of least, his personal influence. Man's conscious influence when he is on dress parade, when he is posing to impress those around him, is woefully small, but his unconscious influence, the silent, subtle radiation of his personality, the effect of his words and acts, the trifles he never considers, is tremendous. Every moment of life he is changing to a degree the life of the whole world. Every man has an atmosphere which is affecting every other. So silently and unconsciously is this influence working that man may forget that it exists.—W. G. Jordan.

Material For a Whole Chapter.

"Have you—aw—ever thought what you would do," asked the literary foreigner as his cable train entered the tunnel, "if this structure should cave in when you were about half way through?"

"Often," replied the Chicago man. "I should demand the return of my nickel."

And the literary foreigner made a memorandum in his notebook. He had discovered another interesting peculiarity in Americans.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A German Custom.

In some parts of Germany the girls have a pretty custom in which the queen of flowers plays a part. If a girl has several suitors and wishes to know which of them would be true to her, she takes rose petals and drops them into a bowl of water, giving each the name of one of her admirers. The leaf that remains floating longest represents the man whose faithfulness she may rely on and whom she would therefore do well to choose.

A Prejudiced Opinion.

"Is it true that men of genius do not know the value of money?"

"I'm afraid it is," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes. "Most men of genius see so little of it that they never have a chance to form any definite ideas on the subject."—Washington Star.

THE CANTEEN QUESTION.

The canteen question continues a vexatious one, but the preponderance of evidence seems to prove that the army canteen is the lesser of the two evils. The lieutenant general has recently reported in favor of the restoration of the canteen, this report being based on much valuable data, sent in from army officers at all the various posts which showed among other things that there are now about 1,400 saloons in the neighborhood of the different army posts, and that 300 of these have been opened since the closing of the army canteens. The posts also report a heavy increase in drunkenness and court-martials for drunkenness, in desertions and absence without leave, and that the effect on the morals, discipiline and health of the troops has been bad.

More interesting than this data, perhaps, are the figures furnished by Brigadier General Sanger, inspector general of the division of the Philippines, which give the habits of the soldiers at the time of enlistment. General Sanger shows by a careful census of the 342 companies of troops in the Philippines that in sixty companies every enlisted man used vinous, malt or spirituous liquors at the date of enlistment; that in 130 companies between 90 and 100 per cent used liquors in some form; in 58 companies, between 80 and 90 per cent; in 26 companies, between 70 and 80 per cent; in 20 companies, between 60 and 70 per cent.

These statistics relating to habits at time of enlistment have an important bearing upon the discussion of the claim that is made by opponents of the canteen that it tends to promote drinking among soldiers who were not addicted to the habit previous to entering the army. In discussing the canteen question it is pointed out that only malt liquors were dispensed in the army canteens under control of army officers, whereas whisky and all varieties of spirtuous intoxicants are sold in the 1,400 saloons that now surround the various army posts.

There is little likelihood of any effort on tariff revision during the short session of congress. That a tariff commission may be appointed to investigate the subject and report a year later is possible but that will be the extent to which the matter may go. The delegation from Minnesota and other parts of the Northwest are strongly in favor of the reduction of certain schedules but even they appreciate that it will be almost impossible to effect such important legislation in the limited time at the command of the fifty-seventh Congress, while to leave an unfinished tariff bill in committee on the 4th of March would prove disastrous to the business prosperity of the country.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette, under black headlines, prints big stories from the pen of Jason T. Kidder, who is fattening The Gazette's subcsription list at a wonderful rate. It is to be hoped that Jason is not kidding us.—Crookston Times.

No, he's kidnapping subscribers in our interests.

Gov. Van Sant will not support for speaker a candidate backed by railroad interests. This lets out Babcock. The legislator who favors Babcock will bump up against the people's indignation. Van Sant's indorsement should be sufficient notice of the condition of popular sentiment. This holds good especially in the Ninth congressional district.

This weather is delightful but for the dust.

J. W. Olson, State Superintendent of schools, has just submitted his annual report. When compared with any other commonwealth in the Union, population taken into consideration, the North Star State has reason for a flush of pride. The value of all school houses and sites, is $17,604,439.00. The desks and furniture amount to $893,447. The labratories and apparatus represent $492,290. The public school libraries represent a value of $353,679. The total amount invested in buildings, furniture, libraries, etc., for the schools of the State, aggregates $19,333,852, and the state paid $4,347,354 for teachers during the year. While we have this handsome record as to the amount of money we spend to educate our youths, we also have a record of $38,600,713 spent to support of saloons, to undo the work the schools have done. The current cost of the saloons of the state, for the year is over nine hundred times as great as the current cost for teachers in the public schools, and is twice the value of the land, buildings, furniture, apparatus and libraries of the public schools. The public schools and the saloons are rival institutions.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR CROUP.

[From the Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe.]

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by W. A. Schreiter's drug Store.

"The Stowaway"

"The Stowaway," in which "Spike" Hennessy, the reformed burglar, made his debut years ago, opened at the Grand Opera last night to a large audience. The play is one of the old time melodramas, such as thrill one to the very quick, and there is a quick succession of events that never permit the interest to flag.

Last night's audience at the Grand was rewarded by a good show, and the actors were accorded liberal applause. The inevitable villian complicated matters continually, but the ever present hero came on just in time to straighten out the kinks, and when the curtain fell on the last act everyone went home well pleased.

The company presenting "The Stowaway" is an adequate one, and evidences considerable dramatic ability. Saville and Frank, in their respective parts, are up to the standard. Gus Tate, who does the funny work as Dicky Dials, gets many a laugh out of the audience. The Misses McKay, Wright and Lamont, who compose the feminine contingent are pretty and pleasing at all times.

"The Stowaway" will continue at the Grand to-night and to-morrow night. It is worth seeing and will certainly enjoy a good patronage at the hands of Butteites.—Butte, Mont., Inter Mountain.

Note.—"The Stawaway" company will be at the Metropolitan Opera House, Red Lake Falls, Tuesday evening, December 16.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

H. K. Conklin returned Tuesday from a trip to Bridgie, in Itasca county, toward which the M. & I. is pushing and where A. L. LaFreniere publishes the Itasca County Record.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McPeak returned Monday from East Grand Forks where they attended the celebration of the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tessler Sr., the old gentleman being Mrs. McPeak's uncle.

The editor acknowledges the receipt of his annual Thanksgiving treat from Madame Jos. Decharme, of Badger, in the way of a dressed goose. This is our tenth annual, and Madame Decharme has our everlasting friendship and esteem.

Butte City, Mont. newspapers are unanimous in their high praise of the Stowaway Co. This company will be at the Metropolitan Dec. 16. Red Lake Falls citizens will turn out in force to witness one of the finest performances given in this city.

Until further notice we will pay 33 cents per bushel for oats in exchange for bran or shorts. This is about $21.00 per ton for oats. You can winter your horses at about half the cost by using bran and shorts. Call on our agent, T. A. Crompe, at our elevator. We are also paying the highest market price for Timothy seed in small or large lots.

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

The statement of the First State Bank published in another column, is an eyeopener, and this financial institution, long locally regarded as a veritable Gibraltar, takes its place along with the leading banks of the Northwest. The deposits foot up to nearly a quarter of a million dollars, while the total resources are over that figure.

A. Paradis, G. H. Thibbetts and A. O. Davidson have organized the Red Lake Falls Fuel Company, and are importing coal and shipping out wood. Seven carloads of wood were shipped to North Dakota points this week. Farmers will now find a ready market for all the wood that is brought in, and the Red Lake Falls Fuel Company will pay top notch prices. Hard and soft coal shipped in by the carload. The firm's office is in the City Feed Store.

Senator-elect E. J. Swedback has platted a townsite at Big Falls. The townsite is located on the south side of the river directly opposite the falls, which is one of the most powerful in the country, the river which is two hundred feet wide here, dashing over a 40 foot precipice of solid rock. All the available land is already taken, the soil being as good as any in the state from an agricultural standpoint, heavily timbered with popple, spruce and hardwood, and in time this section of northern Minnesota will be one of the finest agricultural districts in the northwest.

The band concert last night was a great success, and too much praise cannot be bestowed upon Director Prof. Cliet Smith, Manager L. P. Berthon, and upon the band boys themselves, for the high class entertainment furnished. The vocal numbers by Misses Florence Dentremont and Delie Touple added materially to the excellence of the program. The band concerts have been auspiciously launched.

Canadian Excursions.

The Northern Pacific Railway will place on sale between Dec. 1 and 31, inclusive, tickets to all points in the province of Ontario and Quebec and return at the very low rates of $40. Tickets are limited to three months return from date of sale. Usual stop-over privileges are granted.

LIKE TO BE YOUNG AGAIN?

Yes? Well, Here Is One Man Who Would Rather Be Excused.

"We all say that we'd like to be young again, but I doubt if we really mean it," says Harvey Sutherland in Ainslee's. "We'd like to have as good health as we had when we cast our first vote, and we'd like it if we didn't have to visit the dentist so often and so expensively. But if it came to the point that the genii bounced out before us and snikily growled: 'What is your wish? I will obey, I and the other slaves of the lamp,' I fancy we should study quite awhile, with many a 'Why—ah, let me see now,' before we plucked up the courage to blurt out, 'Make me twenty-one again.'

"Because, you know, you haven't any too much sense now, with all your experience of the world, and if you were twenty-one again it would have to be in mind as well as in body. The mind is what the body is. It seems a terrible price to pay for a new set of teeth and an undiscriminating appetite. What? To walk again that weary, tortuous road; to discover again how many kinds of a fool and a failure one can be, and not half try either; to have to take over again all those terms of old Professor Experience? Huh-uh! Not for me. You may if you like. Even if I could start anew with what I have learned of life, which would come far short of what I should really need, it seems to me that it would be a bore to have to sit through the performance again. I suppose if ever there was a successful man, a lucky man, it was Martin Luther, and yet when the electress of Brandenburg wished him forty more birthdays he told her he would sooner give up every hope of heaven he had than spend forty years more on earth. To be sure, he would have had to spend them in Germany, but that's a detail."

The Montefiore Family.

The late Sir Moses Montefiore, the "grand old man" of the Jews, the modern Moses bringing thousands and tens of thousands out of bondage and poverty into the land of peace and plenty—and really he had his reward, rounding out his century in fine shape, his spiritual eye not dimmed nor his natural strength abated—was once taunted with being a descendant of the murderers of Christ. He said nothing at the time, but called on his sneerers next day with a chart of his pedigree, showing that the home of his forbears, the "old homestead," had been in Spain for over 2,000 years, about 200 years before Christ was born.—New York Press.

Wasn't Looking For That Run.

Superintendent of the Railroad Company—So you want a job as fireman, eh?

Applicant—Yes, sir.

Superintendent—I'll have to ask you a few questions. How far is it to the north pole?

Applicant—Gee whiz! If you're going to put me on that line, I don't want the job.—Indianapolis News.

A New Piece of Music.

General Horace Porter, the American soldier, once asked Li Hung Chang for his photograph for his daughter. The Chinese statesman kindly complied with his request and, getting his paint pot and pencil, drew queer looking figures up and down the portrait. Handing it then to the general, he explained that the left hand column contained a list of his titles, while the right hand side bore a list of the posts he had filled. When he reached home, Porter gave the photograph to his little girl, saying: "Here's what you wanted. If you can't read it, probably you can play it on the piano!"

Nothing Peculiar.

"I told the boss that I would like an increase in my salary," said the clerk at the neckwear counter to the floorwalker.

"What did he say?"

"He said that everybody would."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Mike's Poodle.

Hogan—An' is he a blooded dog, Mike?

"Blooded? I sh'd say he wuz. W'y, when he wuz a pup th' doc had to bleed him to kape him from bein' a bloodhound, faith!"—Chicago News.

Earned It, In Chicago.

"How did he ever get the title of 'Hon?'"

"He declined a nomination for alderman once."—Chicago Tribune.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventeen and 33-100 ($17.33) dollars interest which become due September 6th, 1902, and which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by J. E. Noddings and Cora B. Noddings, his wife, mortgagors to E. O. Malm and O. A. Malm mortgagees, bearing date the 6th day of September, 1901, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 19th day of September 1901, at 3 o'clock P. M., in Book R of mortgages, on page 468.

And Whereas, the said E. O. Malm and O. A. Malm mortgagees and holders of said mortgage, have duly elected and do hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of two hundred and forty-seven and 50-100 ($247.50) dollars with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, from the sixth day of September, 1901, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The Northeast quarter (NE¼) of section twenty-eight (28), township one hundred and fifty-three (153) North of range forty-five (45) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Red Lake county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house at Red Lake Falls in said county and State, on the 22nd day of January, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of two hundred and forty-seven and 50 100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Burlington Route

Dining Cars a la Carte

Our Dining Cars, operated on the European plan, afford service of the highest character, and have an international reputation.

Mr. S. S. McClure, of "McClure's Magazine, writes: "I have traveled on most roads in Europe and America, and have dined in such as have restaurant cars. I would rather dine on a Burlington Route dining car than on any other I know of in the world."

These cars are beautifully decorated, lighted by electricity and ventilated by electric fans. The table ware was made to order for the Burlington Route. Fresh flowers are always on the tables. Close attention is paid to every detail of the service.

A VAST SALT FIELD.

How the Product Is Obtained In the Middle of the Colorado Desert.

In the middle of the Colorado desert, a little to the north of the Mexican border and 264 feet below the level of the sea, lies a field of crystallized salt more than a thousand acres in extent, presenting a surface as white as snow and beneath the noonday glare of the sun so dazzling that the naked eye cannot stand its radiance. It stretches away for miles and miles about Salton, Colo., an ocean of blazing, blistering white.

Here daily throughout the year men are at work overturning the great deposit with massive plows and scrapers, getting it into great piles preliminary to putting it through the refining process. The salt plows used to secure the harvest are great four wheeled implements driven by steam and managed by two men. The salt crust is thrown up in parallel ridges; then laborers with hoes work it to and fro in the water, washing out the dirt preliminary to stacking it in mounds to be taken to the mill.

Salt springs in adjacent foothills are constantly contributing to the deposit, and so heavily laden are they with almost pure salt that the plow has hardly passed on before a new crust has formed in the furrow left. This fact renders it unnecessary to operate more than a small portion of the vast deposit.

As may be supposed, work in these fields is performed under the most trying conditions. No white man can stand the intense heat, and for this reason the work is done wholly by Japanese and by Coahuila Indians. Of these the Indians are by far the better adapted to the work, the Japanese performing only one portion, sewing the sacks in which the salt is shipped. The atmosphere, laden as it is with particles of salt, gives rise to a painful thirst, and the only available drinking water comes from a single well. It is warm and ill tasting.

Beautiful mirages frequently appear above the great salt field in the daytime, sky pictures of magnificent cities and flower dotted, tree shaded fields. The moonlight, too, produces wondrously beautiful effects upon the great field of gleaming salt. For several weeks in the year the thermometer on the salt field averages 140 degrees, and the reflection of the sun produces a glare like that from a furnace. The deposits vary in thickness from ten to twenty inches and form a solid crust over the great marsh. It is estimated that about 700 tons are now plowed up daily.—New York Tribune.

A Little Child's Loneliness.

Little Mabel, says the Woman's Journal, had been put to bed alone. Presently she appeared in her nightgown at the head of the stairs, saying plaintively, "I'm lonesome!" Her mother gave her a favorite rubber doll named Happy to take to bed with her and for a few minutes she was quiet. Then she reappeared with her plaint of lonesomeness. This time her mother reminded her that God was with her and sent her back to bed with a reproof. Soon she was heard weeping bitterly, and when her mother went to her little Mabel summed up her sense of misery by exclaiming, "I don't want Happy, and I don't want God; I want somebody with a skin face!"

Mere Maiden Timidity.

"Well, mum," said the cook as she entered the parlor with her bundle in her hand, "I must be after goin' away this mornin'."

"What do you mean? Why are you going?" asked her astonished mistress.

"I am goin' to be married next week."

"But surely, Bridget, you won't leave me so suddenly? You must ask him to wait for a few days."

"Oh, I couldn't, mum."

"Why not, pray?"

"Sure, mum, I'd like to oblige you, but I don't feel well enough acquainted with him to ask such a thing."—Philadelphia Press.

EPIGRAMS IN DIALOGUE.

The following "bouquet" is picked from various plays, successful and otherwise:

Nothing can work such havoc as a fool.—"Sowing the Wind."

We may scale a mountain only to trip over a mole hill.—"Queen's Favorite."

Those who wait for other men's shoes must tread roughly sometimes.—"Alone."

Life's like baccarat. Chance gives the cards. We only play what's dealt us.—"John Dunford, M. P."

Joy, joy—one cannot touch joy every day. One must take things as they are.—"Pelleas and Melisande."

Wrinkles, you know, my dear, are the diary of a woman's life in cipher.—"His Excellency the Governor."

In a woman's word book "I hate you" often means "I like you." That's worth remembering.—"The Termagant."

Ladies, like bills of exchange, are allowed a little grace and, unlike bills of exchange, are much pleasanter to meet.—"Her Own Rival."

I suppose honesty's like the gout. It runs in certain families for several generations, and then it skips a generation.—"The Rogue's Comedy."

Oh, isn't there one perfect world out of all the millions, just one, where everything goes right and fiddles never get out of tune?—"The Masqueraders."

An Essay on Rain.

"In a general way I approve of rains," said the grumpy person when he reached home after a drenching. "They are a fine thing when they come decently and in good order"—as he placed his umbrella where it would drip on the parlor carpet—"but I want to go on record right now"—removing his soggy new hat and saturated coat—"as declaring I am opposed to these rains that begin on the day before yesterday and keep coming"—gazing at his eight dollar trousers, which resembled dishrags. "It wouldn't be so bad," he resumed as he took his shoes off and let the water run out, "if it rained straight down, but when it rains zigzag and up and crosswise and catacorners it's time to protest. A dod gasted day like this has no right to be on the calendar"—and so on until he got to bed.—Exchange.

No Cash.

"Herry, I suppose you keep a cash account?"

"No, Uncle George, I haven't got so far as that, but I keep an expense account."—Boston Transcript.

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S Himelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found its equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at W. A. Schreiter's. Trial bottle free.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

High School Notes.

By The Athenian Society.

In Chemistry class Tuesday one of the Junior girls was looking among the acids for H_2O; she was surprised when one of the boys told her if she would turn the faucet in the water tank she would get what she wanted.

Third time is the charm. It is too bad that seat cannot be fixed to hold that Senior.

Classes in Chemistry have been reversed, the Seniors reciting on Monday instead of the Juniors.

The Spartans held a meeting Monday after school.

One of the girls was heard to remark Tuesday morning while Mr. Whiteley was cutting dimes for experiment "I'd much rather have the dime for candy."

The book keeping class is having a hard time in trial balances.

A Senior and Junior have made a wager that for this month they would make their deportment 95. We hope they will reach their goal.

Some of the Sophmore boys can blush when they have to sit with a girl.

The Athenian program for Friday Dec. 6, will be as follows:

Song	By school, 210.
Original story	Carrie Putnode
Vocal	Drew Marshall
Essay	Anton Schusser
Humorous recitation	Sam Beautrow
Recitation	Walter Buse
Vocal duet	Delia Toupin, Florence Deautremont
Book review	Lulu Fletcher
Essay	Joseph Bourdon
Character Sketch	Delia Toupin
Song	by school, page 211

The debators for the next debate, a week from Friday are: Athenians Will Hunt, Thomas McNerthney, Stella Hennemuth. Spartans: Dan Johnson, Blanche Berthiaume and Ida Lemieux.

The Athenians held a meeting Tuesday after school and officers were elected as follows: Delia Toupin, president; Maude Findeisen, Secretary; Reporting committee, Thomas McNerthney, Clara Allison and Florence Deutremont.

Mamie Linnihen entered school Monday.

High School pupils were skating Monday evening. Does this account for poor lessons Tuesday?

The Athenians have won all the debates so far this year. We hope their success will continue.

The Civic class have finished the book and are reviewing.

The subject for the next debate has not been chosen.

Before the last debate one of the Spartan debators remarked, "I have one point to offer which will shatter all the Athenian's arguments." The Athenians are wondering what that point could have been.

A Spartan was heard to remark "I don't take any interest in the debates this year" Perhaps if they did they would win the next.

One of the Seniors said, "I have two wisdom teeth that have been coming since April." We hate to think the wisdom was lacking to cut those with.

It's Time To Think of Christmas...

WE take pleasure in making our Holiday Announcement this year, for we have never before provided for our friends and the public such a splendid assortment or goods suitable for Christmas presents. Our stock will be shown about December 10, and we want every person in Red Lake County to call in and inspect it, for we can assure one and all that they will find no nicer presents anywhere. We can't tell you all that our Holiday Stock contains—it would require too much space, but for your convenience we enumerate a few of our leading lines.

Fancy Goods

Albums, Toilet Sets, Work Boxes, Smoking Sets, Shaving Sets, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Handkerchief Boxes, etc.

Books

Leather-bound volumes of well-know authors, latest works of fiction, and story books for the boys and girls.

Games

The Genuine Parker Bros.' Ping Pong Sets, Archarena. Combination Game Boards, Checkers, Dominoes, etc.

Perfumes

The finest line ever brought to Red Lake county, including such well known lines as Hilberts and Lazelle's, and Reiger's California Perfumes. We have them in bulk and also in fancy bottles.

Kodaks

What would be nicer for a present than a handsome Eastman Kodak? We have them in the different styles and sizes, and carry a full line of supplies.

Now as to Prices: You can depend on them being as low as anywhere in Northern Minnesota. We have established a reputation for selling good goods at low prices and intend to maintain it.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE ON FILING PETITION TO SELL LAND.

State of Minnesota }
County of Red Lake } SS

In Probate Court,
Special Term, Nov. 11, 1902.

In the matter of the estate of
FRANK PRIBYL,
Deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of L. A. Kaufer, administrator of said estate setting forth the amount of personal estate that has come into his hands, the disposition thereof, and how much remains undisposed of; the amount of debts outstanding against said deceased, as far as the same can be ascertained; the legacies unpaid, and a description of all the real estate, (excepting the homestead), of which said deceased died seized, and the condition and value of the respective portions or lots thereof; the persons interested in said estate, with their residences, and praying that license be to him granted to sell all of said estate.

And it appearing by said petition, that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of the said L. A. Kaufer, administrator to pay said debts, the legacies or expenses of administration, and that it is necessary, for the payment of said debts, legacies or expenses, to sell all of said real estate.

It is Therefore Ordered, That all persons interested in said estate appear before this court, on Monday the 8th day of December A. D. 1902, at two o'clock P. M., at the court house in Red Lake Falls, in said county, then and there to show cause, (if any there be) why license should not be granted to said L. A. Kaufer, administrator to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased as shall be necessary to pay such debts, legacies and expenses.

And it is Further Ordered, That this order shall be published once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, Minn., in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn, the 11th day of November A. D. 1902.

By the Court.

The additions and improvements to St. Mary's church are well under way. There will be an addition of twenty feet to the rear of the structure for a sanctuary opening into the church. The gallery is being enlarged and a neat chapel built on to the west side. The interior will be sealed and papered.

Jos. Miller Jr. who is opening up a livery stable at Tilden drove up Friday to secure needed equipment in the way of harness and rigs. Mr. Miller says Tilden is taking on a new growth. The union depot at the junction of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads is a substantial structure 30 x 90 feet.

The proceeds of the Thanksgiving dinner and supper given by the ladies of St Mary's church were $75 00. The lunch cloth, donated by Mesdames Schreiter and Keus which was raffled after the supper was won by Mrs. D. Linnihan and brought in nearly $40.00. The proceeds from the lunch cloth have been put aside as a nucleus for an organ fund, as it is proposed to buy a new instrument within a short time.

NO REST.

Scores of Leading Citizens Continue to Keep Kidder Busy.

Time is All Taken up Writing Receipts---We Are Behind.

That is, There's "Copy" Enough Ahead For a Month.

Thief River Falls' people were so courteous that contrary to my expectation I remained there an extra week, and it was not entirely devoid of results as a casual glence over the list will demonstrate. Of course there were some who got away, there always are, but they are in the minority and so badly crippled that the next solicitor who goes there will have no dificulty in getting them. There were a few dull daye. Thanksgiving I celebrated and not knowing whether I would survive until Christmas, I set Friday aside for that purpose, and called Saturday Sunday according to the seven day Adventist doctrine later on experiencing change of mind, Sunday had to be figured in but Monday the story reads different. My board was due at 0:30 P M., and me without enough charge to buy an oysier cracker on the installment plan; having read of what people did who were similarly situated, I got out and hustled. At supper time I had enough to pay my board in full and some sense left. The landlord saw me grab my cout and asked me if I was going to quit. "No, I'm only going to try and quit," wae the reply, "Its no use to stop at a place where a man figures so close that you have to pay for what you eat and a place to sleep. It may be wrong to leave a hotel for that reason, but I could not help but notice it.

Conrad Anderson put me in a better humor the next day by signing for The Gazette and having it mailed to Thorwick. Conred came here from Bemidji and this is his first county press. Its fortunate we met, else he might have been imposed upon by some cheap paper. Anytime you wish to enjoy yourself go out to Lake Liedel, a romantic spot, where this gentleman has recently settled, receive a warm welcome, and read the news.

Noticing several fine chairs sitting out in front of a fine brick store and reading the name Hicks over the door, I went over to see if it was I. R. Hick, the weather prophet, or Jimmie Hick, the bone doctor. It wse neither of them, but H. M. Hick, one of the most successful business men in town. I thought I was in the New England at the Twin Cities. You would hardly believe that a town the size of Thiaf River could boast of as fine and complete a line of furniture as this gentleman has in stock. Think of it, ovar twenty thousand dollars. There's pluck and Yankee enterprise for you, for Mr. Hicks informed me that when he started in it would have been dificult for him to spare a dollar as readily as the one he gave me. Being a licensed embalmer I think he ought to be able to keep The Gazette indefinitely. Of course Mrs. Hicks must be figured in, for judging from her shrewd business ability that not all of the hustling is done by one. They say that half is in planning, and Mrs. Hicks certainly takes the lead in that and a large part of the clerking. It seems too bad that an imposing structure like there's cannot be reproduced in the Christmas number, but as they have no cut of the building it has to be left out. If I had half the stock, say nothing of the building, I would have it advertised in all the leading papers, and perhaps you may see something in the locals as they usually come in bunches.

I was not surprised to have Frank Pittman hand out the price, for a genuine Yankee is not long in seeing a good business venture, as they have become proverbial for their native shrewdness. If what I said had any effect the two last mentioned gentlemen will soon be acquainted as Frank said he would call. South Dakota is minus a good resident, but what is their loss is Red Lake county's gain, also The Gazette's.

Ole Hagen wanted to know if I barred out mill men. After a few inquiries he received a sstisfactory reply also a receipt. Ole is one of those thrifty men who is steadily employed at the mill and when that shuts down he takes a trip up to the big pines, and logs right from the stump.

Remembering that a very fluent speaker was present at the creamery meet at St. Hilaire whom I didn't get a chance to talk with while there, I made a few inquiries and learned that the aforesaid orator was W. H. Blaunt, the well-posted creamery man. It isn't necessary to exploit his many good qualities along this line, but suffice to add that there is no talk of discontinuing the creamery here, on the contrery the company is anxious to establish skimming stations at any point the farmers mey desire. Anytime you wish to listen to a practical and well-posted creamery men make arrangements with Mr. Blaunt to come and speak. It will cost you nothing and what he will tell you will be well worth your time.

Excell postoffice must be pretty well filled up by this time and you wouldn't have to look long to find a Gazette marked William Rapprecht, as he quickly decided to be in touch with what went on in the country around him, which the well filled locel page of this paper is always willing to do. May the next solicitor treat you as well as you used me William.

Getting a trifle chilly I stopped in to the cosy little office of Turville & Scribner to get warm. The first named gentlemen had been threatening to take the paper for several days, but I didn't think he meant it until he handed me a dollar and called for a receipt. It is sefe to say that these gentlemen who run a first clase livery barn, are the best patronized of any in town, for you alwaye get a pleasant look from Anson, and a good-natured "How are you?" from George. The place is so well advertised as a sale and feed stable that even a stranger cannot help but find his way there. Mr. Scribner used to run the hotel and there are many who wish he was in there now, as you never had to go in the dining room twice under the mistaken idea that you had forgotten to eat. Whenever you wish to go to Tweet and don't care to ride with the stage driver, who goes afoot, get Turville to send out his roaders and the journey will seem like a ride on the merry-go-round.

A very lively young man who was unusually observant asked me what I was giving away so lavishly. I explained my mission and Geo. Teeple, an all around good fellow, became so interested in its columns that the man with whom he is stopping went home and left him; but being right among friends, and lots of them, that didn't make George sorry at all as when he hes a poor time it will be dull indeed for the rest.

Albert Olson, who left the Occident, which is the only place considered for a hustler, was not slow in stating that this place was even better than the golden west, where everything was not pie and cake. Now that you have The Gazette Albert the pastry doesn't cut such a figure. and a busy berg like Thief River is more conducive to comfort and wealth than many of the over boomed places out West.

A. C. Hanson I failed to inquire anything about, but can cheerfully say that he is well enough equipped with this world's good to afford the added necessity. One can get along short on luxuries like sugar, coffee and other staple articles, but The Gazette one should not neglect to take, and this duty is so well performed by A. C. that his receipt is dated December, 1903.

When I was riding up to the Falls sometime ago, I wondered who it was that made up the road bed. I don't any more since I met Olaf Mosbeck, who has charge of the section at this end. Fifteen years of railroad work has made Olaf one of the indespensable men on the G. N. system, and I hope his perusal of The Gazette columns will not have a tendency to keep him from his duties and I don't believe it will, for it's "work first and pleasure after" with Olaf, which is as it should be.

G. O. Hanson & Co's. window display was attractive enough to call me off the street, and now I am glad I went in. Although these gentlemen have only been in the business since May 1st, yet so well established is their trade that the store was well filled with farmers from many miles distant, but crowded as the store was they still had time to give me a dollar and a pleasant look. I've got the latter yet, a man has to be very busy when he neglects a snap like that. Competition doesn't seem to worry them much for they are always too much occupied.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Mrs. J. Zaiser-Wilkins, who Settled Here in 1878.

Tuesday afternoon the sad news came from Fertile that Mrs. J. Zaiser-Wilkins, who last week was stricken with paralysis at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Otto Kankel, had succumbed to the enevitable and was no more. Messrs. Wm., Otto and Fred Zaiser, who were with their mother over Sunday, left Monday morning, assured that her condition was improving and hopeful for her recovery, but the end came suddenly Tuesday afternoon.

Deceased was born in Wurtemberg, Germany, in 1829, coming to America at the age of 18. In 1852 at St. Louis, she was married to John Zaiser and the family moved to Red Lake Falls in 1878, being among the very first settlers. Several years after the death of her first husband, in 1889, she was married to G. W. Wilkins, and moved to Montana. Mr. Wilkins died in October, 1900, and his widow returned a year later, and has since made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Otto Kankel, of Fertile.

The funeral takes place at Fertile to-day, and the remains will be interred in the cemetery there besides those of her first husband.

She leaves four sons and two daughters, namely: William, Adolph, Otto and Fred Zaiser; Mrs. Otto Kankel of Fertile, and Mrs. Henry Hennemuth of this city.

She will long be remembered, especially by the early settlers, for her kindliness and generosity. Ever ready to lend a helping hand, many of the early settlere will drop a silent tear at the taking away of this kind friend and noble woman.

LOSS ABOUT $200,000

STILLWATER, MINN., VISITED BY MOST DISASTROUS FIRE IN ITS HISTORY.

Work of Classifying Lands on Cass Lake Reservation Progressing Favorably — Wolves Exterminating Deer and Other Big Game in Northern Minnesota—Burglars Wreck a Bank Safe at St. Bonifacius.

Stillwater, Minn., Dec. 6.—A disastrous fire visited the business portion of this city, begining shortly before 3 a. m. and lasting four hours. In extent of damage it was the most costly in the history of the city. The loss approaches $200,000, the opera house and the C. Henningsen block on South Main street are in ruins and several other buildings were damaged. The loss of personel property is also heavy.

The J. O. Halen & Co.'s wholesale and retail grocery sustained a total loss. It seemed impossible for the local fire department to check the flames and St. Paul was called upon for assistence at 4 o'clock. Engine Company No. 4, with engine and hose cart, responded and arrived shortly before 6 o'clock. Assistant Chief Strapp, Captain McFadden and fifteen men came with the St. Paul apparatus. The engine was not unloaded, as the fire was then practically under control, but the men helped work on the fire. A heavy snow on top of the buildings and a prevailing hard snow storm prevented the destruction of a large portion of the city. A great cloud of burning shingles and heavier pieces of wood was carried over the city for a long distance.

CLASSIFICATION OF LANDS.

Work Progressing Favorably on Cass Lake Reservation.

Cass Lake, Minn., Dec. 4.—Eugene S. Bruce, in charge of the selection of lands for the forest reserve under the provision of the Morris law, has completed his examination in those parts of the reservation that were most accessible by boat and he and his men are energetically at work near the towns on the reservation. Various difficulties have arisen in the selection of lands, but they are giving way to the perseverance and tact of the officials in charge. It is not probable that the final selection can be made until the government surveyors have completed their work and the flowage lines are properly delineated so that the lands belonging to the war department for the purpose of raising the water in the government dams are ascertained.

This work not being completed delays the forestry people, but will not delay the classifying of the remaining unclassified lands by Chief Inspector E. L. Warran and his force.

WOLVES KILLING DEER.

Big Game in Northern Minnesota Rapidly Being Exterminated.

Duluth, Dec. 3.—Attorney General Douglas, who returned to Duluth during the evening from a hunting trip in Northern Minesota, reports that timber wolves have been creating great depredations among the deer. The great scarcity of this game he attributes to this fact more than to anything else. In an interview he declared that unless steps were taken to destroy the wolf pest big game in Northern Minnesota would be gone within a few years.

"There is too little inducement to the average man to kill wolves for the bounty which the state allows," said General Douglas, "and I believe the legislature should amend the law in such a way as would result in greater destruction of the pests."

OVERLOOK A LARGE SUM.

Burglars Blow Open a Bank Safe at St. Bonifacius, Minn.

Waconia, Minn., Dec. 6.—Hegerla & Gotman's bank safe at St. Bonifacius, five miles northeast from here, was blown open during the night. The robbers secured $500 in cash and several thousand dollars in promissory notes. One thousand dollars in coin laying on top of the safe was overlooked. The noise of the explosion was deadened by bolts of dry goods piled over the safe. No clue except several suspicious characters noted in town a couple of weeks since, when it is supposed the affair was planned.

FOR KILLING UNKNOWN MAN.

Two Minneapolis Murderers Given Eighteen Years Each.

Minneapolis, Dec. 2.—For the crime of murder in the third degree Levi Nysted and Andrew Hankenson were sentenced during the day by Judge Elliott to serve eighteen years in the state's prison at hard labor.

They were indicted for murder in the first degree. Their crime was that of killing an unknown man at Prospect Park on the night of Oct. 12.

Baroness Secures a Divorce.

Minneapolis, Dec. 4.—Judge Gray has granted a decree of divorce to Baroness Nina von Steinwehr and gave the custody of the Steinwehrs' little girl to the mother. Baroness von Steinwehr was a Minneapolis girl whose maiden name was Clarke, and she married the baron in this city in 1893.

ECHO OF MINNESOTA MASSACRE.

Bill Introduced in the Senate to Restore Annuities to Indians.

Washington, Dec. 8.—A reminder of the famous Minnesota Indian massacre has been given in the presentation of a bill by Senator Gamble for the restoration of the annuities of the Santee Indians of South Dakota and Nebraska, many of whom are scattered throughout Minnesota.

The measure provides for the restoration of the annuities withdrawn at the time of the Minnesota massacre and the claim aggregates more than $2,000,000. It has been referred to the secretary of the interior for a report, and Senator Gamble during the day had a conference with the officials concerning it.

Secretary Hitchcock will soon act on a claim made in behalf of the Sioux tribes, as a result of which its members will be accredited with a sum of about $3,000,000. The amount named was appropriated some time ago for the lands embraced within the great Sioux reservation. Payment has been withheld on account of the failure of the interior department to make a computation of the award. This matter is now being adjusted and when completed the money will be placed in the treasury to the credit of the Indians.

FARMER FROZEN TO DEATH.

Body Found in the Cornfield of a Neighbor.

Winona, Minn., Dec. 7.—Lying in a cornfield on the farm of Charles O'Neill about two miles from Simpson, the frozen body of John Pohnoor, a prominent farmer, was found yesterday.

Sheriff Vine of Olmstead county and Coroner Mosse went to the scene and on examination they decided that the man had not been foully dealt with, and freezing was given as the cause for his death.

It is thought that Pohnoor was wandering around and became lost and went into the cornfield where he sat down and then went to sleep.

ANOTHER RATE WAR.

Great Western Announces a $7 Fare for Discharged Soldiers.

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—The Great Western has served notice of its withdrawal from the agreement of the Minneapolis-Chicago lines, to charge $8.05 from the Twin Cities to Chicago for discharged soldiers eastward bound. There have been and will be in all upwards of 1,000 soldiers paid off at the various army posts in the Northwest.

There is a suspicion that a better rate has been offered by some other line and the Great Western announces a $7 rate, with a prospect of giving an even lower one in a day or two.

DETECTIVES TURNED LOOSE.

Cases Against Morrissey and Howard Nolled at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Dec. 5.—The cases against James Howard and John Morrissey, well known detectives of the Minneapolis city staff, were during the day tossed into the discard on motion of the county attorney, after they had been hanging fire since April.

Morrissey and Howard were the first officials of the Ames administration to be indicted by the now famous April grand jury, and there was a pretty general understanding at the time that they were never to be tried.

TO INCREASE CAPITAL STOCK.

Great Western Adds $20,000,000 to Corporate Finances.

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—The Chicago Great Western intends to increase its capital stock from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000, and for the ratification of the stockholders a special meeting has been called for Feb. 18. The improvements being carried on by the company, among them the important extension from Sioux City to Omaha, demand an increase in the stock.

NO FUNDS AVAILABLE.

District Court of Hennepin County, Minn., Shuts Down.

Minneapolis, Dec. 4.—The district court of Hennepin county has shut down for lack of funds. Everything stopped short for an indefinite period at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The county auditor's books show $808 to the credit of the court's fund. There is $1,044 due to jurors. There will be nothing doing until the 1903 court fund becomes available.

LEGISLATION FOR RED LAKE.

Minnesota Reservation Bill to Be Vigorously Advocated.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The Red Lake reservation bill is to be pushed in the house of representatives next week. It went over last session on objection of Mr. Cannon, for the reason that it carried about a million-dollar appropriation to pay the Indians for 250,000 acres of land. This money will come back to the government when the land is sold to settlers.

Park Rapids, Minn., Dec. 4.—Dick Palmer, a saloonkeeper at Wilson's spur on the Northeastern in Hubbard county, shot Tom Seeleye with a rifle during the evening, killing him instantly. The killing was the result of a quarrel and Palmer is under arrest.

Get an Increase in Wages.

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—The machinists' strike at the American Hoist and Derrick company's plant has been settled and the men returned to work with an increase in wages of 10 cents per day.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.
I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

STOPPED THE STORM.

The Snow Was a Little Too Heavy to Suit the Actor.

"Mechanical devices are now made wonderfully real on the stage," said the old stock actor. "It hasn't been so many years ago since even the simple device of depicting a snowstorm was regarded an achievement. I remember on one occasion I was out with a company playing repertoire and in one melodrama—I don't even now recall the name—I took the part of an old man whose daughter, the heroine, had been abducted. I was supposed to be blind, and my strong scene was in the third act, when I went out into a snowstorm in search of my daughter. She was lying in a drift, and as I hobbled across the stage I kept crying: 'Me che-ild! Where is me che-ild?'

"Well, it was early in the season and the play was the first attraction at that theater. The scene painters had been at work and had dropped several paint brushes, hammers and other articles into the sheet that held the snowstorm. As the stage hands in the flies shook the sheets to make the snow come out a couple of hammers came down and just missed me by an inch. I was blind and didn't dare to look up, but when a monkey wrench just grazed my temple I had presence of mind enough to yell: 'See yonder moon! The storm is over!' The stage hands took their cue and let up on me, and the audience never stopped to question how a blind man could see yonder moon."—Philadelphia Record.

About Volcanoes.

Few persons have any idea of the prodigious quantity of lava and hot ashes which a volcano in a state of eruption can vomit in a few hours.

The matter which was discharged in 1669 from Mount Etna and which threatened to overwhelm Catania forms a mass the extent of which has been estimated as being not less than 1,000,000,000 cubic yards.

From the immense crater of Kilauea, in Hawaii, there was vomited in 1840 during a single eruption a mass of lava equivalent to fifty times the volume of earth which it was necessary to remove in order to form the Suez canal.

In 1873 the Skaptar-Jokull, one of the most redoubtable volcanoes in Iceland, sent forth two rivers of fire, one of which ran along a valley for eighty miles, its depth along the entire distance being thirty yards. Finally, it is estimated that from the mass of stones and ashes which were discharged in 1883 from Krakatoa could be formed a mountain higher and wider than Mont Blanc.

An Old Time Remedy.

In the ice chest of a Germantown residence there are always lying four or five big keys. This is because the nose of the little son of the house bleeds every few days, and nothing stops the hemorrhage like the dropping a large, cold key down the child's back, says the Philadelphia Record. He squirms and cries out before the shock, and then in a moment he is well, his nose stops bleeding. A physician said that the cold key remedy for the hemorrhage of the nose was as old, he supposed, as keys themselves are. "It is a very good remedy," he went on, "and its curative power is due to the shock it gives. But isn't it an odd thing to use—a cold key? Almost as odd, to my mind, as the candle with which some persons tallow their noses when they have a cold. But the candle remedy does no good, so far as I can see, whereas the key remedy is one of the best in the business."

He Didn't Take the Hint.

Chicago once had as its superintendent of city schools a bachelor named Howland, whose gruffness of manner and love of neatness were proverbial. Going into the room of a young and attractive teacher one day, Mr. Howland took notice of an untidy desk and a carelessly arranged bookshelf, and, pointing his finger at them, queried brusquely:

"What kind of a housekeeper do you think you'd make?"

"Why, Mr. Howland, are you looking for one?" was the humorously quizzical reply.

His Grace.

Bishop Wilberforce used to tell a story of a greedy clergyman who when asked to say grace looked anxiously to see if there were champagne glasses on the table. If there were, he began, "Bountiful Jehovah!" But if he saw only claret glasses he said, "We are not worthy of the least of thy mercies."

Have Some Municipal Ways.

"Your town is getting to be quite a city, isn't it?"

"Well, I don't know. Sometimes I think we're a city and sometimes I don't. We wear swallowtail coats at evening parties, but we haven't had a street car strike yet."—Chicago Tribune.

A Problem of the Present.

Hortense—Papa is so pensive today! Perhaps he is wondering how he will get along without us after we are married.

Helen—More likely he is wondering how he will get along with us until we are.—Brooklyn Life.

No Ear For Music.

"How do you like the music, Mr. Judkins?" said Miss Parsons.

"I'm sorry, but I have no ear for music," he answered.

"No," put in Mr. Jasper. "He uses his for a pen rack."—Boston Christian Register.

Capacity.

Nothing will give permanent success in any enterprise of life except native capacity cultivated by honest and persevering effort. Genius is often but the capacity for receiving and improving by discipline.—George Eliot.

NEWS IN MINNESOTA

Mrs. Broughton, an old lady residing at Cottonwood, attempted to pass in front of a freight train and as a result suffered injuries that will probably prove fatal.

The machinists' strike at the American Hoist and Derrick company's plant at St. Paul has been settled and the men have returned to work with an increase in wages of 10 cents per day.

Dick Palmer, a saloonkeeper at Wilson's spur in Hubbard county, shot Tom Seeleye with a rifle, killing him instantly. The killing was the result of a quarrel and Palmer is under arrest.

The state board of health regards the smallpox situation in the state as growing more serious daily. For the week ended Tuesday, 134 new cases were reported, and the week previous 115 cases.

Advance sheets of the biennial report of the game and fish commission, which is being prepared by Executive Agent Fullerton, show that over 10,000 licenses were issued to deer hunters this fall.

John B. Herring is dead at his home near Ransom. He was eighty-four years of age. He was county commissioner of Sargent county at its organization and also held several other minor offices.

Levi Bryant, an old settler of Aitkin and prominent G. A. R. man, was found dead in his home at Aitkin. He lived alone and while preparing his dinner fell upon the stove and was burned to death.

The recent flat increase of 25 per cent in all commercial fire insurance rates demanded by the companies doing business in this state has caused a small-sized insurrection in the smaller towns of Minnesota.

Peter Becker, residing near Belle Plaine and one of the oldest settlers of that part of the state, while feeding his horses slipped and fell under one of them and was kicked in the head. It is feared that he will die.

Judge Gray of the Hennepin county district court has granted a decree of divorce to Baroness Nina von Steinwehr. Baroness von Steinwehr was a Minneapolis girl whose maiden name was Clarke and she married the baron in that city in 1893.

Captain John A. Vanstrum, one of the first settlers of Kittson county and an official for the past fifteen years, was found dead in his home at Hallock where he had killed himself. He stabbed himself over twenty times in the stomach, finally causing death.

Mrs. Otis Finhart, wife of Otis Finhart, a prominent farmer living three miles north of Grand Meadow, made an unsuccessful attempt to kill her husband and child with a butcher knife. She then set fire to the house, which was completely destroyed.

The state legislature will be asked for an appropriation of $600,000 with which to defray the cost of finishing the interior and halls and stairways of the new capitol in marble and Minnesota stone. If the money is not voted, plain plaster will be used for the purpose.

Assistant Food Commissioner Dingman has discovered that wood alcohol is an ingredient of a brand of Jamaica ginger that is being sold to lumbermen and Indians as a substitute for whisky, and it is the intention of the department to prosecute the manufacturers.

The Pine Tree Lumber company of Little Falls has closed one of the most successful seasons in the history of the mill. It has been in operation continuously, day and night, 208 sawing days. It is estimated that about 65,000,000 feet of lumber has been cut.

The secretary of the interior has rendered a decision confirming the claim of Mrs. George Lydeck to part of section 16, on which the townsite of Cass Lake is located. Mrs. Lydeck's claim was based on an Indian allotment and the state claimed section 16 as school lands.

Hogerle & Gotman's bank safe at St. Bonifacius, five miles northeast of Waconia, was blown open Thursday night. The robbers secured $500 in cash and several thousand dollars in promissory notes. One thousand dollars in coin laying on top of the safe was overlooked.

Jerome Benson of Hallock, while hunting for moose and elk, was lost for three days and three nights in the great swamps of the Red Lake district. After wading through swamps, water and snow for about three and one-half days he was rescued by a party of hunters, who found him in a dazed and almost insane condition about thirty or forty miles from the starting point.

The United States court at Winona has entered a decree in the Russell Sage suit to collect on old bonds. This litigation has been in the courts since 1897. Evasion of payment was sought because the village of Reeds Landing, originally back of the bonds, no longer existed. The court finds for Sage and orders the township of Pepin to pay him $13,684.50, and the city of Wabasha to pay $1,644.45, they having absorbed Reeds Landing.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR CROUP.

[From the Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe.]

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by W. A. Schreiter's drug Store.

NEGRO APPOINTMENTS

President Roosevelt's defense of Dr. Wm. D. Crum, a negro, to be collector of Port of Charlston, may be read with profit by both sides to the controversy raised by the appointment. The President says:

"I do not intend to appoint any unfit man to office. So far as I legitimately can, I shall always endeavor to pay regard to the wishes and feeling of the people of each locality: but I can not consent to take the position that the door of hope—the door of opportunity—is to be shut upon any man, no matter how worthy, purely upon the grounds of race or color. Such an attitude would, according to my convictions, be fundamentally wrong. If the great bulk of the colored people are not yet fit in point of character and influence to hold such positions, it seems to me that it is worth while putting a premium upon the effort among them to achieve the character and standing which will fit them.

"The question of 'negro domination' does not enter into the matter at all. It might as well be asserted that when I was governor of New York I sought to bring about negro domination in that State because I appointed two colored men of good character and standing to responsible positions—one of them to a position paying a salary twice as large as that in the office now under consideration—one of them as a director of the Buffalo exposition. The question raised is simply whether it is to be declared that under no circumstances shall any man of color, no matter how upright and honest, no matter how good a citizen, no matter how fair in his dealings with all his fellows, be permitted to hold any office under our governmnnt. I certainly can not assume such an attitude, and you must permit me to say that, in my view, it is an attitude no man should assume, whether he looks at it from the standpoint of the true interest of the white man of the South or of the colored man of the South—not to speak of any other section of the Union. It seems to me that it is a good thing from every standpoint to let the colored man know that if he shows in marked degree the qualities of good citizenship—the qualities which in a white man we feel are entitled to reward—then he will not be cut off from all hope of similar reward."

AMENDING THE PRIMARY LAW.

The question of amending the Minnesota primary law is one of considerable interest in the state. The Minneapolis Journal has the following:

What will the legislature do with the primary law?

That is the question a great many politicians are asking. They recognize that there is a strong popular sentiment in favor of a primary law. It has strenuous opponents who are wondering whether the people will permit a repeal. Members of the legislature are being sounded on the proposition. None of them will announce their hostility to the law. They reached the nomination under the new system, and even if it was a hard road to travel, they cannot help feeling that the law which landed them is not wholly bad. Most of them commended the primary law before and after the primaries, and will have hard work to change front.

It seems probable that the law will be amended to some degree, but there is very little chance of its repeal. The principal fault is with the section requiring voters to declare their party affiliation. Opinion is much divided on this point, and a lively contest may be looked for over the attempt to change this provision.

The Red Wing Republican, which sounds a warning against the wholesale amending of the law, and wants it returned practically as it is, observes:

"About the only change that seems really necessary is to abandon the rule which requires the voter to declare his political affiliations. This is offensive, it is contrary to the spirit of the secret ballot, it discourages the partipication of the independent voter in the primaries and it keeps others away from them. The original method of the Hennepin county law was a good deal better. The dangers that voters of one party will turn in and nominate candidates for the other, at the price of losing their voice in their own party is imaginary or greatly exaggerated. Leave the voter alone and he will do his duty."

The Crookston Times says in reply:

"This feature of the law has, it is true, met with more criticism than any other, but we doubt whether its repeal would improve the law. In fact it would seem that with this provision of the law stricken out, it would prove very unsatisfactory and might even be utterly condemned by the people. The statement that the danger that the voter of one party will turn in and try to nominate a candidate of another party is imaginary or exaggerated, is amply disproved by the first test of the law last September."

"The Stowaway"

"The Stowaway," in which "Spike" Hennessy, the reformed burglar, made his debut years ago, opened at the Grand Opera last night to a large audience. The play is one of the old time melodramas, such as thrill one to the very quick, and there is a quick succession of events that never permit the interest to flag.

Last night's audience at the Grand was rewarded by a good show, and the actors were accorded liberal applause. The inevitable villain complicated matters continually, but the ever present hero came on just in time to straighten out the kinks, and when the curtain fell on the last act everyone went home well pleased.

The company presenting "The Stowaway" is an adequate one, and evidences considerable dramatic ability. Saville and Frank, in their respective parts, are up to the standard. Gus Tate, who does the funny work as Dicky Dials, gets many a laugh out of the audience. The Misses McKay, Wright and Lamont, who compose the feminine contingent are pretty and pleasing at all times.

"The Stowaway" will continue at the Grand to-night and to-morrow night. It is worth seeing and will certainly enjoy a good patronage at the hands of Butteites.—Butte, Mont., Inter Mountain.

Note.—"The Stawaway" company will be at the Metropolitan Opera House, Red Lake Falls, Toesday evening, December 16.

A COLUMBUS STATUE.

The Story of a Brass Founder's Transformation of Gambrinus.

A story is told of a brass founder who was one day visited by a friend acting as agent for one of the cities of Central America. The agent asked what it would cost to cast a statue of Christopher Columbus for the public square of the city. The amount was far in excess of the sum which the man had at his disposal. He was about leaving in despair of being able to secure the statue when the brass founder said:

"Come back in the junk yard and let us see what can be found there."

He went back, and the brass founder showed him a colossal statue of Gambrinus, recently removed from the front of a large brewing establishment. Under his feet rested a beer keg, in his hand was a large and overflowing schooner, his beard was long and shaggy, and about his brows was wreathed a garland of barley and hops.

"Why, this will never do," said the commission merchant. "I want a statue of Columbus."

"Wait until I have touched this one up. Come back in about a week and see what you think of it. If it suits you, you can have it for the amount you have at your disposal."

As soon as the visitor had gone the brass founder set two men at work on the figure of Gambrinus. They removed the beer keg from under his right foot and placed there an anchor and a coil of rope, from his hand they removed the goblet and substituted a globe, with the continents traced on it; from his brow they took the wreath of barley and hops and substituted a wreath of laurel and then proceeded to trim up his whiskers. The finishing touch consisted in putting at the base of the statue "Cristoforo Colombo."

When the commission merchant came, he was delighted with the figure and, purchasing it, shipped it to the Central American city, where it adorns the public square and is looked upon with veneration by the citizens of that town.—New York Times.

FIRES CAUSED BY NAILS.

Particularly Guarded Against by Firms That Handle Cotton.

"Speaking of insurance matters," said a listener, "I suppose the plain, old fashioned nail has caused more fires in the big establishments where machinery is used in many and complicated ways than any other little thing in existence. The only thing needed is for it to come in contact with some other hard material with sufficient force to cause a spark and heat generation. Nails have really produced a heavy per cent of the cotton fires of the country. During recent years, on account of steps taken by the owners and conductors of the larger cotton and byproduct plants at the instance of insurance men, the nail has not been such a prolific producer of fires.

"A way has been found, for instance, in cotton gins, cotton mills and in plants where cottonseed are put through manufacturing processes, of extracting nails and other weighty and flinty substances that may find lodgment in these inflammable products. Gravity is the natural force used. Nails and rocks and materials of this kind are heavier than cotton and its byproducts, and they have a tendency to force their way to the bottom of the heap. By allowing these products to pass over a rolling belt arrangement these heavier materials filter toward the bottom and are finally extracted, so that when the cotton or the cottonseed passes through the grind in the various manufacturing processes there is but little danger from fire so far as these things are concerned."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

About Writing One's Name.

People who sign their letters with wild flourishes or initials only and give no address offer one of the worst of compliments to their correspondent by egotistically assuming that their handwriting must be of such familiar importance to him or that they and their affairs are so present to his mind that further identification is unnecessary. Having their signature cut from the end of a letter and the address from its heading pasted on the envelope which incloses a reply is a bad compliment which many persons bring upon themselves by an unpardonable illegibility. It is a singular fact that accidental misspelling or mispronunciation of one's name generally constitutes a greater affront and is provocative of more annoyance than a studied insult.—All the Year Round.

Brotherly Help.

"Sis will be down in a minute," said her little brother.

"I'm so glad," replied Mr. De Trop. "She wasn't at home the last time I called."

"Oh, yes she was, but wouldn't come down."

"How do you know she'll come down this time then?"

"'Cause I told her you was another fellow."—Philadelphia Record.

The Earliest Lens.

The earliest known lens is one made of rock crystal unearthed by Layard at Nineveh. This lens, the age of which is to be measured by thousands of years, now lies in the British museum with its surface as bright as when it left the maker's hands. By the side of it are very recent specimens of lens which have been ruined by exposure to London's fogs and smoke.

His Preference.

"Would you rather have something else than a piece of pie?" asked the kind neighbor of little Freddie, who had run an errand for her.

"Yes, ma'am," said Freddie promptly. "I wu'd rather have two pieces."—Ohio State Journal.

Railroading Terms.

Railroading terms in England and America differ very widely. The English would speak of shunting a train. We call it switching. Freight trains they call goods trains, coaches are carriages, conductors are guards, engineers are drivers, trucks are boggies and freight cars are wagons. The British always say station instead of depot, and in that they have the better of us. Rails they call metals and tracks permanent ways. They do not get their tickets at a ticket office, but at a booking office, and the smokestack of the locomotive is to them the chimney. A railroad man going from one country to the other finds that he has to learn an entirely new set of phrases about his business.

A Chameleon's Bite.

The bite even of the largest chameleon does not fetch blood, though the teeth leave indentations. I often, says a naturalist, provoke them to bite me in order to observe their habits, and only once; when one caught me between the fingers where the skin is tender, was I really hurt. On this occasion the thing held on so persistently and firmly that I could not for some time free my finger. At last I was obliged to call some one to get it off by forcibly opening its mouth. Even then it did not pierce the skin. Its teeth are too fine and regular, but the dotted triangular impression of the little teeth was very red and distinct for some minutes.

Do Your Work Well.

Possibly you think your employer does not notice you or know about your work. The writer of this was talking the other evening to an extensive employer of labor, and he talked most of the evening about his workmen. He knew all about every one of them, from the head man to the laborers, and noted their good and bad points. Don't forget that your employer knows all about you. When he needs a new foreman or superintendent, he knows the one to select.—Atchison Globe.

To Little Profit.

"Don't you think I preached a very poor sermon this morning?" asked the new preacher of the deacon, from whom he expected a compliment.

"Yaas, I do," drawled the honest deacon, "but it runs in my mind that I've heard worse, ef I cud only rickollect wher' it wuz."—Ohio State Journal.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorder of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidney and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. A Musical Bed.

A Bombay man has constructed a bedstead priced at 10,000 rupees. It is thus described: "It has at its four corners four full sized, gaudily dressed Grecian damsels—those at the head holding banjos, while those on the right and left hold fans. Beneath the cot is a musical box which extends the whole length of the cot and is capable of playing twelve charming airs. The music begins the moment the least pressure has been brought to bear from the top, which is created by one sleeping or sitting, and ceases the moment the individual rises. While the music is in progress the lady banjoists at the head manipulate the strings with their fingers and move their heads, while the two Grecian damsels at the bottom fan the sleeper to sleep.

Leaves Used For Paper.

Leaves of trees were used for writing purposes very early by the Egyptians and probably by the Greeks. The Hindoos continued the use of this material until within a few centuries. Even at the present time books of leaves are not uncommon in the south of India and the island of Ceylon. The leaves of some Asiatic trees, from their size and smoothness, are admirably adapted for books. If we may judge from the name "leaf" being still applied to the paper of books, we should imagine these leaves to have been formerly the principal material in use.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Waves In Solid Metal.

Professor Roberts-Austen, in talking before the institution of civil engineers in London about advances in metallurgy and engineering, demonstrated that solid metals might reveal by their structure the vibrations to which they had been subjected. In explaining this phenomenon experiments were shown proving that a beautiful wave structure can be imparted to the surface of mercury by the vibrations of a tuning fork and that even the surface of solid lead which has been subjected to similar vibrations possesses a structure resembling that of a vibrating surface of mercury. Mild steel was defined by Professor Roberts-Austen as a "solid solution" of iron and carbon, free from cinders. Metallurgists have doubled the strength of steel as it was known in its early days.

New York's Sky Line.

Vereschagin, the artist who is painting a large picture of the battle of San Juan Hill, with President Roosevelt as the central figure, was very much depressed over New York's sky line when he visited the metropolis fifteen years ago. He said that the occasional skyscraper was a painful blot on the landscape; that it made the sky line one terrible thing to behold. The other day after long contemplation of it and the scores of big buildings which load down the island of Manhattan he is said to have turned to a friend and remarked, "Really [a pause] it begins to be grand."

Sandwich Islands.

The term "Sandwich Islands" recurs in news items, scientific addresses and in lectures with a frequency which suggests some other cause than ignorance of the fact that the early name of the group has long been obsolete. One cause of this survival, especially where these islands are mentioned in public speech, is the inability of the mainlander to pronounce "Hawaiian." He usually says "Haywayian" and knows that he is wrong; so to protect himself from a lingual infelicity he says "Sandwich Islands" and lets them go at that.

The Pennypackers.

There are not many Pennypackers in the state of Pennsylvania, and the name of the Philadelphia jurist who has been nominated for governor has aroused considerable discussion. There is only one Pennypacker family in Pittsburg and one in Allegheny. Allegheny has a Penebaker. That is really the nearest thing in the directory to Pennypacker, for Pennypacker originally had no suggestion of coin about it and is a corruption from the old Dutch or Pennsylvania German Pannabecker, or Panabaker, which merely means a man who bakes in a pan.

THREE EYED ANIMALS.

New Zealand Possesses Some of These Remarkable Creatures.

There is no more interesting country in the world to a biologist than New Zealand, and to Professor Dendy is due the credit of having made some very valuable original researches in regard to some of the more characteristic fauna of the country.

Nearly every one has heard of the tuatara, the curious iguanalike looking creature now found on only one or two islands off the coast of New Zealand and supposed to be the oldest living type of animal on the face of the globe. One of the most curious features is an organ on the head, which at one time was spoken of as the pineal gland, but which Dr. Dendy discovered to be in reality a third eye. His paper on the subject caused the greatest interest in scientific circles, and, as an illustration of the way in which research is specialized nowadays, it may be mentioned that while Dr. Dendy devoted himself to the study of the third eye one distinguished English biologist is "working out" the skeleton, another the kidneys, etc.

More recently Dr. Dendy has discovered another New Zealand creature possessing a third eye. This is the New Zealand lamprey, a favorite article of food among the Maoris. The third eye is situated right on top of the head and is covered with a thin coating of skin. It is doubtful whether it is now of any practical use for seeing, but Dr. Dendy believes that at one time, far back in the world's history, there were two eyes on the back of the lamprey's head. He is further of the opinion that at one time the tuatara also had two eyes where now only one remains. In the tuatara it is the left eye which has survived, while in the lamprey it is the right one.

The English lamprey has only two eyes and is to that extent inferior to its New Zealand congener, but it has its compensations, for was it not recorded in our history books at school that an English king died from eating too many lampreys?—Melbourne (Australia) Argus.

Artificial Lobster Culture.

For many years, both in Europe and this country, the artificial propagation of lobsters has presented an unsolved problem. Now, at last, Professor H. C. Bumpus of the American Museum of Natural History has discovered the secret of success. His discovery comes at an opportune moment, because for five years past the supply of lobsters has been decreasing. The method of Professor Bumpus depends upon keeping the water in which the lobster fry are placed after hatching in constant motion, for, if allowed to settle, the fry smother or devour one another. By this device the young lobsters are successfully reared until at the age of from nine to sixteen days they are able to take care of themselves. The United States Fish commission is planning to restock the depleted waters along our coast with lobsters hatched and reared in the manner described.

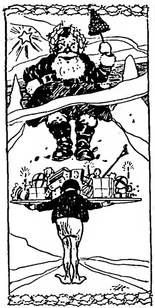
A CHRISTMAS GREETING

A Poem of the Yuletide

A SONG for old Christmas,
For jolly old Christmas,
The monarch of merriment, fun and good cheer!
Let all the bells chiming
Ring out with a rhyming
For Christmas, good Christmas, King Christmas is here!

Pile up the log fire
Still higher and higher;
He loves the bright blaze of a wide open hearth.
No shadow of sadness
Must darken our gladness,
For Christmas, blithe Christmas, now rules the broad earth.

The stars are all winking
As if they were drinking
Time out of ethereal champagne that he brings.
The winds shout in chorus:
"Long may he reign o'er us!
Good Christmas, King Christmas, the greatest of kings!"



"HAIL TO KING CHRISTMAS!"

O'er snow piles, high drifted,
His throne is uplifted!
His mantle is pinned by the North Polar star,
And down the dim ages
Saints, sinners and sages
Cry, "Hail to King Christmas, who rules near and far!"

His brows wreathed with holly,
Fat, rosy and jolly,
He sways the proud scepter no monarch can boast
O'er realms that are boundless
And depths that are soundless,
For he, mighty Christmas, alone rules the roast!

Then plump be the purses
Of all whom these verses
May reach, with their tidings of jolly good cheer.
Their presents be many,
Their fun best of any,
For Christmas comes once—only once—in a year.
—Aimee Carey in Philadelphia Ledger.

THE CHRISTMAS BIRD.

How to Prepare and Cook a Goose, Old or Young.

A goose is the typical Christmas bird, although most families dine on turkey that day, and some like a pair of ducks and a fine roast of beef. The goose must be young, or what is called a green goose. Yellow and flexible feet are a sign of youth. A goose is dressed and trussed in the same manner as a turkey, but the skin should be thoroughly washed.

Sage and onions are the traditional seasonings, and a very good way to stuff a goose is to boil and mash some white potatoes and season highly with onion juice, sage, also salt and pepper. Dredge the outside lightly with salt and pepper and thickly with flour. Lay the goose on a rack in the baking pan and put a few tablespoonfuls of water in the pan; baste often. Twenty minutes to the pound is the average time to allow for the baking. Garnish with blood oranges cut in sections on parsley, celery tips or any other green garnish.

Make a sauce from the contents of the pan, thickening with flour, and after straining add the giblets, which have been cooked until tender in water and chopped coarsely.

An old goose cannot be cooked satisfactorily in this way. It will need to be parboiled and then braised.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

There is a Christmas tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to—bankruptcy.

A young man will "hang up" more than his stocking if he buys his best girl a present.

The tall man will be short after Christmas.

A man is thankful for small favors; but No. 12 slippers do not come under that head.

It will not be necessary to tell the neighbors that you gave your son a drum.—Truth.

THE CHRIST CHILD IN THE MANGER.

CHRISTMAS JOKES

Light Headed.

First Xmas Candle—I'm just burning to know when it's time for us to go out.

Second Ditto—Bosh! Twelve o'clock! You are not up to snuff.

Blessed are the babies on Christmas day. They can be put off with cheap candy.

The head of the family expends many dollars on presents and receives two handkerchiefs and a pair of mitts. Then is the time to be merry.

A Prohibition Pie.

Kansan—Come over and spend Christmas with me, old boy, and take dinner.

Missourian—Thanks! I'd be happy to, but—

Kansan—Oh, that'll be all right. My wife has prepared a good old fashioned mince pie, and I can guarantee the flavor.

Don't think of yourself at all, if you can help it, just now, but study your family and friends from their point of view and then plan your Christmas treat accordingly. A little thing that one wants is worth a dozen that we do not wish for.

It doesn't seem to throw cold water over Kris Kringle's good intentions when we turn the family hose on him.—Glens Falls Republican.

"I hear that Miss Roseleaf is going to leave the church. Do you know why?"

"Yes; she helped trim the chancel Christmas eve, and while she was laboriously tacking up 'Good Will to Men' Miss Lily White got the minister to propose. Roseleaf thought it was too underhand a performance, and so she's left the church."

Christmas Weather.

Happy all together,
Singing in the light;
It's always Christmas weather
When the Heart
Beats
Right!
—Atlanta Constitution.

CHRISTMAS IN SERVIA.

A Santa Claus Who Receives Presents Instead of Giving Them.

In Servia they keep Christmas eve in a somewhat peculiar way. The father of the family goes into the wood and cuts down a straight young oak, choosing the most perfect he can find. He brings it in, saying, "Good evening and a happy Christmas," to which those present say, "May God grant both to thee, and mayest thou have riches and honor!" Then they throw over him grains of corn. Presently the young tree is placed upon the coals, where it remains until Christmas morning, which they salute by repeated firings of a pistol.

The national dish in Servia is pork. The poorest family in Servia will pinch themselves all through the year so as to have money enough to buy a pig at Christmas. Skewered to a long piece of wood, the pig is turned over a blazing fire until cooked, the guests watching the process with increasing interest. After dinner stories are told and songs sung. Santa Claus, who, in the person of an honored guest, is present to receive instead of to give presents, departs, after the feast, decorated with a long ring of cakes around his neck and laden with such gifts as his friends can bestow.—Baltimore American.

AN ODD BELGIAN CUSTOM.

A Picturesque Procession on Christmas Eve.

In some old Belgian towns a beautiful spectacle may be seen on Christmas eve. Amid the sound of drum, cornet, cymbal and a whole orchestra of instruments, with the chanting of carols, a long, gayly decked procession marches through the principal streets—children of all ages, each division dressed in its special color (white, blue, pink or yellow), and all bearing some badge or emblem or grasping some bright ribbon attached to shrine or crucifix. The effect of grouping and color is very artistic. Here and there in the throng older, stronger hands bear aloft precious relics, upon which the spectators reverently gaze. Many novel features come into view as the procession passes along, but the prettiest sight is the train of beautiful children in fastastic dress marching over the flower strewn pavement, each small person gravely absorbed in the special part it performs. — Pittsburg Dispatch.

Johnnie Has a Head For Business.

"Johnnie, what do you want me to buy you for Christmas?"

"How much money have you got?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Unpoetic.

"Christmas is in the air," said Mrs. Fosdick, looking out of the window.

"Oh, that's mostly soot you see," her husband explained.—Detroit Free Press.

His One Request.

Mamma—Now, what would you like best for a Christmas present?

Willie—Oh, I'd like to see the schoolhouse burn down! May I?—Philadelphia Press.

Undoubtedly.

"I wish you a happy and prosperous new year," said the soubrette.

"Thank you," replied the contortionist, "I am reasonably sure of making both ends meet."

Sudden and Surprising.

"What do you most desire for Christmas, Miss Mabel?"

"Oh, George, this is so sudden!"

"Wh—what do you mean?"

"Why, of course, I want you!"

Not Through Yet.

"What kind of a Christmas did you pass?" asked the friend.

"The same as usual," answered Mr. Biggins sourly. "Twenty minutes of turkey and mince pie, and six weeks of pepsin."—Washington Star.

Couldn't Give Herself Away.

Charley Easyman—Well, Willie, your sister has given herself to me for a Christmas present. What do you think of that?

Willie—Huh! That's what she done for Mr. Brown last Christmas, and he gave her back to herself before Easter.

A Matter of Principle.

"Is you all gwine to hang up any mistletoe dis Christmas?" asked Mr. Erastus Pinkley.

"Deed I isn'," answered Mrs. Miami Brown. "I've got a little too much pride to advertise foh de ordinary courtesies dat a lady has a right to expect."

Mr. Oompah (Christmas eve)—Maria, I have forgotten where I put Ben's present.

Mrs. Oompah (calling out)—Benny, come and tell your father where he hid that drum he's going to give you.—Chicago Tribune.

That Bad Teddy Brown.

The wurstest boy I ever see
Is jes' that Teddy Brown;
He's jes' as bad as he can be,
For one day he came down
To visit me awhile an' play
An' said our pas an' mas
Jes' give us things on Christmas day,
An' th' ain't no Santy Claus.

I hain't go'n' play with Teddy Brown;
I'd like to well as not.
But he says Santy can't come down
A chimbly like we got.
An' he says how would his sleigh go
Last Christmas time, because
There wasn't then a speck of snow?
So th' ain't no Santy Claus.

He's jes' the wurstest boy I guess
That ever was, an' I
Hain't go'n' to play with him, but jes'
Go on an' pass him by.
So'd you ef you could hear him say
That jes' our pas an' mas
Will give us things on Christmas day,
An' th' ain't no Santy Claus.

'Twas the night before Christmas;
In each little house
The children were waiting
As still as a mouse
To hear the puff puff
And the pish, chugg and squeal
Of good old St. Nicholas'

Beautiful Red Lake Falls, "City of Destiny."

Where Timber Wooes the Prairie to the Music of Rushing Waters.

DR. N. M. WATSON, MAYOR.

Red Lake Falls

By CHAS. E. BOUGHTON, City Attorney.........

Red Lake Falls: To those who have been here, it stands for whirling wheels of industry; busy people; pleasant homes, looking out over fertile prairies or down picturesque bluffs to swiftly moving rivers; great water powers, some merrily grinding wheat for hungry millions, some idly waiting to turn the wheels of the great factories that capital and the near future will bring forth. To those who have not been here it stands for the distributing point of the promised land.

WHERE IT IS.

At the junction of the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers, two large streams that drain the finest country in the world; that bring down annually the wealth of Northern Minnesota in the shape of millions of feet of logs. South, east, west and north is a great tributary farming country of fruitful prairie lands. Northeast, between the rivers, and along the rivers, are large tracts of woodland sufficient to supply the surrounding country with fuel for many years to come.

ON THE BANKS OF THE CLEARWATER.

CLASS OF RESIDENTS.

About three thousand of the kind of people you like to meet. If you are English, German, French, Norwegian, Irish, Scotch, or almost any other nationality, you will find friends of your own nationality ready to greet you. Good, hospitable, busy people, ready to welcome strangers and give them a nook in the city's busy commercial life.

ITS RESOURCES.

They are many. In the city and within three miles of it are twelve distinct water powers, each one good for from a ten to fifteen foot head of water and sufficient to run many mills and factories. Three of these are already developed, two being utilized by two great flour mills, whose output aggregates two thousand barrels per day, the year around. This flour is shipped all over the world, and its excellence is attested by numerous customers in Liverpool and London.

On the point of land at the junction of the two rivers stands a big saw mill whose shining steel bands each year slice up lumber to build great city and farm houses without number. Its advantageous location is manifest since logs may be run down either river, and its source of supply covers all of Northern Minnesota. The railroads, the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, run into the city and carry away the products of the mills and farms. Besides the mills the railroads employ large crews of men the year around. Day labor commands $1.75 to $2.00 per day; carpenters, $3.00 per day, masons, $4.00; threshing hands $1.75 to $2.00 with board.

Besides the industries named, the city has a creamery and a carding mill, two brick yards, many large, up-to-date general stores, two drug stores, three banks, five land offices, seven hotels, two of the best weekly newspapers in the state, lawyers, doctors, wagon shops, agricultural implement stores, hardware stores, livery stables, butcher shops, three competing retail lumber yards, in fact, everything that goes to make a truly prosperous town.

Surrounding the city are miles upon miles of rich farming country. People come from ten, twenty and thirty miles to do their trading at Red Lake Falls. Especially is this the case from the east, where lies the great Red Lake reservation. Part of this was opened to settlement in 1896; the balance in this county, eleven townships, will be thrown open to homeseekers in a few months. To all this new country Red Lake Falls is the key. Prospective settlers would do well to make their headquarters here. The prosperity of the city is attested by the substantial brick blocks in the business portion. We have electric lights, local telephone system, and are connected with the balance of the world by long distance telephone.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

The present city administration is progressive and economical. The officials are:

Dr. N. M. Watson, Mayor; Aldermen, J. M. Bray, president; Ed. L. Healy, W. A. Schreiter, Fred Borchers, Thomas Crompe; A. P. Toupin, city clerk; Chas. E. Boughton, city attorney; Ovide Emard, treasurer; E. A. Moran, assessor. Police: Wm. McIntosh, chief; Geo. Brunelle, patrol. We have a good and efficient volunteer fire department, equipped with steam fire engine and all modern appliances; a city hall, and well laid out streets and good drainage. Red Lake Falls is the county seat and metropolis of Red Lake county.

SCHOOLS.

The city has a state High School with twelve departments, employing fourteen instructors. It occupies two large buildings. Prof. F. A. Whiteley, now at the head of the school, has made it one of the best in the state. Eight hundred children attend the various departments. St. Joseph's Catholic school is conducted by the sisters of St. Benedict. This school which was opened in October, has an attendance of some two hundred pupils.

CHURCHES.

Three large, well attended churches are here. Two Catholic: St. Joseph's and St. Mary's, and one Presbyterian. The Norwegian Lutheran society holds frequent meetings. French and English sermons are preached in St. Joseph's church and German and English in St. Mary's.

LODGES.

If you are at all social in your habits you may here fairly revel in brotherly and neighborly love. Few other cities of like size have so large a number of secret and benevolent societies. The Oddfellows, Modern Woodmen, Catholic Order of Foresters, Knights of Pythias, Modern Brotherhood, Red Men, Knights of the Maccabees, Rebekahs, Royal Neighbors, Ladies of the Maccabees, Women Catholic Foresters and several other societies have good lodges here. Besides these there is the carpenter's union, a labor organization.

MUSIC AND AMUSEMENTS.

We have a first class band, under the direction of a paid director, Prof. Clint O. Smith; monthly concerts are held in the Opera house in winter, open air in summer, a good orchestra, a big opera house, two base ball teams, the "Selects" and the "J. B.'s",—both winners, a High School foot-ball team, and a well equipped athletic organization. Enthusiastic bicyclists find good hard roads most of the year. Many teachers of the country schools board in town and go to and from their school each day on their wheels. Fishermen find good sport at the mill dams, often making phenomenal catches. In the fall the country surrounding Red Lake Falls is a veritable paradise for prairie chicken hunters, who come from everywhere with shot guns, game licenses and—cases of beer.

If you are a kodak fiend you will find many picturesque scenes along the two rivers or on the country roads.

"IF YOU ARE A KODAK FIEND YOU WILL FIND MANY PICTURESQUE SCENES."

PROSPECTS.

The city is the seat of the county government and since it became such in 1896 has fairly hustled along, yet with a steady honest growth most gratifying to its residents, and is indicative of a prosperous future. The business men are all good "rustlers" quick to see and to appreciate a "good thing", and ready to help and welcome all infant industries looking for a location. With our facilities for shipping and handling grain, our mills, our rivers, our water powers, our immense tributary farming country, we are now the leading town in Red Lake county, one of the best in the Northwest, and bound to remain so and grow greater. Whoever you are and what ever may be your business, Red Lake Falls is a good town to come to and to" tie to."

CHARLES E. BOUGHTON, CITY ATTORNEY.

A BEAUTY SPOT ON THE CLEARWATER.

FOR XMAS SHOPPERS.

Red Lake Falls the Holiday Headquarters For Entire County.

The merchants of Red Lake Falls have good reason to pride themselves on the stocks of goods always carried, but it is at such times as these when the attention of the holiday shopper is attracted by a display of seasonable merchandise artistically set forth in the local stores.

A merely superficial inspection will explain why Red Lake Falls has become the shopping headquarters for the entire county, but especially for the Holiday Trade.

The buying of Christmas presents has been reduced by many to a science. But it is a hard enough task at the best, even where the dazzling array of goods of all descriptions and prices as seen in the Red Lake Falls stores, comes to one's aid. Few cities in Northern Minnesota have finer stores than Red Lake Falls. On the other hand, in point of complete stocks and elegantly appointed places of business, we lead, except in a few instances, in cities of perhaps four or five times our population.

And when it comes to holiday goods—it will pay the shopper to travel many miles to see the dazzling array presented here.

The individuality of the merchant manifests itself in the selections he offers his customers. At one store it is this novelty, at another that. In fact anything and everything the buyer wants seem to be here.

Come to Red Lake Falls for your holiday goods, and you make no mistake.

"FISHERMEN FIND GOOD SPORT."

History of Red Lake Falls

In a Nutshell.

The first party to arrive at Red Lake Falls was Pierre Bottineau, Wm. Bottineau, Elie Cyr and Jos. Cyr. They came by team from Minneapolis and reached this point May 2, 1876.

There was no Red Lake Falls then; but Pierre Bottineau picked out a homestead on the banks of the beautiful Clearwater river, for himself, and all around him he planned to locate his friends of French Canadian extraction, and the name of Red Lake Falls, or Bottineau Colony, was given by Pierre Bottineau.

The next summer Ernest Buse came along and platted his Original townsite and after that Mr. Bottineau had his farm surveyed into town lots. Red Lake Falls was not incorporated as a village until 1882.

The first railroad—the N. P.—was built into this place in 1887. The Great Northern built in 1892.

Red Lake Falls was made the county seat of Red Lake county at the general election in 1896; Red Lake Falls was incorporate as a city March 9, 1897.

THE TRUTH ABOUT .....SANTA CLAUS

Of course there's a Santa Claus! Every one knows it—
That is, every one who has good sense and shows it.
There are those who doubt love and religion and morals—
Those people who always are seeking for quarrels
On questions of faith and are ever lamenting
The existence of things to which there's no dissenting.
They would have all the dear little children believing
There isn't a Santa, but their aim's deceiving.
He's jolly and big, and his nickname's Kris Kringle;
God pity the child who has not heard the jingle
Of his silver bells as he comes swift a-sleighing
When his annual visit of love he's a-paying!
He's round, and he's fat, and his whiskers are whitened
With centuried snows, but his good face is lightened
With the cheery warm nature that keeps you supernal
And will make dear old Santa Claus last time eternal.

So, children, don't think when you bang up each stocking
That there is no Santa Claus—that would be shocking—
Because while you're snugly and cozily sleeping
He'll come with his reindeer all madly a-leaping
And from his rich load in a trice will be taking
And leaving the gifts that will gladden your waking!
—Washington Star.

THE YULETIDE LOG.

An Ancient Custom Still Observed In the North of England.

A custom at one time prevalent in England and still observed in some of the northern districts of the old country is that of placing an immense log of wood—sometimes the root of a great tree—in the wide chimney place. This is often called the Yule log, and it was on Christmas eve that it was put on the wide hearth. Around it would gather the entire family, and its entrance was the occasion of a great deal of ceremony. There were music and rejoicing, while the one authorized to light it was obliged to have clean hands.

It was always lighted with a brand left over from the log of the previous year, which had been carefully preserved for the purpose. A poet sings of it in this way:

With the last year's brand
Light the new block, and
For good success in his spending
On your psaltries play
That sweet luck may
Come while the log is a-tending.

The Yule log was supposed to be a protection against evil spirits, and it was considered a bad omen if the fire went out before the evening was over. The family and guests used to seat themselves in front of the brightly burning fire, and many a story and merry jest went round the happy group.—New York Mail and Express.

Red River Valley Lands

We have in the neighborhood of 100,000 acres of choice wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and adjoining counties, ranging in prices from $10 to $35 per acre according to location and improvements. Terms can be made so that a quarter section of choice farming land is within the reach of the man with small means. Some of our lands are all timber, some are all prairie, but most of our lands have just enough timber for excellent protection and at the same time furnish an abundance of fuel. Situated, as we are, where prairie and timber meet and mingle and where timothy and clover grow in abundance and has never been known to winter-kill, where corn growing has already passed the experimental stage and in a few years will be the staple crop. We have a country that is perfectly adapted to diversified farming and stock raising. Our lands are among the best in the Red River Valley, and our prices (quality and location considered,) are among the lowest. It will pay you to come and see us, examine our lands and

A TROPICAL CHRISTMAS

How the Day of Days Is Celebrated In Jamaica

CHRISTMAS with the mercury at 95 degrees in the shade and soaring away out of sight when exposed in the open! The burning, almost boiling, rays of the sun beat vertically down from a deep blue dome of sky that is unflecked by a single film of cloud, and reflect back with added intensity of suffering heat from the parched, baked and cracked earth and from the surface of a sea that shimmers like molten lead. Christmas in a land of perpetual summer, and a hot wave of that where a linen suit feels like a buffalo robe and the mere thought of a blazing Yule log almost induces an attack of fever! The calendar may insist that it is the 25th of December, but to a stranger from the north, says a newspaper correspondent from Kingston, Jamaica, to whom the word "Christmas" has a jingle of sleighbells and the sharp, keen ring of skate blades on the ice, there is no real Christmas in the strange countries of the tropics.

A NATIVE DUDE IN HOLIDAY DRESS.

In Kingston, the capital of Jamaica, the preparations for Christmas begin several weeks before the event. The shopkeepers lay in extra supplies and provide special attractions, pretty much after the manner of the New York stores. Among other things they import large quantities of sweetmeats and candies from London, New York and Paris, including chocolate creams and other confectionery which New Yorkers are accustomed to getting "fresh every hour." In Jamaica you are reasonably sure of getting these delicacies fresh every Christmas. Chocolate grows in great abundance all over the island, but it must go to London or Paris or New York to be manufactured into candy, or even into the preparations for breakfast beverages. That is one of the expensive peculiarities of the country. The Christmas market is the great feature of the day, and almost the principal event of the year in a certain sense. Everybody goes to market on Christmas day, and between the hours of 6 and 9 in the morning all the fashion and beauty of the island's capital are on dress parade through Victoria market.

THE NATION'S HOST---DEAR OLD SANTA CLAUS.

The stalls in the market are gayly decorated with flags, bunting, palm branches, colored paper, tinsel and an abundance of flowers. A brass band occupies a prominent position in the market building and discourses music of great volume and variety and more or less melody. After the crowds fairly take possession of the market the performance of the band appears to be mostly pantomimic, for nothing made by the hand of man can for a moment compete in noise producing capacity with the average Jamaican negro.

The West Indian negro's great weakness is a love of gay apparel, next is a predilection for ceremoniousness, and the most prominent affliction is garrulity. In the crowd that surges past one through the market and the surrounding streets may be seen every variety of apparel known to civilized and uncivilized man. The country people wear little or nothing, the coolies as little as nothing, but the town negro wears everything he or she can put on, without any regard whatever to the climatic conditions. They take their notions from the English fashion papers, and heavy woolen clothing is all the style. The writer has even seen sealskins worn in Kingston on a day when the thermometer registered 90 degrees in the shade. Here is a stylish saddle colored gentleman wearing loud check trousers, patent leather shoes, a striped flannel shirt of three colors, a crimson and black sash around his waist, a blue English cricketing cup on his head. In his hand he carries an immense cane, while screwed into his left eye is a circular piece of perfectly plain glass, through which he glares stonily on the throng. Not long ago the single eyeglass became very popular among Kingston society darkies, but they could not get along with the glasses that magnified, so some enterprising merchant imported a lot of circular pieces of plain window glass, and all the dudes wore them, happily and idiotically.

A Tropical Celebration With Santa Claus Left Out.

The white people of Jamaica celebrate Christmas in spirit rather than in active observance. Of course Santa Claus is unknown here, for what would Kris Kringle do in his fur raiment and with his reindeers in a land where few indeed of the people know what snow is and fewer still ever saw it. Outdoor sport is out of the question, and even lawn tennis cannot be substituted for the skating and tobogganing of the north. The white people sit or swing in hammocks under the cool shade of the palm trees and look with curious interest over the holiday numbers of English and American magazines, with their strange pictures of snow scenes, and read the stories of Christmastide in the land of Kris Kringle and Jack Frost. After sundown there are social gatherings, at which the guests sit out on the verandas, eat ice cream, fan themselves and while away the evening with conversation and in that "sweet doing nothing" way that is such a feature of life in the tropics. Very many of the white people of Jamaica were born in the island and so know nothing of the Christmas customs of the north. But there are also quite a number of Americans and Britishers here, and these try various ways to get up a semblance of Christmas, but it is like the crew of a polar expedition celebrating Fourth of July while icebound in the Arctic circle, and their Christmas is mostly one of reminiscence. Still wintering in the tropics is not without its compensating advantages, and although Christmas here is apt to be a pretty lonesome time to Americans, they are very apt to find cause for congratulation after the festive season is over in the fact that they are safe from the cold, the snow, the slush and the blizzards of the north.

W. A. SCHREITER,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Red Lake Falls' Thriving Manufactories.

MANY ADVANTAGES

Chief of Which Are the City's Immense Water Powers...........

More Factories Needed to Utilize the Power Now Going to Waste............

Sluice Way, Healy Dam.

WATER POWER.

Although so small a per centage of our water power is utilized for manufacturing purposes, yet Red Lake Falls is surely and steadily taking its place among the important manufacturing towns of Northern Minnesota. Its products now go not only all over the United States and Canada, but to many sections of Europe, and even to the Orient, and reach an annual output of over a million dollars. The manufacturing industries of the city give employment to several hundred people and this largely contributes to the success of every business interest of the city to a very material extent. The manufactured products now include lumber, lath, , barrels, 10 brands of flour, feed, breakfast food, wagons and sleds, patent shovels, books and other printed goods, packed pork, brick, wool, cigars, pop, confections and other minor lines. With both the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads the exceptional shipping facilities thus afforded, give Red Lake Falls an advantage as a manufacturing point which we are only beginning to realize, although the fact has been demonstrated in many ways, and which in the future will doubtless have an influence in bringing other industries to the city. Red Lake Falls citizens should not only be alive to the opportunities thus afforded themselves, but use their personal influence in bringing the fact to the attention of manufacturers elsewhere, and thus aid in building up the city in this direction. This is important, for Red Lake Falls' growth during the next decade must be very largely through the growth of the manufacturing interests.

LUMBER.

The lumber business and kindred industries now lead all other manufacturing entrprises of the city in volume of trade and extent of labor employed.

The immense manufacturing plant of the Red Lake Falls Lumber company located at the juction of the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers has been in operation since 1899. The plant is modern in every particular, and is supplied with the latest and best machinery years of experience enable the proprietors to utilize. The mill has an annual capacity of 20 million feet. During the present year, a part of the season the mill was run day and night. Notwithstanding the large season's run the stock on hand in the company's yards is less than it was a year ago Frequently during the busy season the company was behind in filling orders from 50 to 100 cars at a time, and the company has shipping facilities for loading 12 cars a day. The work at the mill may be kept constantly in motion day and night by means of electric light from the company's own plant, which, by the way, is one of the best of any milling plant in the country. The company now has a large force of men at work making repairs, changes, additions to the plant, as the season's heavy business has made necessary, and making preparations for an early start next season. Provisions have already been made for an abundant supply of logs to keep the mill busy day and night during the next year. The mill when in operation gives employment to 100 men. The monthly pay roll is $5,000. The planing mill, which runs the year round, has a pay roll of $1,500 monthly.

The raw meterial from which the products of the big mill are manufactured comes from the vast pine forests of northern Minnesota, and mainly from what are known as the Clearwater and Red Lake districts. Here we find during the entire winter hundreds of men employed in cutting down the trees, sawing them into logs and hauling them to the banks of nearby streams. These men in crews of from a score to a hundred each, make their abode for the winter in rude but comfortable log cabins in the depths of the forest, many miles from "civilization," emerging after their winter's work to find their way eventually to the harvest fields or elsewhere during the summer. The logs which have been thus prepared are started on their journey to the mills during the high water of the spring floods, in charge of crews of experienced log "drivers" and the logs eventually find their way through the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers to the mills. Booms are placed at desirable points to hold supplies for future use as they come down the river, and many men are kept busy for weeks guiding the logs through their journey of several hundred miles from the starting point to their final destination—the boom at the mills.

A GLIMPSE OF THE RED LAKE RIVER AND RED LAKE FALLS MILLING COMPANY'S PLANT.

FLOUR.

Red Lake Falls enjoys the distinction of having two of the largest flour mills in the state, barring those in the metropolitan cities.

The Red Lake Falls Milling Company plant has a capacity of 1000 barrels of flour per day, having a water power of 3000 power under a 14 foot head, and utilizing 450 to 500 horse power at the mill and electric light plant it will be seen that some 2,500 horse power is available for other enterprises. The plant is up to date in all its equipments, including a passenger elevator, speaking tubes and call bells on each floor, and is lighted throughout with electricity. The head miller's office is fully equipped with complete paraphernalia for testing flour, one of the novelties being an electric oven for baking bread, where bread can be baked for testing at any time.

The brands of flour are "Mascot" which received a gold medal at the World's Fair, Chicago, and one at the Trans Mississippi at Omaha; "General Bobs," "Favorite," also graham flour and the celebrated "Mascot Breakfast Food." An immense amount of bran, shorts and other mill feed is also produced. 1,200 head of sheep are kept on hand, which are fattened on the screenings. As fast as one bunch of sheep is shipped out another is brought in from Montana to take its place.

The Red Lake Falls Milling Company owns its own line of elevators, which number ten, at stations along the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads. The product is shipped all over the United States, and to Europe and even to the Orient.

The Red Lake Falls Electric Light plant is owned and operated by the same parties as the Milling Co., utilizing the same water power. Its plant is one of the newest and best equipped in the Northwest.

The officers of the Milling Company are:

Marcus Johnson, president.

Mrs. E. F. Marshall, vice president.

S. M. Sivertson, secretary and treasurer.

C. F. Johnson, manager.

Mr. Sivertson is also secretary and treasurer of the Electric Light Co. and of the Johnson & Marshall Land Co.; all under the same ownership, and has charge of the business of those concerns.

Hon. Marcus Johnson is president and head of these institutions, and to whose business capacity and remarkable push and energy and last but not least large resources, our city is indebted for the development and extension of this large enterprise. In addition to his large investments here, has varied interests in other parts of the state.

He is president of the New London Milling Company which has a large mill at that place, together with thirteen elevators with a capacity of about 300,000 bushels daily, and three lumber yards situated on the Breckenridge Division of the Great Northern and on the W. & S. F. He is also president of the Atwater Milling Co. which owns a new steam mill at Atwater, Minn., together with elevators. He is also largely interested in the Johnson & Larson Lumber Company and in the firm of Johnson & Walen, general merchants at Atwater, Minn., and in the Raymond Mercantile Co. dealers in hardware, machinery and lumber. Also in the bank of Fisher.

He is president of the Johnson & Marshall Land Co. and the Johnson & Sivertson Merc. Company, both concerns having large land holdings in several counties in the northern part of the state.

With his large interests here and his connections with the other milling plants and lines of elevators it will be seen that there are perhaps but few men in the State who are more extensively engaged in the grain handling and milling business than he, a fact which keeps him in close touch with the best markets for the out-put which means a great deal for the successful operation of the business. He is a firm believer in expansion. We doubt not that as opportunities offer he will extend still more his grain handling business in this part of the state with consequent benefit to the central plant—the mill here—which large enterprise has in the past done so much for the up-building of our city and surrounding country and will be in a position to do more in the future.

ED L. HEALY'S FLOUR MILL.

Ed. L Healy's flour mill is located below the junction of the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers and this water power having the advantage of the combined flow of both rivers, is one of the finest in the state, estimated at 3,000 horse power. Naturally only a small fraction of this great power is used in turning the wheels of the flour mill. The Healy flour mill has a capacity of 500 barrels per day and the flour that is manufactured by this large institution is first class and meets with ready sale, not only in the local market, but vast quantities of it are shipped to eastern points. The best known brands are "Red Lake Falls Best," "Family Patent," "Royal Bakers." A feed mill is run in connection. A custom grinding department is one of the features of this mill, doing all kinds of grinding for farmers, giving the best there is in the deal.

The leading brand, "RedLake Falls Best," is one of the finest patent flours manufactured. The second grade, "Family Patent," has also a very extensive sale, both at home and abroad.

Ed. L. Healy, who is now sole proprietor of this magnificent plant, is recognized as one of the best business men of the Northwest, and he has about landed the location of a mill for the manufacture of straw board from straw, the motive power for this new factory to be supplied from his excess water power.

The Healy water power is destined to play no small part in the development of Red Lake Falls as a manufacturing centre, and Mr. Healy may be depended upon to put his shoulder to the wheel.

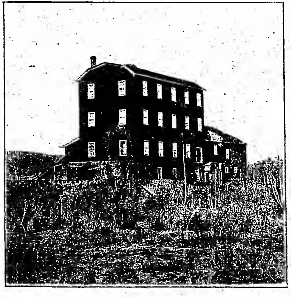
The cut of the mill published herewith gives but a poor idea of the splendid four-story structure, the ware house and feed mill which scarcely show on the cut, forming an important part of the plant, which is modern in every particular, supplied with the latest improved machinery, steam heated and lighted with electricity generated on the premises.

CONFECTIONERY.

The manufacture of candy is assuming important proportions, Jos. M. Allard supplying not only his own confectionery with a splendid variety of choice goods, but shipping large quantities all over the Northwest.

CIGARS.

The manufacture of cigars is one of the important industries of Red Lake Falls, giving employment to a dozen hands and the product finds a ready sale not only for the local trade but throughout this and other northwestern counties.



ED L. HEALY'S FLOUR MILL.

PRINTING.

All forms of printing form one of the important industries of the city. The Gazette's plant, for instance, is one of the finest in the state, outside of the larger cities, and does an immense line of commercial work, legal blanks, and other printed supplies for banks, county and municipal officers, etc. The Gazette has on its pay roll a large force of competent assistants, and its business is constantly increasing.

The Courier also has a well-equipped plant and does a large business in the way of job printing, and there is no excuse for sending away for printing of any description.

BRICK.

Red Lake Falls brick have a reputation far and near as a building commodity and their manufacture forms one of our most important industries. The brick making establishment is equipped with the latest and most improved machinery and process. The local clays which are utilized make a handsome cream tinted product which is without a superior for building purposes. The plant employs many hands during the busy season, and the annual capacity reaches an aggregate of about 2,000,000. Besides supplying the local demand, the brick are shipped all over the northwest. Schmitz Bros. are the proprietors, and their output increases each year.

CARDING MILL.

The Red Lake Falls Carding Mill, owned by J. Benoit, is located in close proximity to the Red Lake Falls Milling Company's plant, and is run by power transmitted by cable from the Milling Company's water power. Thousands of pounds of fleece are annually carded here, and a specialty is made of wool for comforters which is specially treated for the purpose.

At low mass, a childrens' choir will sing several appropriate carols at the Crib. An elaborate new Crib has been purchased with funds collected by the children. The church edifice has undergone extensive repairs, and the improvements will be completed for the Christmas services. A large chapel for use on week days has been built on the west side of the church, and an addition of twenty feet added to the rear of the church edifice will serve as a recess for the altar—known as the sanctuary. The gallery has been enlarged and improved, and the interior sealed and papered, so that the church will now not only present a beautiful appearance on the interior, but will be very warm and comfortable in cold weather.

Rev. P. Ansgar, O. S. B., is pastor.

CHRISTMAS CLASSICS

At Christmas play and make good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year.
—Tusser.

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse.
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there.
—Clement C. Moore.

The time draws near the birth of Christ.
The moon is hid; the night is still;
The Christmas bells from hill to hill
Answer each other in the mist.
—Tennyson.

The Watkins' Idea.

Winona is favorably situated as a distributing point, being practically the exact geographical center of North America, being conveniently located on the great Mississippi River, navigable a long ways north of here and nearly two thousand miles to the southward, besides being provided with five railways, four of which are great trunk lines, thus placing us into rail and water communication with every part of the civilized world.

Our idea is to make The J. R. Watkins Medical headquarters for the farmers of North America; to supply them with all they need in our line; to take our products directly to their doors; to give them the best at lowest price, and where they are not able to pay cash for it, to have our agents extend credit to all persons who are worthy of trust until such time as they are able to pay. We have the capital and facilities necessary to carry out this magnificent enterprise and we are doing it on a grand scale now, but the liberal policy we have always pursued towards our patrons and all connected with our business is bound to attract to our banners others in larger and ever increasing numbers. Can we not serve you to our mutual advantage, along with hundred of thousands of others? We know we can. if you give us the opportunity through our agent. Please give him a chance when he calls.—The J. R. Watkins Medical Co.

THR WATKINS' PLANT.

These immemse buildings have a floor space of eighty-six thousand nine hundred and fifteen square feet, affording us two acres of space under roof. These buildings have been built for our business; they are equipped with all the latest and most perfect machinery for carrying on our large business. Steam is furnished from boilers with a capacity of one hundred and forty horse power. and is used only for heating and manufacturing purposes. The powed used is electrical and consists of nearly one hundred horse power, distributed throughout the buildings, in motors running from one-sixth of a horse power, up to thirty horse power; individual motors being attached directly to most machines. This is the most perfect power known. We turn a switch on one of our motors and we have instantly at our command the strenght of thirty horses, and all the space it occupies is about three and one-half feet square. We turn the switch the other way and the expense immediately stops, We have every appliance of the most approved style for manufacturing our products. We have all the advantages that immense capital gives. It places us in touch with all that is best in the world. From the uttermost parts of the earth people are striving for a share of our business, knowing that only by giving the highest qualities can they hope to retain trade. We are thus able to offer you the best of everything in our line. Our capital also enables us to command the best brains and the best talent and the highest skill in workmanship to bring forth our products.—The J. R. Watkins Medical Co.

JOYS OF CHRISTMAS

Festival Should Be One of Gladness, Said the Late Dr. T. De Witt Talmage

SONGS greeted the birth of our Saviour. Angelic tongues with living fire sang the incarnation as they hovered over the hills of Judæa. The music was resonant with joy. From the hour that the Virgin laid her Babe on pillow of straw in the manger all Christendom has since that time made the anniversary of this natal day a season of gladness, a season of unbounded joy.

> Wreathe the laurel, twine the bay,
> Christ was born on Christmas day.

There were special reasons for these heavenly songs being sung by the celestial chorus, for there was joy in God's great heart, joy among the first-born sons of light, joy thrilling all the heavenly empire, joy that is yet to be put in the new song sung by redeemed millions around the throne of "the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world."

It was the music of liberty. When these heavenly hosts sang the "Gloria In Excelsis," the whole world was resting under galling yokes of oppression. Slavery was universal. Taskmasters were everywhere severe to those in servitude. Greece, Rome and Palestine heard daily the groans of those in bondage. The world was in chains. But the song of the angels rang the deathknell of bondage. The Babe was God's emancipation. His distinctive mission was to set at liberty the captives and proclaim deliverance to the bruised and crushed sons of toil. Under the mild and genial influence of our holy Christianity fetters fall off everywhere, until now in this morning of our new century there are few nations to be found that hold serfs. Glorious freedom! Triumphant achievement of the cross! Wherever it is lifted chains are broken and spiritual emancipation is proclaimed.

It was the music of hope. Until Jesus appeared all the ancient religions had offered only a message of despair. No light fell upon the grave or illumined the vast beyond. Darkness reigned in supreme, sullen majesty, and not a single star of hope gilded the future. The grave was an eternal prison. But the songs sung by the heavenly choristers on that eventful night heralded hope to a lost world. Into the soul of sinning humanity came the sweet rays of joy and peace and blessedness, and, looking down into the grave, all fear had vanished, for sin, the sting of death, was gone and canceled by a glorious Christ the Lord. They looked and beheld—

> On the cold cheek of death smiles and > roses are blending,
> And beauty immortal awakes from the > tomb.

And this is our Christmas joy that Jesus has lifted into immortal hope the graves of all our beloved friends who sleep in him.

It was the music of victory. When Jesus came, the great mass of humanity was in serfdom, and the dignity of labor was not comprehended. Toil was regarded as a degradation. Laborers were despised and all forms of manual industry held to be a disgrace. But the Son of Mary and Joseph came to teach the world a new philosophy, and by honorable industry he proclaimed the dignity of labor and taught that—

> The honest man, tho' ere sae poor,
> Is king of men for a' that.

Jesus counts the beads of sweat upon the brow of every son of toil. He notes all injustice done the laboring classes, and only as his spirit prevails among men will the great conflict between labor and capital cease. But that day is coming ere long—the glad Christmas of ages—

> When man to man the wide world o'er
> Shall brothers be and a' that.

—Christian Herald.

WILL LAWSON'S LUCK

A Christmas Story

By ALFRED B. TOZER

Copyright, 1901, by Charles B. Etherington

"WILL LAWSON, YOU ARE MY PRISONER!"

I'VE often heard my old mother that's been dead these twenty years say that sinful ways carried their own penalties, and I'm sure the saying proved true in the case I'm going to tell you about, though you may say there was no actual sin committed by my friend, which may be true, but he gave way under strong temptation, and that is the next thing to it. Anyway, Will Lawson, the eldest son of her who was Samantha Fisher, would never have been arrested for murder and put in peril of his life if he hadn't yielded to temptation and had to do with a lottery ticket.

Widow Lawson, Will's mother, lived next door to me in a little white cottage with green blinds and a neat flower garden in front when these things happened, and we were the best of friends. So I remember as if it was only yesterday the day Will came home from the city with his new clothes. It was the 9th of December, and Will's mother had been saving up all summer to buy that suit for a Christmas present for her boy, so it was quite an event when he brought it home. I ran right over when I saw him, and he put the clothes on and paraded around the house so we could see how he looked in them. Will was a handsome boy, with a straight, slender figure.

After the boy had shown off his clothes and told us all about his visit to the city I went home, for I had left some things stewing on the stove, and I was afraid they'd burn, but I hadn't been home very long before Mrs. Lawson marched in, with a worried look on her face and that wretched lottery ticket in her hand. Mrs. Lawson was a God fearing woman, and she almost cried as she told me about finding a ticket in the watch pocket of Will's new pantaloons.

"The worst of it," she said, "is that Will denies all knowledge of the ticket. He spoke up real disrespectful when I told him he'd better burn it. He said it might bring luck."

"Luck is hard work and saving ways," said I, "and I'm sorry to see such notions getting into your head. Nothing good can come of it, you may be sure. If I were in your place, I'd burn that lottery ticket right now in my kitchen stove."

"But I promised Will I wouldn't destroy it," she said.

All I could say didn't persuade her into my way of thinking, though she'd come over to consult me, and she went home with the ticket clasped tightly in her hand, as if it could bring anything but sorrow.

It was exactly two weeks after—on Dec. 23, to be exact—that Mrs. Lawson came over to my house looking more cheerful than I'd seen her look for many a long day.

"What do you think?" she asked, almost dancing across to the sink, where I was cleaning a small turkey for Christmas dinner—"what do you think? Will's ticket has drawn the prize."

Her words and her manner struck me all of a heap, but I managed to ask her what kind of a prize, for I thought perhaps he'd drawn a necktie or a clock.

"It's a money prize," she said. "Fifteen thousand dollars."

I had turned around, with my dishpan, almost full of bloody water, in my hands, and I just sat down in a chair, feeling weak all in a minute, and the dishpan tipped over, and all that water went sailing over my clean floor.

"For land sakes!" I said when I got my breath again. "You don't say so!"

"Yes," she said. "It's all here in this list—No. 98,567."

When I asked her if he'd got the money and she said he was going to the city the next day to get it, I didn't encourage her in any hopes that might not be fulfilled.

"Well," said Mrs. Lawson, "Will's asked Lawyer Clapp about it, and he says it's all right. He's going down to the city tomorrow with Will after the money. They'll be back in the evening in time for Will to play Santa Claus in District school No. 3."

Then she hesitated a little, pulling at the strings of her winter hood, which was all crinkled up under her arm, but finally asked me not to say anything about Will drawing the money.

"He doesn't want it known," she said, "though I can't see why, and we're going on living as if we hadn't a cent in the world, for a time at least, and then perhaps we'll move away."

Mrs. Lawson went away looking just as cheerful as if Will had earned the money down at the mill and had it all in his hand, and I had to go to work and clean up the muss on the floor caused by that pan of bloody water. But somehow I couldn't seem to be thankful for what Mrs. Lawson considered such a blessing. I couldn't get the notion out of my mind that something dreadful would come of it.

The next morning, the day before Christmas, Will Lawson and Lawyer Clapp were up bright and early and took the 5:23 train for New York. They got the money, though they had to pay something out of the prize so as not to wait until the ticket had been sent in to the main office. They got home late in the afternoon, and Mrs. Lawson, pale and nervous as a kitten, was at the train to meet them.

Will jumped off first and, running up to his little mother, kissed her right before the crowd.

"It's all right," he said. "I've got the money, and I've paid Mr. Clapp for his time and trouble, but we both think it's better not to say anything about this to the neighbors. Remember, mother, not a word."

Mrs. Lawson was so excited that she could only mumble out her promise to regard Will's wishes. On the way home she remarked:

"Will, I am that upset I wish you would not go to the Christmas eve jollification down at District school No. 3."

"Oh, I couldn't disappoint them. I've promised, and I must be there. Besides, I took $10 of the money I got from the ticket and bought a few little presents for the youngsters. And then too, you know if I don't go there'll be no Santa Claus."

The building belonging to District No. 3 was the typical country school house. It was painted red and contained two rooms—one for the more advanced scholars and one for the "primaries." There was an entrance for each section. One of these little vestibules had been transformed for the occasion into a dressing room for Santa Claus. In the middle of the primary department, which was the larger division of the building, a short but broad spreading Christmas tree had been placed. It bore a fairly generous yield of tinseled gifts. Will added the presents he had bought and then, before the children began to arrive, retired to the vestibule to "make up" as Santa Claus.

The room soon filled, and, to the accompaniment of the music of tin and brass horns, Santa Claus entered. The children gazed upon the weirdly built up St. Nicholas with feelings of awe mingled with admiration. Santa stepped up to the tree, bowing to the little folks as he went. Clumsily he out the name inscribed thereon:

"Jimmie Brown!"

A youngster about seven years of age, with his hair plastered down into a cowlick on his forehead, promptly stepped forward from the front row, looked around and, seeing that he was the only person out of line, stuck his finger into his cheek, began to blubber and abruptly rushed back to the shelter of the crowd. He was quieted and made his way haltingly to the tree, where St. Nicholas handed him a mauve colored sheep which emitted a plaintive "Ba-a-a!" when it was pressed. As Jimmie moved jerkily backward toward his original position the door opened. Every one looked around, and all were astonished to observe that the two men who entered were strangers. One of the newcomers asked if Will Lawson was there.

The school trustee went over to the man and explained that Will was Santa Claus and that it would not do to let the children find out that their idol was but a man of clay. The fellow walked over toward the tree, placed his hand upon Will's shoulder and gruffly remarked:

"Will Lawson, you are my prisoner!"

Will was dumfounded, but his surprise was as nothing compared to that of the children, who then learned what they had never even suspected—that their Santa Claus was only a man. The festivities broke up in a hurry, but the man, who was an officer from New York, never left Will's side.

Will had been arrested for murder, and all because of that lottery ticket. Lawyer Clapp came in by and by all of a bustle, and the four—Will and the lawyer and the two strangers—went down to Mrs. Lawson's house. The poor woman fainted away when she heard that Will had been arrested, and I ran in as soon as I heard of it. When I got there, the fence in front of the cottage was all lined with prying faces.

When Mrs. Lawson came to, Will told her not to worry, that he had done nothing to be arrested for and that it would all come out right in time.

"I've got to go away with these men tonight," he said, "but I'll be back in a few days. And Lawyer Clapp is going with me, and you can hear from me through him. But, whatever happens, you must always believe that I told you the truth about that ticket."

They went off that night. The following day was Christmas, and what a Christmas it was for poor Mrs. Lawson and me! Lawyer Clapp came back the day after Christmas. He told us that the man who bought lottery ticket No. 98,567 had been stabbed to death in the street on the very night Will bought his new clothes and not far from the place where he bought them. He was a stranger in the city, only one man knowing anything about him, and that man his roommate at a cheap hotel.

But this roommate had seen the ticket. He remembered the number and thought it strange it wasn't found on the dead man's body. He told the police about it, and so when the ticket was cashed for Lawyer Clapp in New York it was traced back and promptly landed Will Lawson in prison. I heard that the broker who bought the ticket came very near being arrested for the murder and only escaped by giving Will's name and address. If the ticket hadn't drawn that prize, it would never have been heard of again, and Will wouldn't have been arrested.

Will stuck to the story he first told about the ticket, and Lawyer Clapp didn't believe it.

"I could do better for him if he'd tell the truth," Lawyer Clapp said to me one day, "for his possession of that ticket must be accounted for if we are to save him from the gallows."

I thought about it just as the lawyer did, but somehow I began to have more confidence in Will's word. It didn't seem to me that he would lie himself right into a dishonored grave.

One day just before the time set for the trial Mrs. Lawson came over to my house and sat there grieving and crying over the plight poor Will was in until my heart almost broke at the sight of her misery. Finally I told her that I was going to the city the next day, though I had never thought of it before, and that I meant to stay there until I found out all about that ticket and how it got into the pocket of the boy's new pantaloons.

"I'm not going to sit here with folded hands," I said, "and see Will hanged, and that's the end of it. You may go with me if you want to, but I want you to remember that I'm to command the expedition and do whatever I see fit to do."

I think my positive way cheered her up a little. She went with me, and we saw the poor boy sitting alone and disconsolate in his cell. Such a crying time as we had over him! He told us where he had bought the clothes, and we found the store and looked it over, pretending to want to buy something. It was a little bit of a place in a dirty part of the city, with a low, smoky ceiling all covered with fly specks and a chilly atmosphere. It was dark in there too, though it was a bright winter day, and there was a smell of dyestuffs about the frosty interior that most turned my stomach.

tractive than his place of business. He looked like a Russian and was tall and stout, with a big nose and black hair and eyes. The hair of his head and the hair of his face met and tangled up together, and he darted his round eyes at us out of the thicket like a snake. I laid Will's clothes down on the counter and said they were bought there and that I would like to get a better suit and pay a little more money.

The man opened the bundle and said that he couldn't allow the full price, but he'd throw off enough on another suit to make up. Then something about the clothes seemed to attract his attention, and he grabbed them up quick and started for the front door, where it was lighter. I heard him muttering, and when he came back to us he pretended to be in a great rage.

"Why do you bring these rags here?" he demanded. "I never saw them before."

It's Time To Think of Christmas...

WE take pleasure in making our Holiday Announcement this year, for we have never before provided for our friends and the public such a splendid assortment or goods suitable for Christmas presents. Our stock will be shown about December 10, and we want every person in Red Lake County to call in and inspect it, for we can assure one and all that they will find no nicer presents anywhere. We can't tell you all that our Holiday Stock contains—it would require too much space, but for your convenience we enumerate a few of our leading lines.

Fancy Goods

Albums, Toilet Sets, Work Boxes, Smoking Sets, Shaving Sets, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Handkerchief Boxes, etc.

Books

Leather-bound volumes of well-know authors, latest works of fiction, and story books for the boys and girls.

Games

The Genuine Parker Bros.' Ping Pong Sets, Archarena, Combination Game Boards, Checkers, Dominoes, etc.

Perfumes

The finest line ever brought to Red Lake county, including such well known lines as Hilberts and Lazelle's, and Reiger's California Perfumes. We have them in bulk and also in fancy bottles.

Kodaks

What would be nicer for a present than a handsome Eastman Kodak? We have them in the different styles and sizes, and carry a full line of supplies.

Now as to Prices: You can depend on them being as low as anywhere in Northern Minnesota. We have established a reputation for selling good goods at low prices and intend to maintain it.

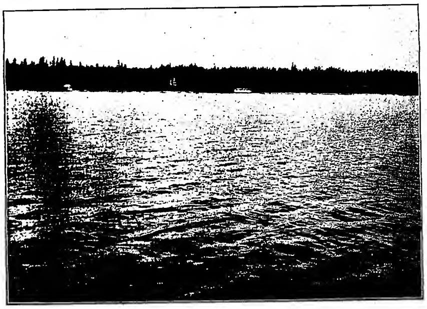
Red Lake Falls' Magnificent Water Power.

RANKING SECOND IN MINNESOTA....

Minneapolis 35,000 Horse Power Red Lake Falls, 30,000 Horse Power.

The natural water power furnished by the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers at this point has been well described as second largest in the Northwest. The famous falls of St. Anthony can scarcely eclipse the power capable of being furnished by the natural combined water power on the two rivers within a total distance of two miles. Experts have estimated the total possibilities of these water powers, when developed to their highest, at 30,000 horse power.



RED LAKE, SPONSOR FOR THE PERMANCY OF RED LAKE FALLS' WATER POWER.

Now, what of it?

Every day that passes demonstrates the growing importance of water power. Each stage of the world's development produced its varied conditions upon which depended the growth of large cities. There was the age of religious import, when the religious capitals of the Jews, the Romans and the Vandals, attracted to themselves the wealth of immense districts and enormous population: there was the age of military import, when those cities furnishing the best advantages for defense and assault assumed growth, population and prestige: the age before steam had revolutionized means of transportation, when the water courses alone were dotted with growing and important cities: then came the age of steam, when the city that could reach out its iron arms the farthest, and in the most varied directions, gathered to itself the wealth of its territory- and now we have the age of electricity, and water power is its natural adjunct and prime factor of production. Water power, under favorable conditions, is the cheapest generative power, nature's own offering to man and to-day, the utility of a water-power can be multiplied indefinitely by applying it to the generation of electricity, which can be transmitted for miles with but small loss. The value of a water power is dependent largely upon whether the supply of water is uniform and permanent. This point must always be looked into, and here is where Red Lake Falls has an immense advantage.

CLEARWATER RIVER POWER IN WINTER TIME

Red Lake, one of the largest bodies of fresh water wholly within the United States, with and area of 400 square miles, stands as a guarantee and guardian of the permanence of our water power. Into Red Lake is drained the immense volume of water from a radius of territory of over 5,000 square miles, and while Red Lake lasts our water power lasts. Where is there a clearer exposition of permanence and stability? How does the supply of Minneapolis, St. Anthony's, compare with this? A mere pigmy beside a giant. Irrefutably, grandly, nobly, the great Red Lakes will continue to stand as sponsors for Red Lake Falls' water power. W. G. Ferris, shortly after his name had become world famed, expressed the belief that the great cities of the future were those that could furnish the best water power. It seems his forecast is fast being verified. The wonderful achievement in the harnessing of the power of Niagara has turned the attention of the engineers of the world to the consideration of water power as never before, and not unreasonably, in the light of these facts, does Red Lake Falls point to the avenues of greatness opened by the possession of the finest water power in the Northwest. To enumerate—there are within a radius of one mile from the center of the city, twelve separate and distinct water powers that can be cheaply and easily utilized, three of these already developed, furnishing upwards of 7,000 horse-power, and turning the wheels of flour mills that produce 1,500 barrels of flour daily, and much of the power thus generated going to waste, waiting to turn the wheels of varied allied industries. Too much stress cannot be laid on the subject, since the trend of modern events has, like an upward spiral movement, forced the advantages of water power into conspicuous notice. In referring to the influence of water power in building up cities, among other things W. G. Ferris, the famous electrician said:

"Undoubtedly the greatest practical progress of the near future will be comprised within the expansion of the use of electricity and compressed air. Indeed I am persuaded that modern life will be absolutely revolutionized, so far as its practical, every day, work is concerned, within the coming ten years, and electricity will largely accomplish it. So far as practical use is concerned I should say that we had merely begun to use electrical power.

"The condition which will determine the relative expansion of towns and cities with the next decade is the presence of water power. The whole problem of electricity is one of cheap generation. Now, any city or town of this country which ~~has got a water fall within~~ an available distance, and that fall is a large one, has a gold mine. Water power means the minimum of cheapness in the generation of electric power. You can easily see, therefore, that any city which possesses this must take the lead over any city that does not.

"Buffalo, for example, will absolutely double its population within five or ten years, because there the capacity of the water power is, to all extents and purposes, limitless. The same thing to a greater or less extent will take place in St. Paul, Minneapolis; in Rochester, Great Falls, Mont., Red Lake Falls, Minn., and other points where great water power exsists. Even about New York there are numerous waterfalls within working distance which I look to see made available for that city."

SORROWS OF SANTA

I CHANCED into Santa Claus' home one day,
And these are the words I heard him
say:

"Ah, me, the times, the manners, the men!
It used to be all so different when

"I was a young man in the long ago
And sped with my reindeer over the snow.

"Then every home in every land
Gave unto me always a welcome hand,

"And chimneys then in the days gone by
Were not oversmall and not overhigh,

"And the stockings they used were the old fashioned kind,
All hung in a row and so easy to find.

"Then the gifts were so simple and all in good taste,
From the gingerbread man to the doll
made of paste,

"But now it's so different. Heigho, hear me sigh!
I mourn for the days in the Land of Goneby.

"For now I'm kept busy from early till late
In my earnest endeavors to be up to date.

"I've trimmed my old beard in the new
Vandyke style,
And instead of a laugh I've a simpering smile.

"I'VE CEASED TO WEAR ALL MY OLD FASHIONED CLOTHES."

"Yes, I've ceased to wear all my old fashioned clothes,
And I've got on long shoes with the sharp pointed toes,

"And my reindeer and robes and my beautiful sleigh
With my gingerbread presents are all laid away,

"For I ride nowadays on a bicycle swift
And I'm puzzled to know what to bring for a gift

"To the girls fin de siecle, and as for the boys,
They've no use at all for my old fashioned toys,

"And the houses have changed. In those things called a flat
I'm kept busy guessing just where I am at.

"Excuse me now, please, if I speak very low;
I've come to my last and my cruelest
—.
"'Tis the worst, though what I have told you is bad:
My wife has acquired the new woman fad!"

And those were the words I heard him
say
When I chanced in Santa Claus' home
one day.

ELECTRICAL AGE.

How Electrical Science Has Increased The Utility of Water Power......

As an illustration of how water power may be utilized, we cite the case of Apple River Falls, a power some thirty miles from St. Paul, which furnishes power for the St. Paul Gas Light Company In the St. Paul News of Nov 17, one of the directors of the company made an interesting statement, which will give an inkling of the great possibilities of Red Lake Falls water power, since we have twelve times as much power as has Apple River, in fact sufficient to supply our local wants, and with power to spare, for other cities in this section:

"In 1890 the attention of the directors was attracted to a source of possible power that had long been unavailable, but which, in the progress of electrical science was soon to be of the utmost value. Modern possibilities of transmitting electrical power at greater distances than had in former years been successfully accomplished made it possible to utilize the water falls on the Apple River, a tumbling Wisconsin tributary of the St. Croix, which on its way from the marshes and lakes it drains, rolled over a ledge of rock near Somerset.

The Apple river current had been used for power purposes at other points in a lesser way and there was no doubt as to its reliability. In and out of season the millers who had tried it had found it unfailing, and as soon as the possibility of the successful transmission of the energy was established the St. Paul company had engineers on the ground to take advantage of it. Much of the power was absolutely going to waste: now, under existing conditions, it is lighting the city of St. Paul. The electrical current generated by the Apple River water power is carried from this station to St. Paul, a distance of some thirty miles, about twice as far as the average distance the Niagara current is carried from the tremendous engines which have harnessed that mightier torrent."

When it is understood that Red Lake Falls has twelve distinct water powers, each equal if not superior to the Apple River power, a faint conception of their possibilities may be had.

CANDLESTICKS AS GIFTS.

Antique Treasures Which May Be Found In Junkshops.

Candlesticks are decorative, utilitarian and thoroughly good form. What, then, could be more acceptable for Christmas gifts?

A pair of highly polished brass candlesticks give an air of distinction to even the humblest surroundings. Their polish reflects the thrift of the housekeeper, and their presence denotes her good taste.

The genuine antique candlesticks, with their quaint, simple outlines, are preferable to the more modern affairs that are apt to be a trifle too ornate for really good effect. The candlesticks may often be bought in junkshops for their gross weight, and many beautiful specimens have been picked up in this way by the clever and industrious collector.—New York Journal.

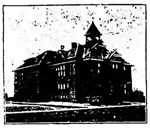
RED LAKE FALLS MILLING COMPANY'S POWER.

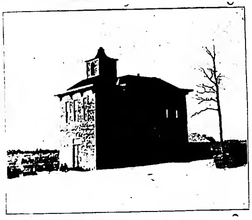
THE PUBLIC SCHOOL
In Red Lake Falls

By SUPT. F. A. WHITELEY.



High School Building.

A number of years ago in a single school room under my charge attended children of parents of thirteen nationalities. Besides those whose parents were American were Scotch, Irish, English, Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Finnish, French, German, Italian, Austrian, and one poor little Spaniard whose life was made miserable by all the other children, for it was at the time of our late war with Spain. The parents were of different nationalities; what then of the children, may be asked? American, every one. American, heart and soul, brain and body, or fast becoming so; and the chief agent in affecting this wholesale nationalization, I do not hesitate to assert, is the American public school.



NORTH SIDE SCHOOL HOUSE.

Although the above is a phenomenal instance of mixed school attendance, yet I have found the same conditions, only less in degree, in every school I have had in charge, and judging from reports a like condition exists in nearly all parts of our country. It is characteristic of our local schools. We have many children of foreign parents, and they are all thoroughly American before they reach the High. This appears to me to be the chief function of our public schools—to make of its beneficiaries good Americans. Not merely good and useful citizens, but good AMERICAN citizens, patriotic, public-spirited, loyal to American ambitions and ideals.

There are four forces which tend to make a public school effective for this work: They are the parents of the children in attendance, the Board of Education, representing the tax-paying public, the corps of teachers and the body of pupils. Here in Red Lake Falls the character of the parents needs no comment. The Board of Education, consisting of men who have handled their own affairs well, is certainly wisely selected. The pupil body, although containing a considerable amount of tough material is of average strength. It therefore devolves upon the teachers, with the means at their disposal, to work out of the school a greater or less degree of success.

FIRST SCHOOL HOUSE IN RED LAKE FALLS.

The Red Lake Falls schools are well supplied with material. Nothing has been asked for that was not really needful, but all such material has been cheerfully furnished. That we have kept a strong and efficient corps of teachers is best evidenced by the fact that those we have lost have gone to the best schools in the state at increased salaries. It is unfortunate that we have had to lose some who have gone, but teachers cannot be blamed for seeking more remunerative fields.

The system used here divides the total course to graduation into twelve years, eight of which are spent in what is called the grades, the last four in the High School. The common branches are taught in the grades. Especial stress is laid upon the work in reading, spelling, language and writing. In the High School two courses are offered, one preparatory to the State University or any other college, the other designed to fit for business or general life. Our civic or business course gives excellent preparation in book-keeping, commercial arithmetic and kindred subjects. A boy graduating from this course is well fitted to take up business work either behind the counter or at the desk. In this connection I would urge the desirability of pupils looking ahead to graduation from the High School as the ultimate goal of their public school course. Nowadays the great corporations and employers are requiring more and more of applicants for positions a reasonably good showing in the matter of education. Already this fall I have received letters from one of the great railroads and a Minneapolis business house requesting information regarding former students in our High School.

Our High School literary societies deserve public support in the way of attendance and interest. The dates of programs always appear in the local papers, and a generous attendance of adults would materially encourage better work. Our Inter-High School debates of last year appeared to be injurious to the general good of the school and for that reason they will not be taken up this year.

We undertook the experiment of a High School foot-ball team this fall. Thanks to the effort of Coach R. E. Wyer an excellent team was developed which reflected credit upon the school and upon the town. In view of the many accidents to foot ball players of minor schools this fall, I am of the opinion that football in High Schools is only permissable when the players will submit to the strictest discipline of Coach and school authorities, and these games should be played only with trust-worthy schools with like regulations. Injuries to players are almost always the result of the abuse of the game, and unless these abuses can be eliminated the game would better be abandoned.

In conclusion I would urge upon parents to uphold the authority of teachers at home and see to it that their children attend regularly. Children should not be allowed to be absent from school to go hunting, skating or any sport, or even for work unless there is urgent necessity.

St. Joseph's School.

St. Joseph's school was opened in October, and the attendance has been increasing until now the enrollment is about two hundred. The school is connected with St. Joseph's parish, and is in charge of the Sisters of St. Benedict. There are four rooms, with two grades in each department, corresponding to the grades in the public schools. The regular course is in English, but German and French are taught. A competent instructress gives lessons on the piano, violin and all string instruments.

The school is drawing many families to the city, and is a great credit to the founder, Rev. E. Fayolle.

The building which is of brick, is furnace-heated, electric lighted, and has indeed every modern convenience.

ONE OF THE BEST.

Red Lake Falls Enjoys the Distinction of Being One of the Best Business Towns of the Northwest.

Red Lake Falls enjoys the distinction of being one of the best business towns of the state, and for that matter of the country, for the business done here in a general way, in proportion to the population, is equalled by few cities in America. This is due in a large measure to the enterprise and "push" of our business men. In none of the metropolitan cities can be found more complete stock of goods than are carried by Red Lake Falls merchants.

Red Lake Falls citizens have no occasion to go to St. Paul or Chicago to buy merchandise of any description, for while the tastes and requirements of Red Lake Falls citizens are doubtless as fastidious and exacting as any, yet the merchants appreciate this fact, and the best there is in the different lines of goods can be found in the mercantile establishments of Red Lake Falls. The splendid tributary country of prosperous communities and thriving farming population enables our business men to carry large and well selected stocks, and it is no wonder that our business men draw a large share of trade from a distance. Especial attention is called to the advertisements of the business concerns that appear in this issue. It is the enterprise of these business man which not only makes the publication of this issue possible, but which makes Red Lake Falls one of the best towns in the Northwest.

Christmas is held in greatest reverence by the Christians of the east, and nowhere is its observance more solemn and imposing than in Bethlehem, the picturesque old town where Christ was born. On Christmas eve the devout of Jerusalem gather together and flock out of the city and march to the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, the oldest monument of Christian architecture in the world. There mass is celebrated, while armed Turkish soldiers stand on guard beside the altar and around the brilliant star, where Christ is supposed to have lain in the manger and which gleams up from the pavement, the most conspicuous object in the grotto.—St. Louis Globe

Red Lake Falls is the gateway to the Red Lake reservation lands about to be opened. When in Red Lake Falls you are only a few miles from the southeastern border of the reservation. These lands are a mixture of timber and prairie, as a general thing, the timber being principally poplar, and the lands are well watered; they are especially adapted to mixed farming, and are just what a small farmer needs for a home.

W. A. RIECHEL, ARTIST PHOTOGRAPHER.

Herewith is an excellent likeness of W. A. Riechel, who took the photographs for our Christmas edition. Mr. Riechel has been engaged in the profession for over 15 years, and being naturally an artist, he from the first excelled in this work. His exhibitions at the state conventions always attract attention and his photographs are not excelled by the work of the best artists of the Northwest.

Mr. Riechel was born on a farm in Rice county, Minn., and came to Red Lake Falls in 1882. He is married and is the father of three handsome little daughters. Mr. Riechel besides being a first class artist is a successful business man ank owns some of the choicest business and residence property in the city.

Red Lake Falls is keeping pace with the progress of the Northwest—what more could be said in her favor?

Red Lake is the banner county in the Bread and Butter State—our lumber, flour, wheat and butter are unfailing fountains of wealth.

Magic of the White Man's Touch

Exemplified in the Progress of Garnes in Six Years Since Reclaimed From Redman.

Garnes

By L. A. MANDERS.

Garnes township is situated in the southeastern part of Red Lake county and for three years was an independent township, being Town 151, Range 41, but two years ago a strip along the north side containing about 2 800 acres was added, and is now a part of this township.

About twenty-six sections are a part of what is called by the settlers the "old grant." The remainder of the town was a part of the Red Lake Indian Reservation, a portion of which was opened to settlement in 1896. As the Indians never visited this portion of their domains, it remained for the white man to turn to advantage the natural resources of the country.

The reservation was opened for settlement May 15, 1896. The heavy snows of the previous winter, and abundance of rain in the early spring and up to the day of opening, caused many of the homeseekers to turn back discouraged before they had reached the border of the Indian lands. Most of the people came on foot from the nearest railroad, and the night before the opening many of the small log houses along the line were so full, that standing room was at a premium. Some of the men had tents but on account of the rain and the wet ground, camping-out was anything but comfortable

At 9 o'clock the morning of May 15, the "rush" began: but two hours later all was again quiet, most of the people having departed for Crookston to get filing on the land they had taken.

Through the efforts of E. K Gjernes a post office was established here the same year, with himself as post master. He also carried the weekly mail to and from Lambert. The following spring the government established a carrier route with tri-weekly mail service which was continued until the summer of 19 2, when a daily mail was allowed.

The township was organized in January, 1898, and three names for it were suggested, viz, Garnes, Clearwater and Prosperity. The county commissiones decided upon Garnes, as the post office was called by that name.

The first officers of the new town were, G. Swenson, chairman and Olaf Tande, clerk, with Iver Gjeldaker and Isaac Lemiux as supervisors. These served until the spring election, when Louis Falardeau was elected chairman, while the other members of the board were re-elected.

The Modern Woodmen of America organized a camp here in 1899 and have a flourishing lodge at present. They occupy the hall built by J. D. Hughes above his store in 1899. Mr. Hughes conducted a general mercantile business here for five years, and in the fall of 1901 sold his interests to L. K. Moen, who is now keeping a hotel and restaurant.

Nels Nelson came here in 1897 and engaged in blacksmithing. He has picked up his share of the work in his line and many dollars with it.

The Garnes Cheese Factory was built in 1898 by the farmers in the vicinity and later purchased by the firm of Manders & Rogers, who still control it. The supply of milk is about 1,500 pounds per day on an average and yields a trifle over 10 lbs. of cheese to a hundred pounds of milk. The farmers are getting cattle as fast as they can see a way to care for them, and many are preparing tame grass pastures, which will greatly increase the yield as well as the quality of the milk.

Rev. O. Kolstoe, pastor of the Lutheran church, has a fine residence about one mile northwest of the post-office, and the congregation has recently built a large church near the cemetery.

There are five road districts and four school districts in the town; but only two school houses. The residents of the north east portion of town recently voted on the site for a new school house soon to be erected, and it is to be located at the southwest corner of section eleven.

The Catholic church is in section thirty-one but has no regular pastor.

The question of drainage has been the one problem which the farmers could not solve to their satisfation; but last summer the State Drainage Commission solved it satisfactorily, and during the last month contracts have been let for three ditches in Garnes township, which will redeem many acres of land now practically worthless. The soil is good and fruit, vegetables and small grain do well here; though the season is shorter, yet it seems that we have more daylight here than in the country farther south, so the grain ripens fully as fast, considering the time it is put into the ground.

About 70 per cent. of the population are Scandinavians. Within a few years these hardy and industrious settlers have made rapid strides toward advancement. Every year additions to their number, by friends and relatives from the "home land" are made, and the settlement of the land is being gradually extended. We welcome them as good citizens who are doing much for the country of their adoption.

Twenty-five per cent. of the settlers are French, who moved here from Canada. They are an intelligent class of people who are quick to see their opportunities and take advantage of them.

With the drainage question settled, the land naturally clear and ready for the plow, a growth of grass that makes it a paradise for stock, and good roads assured in the future, what better prospect could we wish for? While its proximity to the railroads and lumbering camps afford a good market and good wages to those who in the winter season desire employment.

Lambert.

Town 150, range 41, is called Lambert after one of its first settlers, Frank Lambert, who still resides there.

About eighty per cent. of the population are French and the congregation of the large Catholic church there is almost entirely composed of that nationality. In the village of Lambert besides the many residences, are four stores, a hotel, blacksmith shop and post office. Louis Doucet is postmaster and they have a daily mail to and from Red Lake Falls.

The Lambert Cheese Factory is situated in a small settlement called Bucktown, two and one half miles southeast of Lambert postoffice. The factory was built by a stock company organized in 1888. They operated the factory about three months, then selling it to Mr. Marchand. He made cheese there two seasons. Ovide Moreau then purchased it and controlled it about three months, selling it in August 1895, to Ralph Rogers, who still owns it.

The amount of milk has varied from 1500 lbs. to 4700 lbs. a day. The past season the average has been 1800 lbs. and the price paid about 70 cents per cwt. Alex Bergeron, D. Berthiaume, Simon Boucher, Geo. Charest, Adelard Boucher, Edward Paquin, Jos. Falardeau, Simon Bernier and others have averaged about $35 a month from the sale of their milk during the factory season.

Rudolph Warberg has recently purchased fifteen cows and expects to be a patron of the factory another season.

Simon Boucher and Jos. Bergeron have during the past summer erected handsome residences, and think cows are a safe investment and pay good interest on the money invested.

Most of the farmers have two-thirds of their land under cultivation, and wheat yields from twenty to twenty-five bushels to the acre. Cattle thrive on the short prairie grass and hay is very cheap to feed them well in winter.

The farmers find a good market for their produce at Red Lake Falls.

MAJESTIC RANGES....

Are made to last a lifetime. They will do so if properly handled. Put them up to a good flue and they will do more work with less fuel than any other.

THE RESERVOIR

Heats by direct contact with the fire box. The company has spent many years and a large amount of money on this feature of their ranges, knowing that next to the heating of the oven, it is the most important point. They have patented the movable reservoir. No other range has it.

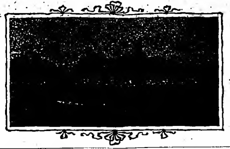
PROSPEROUS RED LAKE COUNTY

County of Lumber, Wheat, Flour, Beef and Dairy Products.



Red Lake county, consisting of 20 organized and eleven reservation townships, is situated in northwestern Minnesota, bordered by Marshall county on the north, by Polk county on the south and west, and by Beltrami county on the east, and is traversed by two great transcontinental railway lines the Northern Pacific through the central and western portions, and the Great Northern through the central, northern and western portions.

The land, which is two thirds prairie and one-third timber, is the regular Red River Valley soil, a heavy sandy loam, with clay or "hard pan" subsoil, forming a quality of land almost inexhaustible in its richness and fertility, producing fine crops of all the small grains for generations without fertilizing, and bearing extremes of wet or drouth, giving good returns, while in favorable seasons the returns are astonishing. There is but little land in the county unfit for cultivation, and in many parts every foot is available and a man would be safe buying with his eyes shut. The surface is clear of stones, and in the open sections the virgin sod can be turned by the common plow and the grain sown and harvested the first year of settlement as on older, well-tilled farms.

Speaking of the Red River Valley, of which Red Lake county is a part, Geo. H. Purvis, the famous Great Northern land agent, says:

"In the Red River Valley of Minnesota the snow fall is comparatively light, and the spring passes quickly away, leaving the fields ready for the seeder. The seed sown in a soil of rich alluvium or fertile loam, quickly germinates, and the grain is harvested in July or August. I need not dwell at length on the quality of Red River Valley wheat, which has won a name and fame throughout the civilized world for its excellence. Mr. Haases, of Massachusetts, who made a tour through the wheatgrowing districts of India, and instituted a scientific investigation of the agricultural resources of that much talked of country, says in his report on the province of Owdh, the banner wheat producing province of India: 'Take the average soil of this province to the Red River Valley, and it would hardly be worth cultivating: take the average soil of the Red River Valley to India, and it could all be sold for manure.' "

TYPICAL HOME OF PROSPEROUS FARMER.

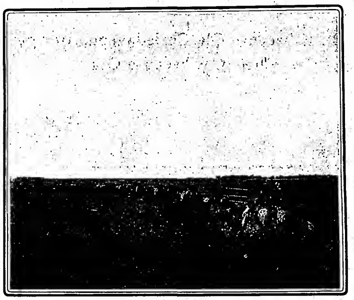
The practical results of farming in Red Lake county bear out this assertion. Scores of Red Lake county farmers who have retired independently well fixed after a few years of good management, and hundreds of others whose assets foot up to tens of thousands of dollars. $6,000 would be a low estimate for the average rating of the Red Lake county farmer, and it must be remembered our career is still in its infancy, Red Lake county being one of the youngest in the state, organized in 1897.

While the farms of this county produce upwards of a million bushels of wheat annually, it must not be understood that other branches of agriculture do not contribute their full quota to the county's overflowing prosperity. The breeding of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry receive much attention, and the industry is attended with much success, due to the easy production of both tame and wild hay, of clover and corn fodder, to the plentiful supply of pure water, and to the perfect freedom from epidemic diseases so common in many localities. Perhaps one of the most essential adjuncts to health, prosperity and happiness in any climate is pure water, and with this Red Lake county is amply provided, inexhaustible wells being obtainable everywhere with a depth of about forty feet, surface water at a depth of from twelve to fourteen feet, while the county is dotted with artesian flowing wells. No less than six rivers wend ther sinuous way through the county, furnishing moisture and drainage, while the banks and valleys are studded with dense growths of timber.

Cheap fuel is another important requisite, and here Red Lake county shines. The timbered sections, scattered all over the county along the numerous streams, supply a great abundance of good wood at very low prices. Green second growth poplar has been selling at $1.50 a cord, dry poplar at $2, and hard wood in proportion. Our advantageous location with direct rail communication with the Great Lakes gives us low freight rates on coal and other commodities shipped in from the east, while these advantages of low freight rates, afford our agriculturists and manufacturers the opportunity of saving a handsome percentage on every pound of freight shipped out.

For several years past the farmers of this county have been making great strides towards diversified farming as is shown by the large number of creameries and cheese factories that flourish here and the growth of the markets for potatoes and other vegetables, which are sold for cash to local buyers for shipment. The lumber camps to the east afford markets for large quantities of vegetables, beef and pork, hay and oats during the winter months, at fancy prices. Thus our farmers find their sources of profit more and more in the raising of cattle, hogs and vegetables, and are rapidly making this so much the more desirable for men of limited means who can, by the thorough cultivation of a small area in this way, gradually develop their entire property without incurring any indebtedness, while to the man of means it opens an unfailing avenue of wealth.

One of the first inquiries made by the homeseeker is in regard to churches and schools. With these adjuncts of civilization Red Lake county is well provided. There are Presbyterian, Catholic, Lutheran, Methodist, Congregational, Baptist, Episcopal and Seventh Day Adventist churches organized, while there are in the county over eighty-five school districts. The schools are arranged in grades. In these schools the coming men and women obtain a common education which can be extended to any degree by attending the High Schools and from there going to the more advanced state Institutions.



REAPING THE GOLDEN GRAIN.

The population of Red Lake county today is about 25,000. There are two incorporated cities and one incorporated village. This county is already the milling centre of North-western Minnesota, its flour and saw mills alone making it loom up a formidable rival in commercial activity to many of the older manufacturing centres of the state. In short its present attractions are such as are not often met with in one's travels, and the future will testify to the good judgment of all who pin their faith to Red Lake county, the county of wheat and lumber and flour.

Earth was a desert spot
A weary way,
Till on the world there dawned
One Christmas day.
Then, like the fields made green
By running brook,
Hope came and all the world
New courage took.

Earth was all desolate,
A songless way,
Till shining angels sang
Of Christmas day.
Then every tiny rill
That danced along
Found voice, and with the birds
Burst forth in song.

Earth was a gloomy place,
A dreary way,
Until the Star arose
On Christmas day.
Then fled the world's despair,
The heart's dread night—
A Saviour came to earth
And there was light!

DAIRY INTERESTS.

Red Lake County Fast Forging to the Front.

Located within the confines of Red Lake county are no less than ten up-to-date creameries and cheese factories. The developement of the dairy and creamery interests has been rapid during the last few years and to-day no product of the many diversified interests of the farm is making a better showing than the dairy cow, as represented in the creamery interest.

The making of butter and cheese has stimulated the trade and raised the price, while the co-operative means employed have lessened the cost of manufacture, increasing the profits to the producer. There is no limit to the demand for good butter and cheese and as a consequence, the price has averaged high which in turn, encouraged the farmer to increase his dairy herd, advancing the value of dairy cows to a higher figure.

The advance in value of the cow and her product have necessitated better care and better feed. The old straw sheds have given way to commodious barns and a study has been made of what foods are best adapted for stimulating the flow of milk and what foods are most productive of the greatest amount of butter fat.

The milk as brought in by the farmers is tested for its fatty substance, and the credit is according. The richest milk scores the best credit and the greatest profit. Naturally this leads to to a weeding out of the scrub thin-milk cows The increase in stock in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls has been marked since the advent of the creamery. Having a profitable market for the milk, there has been a move to secure more cows, and stock raising has been encouraged as a result. One good thing always leads to another and it is so with the Red Lake Falls creamery. If it is the means of encouraging stock-raising this one item alone is one of great ultimate benefit to the farmers of this vicinity.

The success of the Red Lake Falls concern is another pointer as to how easily good things can be accomplished if the right spirit but enters into the effort. Someone to push was all that was needed here and the rest came easily. It has been so in other precincts in Red Lake county. There ought to be at least one cheese factory or creamery in every township of Red Lake county. There are to-day 5 cheese factories and five creameries in the county, all but one having been established during the past three years. These are located as follows:

CHEESE FACTORIES

Lambert, Poplar River, Terrebonne, Garnes, Equality.

Red Lake county leads every other county in Northern Minnesota in extent of her dairy interests. No more significant fact or one of greater importance to homeseekers could be cited. The towering prosperity of Red Lake county is due largely to the diversity of resources. Lumber, wheat, flour, dairying and stock-raising all combine to make this a wealth producing section equaled by few other counties in the country.

FEEDING THE BIRDS.

A Happy Christmas Custom Among Swedish Peasants.

Christmas is celebrated in Sweden to an extent unknown in our country, and the celebration is not over until Jan. 13, or "twentieth day Yule." A very pretty feature of the festivities is thus described by a writer who has visited that country: One wintry afternoon, at Jul-tide (as the season is called), I had been skating on a pretty lake three miles from Gothenberg. On my way home I noticed that at every farmer's house there was erected, in the middle of the yard, a pole, to the top of which was bound a large, full sheaf of grain. "Why is this?" I asked my comrade. "Oh, that's for the birds, the little wild birds. They must have a merry Christmas, too, you know." And so it is; not a peasant in Sweden will sit down to a Christmas dinner within doors until he has first raised aloft a Christmas dinner for the birds in the cold and snow without.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

WILL LAWSON'S LUCK

A Christmas Story

By ALFRED B. TOZER

I was just dumfounded for a second, but there wasn't a thing I could say, so I took the clothes and went away. When we got back to our little room in the hotel, I sat down and cried, it looked so black for Will, but in a minute an idea came to me like an inspiration.

"Now, Mrs. Lawson," I said, "we were not prospered in that undertaking because I went about it with a lie in my mouth. I hope God 'll forgive me for the falsehood, though it was told in a good cause. But we found out one thing by going there, and that is that there is something wrong about those clothes. You saw how the fellow acted when he came back from the door with them? Well, to my mind, he wasn't angry. He was just scared. Now, why? And why did he lie about selling the clothes? If there was only some way of proving that he sold the clothes, it might be possible to frighten him into telling the truth."

"Why," said Mrs. Lawson, "there are the tags. Will saved every one of them, thinking he might want to change the clothes or something. We can send home and get the tags. They've got the store's private marks on them."

We sent for the tags that night, and by the time they reached us we'd done a lot of running around, but we were all ready for the clothing dealer.

Well, things were all fixed at last, and Lawyer Clapp got a policeman in plain clothes to go along with us. We left the policeman outside and marched into the store bold as brass. The proprietor didn't recognize us at first, I guess, and came forward to wait on us, though there wasn't a thing in his store I'd 'a' bought at a quarter of the price he asked for it. How Will ever came to trade in such a place is beyond my comprehension. Before I said a word I picked up a coat that was lying on the counter and looked at the marks on the tag sewed at the back of the collar. They were the same as the marks on the tags I had in my pocket.

When the man saw who I was, he began to seem mad again, but I saw him trembling.

"You take your old clothes and go away," he said. "I don't want you here. I never saw the clothes before, and I told you so once."

"Now, you keep your temper," I said, just as cool as if I'd been standing in my own kitchen, "for you'll need all the sense you've got before we're through with you. We're from the country, but we ain't so green as we look."

"Well, what do you want?" he asked, and, my, how his black eyes snapped!

"We want to know about these clothes," I said, "and who had them before you sold them to Will Lawson, and we've got an officer outside, and we mean to know all about it before we leave this place."

I had never before thought of some one else buying the clothes before Will bought them, and I don't know what made me think of such a thing then. I guess it was the goodness of God that put it into my heart when I most needed it.

"I don't know any Will Lawson," said he, "and I don't know the clothes, so you'd better get out."

"It seems to be the will of Providence," said I, "that everybody that touches that suit of clothes becomes a liar right off. I told you a whopper here the other day when I pretended to want to exchange it for a better suit and pay more money, but I've asked God to forgive me for it, and I hope he will."

"Don't you come into my store and call me a liar," shouted the fellow. "Because if you do I'll call the officer you talk about and have you thrown into the street!"

"You don't dare to," said I, "and if you did the officer wouldn't obey you. He's here to protect us and to subpœna you to go to the trial. And you do lie when you say you didn't sell these clothes to Will Lawson, for I've got the tags that were on them—got them in my pocket this minute—and the marks on them are the same as the marks on the clothes you've got on your shelves. So the quicker you call the officer in and give him a history of the clothes the better it will be for you."

All the time I was talking Mrs. Lawson stood there all of a tremble, holding on to my arm with both hands, as though she was afraid I meant to fly at the man and scratch his ugly face and claw the truth out of his throat. The fellow looked at me, with his snaky eyes flaming with rage and hate, though I could see that he was scared too.

"You talk pretty strong for an old woman," he said, "and when you've finished your say you can take your old clothes and walk out."

I started for the door, and I suppose he thought he'd scared me out, for I heard him chuckling, but he soon had cause to change his mind, for I knocked on the glass with my umbrella, and in walked the officer. The storekeeper was taken aback, but he tried to put on a bold face and asked the officer if he was conducting a branch insane asylum.

"Because if you are," he said, "you'd better take your patients to some other shop."

"We'll see about that directly," said the officer, "but I've got a little business to do with you first." And he read him the subpœna and gave him a copy of it, all in printing and writing plain as you please.

"Of course I'll have to obey the order of the court," said the man, speaking milder, "but I can't see what you're getting at."

"You'll find out soon enough," said the officer, and we all started for the door. But I kept my ears open wide, for I expected to be called back. And, sure enough, before we got into the street the proprietor called to us to wait and came up to where we were.

"What is it about the clothes?" he asked, keeping his evil eyes fixed on Mrs. Lawson, thinking perhaps that she'd be the easiest one of the party to scare into an answer that might give him something like a hint to be guided by. She did look pretty timid and shrinking, but I gave her arm a good pinch and whispered to her to be firm, and she seemed to take on courage.

"What is it about the clothes?" repeated the man. "And what if I did sell them? It's my business to sell clothes, and there's no law against it that I ever heard of. So there's no harm done, is there?"

"Yes," said the officer, "there's harm done, and a young man is to be tried for his life on account of you, and you can make things right by telling the truth, if you haven't forgotten how."

I could see by the changing expression in the fellow's eyes that he knew all about the arrest of the poor boy and had followed the case in the newspapers, and I felt like going down on my knees there on his dirty floor, for I saw, too, that he meant to tell what he knew about it. I looked at Mrs. Lawson, and there were tears in her eyes.

"That old woman," began the man, "said a moment ago that she had in her pocket the tags taken from these clothes. Show me the tags, and I'll talk fast enough, for the law can't touch me for what I did."

I handed the tags to the officer, and he let the proprietor look at them, being careful to keep one hand on them all the time.

"Yes," he said, defiant-like, "I did sell this suit to a young man a matter of three or four weeks ago. But before that and on the same night I sold them to another man, who never lived to put them on."

"Mercy!" said I. "Why didn't he live to put them on?"

"All in good time, old woman," was the impudent reply. "You'll soon know all about it if you'll give me a chance. This first customer bought this suit and paid for it. Then he went to the back end of the store to put it on. I saw him shift some articles, such as a knife, a bunch of keys and a little change, from the pockets of the pants he had on to the pockets of the new ones, but he seemed to change his mind, for he took them out again and asked to have the new suit done up, saying that he'd wear the old clothes home. But I noticed that he put a little slip of printed paper into the watch pocket of the new pants and didn't take it out again when he shifted the other things. I remember thinking about it at the time and intending to call his attention to it, but another customer came in just then, and I forgot all about it. From that day up to a week or so ago I never once thought of the matter, though I've been sorry enough for my forgetting that little slip of paper."

"That must have been the lottery ticket!" gasped Mrs. Lawson. "And Will has been telling the gospel truth all the time we've been doubting his word, poor boy!"

"Yes," said the man, "I guess it was the lottery ticket I've been reading about in the papers—No. 98,567—that drew $15,000. I was a fool not to have my mind about me and take it out of the watch pocket when I got the clothes back on the shelf again. They wouldn't have traced it to me, I can tell you, and I'd have been $15,000 better off now."

"I wish you had!" said Mrs. Lawson, with a sob. "I wish to goodness you had!"

The rascal glared and went on with his story.

"About two minutes after the man went away with the clothes there was a hue and cry in the street, and I went out to see what was up, leaving a clerk to wait on customers. When I got outside, I heard people saying that a man had just been murdered at the mouth of an alley not far up the street, and I went there, curious to see who it was. As soon as I came up to the place where the crowd was I saw that it was my customer that had been murdered. He lay upon the stones of the alley, with a knife wound in his breast and the blood all about him on the frosty ground. This suit of clothes that I had just sold him lay there by his side just as I had tied it up for him. Then the thought came to me that I might take the man's clothes and no one would lose by it, for you can't rob a dead man, he having no use for clothes. So I picked them up and hid them under my coat, and no one saw me, so great was the excitement. I got back to the store as quick as my feet could carry me and put the clothes on the shelf again, never once thinking of the little printed slip in the watch pocket of the pants, worse luck!"

The officer laughed at the shameless scoundrel's changed tone and manner, but I didn't feel much like laughing, I can tell you, with poor Will lying there in prison, his neck almost into the hangman's noose.

"Then in half an hour or so," continued the man, "this young fellow that's been arrested for murder came in, and I sold him the clothes. I suppose the lottery ticket was still in the watch pocket, and he must have found it after he got home and presented it for payment."

"I'm the one that found the ticket," broke in Mrs. Lawson, the tears of joy running down her face, "and I've always thought he lied to me about how it came there. I'm glad he hasn't got the sin of lying to answer for even if we can't prove that he didn't kill the man."

"We can prove that fast enough now," said the officer. Then he turned to the storekeeper again. "Why didn't you come forward and tell the truth when you saw the danger this innocent boy was in?" he asked. "But for this remarkable woman"—he really said "remarkable" and nodded his head at me, though I think Mrs. Lawson deserves most of the credit for what was done on account of her thinking about the tags—"but for this remarkable woman he might have been hanged."

The clothing dealer's eyes sparkled with cunning.

"His heirs might have claimed the clothes," he said, "and then I didn't want people to know what I'd done."

"So that's why you lied to us when we came in here," I said. "And you would have seen that boy go to the gallows rather than lose the price of those clothes! You ought to be tarred and feathered!"

I walked away without saying a word, and the officer and Mrs. Lawson followed. We went to Will the first thing and told him the news. My, but he was glad to think that he was believed at last! The trial didn't amount to much after that, and they never found out who murdered that stranger or why he was murdered. The police say it is one of the unsolved murder mysteries, though they think he was mistaken for some other man.

ON CHRISTMAS GIVING.

The Problem of Choosing Suitable Presents at Yuletide.

For melancholy proof of man's genuine incapacity we have but to turn to the belated creatures who at Christmas time write daily to the newspapers for advice. Like Emerson, they feel that a present is "due" to somebody, and, like Emerson, they are "puzzled what to give."

There is something really pathetic in a letter from a "class of boys" who want to be told what they shall give their teacher. He is thirty years old, they say, and a "remarkable mathematician." Perhaps some shadowy desire to make the punishment fit the crime prompts this last bit of information. But it is matched by schoolgirls who write: "What is a nice present for a teacher? She is a foreigner and teaches a foreign language. She is very dark and has a somewhat impatient disposition." "The Heir of Redclyffe" would seem an excellent present for this person, if only she were able to read it. But the editor is perhaps unaware of the improving character of Miss Yonge's stories. He has nothing more appropriate to suggest than a gold pen or a piece of statuary, neither of which is warranted a cure for impatience.

A married woman complains mournfully that she has to give a present to an old gentleman of eighty-two "who has everything he wants." It never occurs to her for a moment to spare him the added possession of a something he doesn't want. The utmost length her ingenuity can go is to write to a newspaper for advice. Another woman feels moved to send "some useful trifle" to a missionary, and a young man, who signs himself Jasper, has a painful emergency to face. "I know two sisters who are nearly of an age," he writes. "I wish to give them both Christmas presents. Ought I to send the same thing to each? Their tastes, I believe, are different. I know one of the young ladies much better than her sister."—Agnes Repplier in Lippincott's.

YULETIDE IN AUSTRIA.

Customs and Legends of the Non-German Population.

Yuletide as kept by the non-German population of Austria is very picturesque. On Christmas day the Poles in Galicia first attend mass and then sit down to family supper. The chief dish on the table contains consecrated eggs, which the father distributes. After eating, all eyes are closed and all heads bowed down to the table in the belief that Jacob's ladder is then descending from heaven to earth and down the ladder angels are coming to bless the worshipers and to carry away their earthly troubles to heaven. Among the Czechs the legend runs that he who most strictly fasts on Christmas eve will see the holy Christ in his dreams that night. In the evening the real celebration begins. All lights are then extinguished in the house; no fire, no light is visible. The children crowd together in fear and remain perfectly silent, as otherwise they know they will receive none of the presents brought by the Christ Child and laid at the entrance of the house. The older females amuse themselves by throwing heated lead into water and gathering from the forms it assumes some hint as to the appearance of their future husbands.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

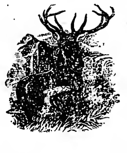
RED LAKE RESERVATION LANDS.

Dormant Possibilities Illustrated in........ Equality's Prosperity.



[The editor would point out the object lesson afforded by Equality's progress, as set forth by one of that township's foremost citizens, R. H. Green. Nothing could more strongly emphasize the dormant possibilities of the Red Lake reservation lands which border Equality on the north, and which will shortly be thrown open to settlement. Homeseekers would do well to study this wonderful story of progress and of six years' accomplishments. Red Lake Falls is the gateway to the southern portion of this vast tract of land soon to be opened to settlement. Good roads lead direct from this city to the boundary line. Filings may be made before the Clerk of Court or the U. S. Commissioner of this city, and every convenience will be afforded those desiring to "outfit" here. Ed.]

EQUALITY

By R. H. GREEN.

ON THE 15th day of May, 1896, at 9 o'clock a. m. (and possibly a few minutes earlier) any one who was on the ground, could have seen all manner of men of all nationalities, with all kinds of vehicles, some on foot, some on horseback, making the race to "squat" on the land which was then part of the Red Lake reservation, but which is now embraced in the township of Equality.

"IT HAD BEEN RAINING INCESSANTLY."

Claim hunters stuck in the mire showing condition of country on the day of "opening."

At that time a good foot racer had the advantage over any one with any other means of locomotion, as it had been raining incessantly for a month or more, and the soil was literally soaked with water.

There were a number of contests for each quarter section to be taken, but nevertheless there was no serious trouble, and only a few contests were brought before the land office.

Should a person who has not been over the township since the opening visit Equality now, he would scarcely recognize it, so great has been the progress. Every quarter section of land has its buildings, fields, etc., and nearly every settler has a nice bunch of stock. All section lines are roads, some graded and considerable work done on most of them. The township has two road graders and a ditching machine, and now that most of the settlers have "proved up," there will be more road work done, as heretofore we have had to depend upon poll tax work entirely, and in a short time will have roads second to no township in the county.

"EVERY FARM NOW HAS FINE BUILDINGS AND A GOOD BUNCH OF STOCK."

Showing development of Equality township in six years since the day of "opening."

The soil is a rich loam, with a heavy clay subsoil, easily drained, as it slopes from the center, south to the Lost and north to the Clearwater river.

Native grasses, blue-joint and pea-vine, grow luxuriantly, especially on the Clearwater river bottom land and consequently it is one of the best townships in the banner county of Minnesota, for stockraising and diversified farming.

An up-to-date cheese factory, owned and operated by Mrs. Josie Short, was built the past summer, and is expected to do a large business next season as a large number of cows are tributary to it.

The first store and postoffice was started on section 19 by E. E. Havik and named "Grit," which name was very appropriate, as it required considerable of that commodity to undertake to haul goods over the then almost impassable roads twenty miles, but Ed had the necessary article in large chunks, as it was very seldom he was out of the necessaries at least.

"Lillo" on section 10 was the next postoffice and Magons Johnson its postmaster. He also has a small store.

The personal property valuation for 1902 is $, which is well up with the highest in the county—a pretty good showing, when it is remembered that only six years ago every foot of ground in what is now Equality township belonged to the Indians.

There are five school districts, all with schools in successful operation.

At the last election there were registered 103 votes.

And last but not least, you can go into nine out of every ten homes and you will find "The Gazette" upon the mantel or in the hands of some eager reader who will tell you they couldn't get along without the leading paper in the county—and the Only Kidder hasn't been here yet, either.

RED LAKE RESERVATION LANDS.

The location of the these Red Lake Reservation lands is especially good; they are watered by the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers. These rivers are the natural outlet by which all the pine on the reservation is floated down to market, and furnishes employment to hundreds of log drivers every season. These streams have been driven for years. Over twenty-one million feet of beautiful pine logs passed through Red Lake Falls last year.

CLIMATE.

Our climate, though cold in winter, is dry and even. The country, being wooded, is not subject to the severe blizzards of the prairie region. The summers and autumns are all that could be desired. The high altitude makes this a very healthful climate.

The Red Lake Reservation.

SOMETHING ABOUT LANDS SOON TO BE OPENED.

IT is not generally known that the largest body of fresh water lying wholly within the boundaries of the United States, if we except the great Lake Michigan, is in our own state of Minnesota. Such, however, is the case and the Red Lake, twenty-five miles from north to south and forty-five miles from east to west, with an area of nearly five hundred square miles, can claim that distinction.

Surrounding this lake lies the Indian reservation which takes its name, upon which the Red Lake band of Chippewas, 1450 in number (census of 1900) live, move and have their being.

In order to have a clear idea of the physical characteristics of this reservation it is necessary to bear in mind the three general classes of land into which nature has divided it. First we have the country immediately surrounding the lake, which is in the eastern half of the reservation. Here are great groves of pine and of mixed timber and a large amount of splendid agricultural land. Here the Indians live and here, for their support, abound all manner of game and fur bearing animals common to this region. The lake is stocked with an exhaustless supply of fish, and water fowl are plentiful. Here is located the Agency, a village of some importance, and here are the various government schools.

There is an abundance of land on this portion of the reservation to give an allotment of 160 acres of valuable land to every Indian, man, woman and child, and leave a large acreage unoccupied. This is the country chosen by the Indians themselves for a dwelling place and there is no disposition upon the part of the whites to disturb them in their occupancy.

Just west of the lake we find an entirely different class of land. Here lies the great floating bog, formerly the bed of the ancient geological Lake Agassiz, which forms an almost impassible barrier between the eastern and western portions of the reservation. This is the second of the general divisions referred to above. Through this mighty marsh the Red Lake River, the outlet of the lake, winds a sinuous course, and following this stream westward for twenty miles we arrive in a country which differs entirely from both of the preceding sections. Here we find ourselves entering an arm of the world famous Red River Valley, and the broad acres of rich prairie, on either side of the river, are bright with a luxuriant growth of wild flowers and grasses. Here and there may be seen little groves of small poplar and oak, suitable for fuel, but, in the main, the land is rich, rolling prairie. Through over four hundred square miles of this silent waste of natural wealth the river winds its way until a sudden bend to the southward reveals the bustling little city of Thief River Falls, and we cross the reservation line to be plunged at once into the midst of a busy and progressive community. Here we see the white race growing rich and prosperous upon the same class of soil which the Indians abandoned. For there are practically no Indians west of the marshes. They are all in the eastern part of the reservation, the part surrounding the lake.

The change in the character of the reservation land from marsh to prairie is almost identical with the line between Red Lake and Beltrami counties. The Indians have already signed a treaty ceding the townships embraced within the limits of Red Lake county, comprising 257,036 acres, and this will no doubt be thrown open to settlement next spring.

The land is slightly rolling prairie, lying high above the river, with small groves of hardwood and poplar and a similar belt of timber along the river. This timber is suitable for fuel but is in no way available for lumbering purposes. This is a strictly agricultural country. There is not a pine tree on this part of the reservation, nor within thirty miles of it.

The soil is mainly A 1 farming land and, with a trifling amount of drainage to the river, every acre of it would be at once fit for the plow.

"The whites cultivate the land right up to the reservation line while just beyond all is neglected wilderness," said Indian Commissioner Jones after a personal inspection of this reservation.—Minneapolis Times.

CHRISTMAS.

CHRISTMAS eve is a time of memories. While the little ones whose lives are all in the sunlit future, dance about the Christmas tree in sheer enjoyment tho' utter unappreciation of the real depths of their pleasures, the older members of the family whose horizons already show streaks of the sunset in the west, read pictures of the past as painted by the glowing embers, at the fire side. As the poet Ryan says:

> And there is nothing like a Christmas eve
> [illegible]
> And there is nothing like a Christmas eve
> [illegible]
> [illegible] the snow and sleet,
> [illegible]

We all experience the same bitter-sweet memories as memory carries back over the expanse of years, and we recall the loved associations as they were before the frost [illegible]. The joys of [illegible] of the family on Christmas [illegible] are usually reflected [illegible] removed from the happiness of [illegible] childhood. The poet has [illegible] thoughts awakened by Christmas eve reflections [illegible] gray," and has portrayed [illegible] change of sentiment that comes [illegible] Christmas day."

TRIUMPH OF THE WEST.

TO those who have watched with friendly interest the advancement of the West in all things that go to make for sectional greatness, an event that occurred last Friday at San Francisco will have especial significance. This was the commencement of the laying of the Pacific cable, which will connect Hawaii and eventually the Philippines with the United States.

Steadily the empire of greatness wends Westward her way. The commercial impetus given the West in the past few years has been greatly stimulated, and its triumph over adverse conditions is now all but complete. The opening of Oriental markets to our producers has done a great deal to turn the tide. For these conditions we have mainly to thank—Fate and Jas. J. Hill. The historical events which gave the United States a foothold in Oriental waters, and the genius of a Hill which had ready at once the largest ships and the cheapest freight rates in the world as means to make possible the utilization of our opportunities—these, together with the natural overflow of excess energy, ambition and capital from the East, have set the Western wheels of greatness to revolving with an ever increasing momentum. The freight rates on flour—Red Lake Falls to Hong Kong for 40 cents a hundred—is a sample of the opportunities presented by Jas. J. Hill to the western industries.

The natural resources of the West, from Minnesota to the Coast, are being developed, and this means the triumph of the West, for nowhere on the face of the earth are vaster aggregations of natural resources of possibilities for wealth production that are so nearly limitless.

That the world's heroes are not all heralded is evidenced by the fact that has just leaked out, of a poor miner labor leader refusing a bribe of $2,000 to betray his associates. His name may not be recorded in the temple of fame, but somewhere and somehow, we feel sure, will come his reward.

MINNESOTA.

CONGRESSMAN Fred C. Stevens, of St. Paul, has written a classic on Minnesota, the salient points of advantage possessed by the North Star state in condensed but complete form, being well put. Mr. Stevens says:

> Minnesota is already one of the chief agricultural states of the Union. In grains it has long had pre-eminence. In root crops and grasses and the various products of them—cattle and butter—Minnesota promises to be the leading state in the Union.
>
> Our bountiful water supply, invigorating climate and abundant raw materials, together with a most industrious and intelligent population, should make Minnesota one of the leading manufacturing states of the West. Its facilities for transportation by railroads, lakes and rivers are unsurpassed, and its products can be sent quickly and cheaply to any parts of the world. These advantages are attracting a vast influx of population and capital, and promise a splendid reward for those who have faith in the future of the North Star State.
> The State's people are most progressive and energetic. They have developed state institutions, beautiful cities, towns and villages, which draw to the state the best people from the best races of the world.

For a condensed encyclopaedia of Minnesota's advantages, commend us to Congressman Stevens' essay.

The Gazette has always believed in "doing things." This week we present our readers with a 32-page paper, home print, cover and all—and our readers have not been wearied from our blowing about it for a month in advance, either, thank God.

Jas. J. Hill denies that he said American prosperity is at its zenith.

The Gazette, following its custom, in vogue for the past ten years, presents its readers with a few special Christmas features. The size of the issue—32 pages, makes this the biggest paper ever issued by any Red Lake county publication. In fact we are not sure but it is the largest issue ever gotten out by a country newspaper in the state. Our only regret is the fact that some three and a half pages of advertising were crowded out But there is a limit to everything, and as the date for publication was set for the 18th, we were obliged to reluctantly refuse three and a half pages, the copy for which came in too late. The circulation of this edition is four thousand copies.

Dairy and Food Commissioner W. W. P. McConnell says: There are 700 co-operative creameries in this state, representing an investment of $2,500,000. There are 800,000 cows in Minnesora, one-half of which number contribute milk to the creameries, which in turn produce annually 2,000,000 pounds of prize winning butter, bringing to the dairy farmers $12,000,000 per year. If the milk of all the cows in Minnesota were sent to the creameries, the dairy product would reach an annuall value of $25,000,000. It is possible, in the commissioner's estimation, for the dairy products of this state to ultimately reach a value yearly of $75,000,000 to $80,000,000.

Opposition to the merger isn't necessarily deprecation of Jim Hill's greatness. Not here, anyhow. All the world bows in acknowledgement of his genius—the more should Minnesotans personally pride themselves on it, since he is one of us.

This issue is the result of a little extra effort on the part of our force the past three weeks. We trust our readers will be as well satisfied with it as we are.

A FIRESIDE DEPARTMENT

MOTHER KATHERINE.

PEACE ON EARTH.

THE world is taking on a festive garb, children are on their good behavior, and mysterious plans are being arranged in whispered consultations, giving numbers of families a feeling of good fellowship which is good to behold.

This is as it should be, for such conditions imply peace, and what else did the message of the angel portend? But, sad to say, here and there, though all appears to be lovely, there is a smouldering fire down deep in the a heart of one or the other. Perhaps a sister or brother has offended in an unpardonable way. Unpardonable? How dare a Christian use such an expression! Many a feud has originated from the simplest trifle and it is astonishing how bitter relatives can be in a quarrel, the origin of which is really forgotten. To such as those I wish to speak today. You, who do not speak to your brother, why will you persist in that unfriendly feeling? I'll tell you, it is PRIDE, nothing but contemptible pride that keeps you stiff necked and hostile. Way down in your heart you love that brother dearly, you were boon companions in your youth, pray why not make up and enjoy the companionship as of old? There were two relatives who fell out, the one offended the other (unconsciously, as is often the case) and—they did not speak. This went on for a longer time than it should have, when finally the one who had perpetrated the unconscious offense, wrote to the other at Christmas time, saying: "In this season of peace and good will, I cannot but wish that our relations were more friendly so that our next meeting will be one that would please the Christ Child -if you do not feel as I do, please consider an answer unnecessary." I am glad to add that peace was restored so that the other members of the family were not afraid of a clash every time there was a meeting. If the resentment you carry in your heart would only affect you it would be bad enough, but see how many others must suffer just for the sake of your stubborn pride. There are the loved parents, aged, bent and gray, perhaps your quarrel is the sorrow which causes those furrows in their cheeks. There again are little children who should see nothing but charity—are you not afraid to bear the burden you are preparing for yourself? Go! you make up even if you ARE IN THE RIGHT. Put your pride by, for the sake of the Babe Who came to redeem you and me and all mankind that, when Christmas comes, it may be a truly MERRY one for you.

I wish you all a Merry Christmas.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

I saw Santa Claus yesterday, my dears, and he was a giant. He was sitting in one of the shop windows nodding his head in a friendly manner. His feet were fully two feet long and the rest of his body was big in proportion. I think he can do a great deal, for such a big man must be powerful indeed. I've no doubt he will visit you all, leaving many presents to gladden your hearts. How I wish another visitor will come to you in this beautiful time, namely the spirit of love for one another. You all know about the lovely Babe Who came to save mankind. He will help you if you ask Him to show you many kind deeds to be done every day. You are all big enough to think of others and you need only to look about your home to find that everybody is the happier when each and every one follows the command of our Redeemer which was, "Love one another."

I wish you a Merry Christmas and am sure you will have one if you "do to others as you would that they should do to you."

HOUSEHOLD.

Cranberries, raisins, and popcorn strings decorate a Christmas tree beautifully. Little statues and even paper dolls brightly colored add much to the attractiveness of a tree. Give the little ones a tree if possible. They will cling to home the more fondly for the memories such pleasures awake.

Farm Values In the Red River Valley.

By JAMES J. HILL.

MANY Red River Valley farmers, I understand, are selling their land because attracted by the high prices. Let me give you a bit of advice. If you have money enough to live without farming my advice won't apply, but if you expect to make your living farming, be very sure before you sell your land in Minnesota, in the Red River Valley, that you can get another farm equally as good for the same money. Do not sell your farm for $25 an acre and find in six months that you have got to pay $40 or $50 an acre for a farm of equal value. People are coming up here from Iowa—they sell their lands at from sixty to seventy-five dollars per acre. A few years ago they were worth $40 to $50, when yours was worth $5. Take the whole of the Valley, and it will compare most favorably with the best portion of Northern Iowa, where their lands are selling at from $60 to $75 an acre. Why should your land in the Red River Valley in Minnesota be worth less than theirs? Does the sun shine less brightly here? Is your soil less productive than theirs? If their land is worth seventy-five dollars yours is worth seventy-five dollars, and the time is not far distant when the world will realize this. * * Hang on to your farm. In this great state, if you would analyze it, three-quarters of its population depends upon its farmers. I think that the agricultural population of this country is the sheet anchor of the nation. Be slow to part with your land.

Christmas Week In Red Lake Falls 18 Years Ago.

COMPILED FROM THE GAZETTE DATED DECEMBER 26, 1884.

J. M. Bray was to Crookston Monday.

Forty-five degrees below zero Tuesday morning.

The board of trade held their second meeting Saturday night.

Prof. Turnblade went to Crookston Thorsday to spend his Christmas vacation.

John Boyle has fully recovered from his late illness and is now as good as new.

The Catholic church bazaar will be opened on Monday next at Kretcschmar hall.

Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves on Christmas—even the printer was remembered by Santa Claus, or kind friends.

We are pleased to say that A. J. Gieriet has already greatly improved in health, and in a short time we expect to see him enjoying the happy days of health once more.

I have two A No. 1 lots on Main street, which I will sell cheap for cash or will trade for stock. If you want to buy some good lots cheap, now is your time.

J. F. Holmes.

The Christmas tree, given the children of the Union Sunday school Wednesday evening was well loaded with presents which were distributed by Santa Claus. Scott Morrill as Santa Claus was a dandy and caused a good deal of amusement for the children.

The following is the report of the public schools for the term ending Dec. 19, 1884: Primary department. K. C. Dargan, teacher, enrollment: 63. Pupils neither absent nor tardy: Willie Ledeboer, Harry Sanders. [Harry Sanders is now editor of the Roseau Region.] Grammar department. Total enrollment, 41. Pupils ranking 80 per cent in deportment and in all studies: Gustaf Ellingson, George Burgdorf. Willie Henning, Martha Riechel, Albert Moreau, Herman Krueger, Georgiana Christeson, Louisa Ralph, Anna Kops, Trudie Kops, Burroughs Ralph, Vadie Wilkins, Katie McNerthney, Rudolph Brown, Martha Leppert, Graham Munch, Rosy Zeh, Hetty Wallin, W. A. Ralph. Lizzie Boyle, Anna Smith, Ella Hall, Maria Ralph. P. A. Turnblade, Prin.

With Apologies to Riley.

There's a Christmas touch in the air.
I feel it, somehow, everywhere.
I feel it at home: it makes me blue.
I feel it at the office too.
My bank account is tinged with care;
There's a Christmas touch in the air.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS.

Where America's Supply of Mistletoe Comes From.

Year after year Christmas comes and goes, its joys and merrymaking losing no whit of interest and sentiment for young or old, and, while always new each season in their giving of pleasure, the same old customs continue to prevail with alterations in detail only.

The day would hardly seem like Christmas without the hanging of Christmas greens, and, though a greater variety is offered in the way of decorations than formerly, those are still most liked and used that bear out the old practices and significance, and chief among them are the mistletoe and holly, whose very names carry one back to the days of ancient English cheer and Yuletide, with wassail bowl, Yule log and joyous merrymaking.

The most favored mistletoe comes from across seas, but some is sent from Canada and the south, where, particularly in Texas, it grows in large clumps on the live oak trees, always to the latter's gradual destruction, for, being a parasite, it saps the oak's lifeblood, flourishing luxuriantly the while. It is not so artistic in appearance as its English cousin, the leaves more commonplace and the berries smaller and poorer in quality, though more in quantity. Strange to say, the Texas mistletoe, like the prophet in his own country, is not greatly prized at home, and at few of the Christmas festivities does it make part of the decoration, while in all other quarters a cluster of the oddly shaped green leaves and opaque white berries must almost of necessity be suspended in the doorway or from the chandelier when Christmas comes in, and it never fails to cause the same jesting and merriment, for a kiss stolen under the mistletoe is one's right, and the pilferer cannot with justice receive rebuff.—Selected.

Something About Our Christmas Advertisers.

PERSONALITY OF

SOME OF OUR CHRISTMAS EDITION PATRONS........

The Ed. L. Healy Land Company has been one of the prime factors in keeping realestate moving. The handsome advance in farm values in Red Lake county since Mr. Healy came here three years ago may not be altogether due to the efforts put forth by this agency, but there can be no doubt that Mr. Healy's enthusiastic work in promoting the interests and exploiting the good points of this county have from the first counted heavily in its advancement. One thing is certain that Mr. Healy's advent here and the upward movement in Red Lake county's farm land values came simultaneously.

There is no better known land company in Northern Minnesota than the Ed. L. Healy Land Company, and no Northern Minnesota realestate business is on a more solid foundation or doing a larger business. There are no dull periods with this land company. They are selling and buying land all the time, regardless of time or season, and one thing greatly in their favor, no patron is ever known to go away dissatisfied.

INTERIOR VIEW OF HEALY'S LAND OFFICE.

Ed L. Healy, the manager, is one of the best known men in the state. He is a member of the city council. His home on Bottineau av. is one of the finest in the city.

As will be seen by his big ad on pages 12 and 13 Mr. Healy now owns over 22 quarter sections of land in Red Lake county, and as Mr. Healy's word is as good as his bond, he is a good man to deal with.

He is also proprietor of the Healy Flour Mill: capacity 500 barrels of flour daily, and a water power of 12,000 horse-power capacity. This power is located eighty acres of choice high land, furnishing ample room for the erection of different manufactories that may locate here. There is a large surplusage of power over what is necessary to run the mill. Manufacturers looking for a location where power is cheap and ample, where shipping facilities are excellent, should investigate this location. Railroad trackage is laid to the place.

Besides his local interests, he has extensive outside connections, principal of which are his holdings of an $18,000 interest in the Alaska Fish and Lumber Co.

Since February, 1899, Ed. L. Healy has been identified with Red Lake Falls interests and the loss of his home town, Morris, was surely Red Lake Falls' gain.

J. B. Armstrong is joint proprietor of the Surprise Clothing Store and also of the J. B. Cigar Co.

He was born in Huron county, Mich., Aug. 6, 1871; was educated in the common schools. His parents dying when he was thirteen years of age, he was compelled to make his own way. He entered a cigar factory and began learning the business. In 1886 he went into a saw mill, where he worked for five years, then entered upon office work and as time keeper. He came west in 1893, and engaged in contracting in the shingle mill for the Pine Tree Lumber Co., in the meantime attending the business college. In 1896 he engaged in the fruit and confectionery business, and a short time later engaged in the manufacture of cigars. This business he continued for about a year after coming here, when he sold it. Mr. Armstrong is one of Red Lake Falls' most popular business men, and is prominent in social circles. Ad "Surprise Store," first page, cover.

Sortedahl & Bjorneby, whose big ad on pages 20 and 21 tells an interesting story, are extensive dealers in farm lands, and city property. M. O. Sortedahl, the senior member of the firm, and president of the bank of Red Lake Falls, is recognized as a shrewd financier, and his career since coming here four years ago, has been a meteoric one. To-day the firm is rated at $150,000.

Mr Sortedahl, after finishing his education at St. Olaf College, Northfield, inaugurated his business career as deputy clerk of court of Polk county. He is a hustler in business, enjoying a high reputation for probity and honesty, and is now one of the solid men of Northern Minnesota.

A. G. Bjorneby is a more recent addition to Red Lake Falls business circles. Before coming here he was professor of mathematics and science at St. Olaf College, Northfield, a secterian United Norwegian Lutheran institution of high standing. Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Bjorneby was musical instructress at this same college. Prof. Bjorneby was also for four years principal of Mt. Horeb Academy, Mt. Horeb, Wis.

The firm of Sortedahl & Bjorneby owns 10,000 acres of land in Red Lake county, besides 500 city lots in Red Lake Falls. Ad on pages 20 and 21.

J. N. Nunesgern, groceries, confectionery, fruits, stationery, and furniture, undertaking and undertaking supplies and possessor of a first-class funeral car, has been in business here nineteen years. He is located on the North-Side and enjoys a large business. In the grocery and fruit lines he carries a very large and fine stock, making a specialty of shipping in fruit in the fall. In furniture he carries one of the finest and largest stocks in Northern Minnesota. He is also the agent for the Western Cottage pianos and organs, than which there are none better, also a large stock of pictures and picture frames, and does framing and job work of all kinds. He occupies a large double store, completely filled with goods, sells for cash, at a very close margain and solicits a share of your trade. He is a careful and interprising business man and has met with excellent success. See ad. on page 7.

William Findeisen, agricultural implements of all kinds, has been in business here fifteen years. He is a natural born leader and a man of depth and strong convictions. He carries a very large stock of goods, and has built up an extensive business. Mr. Findeisen is a hard worker and a careful and successful business man, who by honorable dealing with all has gained the highest confidence and respect of the entire community, and has prospered greatly. He has served as president of the schoolboard and president of the council several terms. Ad on cover, 2d page.

WM. FINDEISEN.

A. L. Reichert, drugs, medicines, stationery, wall paper, sundries, notions, books and magazines, began business here in the spring of 1900. The store is located in the new Kans block and is a finely appointed store, with a fine trade. Mr. Reichert began the drug business in 1883, two years later entered the school of pharmacy of the University of Wisconsin, and graduated in 1897. He is a careful and competent druggist, and a successful and popular young business man. Ad on page 8.

L. P. Berthon joint proprietor of the Surprise store, exclusive clothing and gents' furnishing goods, is a member of a wealthy and aristocratic Parisian French family of unlimited means. He was born in Paris, France, Sept. 29, 1867. He received his education in his native city at St Louis college and at the agricultural college at Grignon. He served a term of three years in the army, after which he spent five years in Africa, then came to America, first locating at St. Cloud. The next spring he came to Red Lake Falls. Mr. Berthon is a genial and popular gentleman. He is especially interested in musical affairs, and is manager of the Red Lake Falls band. Ad on first page, cover.

W. A. Schreiter, proprietor of the "Old Reliable Drug Store" has been a resident of this city since the spring of 1880. He has one of the finest furnished and best arranged drug stores in Minnesota. Mr. Schreiter's business has steadily grown ever since he located here, and he is now enjoying one of the largest drug businesses in Northern Minnesota. He also owns the local telephone exchange, having eighty-five instruments in use. He is also local manager of the long distance telephone and is the promoter of the Wylie Telephone Line and major shareholder. Mr. Schreiter has been prominently identified with every important public movement since coming here, no important public policy being considered well settled without his counsel. He has always been successful in his business affairs and stands very high in the estimation of our citizens. Ad on page 4.

The Merchants State Bank was organized in 1899 and its capital and deposits now foot up to $115,000.00. Its officers are A. P. Toupin, president; Theo. LaBissoniere, vice-president; J. A. Duffy, cashier; P. F. Pouliot, assistant cashier. The directors are A. P Toupin, L. A. Kaufer, J. A. Duffy, Samuel Gibeau, Theo. LaBissoniere, Chas. N. Bourdon, Joseph Perrault. A partial list of the prominent stockholders are given in ad on the last page of this edition. The bank is composed of home residents, transacts a general banking business, makes a specialty of loans on real estate, writes fire insurance and makes collections.

Cashier Duffy was born at White Plains, N. Y., November 1, 1862. He received his education in the common schools of Ohio, where his parents had located, and in 1886 began working in a railroad office, which business he followed twenty years, coming to Red Lake Falls in 1887 as agent for the Northern Pacific. He served three years on the city council and has always taken a deep interest and active part in all endeavors to improve the town and county. He served ten years as director in the First state Bank before becoming cashier here.

The gentlemen in charge of its affairs are careful and conservative business men and successful bankers enjoying the confidence of the general public in a high degree. Some of the most substantial and enterprising business men of this city are stockholders. They own their banking house, which is conveniently arranged and well furnished. They have the finest time-lock Diebold safe and a well built fire-proof vault to protect the cash books and papers from all danger. They aim to extend to their customers every favor consistent with safe banking.

Theo. LaBissoniere, proprietor of the large general merchandise business which he founded in the spring of 1895. He has been eminently successful, taking his place at once among the foremost merchants of Red Lake Falls. Mr. LaBissoniere is a member of the younger school of business men. Born at La Fontaine, Simcoe county, Ont., Dec. 4, 1867, he is just past the thirty-fifth milestone. He located at Red Lake Falls with his parents, May 11, 1879. He was fitted for his active business career at St. John's University, Stearns Co., where he graduated from the commercial course in 1886, with a degree of M. A. Upon his return the same year he took a position as clerk in the general store of F. E. Hunt, at Terrebonne, and later worked for the same firm in this city. In 1889 Joseph Smith engaged his services and he remained in that gentleman's employment continuously until the spring of 1895, when he became proprietor by purchase, and to-day his general merchandise establishment known as the "Big Store," ranks second to no institution of the kind in the Northwest.

THEO. LA BISSONIERE.

Bank of Red Lake Falls, established in 1899, M. O. Sortedahl and A. G. Bjorneby proprietors. This bank transacts a general banking business, pays interest on time deposits, makes collections and writes fire insurance. Also makes a speciality of farm loans, buys and sells real estate, makes investments, pays taxes and looks after rents for nonresidents, is the owner of the only complete set of abstract books of Red Lake county. This bank has a large cash capital and a personal responsibility of $150,000. Its owners and officers are experienced and careful business men and bankers, and a large business is transacted in all its branches. Ad on pages 20 and 21.

First State Bank, organized in 1884 by James I. Wyer as the First National Bank, and changed to a state bank in 1896. The officers are James I. Wyer, president; Theo. Garceau, cashier, and H. H. Zaiser, assistant cashier. The wonderful growth of this institution is shown by the statement of assetts and resources in ad on last page.

An exclusive banking business is conducted along safe and conservative lines. Interest paid on time deposits and a specialty is made of collections, and in this line their business exceeds that of any other institution in this vicinity. It owns the bank building, a large two-story brick, well built and conveniently and commodiously arranged inside, containing a large fire-proof vault in which boxes are reserved for customers. The money and papers are protected by a Diebold time-lock burglar-proof safe of the very latest design. It numbers among its stockholders some of the most substantial and enterprising business men of the city, and is rated as one of the most solid and best managed banks in the state. For the past thirteen years Theo. Garceau has been cashier and manager. He was born at South Bend, Ind., August 13, 1857, educated at the University of Notre Dame, and in 1882 came to Red Lake Falls. He was engaged in a store until 1888, when he entered the bank as assistant cashier, soon after being promoted to cashier. He is also a member of the large mercantile firm of Garceau Bros., which was established in 1896. Mr. Garceau is a most successful banker and business man and is public spirited to a high degree. He is part owner in two additions to the city.

Bangs & Co., general merchandise, consisting of dry goods, notions, clothing, ladies' and gentlemen's furnishings, carpets, rugs, shoes, groceries, crockery, glassware, silverware, etc. J. W. Rodger, manager. Ad on page 24.

Henry W. Anderson, watch maker and jeweler, has been in business here for nearly two years. Mr. Anderson is a graduate of the Peoria Optical School. He carries a nice stock of watches, clocks, silverware and jewelry, and does repairing of all kinds with dispatch and skill. He was born at Parkers Prairie, Otter Tail county in 1880. He was educated in the public schools at St. Paul, afterwards attending the Bradley Polytechnic Institute at Peoria, Ill., and also the Peoria Optical College. After leaving school he engaged at his trade at Grantsburg, Wis., where he remained until he came here. He is meeting with an excellent business here. Ad on page 23.

The Union Land & Investment Co., P. B. Gaas manager, has developed into one of the strong business establishments of the city. The business has been conducted on a scale of considerable magnitude, and Mr. Gaas is now owner of thousands of acres of Red Lake county lands. Having an extensive acquaintance in Iowa, where his straight, upright manner of doing business had made him many friends, he was from the first in a position to bring many desirable settlers to Red Lake county. Prospective purchases will do well to consult him. Ad on page 3.

Ed. Garceau, member of the enterprising firm of Garceau Bros., whose advertisement appears on page 17, was born at Kankakee, Ill., December 4, 1868. He was educated at South Bend, Ind., in the Notre Dame College. In 1878 he moved to Crookston; later was engaged on a farm until 1886, when he came to Red Lake Falls and engaged as clerk with Bangs & Co. which position he held for twelve years, until engaging in business on his own account. He is a thorough business man, understanding in detail every branch of his extensive business. He is very public spirited, has served three years on the school board and as city treasurer for about seven years. He is always deeply interested in any effort to promote Red Lake Falls or Red Lake county. The firm of Garceau Bros. conducts one of the most metropolitan stores in Northern Minnesota.

O'Brien Bros., general hardware, stoves, ranges, tinware, bicycles, sporting-goods, sewing machines, also a complete tinshop, doing all kinds of repair work. This firm also conducts a large hardware store at Crookston. The firm is composed of W. P. O'Brien, J. E. O'Brien, and J. W. O'Brien. W. P. O'Brien is the local manager. The firm has one of the best arranged stores in Northern Minnesota, which is well stocked with the best quality of goods. They bear a high reputation for correct business methods and honorable dealings, and have by this means established a large trade. W. P. O'Brien is a shrewd, careful and popular business man, ready to put his shoulder to the wheel in all public enterprises. See ad. on page 11.

Falls Meat Market, Groshong & Blake, proprietors. This shop was established in 1899. It has a reputation of handling the best meats, games and fish, and is using its patrons properly. They have established a fine trade, numbering among their patrons the best families of the city. Both members of the firm are practical butchers of long experience, and are well qualified to supply the needs and appetites of their customers. Ad on page 23.

Grand View Hotel, W. H. Krueger proprietor. Free 'bus to and from all trains. Sample room in connection. This is the pioneer hotel of Red Lake Falls. The present owner took charge in March, 1901. He is a good hotel man and guests at his place are always made to feel at home. It has lately been thoroughly overhauled and placed in first-class condition. It is electric lighted and centrally located, and is an excellent hotel in every respect.

L. A. Kaufer was born Feb. 17, 1858, in Dubois county, Indiana. He received a high school education at Mankato, and later entered the harness and saddlery establishment of Gottlieb Schmidt of Mankato as an apprentice, remaining three years, and learning the harness and saddlery business thoroughly in all its branches. At the age of 21 he opened up a harness and saddlery establishment in company with his father under the firm name of H. B. Kaufer & Son, at Fergus Falls. He came to Red Lake Falls in 1881. In 1884 he went to Colorado, remaining there two years when he came back to Red Lake Falls and established the harness and saddlery business which he is now carrying on. He has held the offices of council-man and justice of the peace. Mr. Kaufer is one of Red Lake Falls' leading business men and his patronage extends over a broad territory.

H. L. Veigel, ad on page 11, first-class saloon. Though Mr. Veigel has been in Red Lake Falls but a short time he has made many friends and his business is good. He conducts a strictly refined and up to-date place.

Hatten's Feed Store, M. A. Hatten proprietor. Mr. Hatten is conducting a first class establishment. He is the soul of accommdation, and makes it a pleasere to deal with him. Ad on page 16.

The Red Falls Fuel Co. is a new concern, but one which fills a long felt want. Messrs. Alphonse Paradis, G. H. Thibbetts and A. O. Davidson, the proprietors, are hustlers and will make the business a success.

Jos. M. Allard is no doubt a friend of humanity. Any confectioner who can soothe the fevered brow of a hot public on warm days as he does with his soda fountain, or who has such a sure guarantee of peace and tranquility between man and wife as his delicious bon-bons assure, is a philanthropist, surety. Mr. Allard is a manufacturer of candies and makes sometimes 100 pounds a day. Besides this, personally he is a right good fellow. Ad on page 14.

As a few Sample Bargains we quote the following:

BARGAIN NO. 1--A fine section (640 acres) of land. Prairie, timber and meadow. Has about 100 acres in cultivation. Two sets of buildings, fences and other improvements. Excellent water. Cheap at $17 per acre, but we will sell this at $11 per acre if taken soon.

BARGAIN NO. 2--A fine ½ section of prairie, timber and meadow land. Has fair buildings, fences and other improvements. Good water. $3500 will take the whole ½ section if taken now. It is well worth $16 per acre.

BARGAIN NO. 3--160 acres. Partly under cultivation. Has some fine timber and meadow land. Fair buildings. 80 acres fenced with barbed wire. Near creamery, school house, church and store. Will take $11 per acre for this if taken at once. Well worth $16.

BARGAIN NO. 4--480 acres. ¼ mile from a good railroad and banking town, having 3 elevators, cheese factory, etc. Large new house, all finished, barn 80 x 40 with 10 ft stone basement, rooming about 100 head, hay loft, which will hold 150 tons. Large wind mill on barn, geared to run feed mill and feed cutter which are in the barn, pump and circle saw; large granary elevator in same, hen house, pump house, machine sheds, etc. Buildings painted. 260 acres under cultivation. 160 acres fenced with barbed wire and oak posts, 50 acres timber, balance prairie and meadow land. 100 acres of fine prairie land can be broke and seeded to flax next spring. With this farm go 10 head of horses, 42 cattle, some sheep, hogs, about 250 chickens, geese, turkeys and ducks, a complete line of farm machinery, wagons and harness, 800 bushels of oats, 150 tons of hay, etc. Will sell this farm with the personal property above mentioned for just what the farm alone is worth. Write or call at once if interested.

BARGAIN NO. 5.--550 acres in Ottertail county. Has good building and a fine orchard. Excellent water. 200 acres under cultivation: 100 acres hardwood timber: 150 acres prairie: and 100 acres in meadow and pasture land. Located on a beautiful lake and 4 miles from market. Land in neighborhood is selling at from $32 to $40 per acre, but for a quick turn we will take $27 per acre. Will consider trade of any kind, and will sell on terms to suit.

BARGAIN NO. 6.--400 acres near Fosston in Polk county, located on a beautiful fish lake, buildings and improvements worth $3000. With this place go 40 hd of cattle, 3 horses, farm machinery, 100 tons hay. There are between 100 and 200 acres fine oak and poplar timber which will net more than to pay for the farm, stock, machinery and all. Will take a ¼ section or 80 acres of Southern Minnesota or Iowa land in trade. If interested write for full particulars. This is one of our biggest snaps.

BARGAIN NO. 7.--A fine farm of 18 acres in Goodhue county, located on the Zumbro river, 2¼ miles from Kenyon. Has buildings and improvements that cannot be duplicated for less than $1200. Just the right place for an aged couple or anyone intending to start an apiary or poultry farm. Land in the vicinity is selling at from $60 to $90 per acre, and this place is really worth $2500, but if sold before January 1st, we will let it go for $1500.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Seventeen and 33-100 ($17.33) dollars interest which became due September 6th, 1902, and which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by J. E. Noddings and Cora B. Noddings, his wife, mortgagors to E. C. Malm and O. A. Malm mortgagees, bearing date the 6th day of September, 1901, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 19th day of September 1901, at 3 o'clock P. M., in Book R of mortgages, on page 468.

And Whereas, the said E. C. Malm and O. A. Malm mortgagees and holders of said mortgage, have duly elected and do hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of two hundred and forty-seven and 50-100 ($247.50) dollars with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, from the sixth day of September, 1901, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceedings having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The Northeast quarter (NE¼) of section twenty-eight (28), township one hundred and fifty-three (153) North of range forty-five (45) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Red Lake county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Red Lake county, at the front door of the court house at Red Lake Falls in said county and State, on the 22nd day of January, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of two hundred and forty-seven and 50-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

E. D. Bray has purchased Joe Bray's residence, and Keogh Leroux has purchased E. D. Bray's place. Both families will move before the holidays.

Arthur Zaiser returned Saturday from Itasca county, where he is "holding down" a homestead. Arthur has a valuable claim and is looking after it in good shape.

You ought to see those fancy new Battenburg patterns at Gareeau Bros.

Good apples for only $2.85 per barrel while they last at Garceau Bros.

Adolph Zaiser, who is now a resident of West Superior, has been visiting relations in the city this week, having attended the funeral of his mother at Fertile Friday.

A. B. Romsos, of Wylie, was a visitor in the city Saturday, Mr. Romsas left Monday for his old home at Lanesboro, Minn., where he will spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Romsas.

J. T. Kidder, the Gazette's literary caricatnrist, returned to the city Monday after three weeks spent in the northern part of Red Lake county, during which time he succeeded in adding to The Gazette's subscription list the names of 125 of the county's best citizens, besides many who are not residents of the county but who are interested here and wish to keep posted. That Mr. Kidder has, besides swelling our subscription list, made many new friends for the paper, goes without saying, and the editor feels more and more like congratulating himself and his readers on the good fortune which brought the Only Kidder into the charmed circle.

OUR CHRISTMAS ADVERTISERS

E. L. Erickson, merchant tailor, is one of the popular new comers to our hustling city, coming here from New Auburn last summer. Mr. Erickson as a tailor is an expert and the public is beginning to appreciate it. His ad appears on page 8.

O. Thomas, agent for the Great Northern Railway & Express Company, was born at Paola, Kas., January 3, 1872. He was educated in the public schools in Cass county and at Kansas city, Mo. He then engaged in mining in Colorado and Utah for a time, and later began railroading in Lake City, Col., in 1889, remaining until 1891. He then entered the service of the Great Northern in 1892, transferring to Warren, then Thief River Falls, and in 1898 came to Red Lake Falls. Mr. Thomas is a thorough railroad man and a popular official. He has, during his ten years with this company, put in much time in the eastern cities in the interest of the immigration department, for which he did good work. He is a member of the Masons, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias.

Mrs. E. F. Marshal, vice-president of the Red Lake Falls Milling Co., the Electric Light Co., and the Johnson-Marshall Land Co., is also postmistress of Red Lake Falls. She brings to all her duties the same good judgment and her administration is characterized by strict personal supervision and active participation. There is no better conducted postoffice in the state than the Red Lake Falls office, and the public generally is more than satisfied with the administration.

S. M. Sivertson, secretary and treasurer of the Red Lake Falls Milling Company, has been a resident of Red Lake Falls but a year and a half, coming here from Atwater. Mr. Sivertson is a hustler from the ground up, but he is also socially inclined, and both he and Mrs. Sivertson are prime faorites in Red Lake Falls social circles. Mr. Sivertson is permanently identified with the business here, and in this our people are fortunate, for it insures his continuous residence in this city.

C. F. Johnson, manager of the Red Lake Falls Milling Company, is one of the best posted men in the Northwest. In fact he is a walking encyclopedia of information on all subjects appertaining to his business, and this is what makes his services to the company so valuable. Having been connected with this line for years every detail of the complicated business is at his fingers' ends. Personally, Mr. Johnson is one of nature's noblemen.

INTERIOR VIEW, 1ST STATE BANK.

Hon. Marcus Johnson, head of the Red Lake Falls Milling company, is a man of great personal popularity, and of wide influence. Perhaps no man in the state is more intimate and has greater influence with the leading men in all walks of life, be it politics, business or educational affairs, and to his active work in the interests of this city Red Lake Falls owes a large share of the prosperity of to-day. It was he who gave the final impetus to the county division contest, which culminated in Red Lake county's establishment. His influence with Gov Clough is what turned the tide in our favor. Mr. Johnson is a man of determination, and when he is with a movement he camps on the trail and never sleeps. His personality is as pleasing as his influence is extended, and to this all who know him will testify. Mr. Johnson is always looking out for Red Lake Falls' interests, at home or abroad, and he has the moral backing of the entire community.

Frank E. Hunt's business career in Red Lake Falls is intricately connected with the history of the city from its very birth, Mr. Hunt coming here in 1878 and opening one of the first business enterprises. Fortune has favored him. He has from the first been one of the leaders in public affairs, and has been eminently successful in a financial way, owning the magnificent brick, steam heated, electric lighted block in which his hardware store is located, and conducting one of the most extensive hardware businesses north of the Twin Cities. He is ably assisted in the business by his son Sam, who now takes an active part in the management. Besides his hardware interests, Mr. Hunt is extensively interested in real estate, owning much city property and many valuable farms. His residence on Bottineau ave. is one of the largest and most modern in the city. Ad on page 8.

F. A. Mizen, the popular Northern Pacific agent, has been a resident here for about two years. He is a hard worker in the interests of his company, and is very well liked by the road's patrons, and by our citizens generally. Mr. Mizen came here from Bowesmont, N. D., where he held a similar position with the N. P.

Henry Kaufer's up-to-date barber shop is one of the most popular resorts in the city. Mr. Kaufer has spared nothing to make this place what its name implies—up-to-date. Everything the heart can call for in a barber shop is there, competent, obliging workmen, comfortable rockers for lounging, choice literature, bath rooms, cigars, etc., etc. We regret that a halftone of this fine establishment was delayed in transit, too late to go in this issue.

DECLARE DIVIDEND.

Alaska Fish and Lumber Company is Prosperous.

Red Lake Falls people will be interested in the following, from the Mankato Free Press. Ed L. Healy, one of our townsmen, owning $18,000 worth of stock in this concern:

At a meeting of the board of directors of Alaska Fish & Lumber company, held at their office at this city a few days ago, it was voted to declare a ten per cent dividend on the outstanding preferred stock, and the fortunate possessors of this issue will receive their cash as soon as the officers can get matters in shape, which will be between the first and fifteenth of January.

For this splendid showing the company is to be congratulated. The great amount of labor performed since the organization of the corporation is something bordering on the phenomenal. The original purchase of the company included a saw mill, store, several houses, steamboat, etc., including one of, if not the finest water powers in Alaska. This purchase was made in December, 1901. In February, 1902, it was determined by the board of directors to construct a salmon cannery. To this end, men and supplies were sent to Shakan as soon as possible and on the 17th day of March the first pile was driven for a wharf. This wharf has a water frontage of over 300 feet and is 250 feet in depth—the largest, finest and most substantially built of any in Alaska, outside of the principal towns. No other cannery or saw mill in the territory has anything that will compare with it either in size or stability. A warehouse 40 by 200, two stories high, a cannery building 60 by 200, story and a half, with cooking room about 40 by 60 comprise the buildings for canning and use of cannery. In addition to these large structures, which are built especially strong and substantial, it should be noted that the company has erected since that date a fine two story building 30 by 80, two story mess house, a Japanese and Chinese mess and bunk house, a new residence for superintendent and several small houses for sleeping purposes. All the machinery for a first class up-to-date cannery was purchased and installed; thousands of feet of fishing nets were made up, a large number of fishing boats and two fishing scows were constructed, and a great many other things were made ready for the season's work.

It is hardly necessary to say that the undertaking of so much construction work in a single season, and getting everything in shape to can fish on July 4th, involved a great outlay of money and no little amount of push. But it was accomplished, and the result of the year's business, when it is known that the salmon run was cut short by nearly three weeks by heavy rains and consequent high water in the fresh water streams, is certainly gratifying. The company claim that had the season for fishing been the usual length they would have put up at least 50,000 cases. As it is, they put up 35,000, which is about the average of Alaska canneries and an unusually good record for a new concern.

But the end in improvements is not yet. The business of the company requires enlargement of the saw mill building and the induction of a considerable amount of new machinery. The demand for lumber is more than double the present capacity of the plant and the directors feel that the way to make money for the stockholders is by keeping up with the times. A new large steam boat, capable of making ten knots per hour must be had forthwith. In fishing season this boat will be used in towing salmon and in other portions of the year it will tow logs and lumber and perform any other heavy work that may be beyond the power of the company's present steamer. Gasoline launches have proven very valuable about canneries for light work, and one of these will be bought. The stock of goods in the store is entirely too small for the growing trade and a complete line of clothing and dry goods will be added. It will require considerable ready cash to meet these outlays, which are indispensable to the proper and profitable conduct of the business and it has been decided by the board of directors to place a few thousand dollars' worth of the remaining treasury stock on the market. This is what is denominated preferred stock. It is issued in shares of $50 each, sells at par and carries with it a guarnteed annual dividend of 10 per cent before the common stock can participate in a dividend, and then shares an equal percentage with the common thereafter.

The company claim that they can pay a full ten per cent dividend annually on every dollar's worth of the preferred stock ($150,000) from the proceeds of the mill, and still have money left, so that it makes the investment an unusually good one for those seeking a safe venture on their money. There is no common stock for sale and only a limited amount of the preferred.

Equality.

The figures for the personal property valuation were omitted in the Equality write up. The figures are $22,557, which places Equality's valuation up with the best townships in the county.

The Future of ...Red Lake Co.

...BY...

THOMAS GERMO.

RED LAKE COUNTY has much in store for those who are fortunate enough to be classed among her inhabitants. Stability is the great thing to begin with, and in an agricultural community what gives and insures stability is the fertility of the soil, coupled with such other forms of natural advantages as abound in Red Lake county. Here we certainly have a diversified country, when measured in the various kinds of productive tests it can be put to.

For the farmer we have timber and prairie, level or rolling, cut with deep ravines and gulches, or in unbroken expanse, and as to the character of the soil, there is none more fertile or productive in the state of Minnesota.

We have intersecting and draining this county three large rivers, numerous smaller streams and creeks. And while we are with the farmers and their happy environments, let it be remarked that our people are gradually having their eyes opened to the great and permanent value of diversified or mixed farming, as against the single crop method formerly adhered to with such harmful effects. As a result of this awakening stock-raising and dairying have become popular and are here to stay. Creameries and cheese factories are everywhere in evidence, and there are now but few townships in the county that have not one or the other of these suggestive barometers of progress and prosperity among the farmers. So it is coming to pass that what lifted the southern Minnesota farmer into the bank depositor class is fast transforming the farmers of this county from borrowers into lenders. May they still go and multiply, guided by the lamp of experience, to the lasting benefit of all our citizens.

Courtesy Union Land and Investment Co.

RED LAKE COUNTY WATERS ABOUND IN FISH.

While this county has been free from the baneful effects of wild land booms, lands have had a steady and healthy growth in value, and during the last three or four years the value of farm land has nearly doubled. There has been no undue inflation, but our realestate values have kept pace with that general rise which is perceptible all over the country. Those conversant with conditions as they prevailed relative to this matter, in the southern part of the state, will know that ten or fifteen years ago the best land could be bought there at a price from fifteen to thirty dollars per acre, while now it has reached the high figure of fifty to one hundred dollars per acre.

And right here let it be known that this phenomenal growth in realestete values in the southern part of the state, is, to a great extent, generally attributable to the inauguration and continued practice there of the diversified method of farming. This is a positive method by which to bring people to a realization of the just value of land. Any one at all familiar with the conditions as they exist in the southern sections of the state, will, I think, readily agree that one hundred and sixty acres of land here will, under proper care and supervision, create as much revenue as the like number will produce there, and, keeping that fact in view, will come to the only logical conclusion, that farm values here will continue to rise for many years to come, and, keeping step with railroad extensions, growth of cities, towns, and and other enterprises, in our midst, eventually farm lands will be as valuable and command as high a price here as anywhere in the state.

Illustrative of the unbounded faith all who are informed in the premises have as to the future of Red Lake county, and pertinent to this hasty sketch, a single instance may be recited as affording a general example. A prominent dealer in Red Lake county lands, a conservative business man, at one time having himself extensive holdings in this county, has just returned from an exhaustive trip into Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, the two Dakotas, Montana and Washington, whither he went with the view of looking into the future possibilities in the realestate line. He comes back firm in the conviction that no point he has visited holds out such splendid possibilities for the farmer and realestate man as Red Lake county, and has decided to relocate here and resume his business.

Having paid this very slight and inadequate attention to the farming interests of the county, and having observed that she is second to no other county in the state in the excellence of her agricultural possibilities, we find that she still has a reserve fund of undeveloped wealth in her great water powers, second only to the famous St. Anthony Falls at Minneapolis. Situated at the junction of Red Lake and Clearwater rivers is Red Lake Falls, the county seat, with a population of nearly 3,000. The surplus power of the Red Lake Falls Milling Company and Ed L. Healy's plants is enormous. Over 10,000 horse power goes by unused. Within a radius of two miles there are ten other undeveloped water powers.

A STUDY IN SHEEP.

What a mecca for manufacturers!

Thief River Falls, in the northern end of the county, is a most thriving city of over 2,000 population, with one of the best sawmills in the state. St. Hilaire has a population of 1,000 and is a most prosperous town. So it is evident that soon there will be within our limits one of the greatest manufacturing centres in the Northwest.

Then there are the eleven townships within the boundaries of this county, now contained in the Indian reservation, to be opened next summer, which will open wide another page of most promising possibilities, and will add much to the rapid progress of the county.

The last two years have seen very rapid strides in the development and settling of the county, and it may be said, with emphasis, that during the next two, the leap forward will be greater and stronger.

I will leave the reader to make his own summary, but in this I feel assured, that no one who has more than a superficial knowledge of Red Lake county will say that I have in a single statement hit above the mark in this altogether too hasty and short exposition of a few of the points destined to place this county in the front ranks of the banner counties in the North Star state.

S. CLAUS' MAIL HELD UP.

Bushels of Letters That the Old Man Never Will Receive.

Sometimes the address on the envelope starts "Deer," which, of course, means "Dear," and again it is "Dere" or "Deir." But even these remarkable spellings are nothing compared with the two words that follow. They read "Santy Klaws" or "Saat Clos" or "Saint Claus," and they are in handwritings compared to which Babylonic cuneiform is as a primer.

They are coming into the dead letter office in this city by the hundreds these days, and, although the clerks in that division are the most painstaking of men and can decipher an actual address from a mass of hieroglyphs, they never have been able to learn the exact location of either the business office or home of one S. Claus, Esq., manufacturer of toys.

So these letters never reach their destination. They would be returned to the senders only for the sad fact that when they are opened the inclosures almost invariably look as if a spider had got drunk on a bottle of ink and had tried to perform a mixture of highland fling and cakewalk on the paper. The most that can be made out is the invariable beginning, "Please bring me"—

Wylie, a Gem in Red Lake County's Diadem.

HOME OF HUSTLERS.

BY J. T. KIDDER.

One's first impression of Wylie from a car window would be just the ordinary every day village with which the line of this road is thickly dotted; but get off the train, meet the wide-awake merchants and sociable towns-people, and then the place has a far mor interesting appearance. As I got off the train Monday night the place had a rather woe-begone appearance with its closed gloomy looking depot looming up in the dark background formed by currying clouds. As I stood meditatively chewing the cud of reflection and wondering if that was all I was to get for supper and where I was going to sleep, and that I didn't have the price, a cheery voice spoke from the deep gloom, bidding me follow their lead. Fortunately a friend of some other departing friends was at the train to bid them bon voyage, and it was she who saved me from wandering off across the boundless plain where I would have had to sleep by a lake on a bed of sand without even a sheet of water or a thin blanket of snow for a covering, all because a mighty corporation has sent edict that it doesn't pay to keep the station open owing to lack of patronage and a few dull days, according to that theory, we should all quit living until times get better. The merchants and citizens feel justly indignant at this action, as the shipping business here nine and ten months out of the year far surpasses that of many towns much larger. Two elevators are constantly receiving and shipping grain, while a hay baler owned by Leppert Bros. is constantly at work baling and loading hay for shipment, most of the freight being prepaid. It is difficult to obtain an accurate estimate of the amount paid by each merchant, but the sum total would surprise even the most liberal guesser. The population is small but what the town lacks in size it makes up in ambition.

A fine school with over fifty students in regular attendance is ample evidence that the board of education has had an eye to the main chance when they secured the services of Prof. Todd, the well known pedagogue, who is not only popular in this county, but also in state educational circles.

Mr. Todd is one of those people who believe that loyalty begins at home, and to him is due the credit of having every merchant in town a patronizer of the Christmas edition, including the village blacksmith. Few men have traveled so extensively as the Professor or seen more of life in so short a space of time. Yet withal, he is gentlemanly and courteous to friends and strangers alike.

One of the recent enterprises established here is the Wylie Bank with a capital stock and responsibility of fifty thousand dollars. C. N. Bourdon's name as president is sufficient guarantee that the new institution is O. K. even if the capitalization was not. The assistant cashier, S. J. Swanson, informs me that the business is on the increase, and by next spring the bank, which was only an experiment, will be one of the permanent attractions.

This is not the only business that Swanson is engaged in, for duty called me over to the large elevator, and there, weighing wheat and issuing checks was this same jovial gentleman.

Wishing to get out a search warrant for somebody who was not taking The Gazette, I called at the justice's office and here too was Swanson transformed into a judge, with the following sign displayed over the door, or at least I imagined I saw it, read, "If a fellow is keeping company with a girl that's his business, if they are engaged that's their business, if they wish to get married that's my business. S. J. Swanson, J. P."

Desirious of learning something of the Judge's ability I attended a court meet held in Romsos Bro's. store. Ole Romsos, the plaintiff, alleged that one man had misappropriated to his own use two links of bolonga sausage, and sued to recover the same. The defendant stated that the missing links were handed to him by a bystander. He took them home and the Judge's dog ate them. After the evidence was all in Judge Swanson decided that it was a case of "dog eat dog," and had the case together with the other people and the dog thrown out of court.

Whoever hears the name of Romsos Brothers naturally couples it with thrift, industry and great business ability, thereby making no mistake. They're some of the chosen few who have decided that Wylie has a brighter future than the present horoscope would indicate. The business was established in 1898. About the same time another event of national importance was taking place, I refer to the Spanish-American war; but all those things have passed into history, except the brothers, who are here yet. These gentlemen did not enter the mercantile ranks as novices, O. T. Romsos having served as clerk in the store of P. E. Smidesang, to whom I will refer later. In 1902, long after the famous protocol was signed, and Cuba Libre was a household word, Oliver T. a younger brother was admitted within the charmed circle, and the business grew until it became what it is to-day, one of the busy places of the village, having the added inducement of the postoffice. It requires the constant efforts of both to attend the demands the public makes upon them. An addition 28 x 20 feet is being erected, but whether it is to be a store-room for a larger stock or whether the firm has decided to take in two more partners, I am at this writing unable to state. It's allright to make a guess, I s'pose, eh? Ikey. Look for their ad in this issue and get posted on up-to-date goods.

J. THILL.
One of Wylie's prominent citizens.

As statistics usually makes dry reading, I will take a drink and continue. Not wishing to slight anyone, I stepped into the next store and for a moment forgot that I was in a village, for the bright cheery aspect of the interior of this place gave me a metropolitan impression. On either side a glittering array of Christmas goods neatly displayed in crystal cased counters, the first I had seen, and behind these row upon row of box and shelf goods also tastefully displayed, while at the end, with a view to room economy, an end counter was placed for the grocery department. P. E. Smidesang & Sons were most courteous in answering questions relating to their business which was none-of-it mine. Inquiry elicited the information that the elder Smidesang had been in the mercantile business sixteen years and as the business increased in size and the sons' ditto he admitted them as members of the firm, and although this is a dull season, there are times when all of the partners are kept guessing who is the next to be waited upon. It is a true and trite saying that "there are more flies caught with molasses than vinegar," and as there were no flies in this place the inference is plain. When you wish to receive gentlemanly treatment and fair dealing step into Smidesang & Son's, receive a pleasant greeting and a dollar if you have it coming. That was my reception. Their ad will give you something worth reading. Look it up in this issue.

"Follow the crowd and you won't have to ask the number." Here's where I take another drink. A village without a first-class boot and shoe store isn't only nicely started, hence the appearance of Chris Borgen on the scene. He began in a small way but as time went on and trade increased his business expanded until now no farm team or driving horse is rightly rigged out unless their owner has been to Christ and fitted them with one of his many fine sets of well mounted harness. He also in a small way, as business laxity will permit, does a small cobbler business, his motto being, "a sole well mended is money saved." If you have a pair of shoes that you hate to dispose of, and only want them half soled, take them to Mr. Borgen and his price, if nothing else, will convince the most skeptical that it isn't necessary to go around on their heels to save their soles.

If your stove smokes go to Leppert Bros., aceross the track and get a new one. If your husband smokes send him there after it, and if you smoke go along with him, there might be something else in the hardware line that you need and it can be found in the complete and full line carried by this enterprising firm. Several side lines are carried on by the firm. Baling and shipping hay at present being their leader. One of them, Fred, I believe, runs a tonsorial shop, where close shaves and a hair cut such as mother used to give, is alway in order. Fred doesn't claim that as his speciality, but the wash-bowl cuts are all the style and it always pays to be up-to-date. That the firm is prospering there is not the slightest doubt, and it's very seldom you find them idle.

Among the most industrious men of Wylie the village Smithy stands. His brow is wet with sweat you bet, he owes not any man, and looking the solicitor in the face, says get me if you can. This may not be strictly in accordance with Longfellow, but it's the truth and a long fellow who wrote it; but aside from joking Peter Hansel is considered one of the ablest workmen that Red Lake county boasts of. His shop is filled with orders which he works over time to finish. Nothing is too intricate for him in the fashioning line, and you can get anything from a Chinese puzzle to a life size Russian sleigh constructed at his shop by just giving him an outline of what you want. Fish hook, can't hook, hog hook or bread hook it's all the same to Peter. In fact you can get anything but an order for a paper, and don't be too sure about that yet. You can see by his ad that he is up-to-date in every thing that constitutes a sturdy upright, intelligent business man.

Don't think because I mention Jake Thill last that he is least. It just happens that way this time. If you guessed a hundred dollar's worth you could never name the country where he was born, nor would the people in far off Belgium guess him as a native, sooner would I say he was what is uncommonly called Yankee; but whatever, whoever, wherever, whenever and however you see Jake he is always the same, pleasant spoken and good-natured. His friends are legion, his enemies horsdecombat, that is if he has any, you see what a horrible condition they are in. When in Wylie, where everybody is a Socialist or sociable, call and see Mr. Thill, receive the good hand of fellowship and if I am not there step into the comfortable office and read The Gazette, it's on top.

HOT ROASTS

Kidder Administers Them to a Few Who Insist on Paying.

It will be in order to mention some of the good people that reside outside town, who came in during my stay and insisted on taking the paper, (not all of them though.) Claus Koser is the first offender, he hails from Boone county, Iowa, and considered a live newspaper, a boon to anyone. As there are no Clause in the statutes or on The Gazette list, I deemed it prudent to have one inserted in the subscription book and also make the postmaster at Bray earn half his salary.

One peculiarity of Wyliets, they all insist upon paying cash, an unfortunate state of affairs, as my fingers are worn so smooth by constant writing that the money slips right through them, nevertheless, Otto Ortloff was bound to pay cash and I had to take it or lose his patronage. Otto is a young man who intends to be up-to-date if hard study and reliable literature is any means to that end.

Nels. Person has lived in this vicinity for eleven years and stated that this was his first offense against the county papers. I can't imagine where the newspaper men were at when they failed to get Nels on the list as he was ready to subscribe in less than two hours from the time I started talking.

Another singular occurrence today, Chas. Naplin, who has resided here from boyhood up, has never been asked to subscribe. How comes it that you overlook some of the best, Phil? Charles is considered one of the best young men in this vocality and his money is good anywhere, at least I decided to risk it for a dollar's worth.

Noticing a young man eyeing me suspiciously, which is not allowed unless he takes The Gazette, I inquired what sort of business man he was. His name is P. S. Skarp and he wished to pay some on his subscrip-

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S Himelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found its equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unriveled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at W. A. Schreiter's. Trial bottle free.

WYLIE CHEESE.

Product of the Wylie Factory Recognized as First Quality.

Nearly Thirty Thousand Lbs. Shipped Out the Past Season.

The agitation of starting a Cheese Factory started the first part of May, 1901. Several meetings for the same purpose had been held three or four years previous but all failed. This time success was at last attained through hard labor and a stock company was organized about June 3, 1901.

At this meeting F. C. Leppert was elected president, Nick Eckstein, vice president; Ole T Romsos, secretary; C. G. Borgen, treasurer; and five directors, Andrew Swanson, S. J. Swanson, Sam Leppert, Chas Johnson and Geo Weiss. In July the factory was ready for business and it was the intention to start the factory up but owing to the difficulty of securing a cheese maker it was decided not to make an attempt that season.

On the 19th day of May, 1902 the factory opened Mr. Didrick Kvindlang of McIntosh, a first class cheesemaker, taking charge. The milk receipts on the first day were only about 700 pounds; but it soon increased to 3300 lbs. In summing up the business at the end of the season, (the factory closed Oct. 30) the following figures tell the story.

Milk received	276050 lbs.
Cheese made	28063 lbs.
Amount paid patrons	$2111 87
Running expenses	552 00
Average paid per 100 lbs milk	.80

Test 3.6 per cent. Average pounds of milk to one pound of cheese 9. Average price received per pound for cheese nearly 10 cents. This is without doubt the highest price received by any factory in Red Lake county. The amount of cheese sold in the state was 14,188 lbs. while 11,115 lbs were shipped outside of the state, some of this being shipped as far as Montana.

The prospects for next year's run are very promising.

tion, but I did not have his account. He refused to take no for an answer and handed me two dollars, a welcome donation.

To P. A. Fant I feel especially grateful, not only for his patronage, but for the guarantee that I was O.K. and would do anyone I could good. I always find those Twin Valleyites sensible people and not hard to suit when they get their money's worth. Mr. Fant rents at present which better enables him to size up the resources of the county before settling down permanently; but he will get The Gazette a year at least.

C. G. Gerlach was one of those who profited by his friends' example, and just before going on a wolf hunt handed me a dollar and took his receipt with the dry remark "if the wolves get The Gazette receipt they wont take anything else and that will save me." Everyone around here knows C. G., that's why he got the creamery wood contract. It pays to be popular, and also to have it when it comes to soft wood contracts.

ST ANTHONY & DAKOTA ELEV. CO'S, WYLIE.
J. Thill, wheat buyer.

I found a young man in Romsos Bro's. store looking over their fine assortment of holiday goods. "I am trying to find a suitable present for my parents who live at Everts, Washington," replied this stalwart youth, when I inquired the cause of his perplexity. "How would a year's subscription to The Gazette do, providing they don't have to read it?" I asked "Just the idea exactly"! he exclaimed, "but I am afraid they will think they are obliged to read it, better make it in writing," said Willie, "so they won't think it's me put up the job on them."

The unexpected oft time happens; but seldom indeed is it, that a solicitor is as happily surprised as I was a few evenings ago, long after the books were closed, a sturdy active gentleman stepped into the postoffice and called for his mail, not receiving any he turned away. Noticing his evident disappointment I considered it my bounden duty to offer consolation, therefore I tendered him a Gazette, with the remark, "There may be imitations, but this is the only real comforter. Take it, my friend, and your cares will fade away like the morning mists in the noonday sun. Blues of the deepest indigo become roseate, its columns teeming with glittering generalities, are enough to make a sick man well and a well man sick. A man that wouldn't take a great family paper like this, cheap at half the price, wouldn't take a barrel of sugar at a cent a pound; he wouldn't want to taste off the top, sample the middle, eat off the bottom, and then swear it wasn't sugar, that's all." I had to say before Hans Wilson voluntarily passed me a dollar with the welcome remark, "I guess it's as you say, but I had not viewed the matter in that light until you called my attention to it." Mr. Wilson is one of the G. N.'s steady employees, attentive to duties and appriciative for any act of courtesy and always ready to reciprocate.

"Hadn't we better lock the door? here comes that Gazette man." I overheard as I stepped into the well-known store of Smidesang & Sons. "Certainly not," replied a clear voice which I afterwards learned was one of the sons, "we owe him a dollar, which I want to pay. Perhaps he needs it." I did not but dollars are a change, and I took it.

At the elevator, Andrew Erickson, a well-known farmer, who was never known to willingly beat a man out of a penny, said he was a friend of this paper, but not now. Having learned his greivance, I explained the meaning of true repentance, and that in the future, whatever the paper had done, it was going to do better, treat everyone equal, live down the past in the present, and keep tab on the future. "In that case, I will try it a year," said Mr. Erickson. "If I am suited at the expiration of Dec. 12, 1903 I may become a steady patron again." I would much rather have a friend of a man like Andrew than to have a dozen of so-called friends, for if he likes a person he speaks well of him, and if he don't he lets him alone.

Joseph Draeger, one of Wylie's popular young people, who is contemplating a trip to the big pines, only hesitated long enough to assure himself that the paper was what I misrepresented it to be, when he gave me his name with a sufficient guarantee that he would be a future patron. I only hope that the paper will be as indespensible to Jo. as he is himself when there's any social event in Wylie.

"Do you take The Gazette, sir," I asked of a tall, scholarly gentleman Saturday evening, as he enquired for his mail. "I did until two weeks ago, when I went into the office and stopped it," he courteously replied. "Didn't you know that was against the law?" "No sir, I did not, else I should not have acted in the matter." "Well there is a law that reads, 'try all things, and hold fast to that which is good.' Now this paper with its illustrated holiday number of thirty-two pages is going to be a good thing, and as it's only two weeks since you stopped the paper, I can let you take it again if you subscribe before 7:30 P. M." As it was then 7:25, P. J. Anderson had only a few moments for reflection, which were spent to my advantage. I trust the money received of Mr. Anderson for an advance payment will be as judiciously expended as those few moments. It was a fine joke on the editor, wasn't it P. J? I am laughing yet.

Later on another gentleman came in and as he looked so pleasant I thought perhaps he would be willing to get another joke on Phil, and he was, for Rev. A. Melin was classical enough to take this paper and pay ahead until Jan. 1, 1904. Having four parishes to preach in it is a reasonable deduction that the Reverend hasn't any time to idle away, that's why he is now enrolled as a reader of the leading paper. Coming here from Alexandria a stranger, his circle of friends has widened to such an extent that it requires a great family paper to keep him posted about them.

Wm. Ingram is one of those people whom you can tell at a glance it's no use to talk to unless you have a bargain. Alert, sharp-eyed and always goodnatured, William looks with suspicion on anything that isn't up-to-date. As I had that very morning received the last issue of the Gazette he could find no fault about the newness, consequently we traded and addressed the paper to Chokio, southern Minnesota. It's strange what a wide reputation this paper has when it's wanted 'way down there, but Mr. Ingram knows his business and wishes to know something about business up here, and he took the surest and quickest way to get it.

CORN.

1902 Tests Prove Northern Minnesota's Adaptability.

Experts Pronounce Specimens Equal to The Best Iowa Corn.

The corn contest originated by Editor [illegible] and Banker Short of McIntosh was decided on Saturday last, the judges being T. A. Hoverstad of this city, J. A. Lang and H. B. Wells of Erskine.

Early last spring the gentlemen named made an offer to give premiums of $25, $15 and $10 respectively for the three best samples of corn raised in the eastern part of the county. The conditions were that the tests were to be made with dent corn and the sample shown was to be not less than one bushel, grown on not less than one acre of land.

The contestants who offered samples were George Singer, of Gully; Erick Omland and Andrew Hoven, of Lessor; K. O. Bratvold, Brandsvold; E. I. Wichterman, of Gully; and H. G. Mitchell, of Woolside. The awards were as follows: First prize, K. O. Bratvold, second, H. G. Mitchell, third, George Singer.

The corn shown by all the contestants was fully matured, and the ears were large and filled to the tip. The test fully demonstrates the fact that corn of excellent quality can be raised in this county and brought to maturity even under the unfavorable conditions that have obtained this year. One of the judges in the contest, Mr. J. A. Lang, who has traveled throughout the northern Iowa and southern Minnesota corn belt this season said that he did not think that six better samples of corn could be shown in any portion of the territory covered by him in that part of the country.—Crookston Journal.

TERRE-BONNE CHEESE.

44,332 Pounds Manufactured This Season.

One of the interesting Red Lake county points is Terrebonne, a pretty village nestling on the banks of the Clearwater river, located ten miles southeast of Red Lake Falls. Terrebonne has one of the best water powers in the county, and Kaukle and Zeigler run a fine 100 barrel flour-mill there, and all lines of business are well represented. Dr. W. O. Tessier, a physician of high standing, O. Tessier, a prominent attorney, represent the professional lines, while Rev. Clement Dube, a good and popular Catholic priest, presides over spiritual affairs. St. Anthony's church edifice is one of the finest in the county. Terrebonne is one of the prettiest little places one would care to visit, and the inhabitants are a hospitable and sociable lot of people.

H. C. Clement furnishes the following interesting statement of the Terrebone cheese Factory, and points with pride to the fact that his cheese received the first prize at the 1901 fair, besides a Van Sant medal for 1st scoring in State contest.

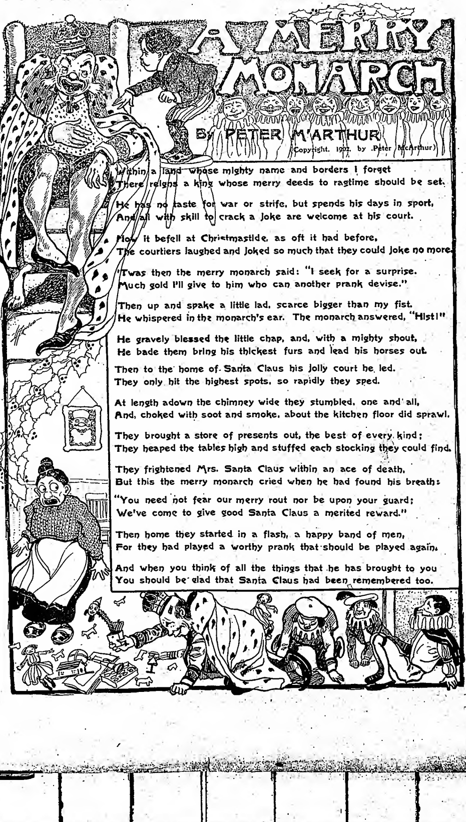
ERNEST BUSE, STILL A PROMINENT RESIDENT.



A MERRY MONARCH

By PETER M'ARTHUR

(Copyright, 1902, by Peter McArthur)

Within a land whose mighty name and borders I forget
There reigns a king whose merry deeds to ragtime should be set.

He has no taste for war or strife, but spends his days in sport,
And all with skill to crack a joke are welcome at his court.

Now it befell at Christmastide, as oft it had before,
The courtiers laughed and joked so much that they could joke no more.

'Twas then the merry monarch said: "I seek for a surprise.
Much gold I'll give to him who can another prank devise."

Then up and spake a little lad, scarce bigger than my fist.
He whispered in the monarch's ear. The monarch answered, "Hist!"

He gravely blessed the little chap, and, with a mighty shout,
He bade them bring his thickest furs and lead his horses out.

Then to the home of Santa Claus his jolly court he led.
They only hit the highest spots, so rapidly they sped.

At length adown the chimney wide they stumbled, one and all,
And, choked with soot and smoke, about the kitchen floor did sprawl.

They brought a store of presents out, the best of every kind;
They heaped the tables high and stuffed each stocking they could find.

They frightened Mrs. Santa Claus within an ace of death,
But this the merry monarch cried when he had found his breath:

"You need not fear our merry rout nor be upon your guard;
We've come to give good Santa Claus a merited reward."

Then home they started in a flash, a happy band of men,
For they had played a worthy prank that should be played again.

And when you think of all the things that he has brought to you
You should be glad that Santa Claus had been remembered too.

Red Lake Falls' Citizens Will Next be Given a Touch By This Word Artist.

Kidder Catches a Few Grip Luggers and is a Brother of Happy.

[This installment is the conclusion of Kidder's Thief River Falls write-up, which appeared two weeks ago—Ed.]

Emil E. Ness, whom I forgot where I met but presumably in Hanson & Co., where the best are to be found, originately came from Barnesville, near my own home and he naturally felt obliged to patronize a homely man, so it's fortunately I was sent out. Emil liked Clay county, but thought rich alluvial soil was even better, so that's one reason why he is here.

Not having quite enough for a stack, I went to the large O. K. flour mill, a perfect hive of industry where people were so busy that they did not have time to say no, and where up-to-date machineries unlike the mills of the Gods grinds rapidly and exceeding fine. There was so much noise inside perhaps they did not hear what I said, but as long as E. E. Beckley, expert mill foreman, originally from Iowa but well known in many places, especially Little Falls, where he has host of friends, came down with the ready needful, I didn't mind it so much. I can always do business with a well posted man better than those who do not heed what they shall eat or drink lest on the morrow they may die. Mr. Beckley is one of those who if he lifts the veil and looks into the mysterous future, can at least see The Gazette coming a long ways ahead, according to his receipt.

At dinner time two new-comers came to the restaurant and ordered dinner, as they were strangers I took them in—which according to teaching, is the right way. These gentlemen, for no one could ever be mistaken in that, reside at Waverly, S. D., and came here with a view to locating. It is to be hoped that Red Lake county has enough attractions to induce them to remain indefinitely, as they are undoubtedly men of money and brasns. The latter goes without saying as they formed a stock company at once and paid for this paper ahead, sending it to their home address—to H. Batke and J. Mayers.

In the sama restaurant a tall stalwart young farmer was discussing the advisibility of the proprieter buying a load of hay. As the company didn't have any stock to feed I inquired if it was intended for the boarders, including myself and other hayseeds. If it was, I wanted to have a voice in the selection, as there are some products that makes a poor quality of drink. "If I sell this load of hay I will take your paper a whole year," said the farmer. I immediately expressed a fondness for hay-tea and insisted upon having some for dinner. As they hadn't any in stock the deal was closed, and true to his agreement Victor Frochman, a former Fergus Falls boy, has interesting literature to while away the long winter evening. Anytime you stop at Torwick inquire for his place. You wont have to sleep on the hay scales or go to the river to drink while you remain there, as the hospitality of the Trockman is too well known for that.

S. T. Johnson, I thought from the name must be a Scandinavian, but he is not. His services during the Civil war in a New York regiment, are sufficient guarantee of his stability, and that he is a subscriber to this paper indicates him as a man of mature judgment. He doesn't believe in having his name in print and thats why I don't mention it. I ought to have your good opinion Mr. Johnson, as well as your good money.

The city restaurant is a good place to stop, for me at least; but dangerous for farmers and others who don't wish to be held up for a paper, as at this place I met E. M. Jaranson formerly from Southern Minnesota, but who for the past five years has followed the painter's and paper-hanger's trade, and when he has a little leisure takes a few good men at catch as catch can wrestling. His weight is about one hundred and forty; but he is willing to give or take ten pounds, and would like to have Ed. Hogan's picture of Fergus Falls, to hang on the wall after he has thrown him up to the ceiling a few times. E. M. is not a boaster, but very quite and unassuming. Catch as I can is my favorite way of getting subscribers and I think Mr. Jaranson is willing to admit that I am quite successful at that.

J. W. Rayson at present will get his Gazette at Lovell Po. but later on contemplates living in town. A young man like Mr. Rayson ought to make a win anywhere, and as the Irishman said, "there is no reason why he shouldn't."

Jo Moravec hesitated for sometime about going on the list, as his father had the same name, and he feared his Gazette might be miscarried; but as soon as the Sr. and Jr. abbreviations were made clear to him there was no further trouble.

C. F. Umbereit, who has been a resident here for twenty-two years said, "certainly I take The Gazette, why shouldn't I?" and he handed me two dollars as a guarantee that he means to continue it. The butcher business is his trade and he doesn't need any one to tell him what to do in that line. If every man was like Mr. Umbereit, Thief River Falls would not need even one policeman.

"Oh, no you'll not get me to take The Gazette, not in a thousand years," was the prompt response of a sharp spoken, active young man who stopped at the same hotel. The thousand years are not up yet and still H. R. Denson is a subscriber. I simply couldn't wait that long. H.R. is head line-man on the telephone and electric light system and when he has a line completed you can here him say "Hello boys" JUST as plain."

O. Jacobson, who recently came here to work in the realestate business, appears to be a hustler, having only time to say "Yes," and a few more short sentences. He his not a new man at the business, having been employed in the capacity of real estate agent for several years. Very few people find their way through the streets of Thief River Falls without O. J. knowing whether they want land or not.

Leo Kukluski, whom one of the papers dubbed "Pope Leo," has until recently tried to keep the peace in this place; but circumstances and others over whom he had ny control conspired to despose him from his position, but that doesn't make him feel hurt so much as the press article. In other words he doesn't believe in kicking a man when he his down. But they say difference in opinion is what makes horse races, so perhaps the other fellow thought he would make a run out of it. Anyhow Mr. Kukluski was very affable to me before and after, which speaks well for his even temperament.

At the post office I met M. J. Hughes, one of those O. K. millers responsible for the fine grade of flour turned out, which makes the O. K. a household word in nearly every farm house and hamlet. M. J. is one of those deep, quiet-spoken men who rarely if ever ventures an opinion unless asked, and when he does there's no use to look in the encyclopedia or refer to Hoyle. You will unvariably find his version correct. He only made a mistake in one assertion viz: he said when I first came that he wouldn't take the paper, but he does and it's paid for ahead. I wouldn't mind having a boarding house full of gentleman like Mr. Hughes, then I would be sure that things ware decidely off color, when he makes a kick, having boarded ont the better part of his life he knows what constitute right treatment and when it is received he usually tells folks of it. I like those "not in a thousand years men".

Having to sit between a disorderly and orderly at the table who kept me langhing so much that I couldn't eat I inquired their business and explained mine. The scholarly looking gentleman, Prof. Newman, a past master in the art of music, instrumental, who has classes at St. Hilaire and here, subscribed, and in his classic way said, "I am alright at the piano and other instrumental music but you certainly carry off the palm for chin music. The other man said "not yet."

Joseph Juneau whom any one can readily perceive is a Frenchman and a credit to his nation, said, "Yes, send it along. I am going up to Blackduck and the times I will have up there will not be reading enough." Mr. Juncau owns the Northern hotel. A new and up-to-date place in equipment in which any hustler can make money as it is located in the busiest part of the town, in close proximity to a large flour mill, also the lumber yard and saw mill. His reason for selling this modern twenty-three room house in such a good location is that he has enough of this world's good to keep him in comfort, and having no family is at home anywhere, and wishes to be free from looking after rented property. Anyone desirous of running a first-class hotel in a first-class town, where one is certainly needed, will no doubt no well to write Jo at Blackduck.

Being so close to the electric light plant whose brightness transforms the town from darkness to almost noonday glare, I thought it best to get acquainted with an electrician who could run a dyanmo and successfully furnish double the number of lights that it was suppose to carry. I found the place nice, neat and tidy. The head-engineer, Leonard Peterson, a good conversationalist and well-posted electrict expert, having been in the professional ranks for fifteen years and being an electrietrian among electricians, as his three brothers also follow that calling, he was able to explain readily any of the various points I wanted to know with the exception of one, end that was whether he needed the GAZETTE, to throw a little more light. After due reflection and nearly train time he decided in my favor, and you may be sure that the editor will be as pleased to racord his subscription as I wes to get it.

"Here! here!" exclaimed a sharp commanding voice, as I passed the livery barn of Turnville & Scribner, "are you going to leave town without putting me on the list?" "Not yet," I replied as I reached for his dollar. I guess any one going away from Thief River without bidding genial Will Rawley good bye is making a serious mistake, at least I would. Any time that Will don't use his friends right and have a pleasant look for strangers, telegraph the office and I will send you a year's subscription free. This includes newly married people as also those who contemplete marriage in the near future. Nothing personal in this, I hope.

I could not leave the Falls without placing Anson Scribner's name on the roll of honor, for Ans. is one of those people you read about, but seldom meet—always good-natured, free handed and sociable. No wonder he has a host of friends, and as many more among the travelling men who are sorry that he quit the hotel business.

Having received notice to leave town before I lost another overcoat, I looked up the eligible towns on my list and chose Wylie as my next point of vantage. Of course nearly every one takes The Gazette there, and the rest doubtless will. Consequently I will close this letter lest they learn of my intentions and have me side-tracked.

But I must not forget to mention one particular traveling man whom I frequently meet—E. M. Haagenson, a good natured Scandinavian. His common every day name is "Happy" or "Peanuts and Candy;" but he calls himself a prune peddler, and he certainly is a top notcher in his line, for I chanced to look over his order book and it would take a week to copy the orders, say nothing about getting them. Here's luck to you, Happy. If you don't receive The Gazette, still be happy; but Proctor of Crookston can gamble on the fact, if there is a prune famine it will not be E. M's. fault, for he will get up in the middle of the night to take an order.

A traveling saleman is generally conceded to be a prince of good fellows and my experience with those I have met has more than confirmed me in that belief. Always alive to the interests of their respective houses they never-the-less have a high sense of the fitness of things. Almost everyone in the working class envies the drummer, whose life seems to be one endless round of pleasure; but it is not all pie and cake on the road as I have found out by experience. Various disagreeable episodes are constantly confronting the travelling man, and if he is not made out of the sterner stuff and gets weary of well doing, he receives a telegram to come to at once; but gracious sake don't drive in. Not so with Prunes Finch, a companion to Happy in temperament, and as active a hustler for business in his line. One has to be the acme of ice cream if he doesn't find a friend in Prunes Finch, whose chief ambition is to follow out the teachings of the speculative minded Indianian in the Hoosier Schoolmaster who always made it a point. "While you're getting get enough," only Prunes in his order soliciting has changed that somewhat for while he is getting he gets them all and he is getting all the time, and also The Gazette.

One incident that I learned of up at Thief River struck me as rather humorous. It seems several years ago, or was it later? that the U. S. Goverment sent commissioners from Washington to look over the Red Lake reservation. The commissioners, some of them were evidently young fellows who believed in seeing the bright side of things, and of course there was several banquets, receptions, and the like among the more rafined of the quarter, halfs and full-breed Indians. One of the older and wiser chiefs who although the genuine article, was not a full Indian became jealous of his white brother's ability to entertain, and not hearing any talk of their immediate departura penned the following unique, brief but very expressive letter to Washington, D. C.

Dear Father at Washington

White man you sent no good. no work all play. heap flirt with Squaw all the time No want em Kum get em dem um."

This is simply hearsay and may be purely imagination. Don't know, can't say, care less.

Advertised Letters.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the postoffice at Red Lake Falls for the week ending Dec. 20, 1902:

Mrs. Laurea Polneo, Adolph Lemieux Frank Nichard.

If not called for in two weeks these letters will be sent to dead letter office as prescribed by law. In calling for the above please say "advertised."

E. F. Marshall, P. M.

Stealing Wood.

A liberal reward will be given for the conviction of any one cutting wood, without my authority, on the SW¼ 2-151-45, known as the Frank Goulett place.

P. B. Gaass.

20 per cent. reduction in price of shaving supplies for the holidays at Henry Kaufer's.

Death of Mrs. H. B. Kaufer.

Mrs. H. B. Kaufer died at the old homestead at 1:14 Wednesday morning after seven days' illness with paralysis. She was born in Baden, Germany, Jan. 15, 1829, and came to America at the age of one year with her parents, Phillip and Maria Otilia Fitterer May 14, 1854, she was married at Louisville, Ky., to H. B. Kaufer. She came to Minnesota in 1858 and to Red Lake Falls Oct. 19, 1882.

She was the mother of six children, all of whom survive—Henry J. Kaufer, L. A. Kaufer, Mrs. Adam Zeh, Mrs. J. F. Krost, Miss Tillie Kaufer and P. A. Kaufer. Her husband, H. B. Kaufer, survives, at the age of 82. Besides these there are 12 grandchildren and one greatgrandchild.

The funeral will be held Friday morning at 10:30 from St. Joseph's church.

Death of Mrs. Gertrude Koke.

Mrs. Gertrude Koke died Sunday morning at 1:30, of congestion of the lungs, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Salley. Mrs. Koke's illness was of but a week's duration, and her death was an ideal one, her eyes closing on the earthly scene as if she had peacefully fallen asleep. Mrs. Koke and her son Joseph, foreman of The Gazette office, had been keeping house in their cosy home on the North Side, but after she fell ill and on the Monday preceding her death, she was moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jos. Salley, where those who loved her so dearly could the more closely watch over her and administer to all her wants. She was conscious to the last, and passed away after having bidden her children an affectionate farewell.

Mrs. Koke was a noble character, and was beloved not only by her children, but by a large circle of friends, who will miss her sweet benevolent self more than words can tell.

The Gazette extends sincere sympathy to the bereaved ones, but especially to her son Joseph, who has been connected with this paper for over eight years. His mother was his inspiration, and it must be a sweet consolation for him now to meditate on the fact that it was always his cardinal aim to give her every comfort and satisfaction.

The funeral occurred yesterday from St. Mary's church.

Mrs. Gertrude Koke was born at Borck, Germany, April 16, 1840, and came to America in 1866. She was married in 1872 at North Washington, Iowa, to Henry Koke. There were six children of whom four are living—Francis, now Mrs. Fred Holzknecht; Ida, now Mrs. Jos. Salley; Bernard and Joseph.

Besides her children, Mr. Salley and Mr. Holzknecht, and her two sisters, Mrs. Bernard Rauh and Mrs. Michael Kern, of North Washington, were present at the funeral.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR CROUP.

[From the Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe.]

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by W. A. Schreiter's drug Store.

High School Notes.

(Too late for last week.)

State School Inspector Aiton visited school last week.

The Athenians received 38.9 points for their program which was rendered a week ago Friday. This makes the Athenians 13.65 points ahead of the Spartans.

Gilbert Westphal is attending school again after quite a long absence.

One of the H. S. girls remarked that she would be satisfied if she had only virgil and skating to live for. We grant that that would be an ideal existence.

That boy who drops matches on the labratory floor should not be suprised when he steps on them.

The next debate, Jan. 9, 1903 is, "Resolved that labor organizations are desirable."

That Higer Algebra class had better improve if they desire praise for their work.

The last program was witnessed by a number of visitors.

The Spartans have the affirmetive side of the next debate.

The Civics class after a general vote decided that they did not care for "goose eggs."

The other morning some of the juniors on reaching the Laboretory were surprised at a sign reading: "Keep the desks clean." After due consideration the juniors returned this verdict "Not guilty."

Election officers last Friday for the H S. O. The result:

Norman Schreiter, Pres.
Tom McNerthney, vice Pres.
Iza Tibbitts, Sec.
Gilbert Westphal, S. at arms.
Society spirt was high.

No H. S. notes last week on account of a forgetful reporter.

Book-keeping class are having examination this week.

The H. S. is again practicing Xmas songs.

The Clearwater river was overflowed and the skating was fine.

The Senior class had a test in English Frid. A. M. They claim that it was easy but they may not be able to keep good the claim.

We are all very cheerful this week. Perhaps it is the expectancy of coming vacation.

The late fall of snow has encouraged sleigh rides and coasting parties.

The Seniors were asked Monday how many test tubes had been broken by them, they answered "none", but a number were missing so they said "Rember the Juniors use this labratory also."

When the question was asked of the H. S. How many believe in Santa Claus a number raised their hands and they were not Freshmen either.

Should a person inspect the cloak room he would find wraps, shinny clubs and skates.

Although Red Lake Falls is not in the debating league this year, it interests us to know that Crookston won the Ada vs. Crookston debate, and Fergus Falls won the Barnsville vs. Fergus Falls debate. It is reported material of Fergus Falls is just as good as it was last year. We presume that Crookston debated almost as well as they did last year.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

CRISIS IN VENEZUELA.

The blockade of Venezuelan ports was begun with an effective force at midnight Saturday night.

In the name of Venezuela President Castro has signified acceptance of the appointment of President Roosevelt to arbitrate the Venezuelan difficulty.

The Italian minister, Signor de Riva, has left Caracas. Italian interests in Venezuela have been placed in the hands of United States Minister Bowen.

The Dutch minister to Venezuela, Dr. Van Leyden, has been recalled and Dutch interests in Venezuela have been committed to United States Minister Bowen.

The German cruiser Falke, which has been anchored at the entrance of Lake Maracaibo, has captured the Venezuela schooner Victoria. After cutting down her mast, thus disabling her, the Germans abandoned the vessel.

In connection with the Venezuelan question the German foreign office has authorized the following statement: "Germany never intended in the past, and does not purpose in the future, to infringe on the Monroe doctrine in the slightest respect."

It is reported at Port au Prince, Trinidad, that the Venezuelan revolutionary generals, Penaloza, Rolando, Riero and Solague, with a force said to number 10,000 men, are marching on Caracas and are believed now to be near that city.

Aside from the financial claims mentioned in her ultimatum Germany expects some form of apology from Venezuela for the diplomatic insults which the foreign office says are more serious and more gross than those of which Great Britain complains.

President Roosevelt has proposed to the allied powers that the Venezuelan dispute be submitted to the arbitration of The Hague tribunal. The powers have replied with a counter proposal that President Roosevelt himself arbitrate the issues. The president does not desire to act but may accept in order to prevent bloodshed.

The Spanish minister to Venezuela, Signor Gaytan de Ayala, and the Belgium charge d'affaires, M. Van der Heyde, have presented a joint letter to the Venezuelan minister of foreign affairs in which they ask, in case the claims of foreign powers are paid by Venezuela, that the same treatment given these powers be accorded to Spain and Belgium.

United States Minister Bowen has been named by President Castro as sole representative of Venezuela in the matter of effecting a settlement of the present difficulty with the European powers. According to the terms of his appointment Mr. Bowen may act without restriction, and he is to use all means possible to protect the interests of Venezuela.

Secretary Hay has received partial responses from the governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy, respecting the proposal to arbitrate the Venezuelan difficulties. Great Britain is favorable to arbitration with proper safeguards; Germany accepts arbitration in principle, but finds a multitude of small adjustments to be made before entering into the agreement; Italy, as the junior partner of the allies, declares that she is favorable to arbitration, but will be bound probably by the action of the senior partners.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Chilean cabinet has resigned after being in power ten days.

The Humbert family, alleged French swindlers, have been captured in Madrid.

The Prussian bundesrath has approved the tariff bill in the form in which it passed its third reading in the reichstag.

Twenty-four Macedonian workmen who were returning to their own country have been killed by Turkish frontier guards near Dubnitza.

General Nord, having been proclaimed president of Hayti by the army, has taken possession of the national palace at Port au Prince.

It is announced from Seoul, Korea, that the United States minister has demanded the payment of $1,500,000 due to the builders of the electric railroad.

The French authorities have become convinced that the death of Mrs. Ellen Gore at Paris was accidental and have decided to drop the case against M. de Rydzewski.

The British parliament has been prorogued until Feb. 17. The king's speech was an unusually long recapitulation of public events since January, including the action taken in connection with Venezuela.

General Saint Foix Colin, minister of the interior and opponent of General Nord in the contest for the presidency of Hayti, has sought refuge in the United States legation. There has been much firing in Port au Prince and a state of great excitement prevails.

Three officials, 2 soldiers and 150 natives, mostly children, were killed by an earthquake which destroyed the town of Andijan, Russian Central Asia. In addition 300 natives and 17 soldiers were injured and 9,000 houses of natives and 130 Russian residences were destroyed.

The grand jury summoned to consider the indictment of Colonel Arthur Lynch, member of parliament for Galway, who was arrested June 11 on the charge of high treason in connection with the part he took in the South African war, where he is alleged to have commanded the Irish brigade, has returned a true bill against the defendant.

PHILIPPINE NEWS.

The roundup of ladrones in Rizal province is proceeding. A large force of constabulary is in the field and the Manila police are co-operating with it.

SPORTING NEWS.

Governor Bliss of Michigan will not permit the McGovern-Corbett fight, which was to have been held in Detroit next month.

UNFORTUNATE EVENTS.

Fire at Knoxville, Tenn., caused a loss of $1,000,000.

The steamer John C. Hall and her crew of nine have been lost on Lake Ontario.

Heavy snow storms in Wyoming have completely shut off all grazing for livestock.

Six miners were crushed to death in a coal mine at Inman, Va., while pulling down some pillars.

Three women were perhaps fatally injured and fifty-seven other passengers, mostly women, were bruised and badly shaken up in a trolley car accident in Weehawken, N. Y.

According to dispatches from Hungary sixty-three persons were frozen to death there in three days. Wolves are devastating the sheepfolds and have devoured three shepherds.

Consequent on the continued rainfall very great damage has been done and thirty-three persons drowned at Tamis, a village in the Cape Bon district of Italy, which was suddenly inundated.

By the explosion of a gas tank at Fort Lee, N. J., the residence of John Puglughi was demolished, his six children instantly killed, and his wife so seriously injured that her recovery is despaired of.

In collision of steamers in Massachusetts bay ten men of both vessels were drowned, the balance, fifteen, took to one boat. Three subsequently went insane and jumped overboard, two died from exposure and two went insane after getting ashore.

As a result of a rear-end collision between the Stockton flyer and the "owl" train on the Southern Pacific at Byron, Cal., twenty deaths have already been recorded. Most of the passengers who were too severely injured to be taken to their homes were taken to the Southern Pacific hospital at San Francisco and on the way to that place five victims died.

CONGRESSIONAL DOINGS.

The house has passed the pure food bill.

The senate has passed the pension and urgent deficiency appropriation bills.

The senate has laid aside the omnibus statehood bill until after the holidays.

The senate committee on education and labor has agreed upon a favorable report of the house eight-hour bill. Many amendments have been made.

The house adopted an amendment to the legislative appropriation bill making $500,000 immediately available for the prosecution of violators of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The house has passed the bill to reduce the duties on the products of the Philippine islands coming into the United States from 75 per cent of the Dingley rates (the present duties) to 25 per cent of those rates.

The house committee on interstate commerce has ordered a favorable report on the department of commerce bill. The vote on reporting it stood 5 to 3. The provision for including the bureau of labor in the new department was retained on a tie vote.

The senate committee on the Philippines has agreed upon a bill for the establishing of a currency for the Philippines. The bill makes the gold peso of 12 9-10 grains the unit of value in the islands and makes the gold coin of the United States legal tender for all debts.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

The canal treaty with Colombia is nearing completion.

A material increase in the number of cases of pneumonia and severe colds among the people of Washington is attributed to the coal famine, according to a number of physicians.

It is stated at the war department that General Chaffee will succeed General Young as lieutenant general of the army upon the retirement of General Young, who will succeed General Miles.

The president has sent to the senate the reciprocity treaty recently negotiated between the United States and Cuba. The treaty was received by the senate in executive session and was referred to the committee on foreign relations without being read.

Secretary Root has announced that he has decided to accept the bid of the Boston Steamship company, so far as it affects the transportation of troops and military supplies between the United States and the Philippines which are sent or received by way of either Seattle or Tacoma.

LABOR NEWS.

The Marseilles shipping strike has ended.

The coal strike commission has adjourned to Jan. 6, 1903.

Demands for an increase of 40 per cent in pay have been made by conductors and brakemen of forty Western roads.

Increases in wages amounting to $600,000 a year are to be granted the locomotive engineers and firemen employed by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and its branch lines. The new scale will go into effect Jan. 1.

The coal strike commission on Thursday listened to testimony tending to show that a reign of terror existed in the anthracite coal fields during the five and a half months of the miners' strike. About a score of witnesses were called during the two sessions by the attorneys for the nonunion men.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

December corn slumped almost 6 cents on the Chicago board of trade Wednesday.

The street railways of Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs have been consolidated.

The United States Steel corporation has purchased the Union and Sharon plants of the Union Steel company near Pittsburg. The transaction involves a sum of $45,000,000.

Officials of the Reading Railroad company hold out no hope for relief in the anthracite coal stringency in this winter, despite the efforts of the companies to mine and ship to their full capacity.

OUR COUNTRY NEIGHBORS

WYLIE.

Wm. Tysseling returned Friday from a trip to his old home in Iowa.

Hjalmar Johnson transacted business at the county seat Monday.

Miss Olga Thompson was a passenger for Thief River Falls Saturday.

Dr. Langevin, of Crookston, was here Monday on professional business.

Albert Power and Oliver Romsos drove to Red Lake Falls Thursday.

Miss Gertie Melin returned Saturday from Casselton, N. D. to spend Christmas at home.

George Fink is advertising an auction sale at his place on section 10, Polk Centre on December 29.

Mrs. Alberts, of Crookston, was visiting her mother and brothers last week. She returned home Thursday.

Miss Agnes McKernoy left Saturday for Badger for a visit with her sister Nollie, who is teaching school there.

Oscar Noplin returned Saturday from St, Peter, where he is attending college, to spend Christmas at the parental fireside.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossen, of Euclid, and Ludolf Geese of Tabor, were here Friday attending the Knaack-Schultz wedding.

Wm. Ingram, who came here with Amos Hluer and has been assisting in getting the new home in shape, returned Thursday to Chokio.

Miss Mattie Wylie left Tuesday for Cut Bank, Montana, where she will be married to Fred Krauter, of Newport Washington. Miss Wylie was a popular young lady of our town where she has grown up from childhood, and her many friends here join in wishing the couple a long and happy married life. Mr. Krauter is a popular and successful merchant of Newport.

On Friday at the German Lutheran church occurred the wedding of Mr. Alexander Knaack to Miss Hulda Schultz, Rev. Vol Kern officiating. Misses Vina Schultz and Alvina Gother were brides maids, while Herman Schultz and Fred C. Leppert acted as best men. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Schultz, where an elegant wedding dinner was served. A large number of guests were present, who were royally entertained. The bridal couple were the recipients of many valuable presents. The bride is a popular young lady, grown up from childhood to womanhood here. The groom recently moved here from the southern part of the state, and has made many friends through his quiet and unpretentious manners. They have hosts of friends who wish them the greatest success and blessings through life.

GRIT.

A merry Christmas to you all.

Miss Vatendal is expected home from Grand Forks this week.

A nice snow fell last Friday that will make the best of sleighing.

Ben Kviste was to Red Lake Falls on a business mission last week.

Henry Compton and your correspondent were to McIntosh last Saturday.

Mrs. Torgerson returned from Fosston last Monday after a two weeks' stay. Tom turned the cakes while she was away.

Frank Compton and his daughter Mary have moved to McIntosh for the winter in order to get the benefit of the better school.

Again the merry Christmas bells are ringing, and we have passed another mile post in our lives' career, though scarsely realizing it. But still another, wrinkle has formed upon our care worn brow, and the foot prints that we have left upon the dieing year are about to be recorded in the pages of history, where he can trace them in the after years, in silent moments, when your thoughts wander back and awaken in memory the slumbering joys of the past. Therefore let us be merry and make good cheer, for Christmas comes but once a year.

(To late for last week.)

J. B. Hebert was at the county seat last week on business.

Every thing is quite now in our neighborhood for most of the boys have gone to the lumber camps.

Mrs. F. Desautel has been quite seriously ill since the past six days but is now improving.

Next week will be given the names of the officers elected for the coming year in the Poplar River Cheese Factory Association.

Last week Donat Lambert came down from his lumber camp, with the dead body of his youngest child, a boy three and one half years old. About eight days ago when the family left for the lumber camps, all were in perfect health, but before they reached their destination the child got sick and died. Mr. and Mrs. Lambert have a host of friends who sympathize with them in their bereavement.

A NATIONAL SURPRISE IN STOEE AT ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis is preparing for the world in 1904 very much such another surprise as Chicago did with the World's Columbian exposition in 1893. We all remember how throughout the United States even the stories of the rise of the enchanting White City at Jackson Park were received with incredulity not unmixed with scorn. Not all the efforts of the best bureau o publicity ever organized, which scattered its descriptive literature to the uttermost parts of the earth, sufficed to excite the world's curiosity as the dream of classic beauty that was being transformed into modern reality by the side of Lake Michigan.

Not until the gates were opened and the visitors who came prepared to criticise returned to their homes enthusiastic with stories of delighted visions almost beyond belief was a tardy interest aroused on the other side of the Alleghanies in the World's Columbian Exposition.

We also remember how disappointing was the attendance during the months of May, June and July. After the opening day the 100,000 mark was not reached until Decoration day, and the average daily attendance of the first month was below 40,000.

And now the same golden wand that summoned the White City from the sands of Jackson Park is working its potent charms over the hills and undulating plains of Forest Park, while the people of the United States shake their heads over the claims that the Louisana Purchase Exposition will surpass all expositions that preceded it, even as the Columbian Exposition did.

But to the eye that saw the latter grow from a disheartening confusion of sand hills, marsh and scrub oak into a panorama of exquisite and haunting beauty the work at Forest Park has reached a condition where imagination can fill in a companion picture full of grateful resemblance and rich in striking contrasts.

Profiting everywhere by the lessons of Chicago's experiences, the promoters of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition have also the advantage of greater financial resources and a site of unrivaled dimensions. We had about $13,000,000 to work upon; they have $15,000,000, and the United States will spend about $1,500,000 more on its own exhibit. We had only 633 acres; they have 1,180, covering a parallelogram about one mile wide by two long. We had Lake Michigan; they have an amphitheater of hills. We had "Dan" Burnham; they have ex-Governor Francis.

In every respect, saving the always fascinating background of the lake, the topography of the Forest Park, with its hills rising 50 to 70 feet above the mean level, is superior to the natural conditions at Jackson Park, and the landscape architects of the coming exposition have availed themselves of its most effective features. Looking across it to-day from the permanent administration buildings the spectator has no doubt that out of the chaos of mud, lumber, skeletons of giant buildings and half staved palaces there will emerge a scene of bewildering loveliness.—Chicago Record.

A CHRISTMAS CRIME

A Yuletide Tale of Two Homes

RIDGEWOOD had a thief! When I, Detective Martinet of the metropolitan secret service, was called out there, I found the town in a state of excitement over the robberies. The principal ones had taken place in the mansion of Colonel Payne, the richest man in Ridgewood.

There had been four burglaries at the Payne mansion. The first night silver was taken—small pieces consisting of spoons, forks, after dinner coffees and knives.

The second night a small rocking chair disappeared and several velvet covered footstools and nice little articles of bric-a-brac designed for Christmas gifts. The third night all the children's Christmas toys that had been carefully stored away in a Santa Claus cupboard by Colonel Payne and his wife, ready for Christmas eve, disappeared, and the fourth night the cellar was pillaged of its wine and fruits.

"Looks as if it was somebody inside the house," said the colonel after we had been over the ground pretty well.

"Not exactly," said I, "or why would they take a rocking chair?"

The party that accompanied me through the house consisted of the colonel and his wife, the oldest daughter, a girl of fifteen, and the colonel's private secretary, William Winter.

"I NEVER SAW ANYTHING SO LOVELY."

"This is the window they got in at the first night," said Winter, pointing to a bay window on the ground floor leading out of the dining room. "And this is the one they got in at the other nights," pointing to another big window that was in the staircase hall alongside the front door.

"Why didn't they always enter at the same window?" I asked carelessly.

"That's what bothers me," said Winter, "but you can go see for yourself that they didn't," pointing to trampled places under both of the windows.

"You see it was this way," said the colonel. "We were greatly alarmed the first night when the silver was taken, and we set a watch over the things. From that night to the present this house has been steadily guarded from the inside every night, from dark until daylight. And yet we have had three robberies during that time. It is the strangest thing I ever saw, and I'd give $500 to catch the burglars."

"Are they operating anywhere else in Ridgewood?"

"Yes," said Winter promptly, "they tried to steal some things out of the church last night, and a week ago they broke into the office of the gas company."

"Are you familiar there?" I asked.

"Yes," said Winter.

"One thing more, colonel, before I go," I said. "Will you tell me the name of the person who was on guard in your house the last three nights?"

"I was the person," said Winter.

"All right, colonel," I said. "I am going back to the city today to stay about a week, but I will be back Christmas eve, and then I will look up your thief for you. And, by the way, you might get ready for your Christmas tree, for I expect to give you all your things back in time for your Christmas celebration."

The colonel looked skeptical and Winter shook his head sadly.

"Don't you think you had better stay here if you are going to look for him?" asked the colonel.

"No," I said. "It isn't necessary. Good day, you can look for me Christmas eve."

I said goodby, but I didn't leave Ridgewood after all. I only went away far enough to hide myself in a certain little hotel in the little town, and there I waited and watched—did as slick detective work as I ever did in my life, even in a big city on the biggest robbery I ever had.

Christmas eve found me, not in the colonel's home, but out in the cold, frosty air, looking into the window of a little cottage. The cottage was the end one in a row of wooden houses, each with a grass plot around it. It belonged to William Winter, private secretary to Colonel Payne; and in the cottage lived Winter and his wife and Winter's wife's mother; also six little Winters varying in age all the way from four to twelve years.

"I never saw anything so lovely in all my life, papa," the oldest Winter girl was saying as I pressed my nose against the glass and peered in through the narrow strip between the window sash and the casement.

There inside of the room stood a little Christmas tree upon a big box, and upon the tree and all around the foot of it stood dozens of beautiful Christmas gifts. Such a Christmas tree you never saw! There were little things in silver—spoons, forks, after dinner coffees and knives, and there was a rocking chair, also several little footstools and little articles of bric-a-brac, all newly covered with cheap chintz. And there were toys. Oh, so many toys! And upon the table at the side of the tree stood the best of wines and Christmas fruits.

"How sweet of you, Will!" Winter's pretty wife said as she threw her arms around his neck and kissed him. "How did you ever guess that I wanted all those silver things for the table?"

"And did any one ever see such a son-in-law?" cried the old lady as her eyes fell upon the table with the wine and fruits.

"I have got the goodest papa in the world," yelled the six year old, while the others chimed in "Yeth" as they made a dive for the toys.

"I could sit in this rocking chair for a week," murmured Winter's wife, rocking herself back and forth with her foot on the gayly covered footstool. "If it wasn't that I felt as if I wanted to get up and kiss you again," she said to Winter for the twentieth time as she looked around.

"Now go to bed, all of you," cried Winter, "and something extra for the one who starts first. Don't let me hear a word from you again until tomorrow morning at breakfast, and then we'll have Christmas all day."

He hustled them out of the room, and when I tapped on the door there was no one left downstairs to open it but he.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" I asked, stepping into the room and pointing to all the Christmas things.

"I don't know," said he, dropping down by the table and hiding his face in his hands. "I don't know, I am sure. It will kill her if you tell her."

"What made you take them?" I asked.

"Because he's got so much he doesn't know what to do with it," said Winter. "So I took them all easy like and thought it would blow over in a few days. You see, we have so many babies in our family," he added, "that there wasn't much left this year for Christmas, and the children have been talking about it every day for the last three months. It broke my heart to think I'd have to disappoint them, so I did the best I could for them."

"You watched the house all night for the colonel, did you?"

"Yes, except for about an hour; long enough to slip over here with an armful."

"Well, what are you going to do about it?"

"God knows; I don't," he repeated. "It will kill her if you tell her."

"Do you want me to arrest you tonight, or will you wait until morning?"

"Christmas day!" he exclaimed, breaking down and beginning to cry like a baby. "I know I'm a wretch. Only kill me—do anything; but don't tell her."

It might have been that the spirit of Christmas was in the air. Perhaps the thought of those six little children and that sweet faced wife had a stronger influence than they should have had over a detective's heart. But I said to him, "Well, bundle up the things and come along with me, and we'll see what we can do about it."

We looked like two Santa Clauses ourselves as we slipped along the streets, choosing bylanes and cross paths to the Payne residence.

We got into the triangular lawn by a rear path and stole softly up to the house. There was the dining room brilliantly lighted and in the middle stood a tree all bare and waiting for gifts, just as I told the colonel to arrange it.

There was no one in the room, and after I had pried up the sash we stole in together. There was only just time to drop our packages on the floor at the foot of the tree and to rush away again before the colonel's daughter came in.

"Oh, papa," she cried, "here are some presents for us."

But I heard no more just then, for I was busy helping poor Winter get away. An hour later I rang the colonel's front door bell. He opened the door himself.

"Come right in," said he. "I guess you are a wizard tonight. Just after we got the Christmas tree set up and while we were upstairs getting our presents together to hang on the tree the thief came back and left the Christmas presents."

"Everything there?" I asked.

"Everything," said he, "down to the last teaspoon. We have counted them all. Poor fellow, he must have had a guilty conscience, and when it came Christmas eve he squared it with himself by sending back all he had stolen."

"Strange!" said I.

"Very strange," said the colonel. "I'd like, if I knew who the thief was, to send him something for a Christmas present, just as a reward for his conscience. As it is I ask you, detective, not to look him up. He has evidently turned over a new leaf this Christmas eve."

"Evidently," said I.

"Now, detective," said the colonel, "I am going to ask you to stay with us over Christmas and enjoy a nice holiday. And so that we can all have an extra fine day I am going to send one of the boys over to Winter's house tonight with these things so that he can have a merry Christmas as well as the rest of us."—Minneapolis Tribune.

Bronchitis

"I have kept Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my house for a great many years. It is the best medicine in the world for coughs and colds."
J. C. Williams, Attica, N. Y.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.
I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials,

NEW YEAR'S AT BLUE RIDGE

"SPEAKING of New Year's," said the Nevadian, "I always call to mind this time of year the blowoff we boys give a young doctor chap who came up to Blue Ridge just at the time that camp was the liveliest, to which I might add that though the days of the Ridge was few in the land, as the book says, while it did last there was no camp on the Pacific slope from Puget sound to the Rio Grande that could furnish as much fun in a week as transpired in Blue Ridge every twenty-four hours.

"But the sport didn't need no medicine. It was not, as you might say, a sickly neighborhood, which it seems peculiar to remark, seeing us how we had the most likely looking graveyard, considering the population, as you would find in all the Sierras. But the gents as populated the graveyard was mostly a lively and healthy lot up to and inclusive of the moment of their demise.

PLANNING A SURPRISE FOR THE DOCTOR.

"That's what the boys was speaking of when the doctor came into camp.

"Long Bill remarked to me that the boys who was hurt ought to make an effort to last until the doctor could arrive, which would give him a legal claim on any dust they might leave. He was just the kind of a chap for the camp if so it had been that there was any trade for him, for he was quiet, nervy, had more book learning than the editor and was cheerful and obliging, especially obliging, for he preached a beautiful sermon over the late dealer at the faro bank, though the said dealer had died of his wounds before Doc arrived.

"Some said as how we ought to send down in the valley where they were all shaking eternally with malaria and import a bunch of the shakers for Doc to practice on and pay him so much for the cleanup. He laughed when we proposed this and said it would be unprofessional, because he knew the party as had the practice in the valley.

"Then we proposed that thereafter, any party dying of his wounds before the Doc could arrive, the said party's effects should be levied upon for a fee to be paid to Doc.

"All the boys agreed to that, and we got so worked up over the prospect that a disagreement resulted that very night, in which a Wells-Fargo shotgun messenger blew all the Latin parts out of a friend with a ten gauge duck gun, which the same, for purposes of stage robbers, was of a sawed off character. The party as was shot was mostly missing between his hips and his chest, the remains being only two-thirds, but we joyfully sent for Doc just the same.

"Well, he came, and when he saw the state of the case he said as he wasn't an undertaker he couldn't be of any service.

"Then we told him of the new rule and offered him the pile of the deceased, which was in a canvas sack behind the bar. He wouldn't take it, not even a sample for assay, and the disappointment of the boys was sad to see, especially the shotgun messenger, whose intentions had done honor to his heart and aim.

"It was a few days before New Year's that the editor showed us a piece in a San Francisco paper, which was a kind of local notice, stating that our Doc was going to be married to a lady in that city. That sets us thinking, and we thought harder than ever when the Doc tells us that he was going to leave us on New Year's day to take up his practice in San Francisco. We held a meeting and discussed the state of affairs, having a pretty good idea of how the land lay financially with Doc, because his money was on deposit with the express agent and he was chairman of our meeting.

"Well, at that meeting we laid out a plan that worked as slick as a diamond drill. On the day before New Year's Doc was sent for by Long Bill, who told him his old rheumatiz was working again like a forty stamp quartz mill. Doc prescribed, and when Bill asked what was the ante Doc said it would be $5. Bill said he'd hand it to him when he bid him goodby at the stage office next day. Then I sent for Doc and said that old bullet wound in my leg was on strike again, took my prescription and promised to pay next day.

"I don't suppose any doctor in the world ever had as busy a day as ours did that day. It seemed like every man in camp was sick. There was trouble about noon because the boys ran out of names of diseases, but I went up to Doc's office and copied out a lot of names from one of his books, and then we kept things booming. Some of the younger boys got stuck on the names of sicknesses I dealt out to them to make a choice from and played the whole deck, which seemed to puzzle Doc somewhat.

"Well, the next day we met and marched around to the stage about starting time, and there was Doc, looking a little worried, but he looked a lot more surprised when he saw all his patients so callish.

"We gave him a sendoff and an envelope.

"Did you ask what was in the envelope? I disremember the odd dollars, but it was enough over $5,000 to leave him that clear after he had paid his expenses down to the bay."—New York Journal.

HOLIDAY DECORATIONS.

Old Fashioned Greens Were Rosemary, Ivy and Bay.

The old fashioned holiday greens were rosemary, ivy and bay, but in the 2,000 tons of wreathing and decorating material which it is estimated that we now use every year there is a much greater variety. Best loved of all is the glossy red berried holly. "Holm" was the old English name for it, and it is thought to be identical with the "greenwood tree" of British ballads and of Robin Hood fame. On our side of the Atlantic the American holly, Ilex opaca, is found from Maine, where it grows as a shrub, to North and South Carolina, where it lifts a symmetrical cone of dark, shining leaves set with scarlet berry clusters along a beautiful trunk of gray and silver to the height of seventy or eighty feet.

Delaware and Maryland are usually credited with furnishing the best grades of holly to the holiday market, but their "Three X" brand, as seen after shipment to northern cities, is not so finely berried as the Carolina holly, plentiful in the regions around Asheville.—Country Life in America.

New Year's Calls.

New Year's calling in New York was purely the outgrowth of an early Dutch custom, yet strangely enough many of the descendants of the early Dutch settlers fought against the continuance of a practice which they declared had long since passed beyond the bounds to which the fathers limited it and had been made the excuse for great excesses on a day which ought to be given over to the forming of good resolutions.

In the early days of Manhattan Island the male Dutch settlers every New Year's day started out as a matter of duty to visit the houses of all their friends. The good wives who received them were arrayed in their Sunday finest and had bowls of steaming hot punch upon the "best room" table. The latter day Dutch descendants denied the punch and said it was coffee. The irreverent latter day champions of New Year's calling denied the punch also and told their opponents that their forefathers would not know a punch if they saw it and that they drank nothing but ill smelling hot gin.

Whatever it was that the good burghers drank, they succeeded in calling within the compass of the day upon every family of any note on Manhattan Island.

A New Year's Cyclone.

Is that a cyclone ragin'?
  Is the roof a-tumblin' down?
Is that a earthquake shakin'
  All the winders in town?
Is that the river roarin'
  Above its banks of green?
Has Gabriel blowed his trumpet
  To make the dead serene?

They stood and heard in terror
  While loud the noise arose,
Like the warwhoops of the Indians,
  The shouts of foreign foes,
But a voice brought better comfort
  (Let not the sainted scoff):
"Thar ain't a bit of trouble;
  That's daddy swearin' off!"
—Atlanta Constitution.

A Time of Peril.

Clarissa—I'm always glad when New Year's day is safely over.

Fidelia—Yes; it is a saddening anniversary.

Clarissa—Oh, I don't mean that. Clarence and I always have a horrid quarrel suggesting improvements in each other's conduct.

To 'Noughty-two.

Come in, New Year, come in, come in;
Don't stand out there in the cold and grin.
Put on some clothes; your legs are bare;
You haven't half enough to wear.
The old man's gone; the coast is clear;
The world's your oyster, kid New Year!
—Chicago Tribune.

Stock on Hand.

Bradds—Going to make any new resolutions this year, Spikes?

Spikes—New ones? I should say not. I've got a lot of old ones I've never used, by Jove!

Wreckage.

Break, break, break—
  No, not the waves of the sea—
Only the resolutions
  That the foolish made, ah, me!
—S. E. Kiser.

As Good as New.

"How about those good resolutions you made the first of the year?"

"Oh, they are still good."—Smart Set.

Foolish Resolutions.

The New Year's vows that Perkins made
  To keep will prove a strain.
He vowed to shave himself this year
  And use not words profane.

FACTS ABOUT FEET.

The typical Irish foot is flat, rather broad and not usually long.

The Frenchman's foot is proverbially long, narrow and well proportioned.

The Scotchman's foot is high and thick, strong, muscular and capable of hard work.

The Tartar's foot is short and heavy, the foot of a certain type of savage, and the toes are all the same length.

The Englishman's foot is in most cases short and rather fleshy and not as a rule as strong as proportionately it should be.

The Russian's foot possesses at least one peculiarity which is worth noticing. The toes are generally "webbed" to the first joint.

The Spaniard's foot is generally small and, thanks to the Moorish blood which flows in the veins of most Spaniards, elegantly curved.

The latest measurements seem to show that America is in the process of developing a race with the smallest feet among all the civilized nations.

The Teutonic and Scandinavian nations appear to have the largest feet, Swedes, Norwegians and Germans standing in this respect at the head of the list.

The Arab's foot is famous for its high arch, whereby a true Arab may, indeed, always be known, the Koran saying that a stream of water can run under the foot without touching it.

Seemed to Have Got Out.

A Chicago man on his summer vacation went to a Wisconsin lake resort and one day became engaged in conversation with the proprietor. He commented on the attractiveness of the surroundings and finally asked the hotel keeper how many acres there were in the property.

"About forty," replied the proprietor.

"I see there is another resort a short distance north of you. Who owns that?"

"The Widder Simmons."

"You and she join, do you not?"

The landlord's sunburned face turned a shade or two redder.

"We're expecting to next October," he said, "but I didn't think anybody'd found it out yet."

French Coffee.

The delicious flavor which all travelers in France discover in the coffee of that country is got, it is said, by the addition of a little butter and sugar during the roasting process. To every three pounds of roasting berries a tablespoonful each of butter and powdered sugar is added. These in melting spread over the beans in a thin coating, which holds the aroma and contributes a caramel flavor that is delicious and distinctive.—Harper's Bazar.

NEW YEAR'S IN RUSSIA

In the smaller cities of Russia New Year's day is in the Twelve Days' festival. The Russians in many parts have held to the old ways from time immemorial. The preparations for the season begin early in November. The host of some great house begins to lay in stores of salted beef and sausages, liqueurs, etc. The hostess calls on all her friends and invites young and old. Next day she is succeeded by the nurse, who makes the same rounds of visits. Her duty is to invite especially the young ladies. She is hailed with joy, and the lady of the house hastens to mix for her the cup of wine. She delivers her errand and is plied with questions as to the invited and rejected. But the most important question is, "Who are the elected?" These are the young men invited by the hostess for the girls, or "fair maidens," as they are called. The duty of the young man thus designated is to look after the amusement and pleasure of his "fair maiden" during the "twelve days." The responsibility of the choice lying with the hostess, she has to be careful in her selection.

But the invitation has again to be repeated, this time by the master of the house in the person of his servant, or "swat," who, with mace in hand, performs his mission. On entering each house he offers a prayer before the shrine of the saint to which it is dedicated. He then delivers the invitation in the name of his master and mistress. At first, according to etiquette, the invitation is refused, but after much pressing it is finally accepted. When the day arrives, the young ladies who are the heroines of the season appear in a sledge accompanied by their mother and favorite companion, generally a girl of inferior rank, who sits at their feet. This sledge is followed by another containing tirewomen charged with caskets and dressing boxes. Other sledges follow—the longer the procession the greater honor to the house visited. On the arrival the host and hostess meet the guests at the gate, bow without speaking and conduct them into the house.—New York World.

Self Approval.

"Have you kept your New Year's resolutions?"

"Yes, I have faithfully kept a New Year's resolution that I made three or four years ago."

"What was it?"

"Never to make any more resolutions."—Washington Star.

An Arrested Intelligence.

"Charlie Binks isn't as slow as he seems."

"How is that?"

"He woke up yesterday and asked what year it is."

His Happy Calls.

Wilkins—How many calls did you make yesterday?

Dilkins—Three, and, say, it was the best game of poker I ever sat in!

THE OLD and THE NEW

The New Year came to the Old Year's door
When the sands were wasting thin,
And the frost lay white on the Old Year's thatch,
And his hand grew chill as he slipped the latch
To let the New Year in.

And the New Year perched in the Old Year's chair
And warmed by the Old Year's fire,
And the Old Year watched him with wistful gaze
As he stretched his hands to the fading blaze
And cinders of dead desire.

And the Old Year prated, as Old Years will,
Of summer and vanished spring,
And then of the future, with grave advice,
Of love and sorrow and sacrifice
That the seasons' round would bring.

And the New Year listened and warmed his heart
In the bloom of the Old Year's past,
But he gave no heed of the thorns that lay
In the bud and blow of a coming day,
And, nodding, he dreamed at last.

The New Year came to the Old Year's door
And warmed in the Old Year's chair,
And the Old Year talked till the New Year slept,
Then forth in the night he softly stepped
And left the New Year there.

ORDERS NEW TRIALS

SUPREME COURT REVERSES DECISIONS IN MINNEAPOLIS CORRUPTION CASES.

Officers Raid a Hennepin County Counterfeiting Plant—Fort Snelling to Be Considerably Enlarged—C. D. Gilfillan, a Pioneer Minnesotan, Dead at St. Paul—News of the State in General.

St. Paul, Dec. 20.—The supreme court has reversed the verdict in the Hennepin district court sentencing Irwin A. Gardner to a term of six years in the state penitentiary.

Gardner was a special officer of Mayor Ames, and, it was alleged, that his special duty was to collect money from "big mitt" men, guaranteeing them police protection.

One of the principal witnesses against him was the confessed "big mitt" man, Edwards. The ground of the reversal is the use of testimony in the trial court given by Gardner when summoned before the grand jury.

The bribery case of the late John Fitchette—"Coffee John"—is also reversed on the ground that non-admissible evidence was accepted by the lower court. Fitchette had been sentenced to ninety days in the workhouse for taking a bribe to secure a man a position as a policeman.

The court is unanimous in both decisions.

SEIZE A PRIVATE MINT.

Officers Secure a Counterfeiting Plant at Maple Grove, Minn.

Minneapolis, Dec. 17.—United States Deputy Marshal William H. Grimshaw, Jr., and Detective Hicks of Minneapolis seized the counterfeiting plant of Andrew Schroeder near Maple Grove, after a hurried drive of seventeen miles through a blinding snowstorm, during the morning.

A complete counterfeiter's outfit, including three plaster of paris molds for dollars, composition for making these molds, a bar of lead, glass, a dipper, a carpenter's square and files for milling the edges of the coins, was found in the room to which Schroeder had given the key.

Mrs. Schroeder admitted her son's guilt, saying that he had been engaged in this work for several years and that she was unable to stop him.

He is expected to plead guilty as he not only admitted when arrested Monday afternoon, that he made counterfeit money and passed it, but also directed the officers to the place where he manufactured the coins and gave them the key to the room.

MINNESOTA PIONEER DEAD.

Charles D. Gilfillan Expires Suddenly in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Dec. 19.—Charles D. Gilfillan, one of the oldest, most prominent and distinguished citizens of Minnesota, died suddenly at 8:15 o'clock a. m. of heart disease, at his apartments, Farrington place and Pleasant avenue.

Charles Duncan Gilfillan was born at New Hartford, Oneida county, N. Y., July 4, 1831, and was therefore in his seventy-second year. Mr. Gilfillan was connected with the varied interests of St. Paul during his residence here to a prominent and influential extent. He was the practical projector and became the sole owner of the waterworks system. He commenced the construction of the system practically single-handed and completed it Aug. 23, 1869.

ENLARGE FORT SNELLING.

Post to Be Made the Most Important in the Country.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Secretary of War Root has promised to make Fort Snelling the most important army post in the country.

In a conference with Representative Stevens the head of the war department agreed to recommend the appropriation of $116,000 for the purchase of 844 acres of land to add to the Fort Snelling reservation. This property is wanted by the government to make this the largest military station in the country.

It has been appraised by the business representatives of St. Paul and Minneapolis commercial organizations and the estimated values make a total of but little more than the amount which the secretary of war has agreed to recommend.

MINNESOTA OFFICIAL VOTE.

Van Sant's Majority Over Rosing Is 56,527.

St. Paul, Dec. 19.—The clerical force which has been tabulating the returns for the state canvassing board has finished its work and now all that remains to be done is the computation of the figures under the names of the various candidates.

The totals on the two leading candidates for governor are: Van Sant, 155,849; Rosing, 99,322, and the majority of Governor Van Sant over Rosing is 56,527.

The total vote of the state cast and counted according to the returns was 276,071.

ELEVATED INTERURBAN.

Minnesota Legislature to Be Asked For a Thirty-Year Franchise.

St. Paul, Dec. 17.—An elevated electric railway connecting St. Paul and Minneapolis and eventually a complete elevated rapid transit system in both cities is the project of a syndicate which will ask the legislature at the coming session for a thirty-year franchise.

Sherman S. Smith, the well-known Minneapolis politician and former member of the legislature, represents the syndicate and will engineer its application for a franchise.

Additional Judge For Minnesota.

Washington, Dec. 17.—In the senate during the day a bill was passed providing for an additional district judge in the district of Minnesota.

NO FEAR OF THE RESULT.

Dr. Ames Writes He Will Return to Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Dec. 20.—"When I return to Minneapolis, as I expect to do shortly, you will see the same fellows who are now howling loudest for my arrest coming round to shake hands with me," writes A. A. Ames in a letter to a Minneapolis friend.

Dr. Ames says that he proposes returning to Minneapolis as soon as his health will permit. He expresses regret at the death of "Coffee John" Fitchette, whom he declares was his friend in spite of what people may believe on the subject. Ames declares that he has other friends in Minneapolis, scores of them, and some powerful ones, who will never see him go to jail.

"My only fear," says the doctor, "is that I may never get well enough to go back there, though I believe I have improved of late. At the same time my condition is such that I ought to be in bed most of the time. Is it fair, I ask, that my enemies should all jump on me now? If I were back there you would see the majority of them hastening to display their friendliness.

"What do they want me for? They have convicted innocent men already, and if it had not been for the supreme court my brother would now be in prison. It is enough, I should think. If I could come back now I would do so immediately, but it would be nothing less than suicide. At the same time I have faith that strength will be given me to come back and you may believe me that I have no fear of the result."

MINNESOTA IRON LEASE.

Northern Securities Company and Steel Corporation Negotiating.

New York, Dec. 19.—Negotiations have been in progress for some time between the Northern Securities company and the United States Steel corporation for the acquisition on a royalty basis by the latter of the extremely valuable iron ore lands owned by the Northern Securities company in Minnesota. These lands are known to contain more than 300,000,000 ton of iron ore, much of which is very fine.

It was declared in Wall street during the day that terms have been practically agreed upon for a lease to the steel company on such a basis as will give the Northern Securities company a very large revenue in the shape of both royalties and freight for many years to come. The terms upon which the lease will be made are not yet known. The body of ore is so important in extent that the United States Steel company could hardly afford to allow any competitor to secure it.

MAY GET DEATH PENALTY.

Woodsman Convicted of Killing a Bartender at Two Harbors, Minn.

Duluth, Dec. 22.—Louis Corrivou, a woodsman, was convicted of murder in the first degree at Two Harbors during the day, the jury returning the verdict after being out twenty-five hours. Judge W. A. Cant presided at the trial. Only a few weeks ago he sentenced the negro, Charles E. L. Henderson of Duluth, to be hanged for murder in the first degree, and there is a prospect of his ordering a similar sentence in the Corrivau case. The crime was equally as wanton as that for which Henderson was convicted. The latter stabbed his mistress to death, and Corrivou, on Oct. 8, deliberately shot James Allen, a bartender at Knife River, with a rifle. Corrivau had become offended at Allen for putting him out because he was creating a disturbance.

VICTIM OF IMAGINATION.

Fireman Fancies He Sees an Obstacle on the Track.

Minneapolis, Dec. 18.—The imagination of Joseph Burke, a fireman on the Iowa and Minnesota division of the Milwaukee road, probably will cost him his life.

While the train was running at a high rate of speed near Farmington, Minn., he thought he saw an obstacle on the track. With a cry of alarm he leaped from the cab, and was pitched down a twenty-foot embankment. He struck on his head and his skull was fractured.

VEIN OF ANTHRACITE COAL.

Prospectors Make a Strike Near Barnesville, Minn.

Barnesville, Minn., Dec. 22.—While prospecting for coal during the day on the farm of Mr. Storer, the prospectors struck a seven-foot vein of anthracite coal about seventy-three feet below the surface. On the farm of Andrew Anderson they drilled until they struck black water. This is evidence enough that the hills to the east contain coal.

Transfer of Timber Lands.

Duluth, Dec. 18.—The Radcliffe company has purchased, in conjunction with Alger, Smith & Co., the North Shore pine land holdings of Frederick Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul and Thomas Bardon of Ashland. The land contains over 100,000,000 feet of pine timber. It is said that the consideration is $600,000.

Labor Organizations Increase.

St. Paul, Dec. 17.—The labor organizations of the state have a membership of 28,338, an increase of 12,958 in the past two years. These figures are shown in Labor Commissioner O'Donnell's report. He finds that the new organizations number 125, and these brought 9,000 members.

Politician Goes to Penitentiary.

Mankato, Minn., Dec. 19.—D. G. Robinson was sentenced during the day to four years and ten months in the penitentiary on a forgery charge. He has for some years been an active politician and during Van Sant's first term was a candidate for the position of state oil inspector.

Lamp Explosion Causes Death.

Benson, Minn., Dec. 17.—Mrs. E. A. Westinghouse, wife of the station agent here, was burned to death by the explosion of a lamp. Her children knocked the lamp over and the mother picked up the overturned lamp to throw it out, when it exploded, enveloping her in flames.

THE TWO SOLDIERS

By EDWIN L. SABIN

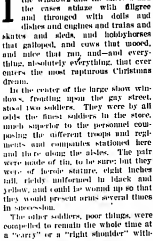
Copyright, 1902, by Edwin L. Sabin

IT was a brilliant holiday store, the windows and the shelves and the cases ablaze with filigree and thronged with dolls and dishes and engines and trains and skates and sleds, and hobbyhorses that galloped, and cows that mooed, and mice that ran, and—and everything, absolutely everything, that ever enters the most rapturous Christmas dream.

In the center of the large show windows, fronting upon the gay street, stood two soldiers. They were by all odds the finest soldiers in the store, much superior to the personnel composing the different troops and regiments and companies stationed here and there along the aisles. The pair were made of tin, to be sure; but they were of heroic stature, eight inches tall, richly uniformed in black and yellow, and could be wound up so that they would present arms several times in succession.

The other soldiers, poor things, were compelled to remain the whole time at a "carry" or a "right shoulder" without relief.

Naturally these two soldiers were proud and of aspirations reaching beyond their present narrow quarters. They pined for a wider sphere. As they stood and stared with stern, fixed gaze through the plate glass into the gay street they talked together in toy language, and none, not even the most versatile linguists among the people passing and repassing, knew that they talked.



"OH, TO GET AWAY FROM THIS ETERNAL GUARD MOUNT!"

"Oh, to get away from this eternal guard mount over a lot of frippery!" sighed the one.

"With all my heart!" agreed the other. "The monotony is frightful."

"I'd give half my solder to receive orders to report to some little boy," continued the first. "Oh, for a change!"

"But the majority of little boys are so rough and careless," responded the second. "I understand they scratch you and bend you and otherwise maltreat you without cause, and soon you're done for. I prefer duty of a more quiet, instructive nature, where I may teach by means of my deportment rather than by violent action."

"Well, I should enjoy a hard drill and a tussle, I believe," asserted the first.

"Our organism is too fine for such active service, my lad," indulgently corrected the second. "What—scratches and dents? No, no. Give me a post of more elegance, where my uniform will be treated as it deserves."

• • • • • • • •

Christmas day had been over and gone a month when after their separation the two soldiers again encountered one another, but this time in a great heap of rubbish at the city dump, where the dump man had unwittingly thrown them out.

"Hurrah! Hello, old chap!" exclaimed the first soldier delightedly.

"Hello!" returned the second, with rather more reserve. "Goodness! Been through the Seven Years' war?"

Well might he put this query. The other soldier was a perfect wreck. He had lost an arm and a foot, his head was sharply inclined forward upon his chest, he had only one eye, his body was twisted askew, his gun was broken, his cap was missing, his features were battered and distorted, and as for his uniform of black and yellow—there was hardly a spot of paint on him!

"I—I've been having my tussle," announced the first, with a cracked laugh. "But you—why, you evidently found just what you were looking for."

"Yes," explained the second, "I fell into an excellent post. It was the hands of a little boy, sure enough, but he wasn't allowed to hurt me. See, I haven't a mark on me." And he exhibited himself proudly.

True, he was still in dress parade condition.

"Thunder and Mars!" chuckled the first. "And look at me! Do you mean to say that you never were stepped on?"

"Oh, no," replied the second. "I didn't lie around on the floor. I was put away just as soon as he was done playing with me. His mother had made him a very orderly little boy."

"So you never stayed out all night in the hall or in the middle of the sitting room?"

"Never," said the spick and span soldier.

"And did he shoot at you with his rubber gun ever?"

"Never," said the spick and span soldier.

"And he didn't bite you to see how soft you were?"

"Never," said the spick and span soldier.

"Or drag you about among the chairs with a string?"

"Never," said the spick and span soldier.

"Or sick the terrier on you?"

"Never."

"Or take you to bed with him and roll on you?"

"Never. I was always placed on the shelf in the closet."

"Or kick you or whack you or throw you?"

"Never. Watch—I can present arms as well as ever."

"Or kiss you and hug you with all his might and cry for you when he was sick through eating too much candy?"

"Never. He used to forget me entirely for days and days. Did your boy really do all that to you?"

"Yes, all that and more," answered the battered soldier softly.

"And did he kiss you, you say?" asked the spick and span soldier a bit wistfully.

"Yes; he kicked me and he kissed me," laughed the first.

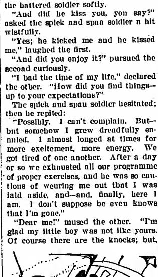
"And did you enjoy it?" pursued the second curiously.

"I had the time of my life," declared the other. "How did you find things—up to your expectations?"

The spick and span soldier hesitated; then he replied:

"Possibly. I can't complain. But—but somehow I grew dreadfully ennuied. I almost longed at times for more excitement, more energy. We got tired of one another. After a day or so we exhausted all our programme of proper exercises, and he was so cautious of wearing me out that I was laid aside, and—and, finally, here I am. I don't suppose he even knows that I'm gone."

"Dear me!" mused the other. "I'm glad my little boy was not like yours. Of course there are the knocks; but, oh, our companionship was sweet! I bet he's crying for me at this instant, poor chum! Still, it is as well that I am carted to the dump. I am old and disfigured and a back number, and I wanted to go before he would cease to miss me."



THE VETERANS MEET.

The spick and span soldier was silent.

"Hi, yi!" soliloquized the veteran, with a sigh and with a chuckle, stiffly rolling over on his back. "I'm past repairs, but it was sweet—aye, it was worth it! I—have—had—the—time—of—my—life."

And with his one eye he gazed through a chink in the debris up at the stars.

The First Christmas Tree.

The Christmas tree was first heard of in England about 1444. A tree was then set up in the middle of a pavement and decked with ivy as well as with other greens. From this use it was finally taken within the home, decorated with candles and eventually with anything which glistened and enhanced its brightness.

A Modern Adonis.

Lady—Your partner has fainted, I hear. How did that happen?

Officer—It is quite simple. I danced with her three times in succession. The great happiness was too much of a strain for her nerves. I am now taking my departure lest I should do any further damage.—From the German.

Friday Is Lucky.

There is luck in odd numbers. There is double luck in two odd numbers. Friday is the sixth day of the week. Six is the double of three, which is not only an odd number, but one which proverbially possesses a charm. Therefore Friday is a doubly charmingly lucky day.—Boston Advertiser.

The English Style.

Frank was learning to ride a horse, and one day somebody asked him if it bounced him very hard when the horse was trotting.

"Oh, no," he answered. "I don't bounce very hard. I stay up nearly all the time."—Little Chronicle.

HER CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

TIME—Evening, Dec. 26.

Place—Boarding house bedroom.

Actors—Nellie Cox, artist; May Lowell, stenographer.

Nellie—Thus are my sins visited upon me. Did you ever see such an ugly, inartistic collar as this orange thing with the red freckles?

May—No; unless it is the purple tie in your other hand. But the blue and the yellow collars are both pretty.

Nellie—Neither harmonizes with my blue shirt waist and my complexion.

May—How did you happen to receive so many collars? Did you ask for them?

Nellie—Ask for them? Hardly. I never wear anything except linen collars. As I said, however, it is my own fault. Last year my aunt sent me an expensive but hideous collar which I immediately donated to a church rummage sale—

May—Then wrote your aunt that it was just what you wanted.

Nellie—My conscience would not allow me to do that. I filled up four pages, however, on the one redeeming feature of that collar. I spoke of the texture of the silk and dwelt on its wonderful richness.

May—I should have thought your aunt would have seen through that. When a girl goes into raptures over some detail of a gown I know she does not like the thing as a whole.

"SHE OUGHT TO SEE YOU NOW."

Nellie—My aunt's education has been neglected, for she doesn't know that. Let me read you her letter:

> My Dear Child—There was so much pathos in your note of thanks last year I could see how you loved and longed for the beautiful, and I know that I am not making a mistake in sending you one more pretty thing to go with you all through the year. I have told your eastern cousins how you enjoyed the collar I gave you last Christmas, and they are going to send you some. We have hired a poor seamstress to make them, so I have added pleasure to my own life in holding out a helping hand to two dependent women.

May—She must have a sense of humor if she calls you dependent. She ought to see you now.

Nellie—I'll have to waste 16 cents postage in writing letters of thanks, and I have already paid 20 cents extra for postage on the packages. I could have treated myself to a good magazine or a box of chocolates for that amount.

May—Last year I learned that an aunt was going to give me a year's subscription to a journal which devotes its pages to telling girls how to treat their employers and how to dress on $50 a year. I get all that kind of thing I wish without reading about it, so I took pains to criticise the paper before her and at the same time displayed my worn gloves—

Nellie—And she gave you a pair of gloves? Lucky girl!

May—I thought she would, but she sent me a housekeeping magazine and wrote telling me that I ought to learn to cook, as if a business girl has half a chance. She said that I might not like the magazine at first, but would become attached to it in time. I became detached.

Nellie—What do you mean?

May—I sold it for 50 cents on the dollar, went to the theater and wrote auntie that I had derived more pleasure from her present than from any other she had ever sent me.

Nellie—Total depravity!

May—No; only good business management. I suggest that you sell your misfit presents.

Nellie—I'll do it. I know a girl who likes fussy things, especially if she thinks she is getting them cheap. I will tell her the collars are too elaborate for my plain clothes, but will just suit hers. I am certain that she will take them, so I will invite you to the theater for next Saturday.

May—Thank you, dear. After all, there is nothing like making the best of things.—Chicago News.

The labor organizations of the state have a membership of 28,338, an increase of 12,958 in the past two years. These figures are shown in Labor Commissioner O'Donnell's report. He finds that the new organizations number 125, and these brought 9,000 members.

Judge Cray, at Mankato, denied the motion for a new trial in the case of D. G. Robinson, convicted of forgery in the second degree, and sentenced him to Stillwater penitentiary for four years and ten months. Robinson made a sensational talk in court, not asking for leniency, but for justice.

The total revenue which St. Paul will get from saloon licenses this year will be $328,000, which is $37,000 more than the amount estimated at the beginning of the year. License Inspector Jessrang believes that at least twenty of the 323 saloons in St. Paul will go out of business when their licenses expire.

Officers raided the counterfeiting plant of Andrew Schroeder near Maple Grove. A complete counterfeiter's outfit, including three plaster of paris molds for dollars, composition for making these molds, a bar of lead, glass, a dipper, a carpenter's square and files for milling the edges of the coins, was found. Schroeder is under arrest.

Although it has been strenuously denied that the Clergue syndicate is behind the option for lease of section 30, the $4,000,000 iron property on the Vermillion range, there is no longer any doubt about the matter. The Clergues figure on building a road from Ely to a connection with the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western line, a distance of forty miles.

In a letter to a friend in Minneapolis Dr. Ames, the fugitive mayor of that city, says: "When I return to Minneapolis, as I expect to do shortly, you will see the same fellows who are now howling loudest for my arrest coming round to shake hands with me." Dr. Ames says that he proposes returning to Minneapolis as soon as his health will permit.

Negotiations have been in progress for some time between the Northern Securities company and the United States Steel corporation for the acquisition on a royalty basis by the latter of the extremely valuable iron ore lands owned by the Northern Securities company in Minnesota. These lands are known to contain more than 300,000,000 tons of iron ore, much of which is very fine.

AUNT SUKIE'S SANTA CLAUS

A Christmas Story

"OLE Sukie Blueskin
She fell in love wid me,
Ole Sukie Blueskin
She fell in love wid me,
Ole Aun' Sukie Blueskin
She fell in love wid me,
An' she axed me down ter her house
Ter drink er cup er tea."

So sang Black Cæsar, the wag of the plantation, and then he proceeded to tell us about Aunt Sukie.

"I des' tell yo' wat—I tell yo' fo' 'er fac', by Jo! Ef I didn't git in de lammines' scrupe er Crismus time! Dat wus de time we an' dem w'ite boys made up ter play er projick on Unc' Ike an' Aun' Sukie.

"Long time 'fo' Crismus come we don't heah nuttin' but 'Sandy Claws, Sandy Claws,' f'om Aun' Sukie. She go pudgin' erroun' de kitchen sayin': 'Um-m! Wou'er w'at ole Marse Sandy Claws gwine ter fotch me Crismus.' Den ef we git ter cuttin' up de icases' hit 'bout de house she 'low: 'Bettuh min' w'at yo' 'bout. Fuses flug yo' know ole man Sandy Claws gwine ter pars along by 'n' nev' so much es nodice dem ole socks er yo'u. Won't eben put er groun' pea in 'em.'

"So we all 'sidered an' 'sidered, an' las' we made up ter fix dat ole crittur up 'n good shape. We all know ole Aun' Sukie ain' got no sense ter frow 'way nohow, so we 'cide we gwine ter sca' Aun' Sukie 'n' Unc' Ike out 'n dey seben senses.

"Two er free days fo' Crismus we wus er settin' on de fence, 'n' ole lady Sukie come by wid some truck ter make de fiah wid, an' den I sing dat little song 'w'at a be'n singin', an' I kep' on:

"An' it's w'at do yo' fink
Ole Sukie had fo' suppah,
An' it's w'at do yo' fink
Ole Sukie had fo' suppah,
An' it's w'at do yo' fink
Ole Sukie had fo' suppah—
Apple sass an' sparrer grass
An' hominy an' buttah.

"Well, sah, dat ole soul mos' had er spazzum w'en she heuru us er singin' dat song, an' she rail out 'n' buse us an' 'buse us an' call us all kin' er bad names an' freaten us wid ha'nts an' I dunno w'at all.

"Unc' Ike, he Aun' Sukie's ole man, an' he wur de contraries' an' de spitefules' ole nigger on de whole plantation. He al'us er pokin' erroun' an' er grum'lin' 'bout sumpin. He couldn' res' easy less'n he studyin' up some kin' er meanness. I don' see w'at mek ole marse keep dat ole nigger 'bout de place fo' nohow, 'case he ain' fitten fo' nuffin' but ter prowl erroun' an' hunt hen-nesses, an' w'en he fin' one he al'us tek toll out'n it. He 'casioned us ter git er many er larrupin', wid 'e ole grumplin' ways, 'case marse b'lieve ev'y wo'd Unc' Ike say, mek' no diffunce how much de ole scoun'l stretch de blankit. But we done made up our min's ter git eben wid ole Aun' Sukie an' Unc' Ike, too, an' we des tease dem ole pussons twel dey mos' have er fit,

"Useter sing dis way w'en we see Unc' Ike er comin':

"Big Ike, little Ike, yo' bettah go;
Sukie bake de ashcake slow,
Dat's so;
Sukie bake de ashcake slow,
Too slow;
Big Ike, little Ike, yo' bettah go!

"Lo'd massy! Yo' des arter seed dat ole contrury niggah w'en we sing dat song. He look so vigus dat yo' fink ole Tomboy done got er holt er him, an' w'en we see de ole man grab up er bresh an' mek to'ds us we git f'om dar.

"LAWD ER MASSY, IKE, HE'S COME!"

"W'en Crismus time 'gun ter git close by, we all 'gun ter fix up fo' dem ole pussons. Day nex' fo' Crismus marse he mek er long highferlutin' speech an' tell us dat long's we all b'haved ou'se'fs purty well an' wo'k hard an' mek er good crop, he gwine gin us er whole day fo' ter frolic erroun', an' 'joy wese'fs. Me an' Jack an' Tom—dem wus de w'ite boys—slip out'n de back do' an' des lit out. Down at de fu'niss weh dey be'n er killin' hogs we sot an' rigged up er projick fo' ter wake up dem ole folks. Tom say, 'Jack, yo' mus' be de ole Sandy Claws, an' we watch so's we don' git cotch up wid.' Jack say, 'No, I hain't, nudder, 'case yo' boys run an' lef' me an' den I ha' ter git out the bes' I kin.
